Pres. Blunt Announces Development Of Plans For Library Addition

President Blunt devoted her first Chapel via telecast to informing the students of the planned expansion of the Palmer Library. "We hope we are to have our addition to the library soon," she began. "I hesitate to talk about it today, because the things that we have is doubtful. We are working on our plans now, however, and once the students will be conveyed, I want you to know about this as soon as possible."

The President then reviewed the history of the Palmer Library. The building was located on a choice site, and was the result of the efforts of several people, to the delight of its intellectual quality and its beautiful site. She wished the Library as well as the campus many college and university campuses.

Guest Vesper Speaker

Mr. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Parish (Unitarian) of Milton, Mass. D.D., said. "For a long time, many new additions to the Library were realized that the amount was not large enough at the time, but it has grown now. Last Spring, the Cape Cod Foundation gave the College $8,000 for some project which would further the growth of the College in intellectual quality. This gift, in addition to the Palmer gift, will be used to develop individual work in the Library. The hope is that there will be enough money to build the additions to the Library also.

"You know the work prints of the Library as well as I," President Blunt said. "For a long time, it has been too much to crow, the shelves have been overflowing, and new shelves have been too few little cubes."

Freshman Week-A Great Idea! Says Class Of '44

By Patricia King '43

A brief preamble to this article may well be wise to start a Junior reviewing Freshman Week. It is, indeed, very strange. But consider this and you may wish you were your sister class, Freshman, and that your parents supposed to know you near all the way to the other side, that there is nothing to know about one another, perhaps this is not too unorthodox after all, We hope not.

And now for a brief summary of Freshman Week. Suppose we begin at the beginning. First impressions are always very important, and according to reports, many of the Freshmen were first impressed by the beauty of our campus. The street on the east side of campus, which we know as Mabelle Avenue, is a dead end road. For years, students have dashed across it carelessly, without any regard for the fact that it was about to be extended. Mabelle Avenue is a lovely street, with beautiful homes, and its extension will be a source of pride for all of us. The streets along its four lanes are bound for distant points, and are travelling at high rates of speed.

We hardly need school traffic police to direct traffic.
The college year opened officially Wednesday morning, September 21, at 8:30 a.m., with an assembly of the entire faculty and student body, in the Palmer Auditorium. A welcome to the student body was extended by Dr. Leb, director of Administration for the University of Connecticut College. The welcoming address of the college was begun by...

Ocean Beach Closes With Festivities

With flags flying, music drifting from the broadcasting tower, and crowds of people wandering around in the warm sunshine, Ocean Beach closed its first season on September 29th. There were various special events which included swimming and diving contests, Banjo Jim's juggling, "Miss Americas" coronation, and fireworks at nine o'clock both the day and the season to a brilliant end.

At the swimming meet, the contestants gathered, and in the gallery, the witty master of ceremonies opened the season properly by introducing the first two divers, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Fitzgerald, of New York, who competed for the distinction of being the first to reach the opposite end of the pool, a distance of one hundred and forty feet, and in doing it without using their hands.

The band, led by the appropriately-named "Whirlwind," played that, in the words of a local poet, "the world will hold on to the Sea" for all time. The ever-present commercial and the business manager, Miss S. Conner, of the Auerbach store, gave clothes advice and super sales talks, but found heavy competition from the A.C.C. publicity workers, who were in the audience.

Six members of the senior class presented a skit by way of publicizing the coming of Cornelia Otis Skinner, after which Margaret Stewart '42, chairman of the Sales Fund, spoke briefly of Miss Skinner's presentation.

The Tigers Clamed the Lone. Georgia Boy Then Suddenly Fell Dead!

By Dales Dorothy Clix

Dear Miss Clix: I'm going to ask you to look into my very soul, because I need all the help your wisdom can give me. I am a good basketball player, mix well with people, and made Phi Beta in my Junior year. But, oh Miss Clix, I'd rather be a "femme fatale." And to hell with that "wholesome" stuff! How can I make the world-men, that is-realize I'm just a Daughter of Eve? How does one begin to build a "wholesome" image?

Leaving "Dearme"? Let me tell you right from the start, "femme fatales" are born, not made. If I were you, I'd give up the idea. Also, by the time you've learned all the femme fatale tricks, I'll be a basket-ball star. Well, have you got "basket-ball" hands, flaxen hair, your fingers, gills, yes, gills, a "basket-ball" badge, and want to keep it?" Miss Clix, I have a plan. I'll talk to the world-men, all of them, and tell them that they're not the only ones who have a heart. They haven't a heart at all, but only a belly. Oh, I can do it, Miss Clix, I can do it. I can do it, Miss Clix....

After explaining the reasons for, and remedies of, the complaints within the Household Goods Department, Miss Durbach announced that she would be given to each student, who is to check those in which she is most interested. In this way the Interclub Council will have an idea where the interest of the majority of students lies, and consequently, what clubs should be abandoned, and what ones should be enlarged. The complete cooperation of each student is required in order to make the Interclub Council and all those that follow possible.

Dean's List

For the Second Semester of the College Year 1940-1941.

The Dean’s List, published twice each year, includes the students for each semester who have made the highest standing, approximately 12½ per cent to 15 per cent each time of the entire group. Since Physical Education is required of all, and since in that subject the only differentiation of record is “passed” or “not passed,” a student must have received the report “passed” in that subject to be eligible for consideration when the list is prepared. The first name in each class list indicates first rank. If several names at the beginning of a class are not in alphabetical order, it indicates that a number of students are tying for first place. The leaders in the sophomore class have each a standing of 400, or an A average. The leader in the sophomore class and those in the freshman class have such a standing of 400, also.

Palmer Library To Be Enlarged in Near Future

e illustrate the work in progress, and the too little work space both for staff and students. College libraries usually double in about twenty years. Our rate of increase has been much faster. In 1924, we had about twenty thousand volumes; in 1940, we have ninety thousand volumes.

President Bharney continued: “We have invited Miss Edna Hanley, head librarian of Agnes Scott College, in Decatur, Georgia, to act as consultant in planning the addition. Miss Hanley is an authority on library planning, and is the author of College and University Buildings. She worked with the architects during the construction of Agnes Scott College’s modern Geobie library building, and last spring she acted as consultant in the planning of a building for Rockedale College, Rockford, Illinois. She will work with the faculty committee, the trustees, and the architect. We’ll ask for suggestions from students, through the Connecticut College News.”

So formulate your own ideas,” the President concluded, “as to the improvement you desire. We hope soon to have a library so planned that it is a delight to study and to work.”

Two Conn. Students Enjoy Opportunity of Summer Theatre

By Sally Kelly '38

Two Connecticut College students, Ethel Morgan '24, and Sue Parkhurst '42 were among the group of twenty-seven non-professional young people who composed the Cooperative Players at Connecticut College this summer. The company, directed by Harry B. Davis, worked and produced its plays in the Palmer Auditorium.

The players were really cooperative. Throughout their season, from June 17th to August 1st, they all turned up weekly at the various jobs that make for the smooth running of a theater. One week Liz would be leading lady, the next she'd have a turn at the box office, the next at lights, and so on. Everyone worked at something, perhaps with publicity with a typewriter, or even at the carpet with a vacuum cleaner.

Every day was busy. In the morning, Mrs. Josephine Hunter Ray, Instructor in Spoken English and Drama at Connecticut, gave an hour's class in acting. Afternoons were devoted to rehearsing, making scenery, and combing the town for props. So much for accidents. The players, of course, occupied the actors' evenings, five nights a week.

The mayor of New London, Mr. Leo Reagan, acted as Simon Legree in Uncle Tom's Cabin. The New London Negro Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Leek, was a great help as the plantation singers. Liz Morgan, playing the part of Eliza of incense fame, lived a week of suspense, (theater tradition says that something always happens to Eliza). The scenery for this production, incidentally, was dug up from an old chest in the New London town where an unsuccessful company left it years ago.

The group also gave a six-act version of Twelfth Night, using可靠性, and costuming, and all setting on Long Island. Yeats, a stirring play by Sidney Howard, was more serious, dealing with the yellow fever difficulty in Panama. In The Rivals, the improvisations and the elaborate costumes of Sheridan's period were carried out.

Two casualties might be chalked up against the players. The leading man in The Rivals, submitting to his weaker nature, fancied once in the middle of an act, and Simon Legree, a bit too handy with his whip, coded it around his own head and sent his bat to sleep in the footlights.

So much for accidents. The summer was a wonderful opportunity for gaining experience, and for having a good time. The two Connecticut College players are eager to try it again.
