Hammers, Bulldozers Resound;
Campus Construction Continues
Pres. Shain Presides At Groundbreaking Ceremonies

It finally happened: After 30 years of planning and wishing and working, ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Connecticut College ~ College took place August 28, attended by local residents, College officials and members of the Board of Trustees.

President Charles E. Shain presided over the ceremony and turned the first shovelful of earth on the site of the library building, which will be constructed at the Dwight Building Co. of Hadley. The Dwight Co. was awarded the contract with the lowest bid of $52,739,000, from 10 bids submitted. Dwight Co. has also done work for Wesleyan, Yale and other universities.

Members of the Board of Trustees who were present for the ground-breaking were Mrs. John G. Lee of Farum, first chairman of the board; Mrs. Robert F. Anderson of Ninfa; Mr. Laurence J. Ackerman of Norwich; and the Hon. Alen L. Brown of Norwich.

Retired Faculty

President Shain also introduced several retired members of the faculty and administration, including: Mrs. Nancy Fillin of Wellesley, Mass., "who has been very friendly and interested in the freshmen." "Everyone's so friendly," she commented. "I'm really most impressed with the people," commented Miriam Brennar of Eliza-

WESLEYAN, CONN PLAN TO EXCHANGE COURSES

Connecticut College News Office - Connecticut College and Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., have agreed to an educational plan in Massachusetts where students at Smith, Mount Holyoke, Amherst, and the University of Massachusetts will be at both schools this year under the College-Wesleyan arrangement, thus unifying the resources at Princeton University as an institution and students at both schools will enjoy the benefits of this venture.

First Official Tie

This exchange is the first official academic tie between the two institutions, although there have been close professional and social relationships between faculty and students for many years.

In the past, Wesleyan has arranged similar plans with other Connecticut institutions including Yale University and Hartford College for Women.

In 1964 Connecticut College undergraduates were allowed to attend the junior year at Princeton University as participants in the Cooperative Undergraduate Program for Critical Languages. Two more Connecticut institutions are at Princeton this year under the same program.

New Committee

The newly-formed Committee on Campus Life is now in charge of the Non-Resident Fellows and will make evaluations throughout the year to determine its success (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3).

Snack Shop Hours

Are Now Changed; Machines Installed

Operating hours of the Crozer-Williams snack shop were temporarily shortened last week because revenue from morning coffee hours did not cover expenses, explained Miss Eleanor V. Vorhees, director of residence dining.

Student reaction to the new hours, which eliminated weekday morning and Saturday after-hour hours, was unfavorable. Miss Vorhees expressed her concern over student disappointment in explaining that the entire building of Crozer-Williams is in the process of a changeover, which she hopes will eventually result in a change in use which parallels dormitory hours.

Vending Machines

The installation of new coffee, candy, milk, soda, and pastry machines has been arranged by the residence department to replace the existing snack shop hours. Since their installation has (Continued on Page 7, Col. 1).

Pledge And Commitment

At the beginning of her career at Connecticut College, each student signs a Matriculation Pledge committing herself to the College's academic and social honor codes. This act formally admits her into the College community and extends to her all the rights and responsibilities of membership in that community. For the newly-orientated freshman, Matriculation is an exciting and meaningful event. It is the culmination of two years spent planning for college. Their choice was Conn., exciting and meaningful. Orchestral theory, which states that these various forces are existentially acceptable ways to release frustrations, especially those frustrations that are inherent in the "college experience.

Orchestral theory would say it in a form of sexual experience, especially exhibitionism, that is permissible activity. They regard, of course, of those that are loud and music that is a sin. Anyone dashing the "Mother of God" with no music would have his or her soul defiled by anyone who saw him.

Orchestral theory is that these classes allow a person to express individuality, and are a response to an increasingly conformist society. A related theory would maintain that dancing today is a chance for us personally and irresponsibly in a society that confines such behavior.

PASS-FAIL Option Goes Into Effect

The Connecticut College's new pass-fail program, outlined in the Spring Registration figures, has been put into effect. The program allows students to arrange for pass-fail grading, which would not be counted against them in their final averages. It is expected to be completed within the next few years before its first full-fledged fall semester.

The practice teacher is usually permitted to experiment and plan her own teaching program; the cooperating teacher remains in the room to offer assistance if necessary. The theme of the fall program, the students can obtain credit for tutoring during the regular teaching period. The program is expected to be completed by the next fall semester.

BASS WEEJUNS
Bookshop Cuts Record Prices,
Offers New Gifts, Foreign Books

by Chris Sanborn

Unlike many other places, and other entertainment facilities, the college bookshop does not charge you for looking at or enjoying its contents. With the many innovations and new stock items it may well be worth the while just to wander into the bookshop and browse around.

New Stock Items

Mr. Hale, manager of the Bookshop, said that doubling the record supply has allowed a reduction in price, involving them to "just about what they are at most of the discount stores." In the gift department there will be more Pop Art items since Mr. Hale has traveled to Greenwich Village to find items of student interest.

The problem in this department, he observed, is "finding something worthwhile that's not too expensive."

Mr. John Earland, assistant in the Bookshop, has stocked new styles of Connecticut College stationery—Planning to provide a more contemporary greeting card selection, Mr. Earland is searching for new card lines.

So, he said, if students find cards they like, they should jot down the name of the company and give it to him. The art supplies section, under his direction, is expanding rapidly, acquiring painting sets and other essential tools. The foreign book section has a more diversified selection; a Wesleyan student is helping in the selection and ordering of Spanish literature. Posters are on order; however, students can specially order the one of their choice.

Examining another vein of projection, Mr. Hale is seeing a Westlinghouse salesman to look into the field of taperecorders, radios, and lamps. Another added attraction is an anticipated sportswear section. Mr. Hale said he needs student advice on just what to select and at what price range.

Now the selection is limited to sports sweaters, ranging in price from $7.95 up. However, Mr. Hale said he hopes to increase the stock shortly if students express interest.

Future Plans

Concerning the resale of used books, Mr. Hale commented that the bookshop is "handicapped" because no one knows just what they will be sold the following years. This is, however, another area for fresh ideas.

Mr. Hale remarked that by re-vamping the Bookshop, the aides are暮nered less cluttered. By spring the bookshop hopes to have the additional space it needs by finding a storage area elsewhere.

Another progressive measure soon to be completed is the cataloging of a stock card file in the order in which they appear on the shelves instead of in order of publishers. Mr. Hale maintained that, whereas before the stacking of books was a "hit or miss" proposition, this new system will more easily prevent their running out of a book in demand.

Furthermore, Mr. Hale said he is inquiring into the possibility of having authors come to campus for reading and luncheons. Stressing the importance of students using the Bookshop and not feeling obligated to purchase whenever they go in, both Mr. Hale and Mr. Earland strongly agreed that "no cover charge" for other entrance into the bookstore or suggestions and criticisms concerning it.

As Mr. Hale insisted, "the more we get from you, the more we can do for you."

John Meyer clothes move with the times but they’re always themselves. They’re classics in modern dress—done with wit and wisdom...subtlety and eclat.

Intuitively, John Meyer takes his cue from the tastes, manners and personality of the young women who wear his clothes; neo-classic individualists who refuse to let clothes or anything get in the way of their individuality.

If you’re a neo-classic and an individualist, you should see John Meyer’s new Fall niceties. They’re now being shown at discerning stores everywhere.

She's the sweetheart of ILGWU. From her shocking pink slacks (the school colors) to the severely tailored suit she's decided to wear to her opening class in Philosophy II, Lisa wears clothes that wear union labels. The little ILGWU union label, found in most women's and children's garments, is the signature of 450,000 members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. It is a symbol of decency, fair labor standards and the American way of life.

You'll find it in suits, dresses, blouses, skirts, coats, sweaters, slacks, slips, knitwear, lingerie, shorts, robes, snowsuits, children's wear, knitwear, rainwear, bras and bikinis. Please look for it when you shop.
