A NEW DAY DAWNS AT CONNECTICUT COLLEGE

After more than a decade of guidance under alumna President Claire Gaudiani ’66, Connecticut College prepares to usher in a new era of leadership. Norman Fainstein, the chief academic officer at Vassar College, was selected to become the College’s ninth president in June by a search committee made up of alumni, administrators, students, trustees, and faculty representatives.

Gaudiani, who held the presidency since 1988 and was the College’s first alumna president, leaves behind a legacy of great growth and innovation. When she inherited the presidency, the College was ranked 41st in the nation by U.S. News and World Report. Today it stands at 27th. Gaudiani’s tenure was also characterized by an effort to involve Connecticut College in the redevelopment of New London. Her election as head of the New London Development Corporation in 1997 signified that commitment.

Unfortunately, Gaudiani’s great legacy is in danger of being overshadowed by the College’s recent budget constraints. Among the challenges facing Fainstein, the school’s current financial problems loom largest. His ability to guide CC through this period of fiscal challenge will likely determine his success as president. His background as an urban studies scholar should help him continue his predecessor’s tradition of community involvement. Interim President David K. Lewis will continue, in that capacity until Fainstein’s official arrival on campus on October 15.

Health Center Fee - June, 2000
At the end of the 99-'00 school year, President Gianotti appointed a faculty staff sub-committee to examine fee structure. The following summer,sub-committee were told that they would have to pay a $450 health fee as a contribution to their normal tuition payment. The proposals for fee instead were supported with a substantial increase in the number of shared governance and he is going to begin his class with a rant about how the school policies are going to get changed. What exactly is going to be on the agenda? The kid that knows. That kid in your class - knows - why the fees are cut, why the administration didn't get student input, and why the men's rugby team will never rise from the dead. It's important to know that the College, your classmate, and your budget. Working for The Voice will, more than anything, introduce you to all sides of Connecticut College. You'll be introduced to fellow students, star athletes, local politicians and the heavy hitters in student government and the College administration. You'll go to lunch with the impact of the college and you'll have a front row seat to the best and most highly contested sports matches at Conn.

Editorial Board (comprised of section editors)
Each week The College Voice reports on everything from campus events to New London politics. Our opinion section allows the student body to share their opinions with the College, through either a column or letter to the editor. A&D covers entertainment events on and off campus. The Editorial Board final Sports section brings you the scores and highlights of all of Conn's teams.

AIDS, A World at Risk is the theme for this year's conference, which opens the academic year. Dr. Montagnier will speak on New Approaches to AIDS in Africa. A panel discussion of Perspectives on the Global AIDS Crisis will take place on Friday, Aug. 31, from 12:45 to 2 pm in the 1022 Room of the Center-Williams College Center. Panelists include Dr. Montagnier; Catherine Chen, Associate Professor of Philosophy and Women's Studies at Connecticut College; Dr. Kenji Sebati, Medical Director, International Philanthropy, Pfizer, Inc.; and Merike Wilcox, a 1990 Connecticut College graduate and Peace Corps volunteer in Ghana.

Clientele for the health care system, these newtrends underscored through in-depth understanding of cultural representations and practices linked to both the epidemics. Wilcox has spent the past two years as a Peace Corps volunteer in Ghana, where she has been involved in two studies: an applied international policy, one involving AIDS in Saint Martin and Haiti, and another focusing on sickle-cell disease in Saint Martin and Guadeloupe. Through her research, she hopes to improve the health care system in these countries. This study underscores the need for in-depth understanding of cultural representations and practices linked to both the epidemics.

• A GUIDE TO UNDERSTANDING CONNPEC

The Boat - Milwaukee's Best! The worlds worst, yet cheapest, best! Even the tenants of the Boat have found the on-campus dormitories (those horrid, The Voice feels obligated to quote that "The Blue Yummy", Light Bight, is preferred by more students).

Barn - The campus's socialist magazine. No topic is out of bounds. The Barn is the place to go for campus politics, cynical bands. Currently edited by Ethan Hashem.

Carnet-As - A full fall that jims and pom-pom tosses are going on. A full body of hockey. Events include the artistic, theatrical and musical talents of the student body.

Castle Court (or the Grot) - The courtyard between Palmer and Connecitt houses one of campus' best bullshitting areas. It is also the favorite goal of the senior strikers at the end of Fishbowl (the dorm). The place.

Chapel Library - No religious affiliation required to visit this favorite of late night study area. Just bring your books and settle down with hot chocolate and other warm beverages that will keep your brain on solid nights.

The College Voice - Connie's weekly newspaper. Nice by the President's list of top things to wear on campus. "Seer, But, and The College Voice"

The Connection - area that has never had a name, until we started running out of naming spaces. Now, this hallway between the Bookstore and the '62 room has a name and is used for all sorts of official things.

Cro - Shorthand for the Crozier Williams College Dining Hall in which students are fed. It is the only place on campus where you can take a break in Cro, that is a college library.

Dining Hall or Theater Services. If you are down work-

Eating Hall - Where you will find the food on the Reader, a cafeteria area. It is the only place on campus where you can take a break in Cro, that is a college library.

The Grounds - The Coffee Grounds is a student-run clubs and organizations by helping to fund the Cozy dorms. The president is Scott "Scooter" Montemerlo..

Keg Hopping - Thursday night is almost always a TNE, but for the rest of the weekend Keg Hopping can be your major activity. Unless you can't, for some reason, and wearing a sweatshirt (we personally choose your given name plus our number on a tape to a cup or a minimal tan). The Barn - Located next to the Science rooms, the Barn is easy to find if you just look around. It is that barn that all the baristas that were once here, including the Rose, will be there playing- the "Mario Brothers" theme to the "Camp Tyme."

TNE Pants - The black stretchy pants with flared bottoms. "More the better!" is the watchword of TNE pants, this low-cut, spandex spaghetti-strapped tank top is an essential clothing fund. Buy another floor of Mariners Square. Real estate is a sound investment. "The Voice invests the president's money and you'll have a roof on solid nights.

Winged Victory - The most often asked question about a campus statue (next to why we commissioned Seor LeWitt to dump cinder blocks by Freeman and call it art) is "What's with Winged Victory?" There's the answer. The answer. The answer. The answer. The answer.

The Voice - Since freshmen still have to be here, for a "confused" freshman, it is the only place on campus where you can take a break in Cro, that is a college library.

Walk of Shame - When you walk home across campus, blurry-eyed and dehydrated at 1 a.m. on a Sunday, wearing the same five drink as the night before. A moment of shame for some, but pride for others. That's why we drink so much if we know what the campus bands. You'd be surprised at how much fun you can have in the TNE pants!

WHERETO EAT

So, you're hungry, and the dining halls just aren't calling to you. Where to eat? We have a few suggestions. The selection of traditional American food is represented by chains such as McDonald's and as well as those at the end of the street, including complete with southerners and crisp white table linens. For those who desire a more international feel, to your evening out, there's also Thai, Mexican, Indian, Chinese, Japanese, and Cajun. If you've only got two pennies to rub together, you've just got your paycheck, or your parents are in town and feeling the need to buy their way out of empty, empty syndrome, there are dining establishments to fit any budget. We've culled suggestions from our previous restaurant reviews and our personal experience to offer this incomplete listing of restaurants in the area.

Cheap: For a late-night break or a quick overfull of atmosphere, these diners provide all that a diner should—greasy food, cigarette-smoke filled air and some of the best food you can find at 2 a.m.

Rosie’s Diner, Groton, across from Walmart. Diner food and atmosphere this 24-hour hangout a Cam diners for tradition late-night service. Breaks.

Norm’s Diner, 171 Bridge Street, Groton, 445-5026. Rosie’s husband? We don’t know, but when her place is filled with Cam students, you can head here for similar diners.

Cheapsk ($): Good food, relaxed atmosph- eres, and student-pleasing prices for those who just have to get out.

MUGZ, Bank Street. A great little coffee shop downtown. The friendly owners, great beverages, desserts and sandwiches make this new hangout very popular with Cam stud- ents.

Fred’s Granny, 272 Pequot Ave, Groton, 445-1301. Famous since 1972, located on the water. Fred offers up all things fried and pot roast. It’s a no-brainer for those long hot dogs around. Better go before he closes for the season!

Druid Ice Cream Shoppe. The ideal small-town ice cream shop, with the high school employees, and the great homemade ice cream flavors, it’s a fun place to go with a bunch of friends for a quick snack.

Portuguese Fisherman, Williams Street. Fabulous breakfasts with an extensive menu that beats the weekend brunch in Harris, since 1972, located on the water. Fred offers up all things fried and pot roast. It’s a no-brainer for those long hot dogs around. Better go before he closes for the season!

Renaissance Cafe, Groton. Fabulous breakfasts with an extensive menu that beats the weekend brunch in Harris, since 1972, located on the water. Fred offers up all things fried and pot roast. It’s a no-brainer for those long hot dogs around. Better go before he closes for the season!

Not So Cheap ($$: A step above the aforementioned, either or better food, or higher prices - sometimes both! Most suitable for a friend’s birthday and students with their most recent pay- check in hand.

Kitchen Little, Route 27, just North of the Mystic River and drawbridge. A dimly lit space has been chosen as the perfect spot. The ambiance is perfect for a friend’s birthday and students with their most recent pay- check in hand.

Pizza Possibilities for Camels With Cars

E very generation of college students can be defined by two things. In the fifties, The Big Bopper and pizza. In the seven- Cuisines are the deal, but the hot-ticket is the uni- New York quality at New London prices, plus a wide selection of nearby tropical drinks.

Margarita’s, 12 Water St., Mystic, 536-4589. Filling Mexican and the nemesic drinks keeps Cam kids coming back for more—especially on Wednesday night, when a college ID gets you 2 for 1-1 entrees.

Bangkok City, 123 State St., Groton, 492-9970. The place for Thai food, quick, fast, and not too hard on the wallet. A surprisingly spicy oasis in the heart of downtown.

Thyme & Place, 403 William St., Mystic, 474-2764 International food in an intimate setting that’s conveniently close to school. The Wokery, 207 Gold Star Highway, Groton, 445-5336. When you feel like eating OUT for Chinese, this is the best place around. If you’re hungry, baby, try their sushi in the tanami room.

Paul’s Pasta Shop, 223 Thames St, Groton, 445-4004. Paul’s Pasta supplies huge servings at a very reasonable price with a nice view of the Mystic River.

Margarita’s, 12 Water St., Mystic, 536-4589. Great place for Thai food, quick, fast, and not too hard on the wallet. A surprisingly spicy oasis in the heart of downtown.

Anthony J’s, 6 Holmes St. Great style, great prices, lots of student patrons. The Wokery, 207 Gold Star Highway, Groton, 445-5336. When you feel like eating OUT for Chinese, this is the best place around. If you’re hungry, baby, try their sushi in the tanami room.

Zhang’s, 12 Water St., Mystic, 572-5725. A small Asian restaurant, next to the very popular Margarita’s. It is known for its great sushi.

Anne’s Bistro, Old Lyme Marketplace, Mystic, 434-9837.

Elia’s (in the Stop & Shop), 405 Front St., Mystic. 536-4550. Mid-range American fare with a rustic setting. ($$): Places that are not always so hard or! ,;...
WHERE TO EAT

Tortellini at Bistro is great, but you might want to try someplace new. If you're not sure, here are a few suggestions for the adventurous.

We've heard the rumors that some of Connecticut College's finest creative forces come up with a few dishes for The Voice's monthly 'Dine & Dash.' You might want to make your evenings in Harris just a little more rewarding. It's all about good food, with a salad bar, a microwave, and a little bit of imagination.

We've got recipes that cater to vegetarians and carnivores alike. Something to satisfy your sweet-tooth or spice up your life. No matter who you are, you’ll find something here that appeals to you. And these recipes aren’t written in stone. If you have any personal innovations that you feel could improve one of these dishes, feel free. Don’t eat chicken? Substitute tofu or use one of our “Perfect Steamed Broccoli” for the chicken in “Our Chicken Curry.” Allergic to raspberries? Substitute cherry sauce for the raspberry sauce in our “Chocolate Raspberry Waffle.”

Whatever your tastes, you’ll be surprised to see just how many Marly students eat them. Open your mind to the range of possibilities that lie beyond the hot line. Feed your stomach and satisfy your creative appetite at the same time. The following food ideas are designed to make your mealtimes fun. Isn’t that what eating’s all about?

Whaling, Subs and Claire...A Complete History of New London

The story could be written for a national audience of history enthusiasts, revealing the origins of the city's development during the whaling era. It would chronicle the city's transition to a industrial town, then to a center of defense and manufacturing. The story might also highlight the city's role in the Cold War and its post-war transformation into a hub of research and development.

The NLDC and New London's Master Plan

Mission:
The New London Development Corporation (NLDC) is a private, non-profit organization of city leaders of New London, Connecticut. The NLDC is working to promote and improve the economic conditions of New London, a 350 year-old port city, and to create opportunities for its residents and the region.

The corporation has brought together a number of leaders of the community to work with the city of New London and the State of Connecticut to focus on three broad goals:

- To increase the tax base of the City of New London
- To increase the number of jobs in our city and region
- To improve the quality of life for all those who live and work in the New London and Southeastern Connecticut region.

Team New London:
Under the leadership of Dr. Claire Gaudiani, President of Connecticut College, the NLDC has produced a plan comprised of Public and Private entities that draw from the leadership and strength of the institutions of higher education and the business community.

This plan has generated the commitment of hundreds of millions of dollars of investment in just the past four years.

President Gaudiani is fond of saying, "Rebuilding the economy is just as important as rebuilding the city's waterfront. A cluster of biotechnology science labs for research and development is planned along with a major marina to accommodate traveling businesses and large conference centers.

To improve the quality of life for all those who live and work in the New London and Southeastern Connecticut region, the state has invested $232,500,000 to develop the Waterfront Park and the nearby high-speed ferry service.

In addition to infrastructure improvements, seven specific projects will re-energize and re-populate New London's core, including two new housing developments, a new retail/entertainment building, and a new heritage park.

In the fall of 2001, the NLDC will begin to implement its five-year plan for the City of New London Waterfront Park. The Waterfront Park is adjacent to the future home of America's Tall Ship, the US Coast Guard Eagle.

In the middle of it all is the Naval Undersea Warfare Center, New London has been transformed into a national center for undersea research and development. The city is now the home of Pfizer, one of the world's largest pharmaceutical companies.

The Disappearance of Conn’s Black and White

One of the most pressing questions on the Connecticut College Campus is the whereabouts of the hundreds of skunks that used to meander across our lawn, which is why we’re starting a book club. The disappearance of these furry little friends has caused a lot of consternation among the student, staff and faculty population, and has led to a range of theories as to why the skunks may have gone elsewhere.

Several theories have taken shape during the past several weeks, each attempting to explain this miraculous decline in the skunk population. Philip T. Barnes, associate professor of biology, said, “Skunks are not very social animals, and it’s possible that the skunks have created a parallel life for those that have gone elsewhere.”

Another possible explanation is that the Massachusetts state legislature has already gone into hibernation, as M. mephitis typically does during the cold winter months. Being a species of relatively low intelligence, the skunks may have been fooled by the unexpected, cold flash during fall break. Temperatures are not as low as the middle of October as they typically are throughout the long weekend.

The apparent disappearance of the skunks may also be due to a misconception of Conn College community members. The skunks of North America typically breed during the spring, after coming out of winter hibernation. In the case of the skunk, population Conn College students know and love just might be a semester away. The “disappearance” may be completely psychological, as students simply remember the skunk-repellent campus of the springtime, and are now shocked to find a fall with very few of the skunks walking around, doing their evil deeds.

One less-reported theory of the skunk disappearance has to do with the budget cuts that have been put into some of the campus services. It would not be appropriate to go into any more specifics of this theory.

Professors in several science departments have students working around the clock searching for a logical explanation to this mind-boggling phenomenon. If anyone has information regarding the whereabouts of the skunks, contact The Voice office at extension 3212.

How to Avoid Doing the Stuff That You’re Paying $34,000 to Do

Connecticut College could not boast a top twenty-five ranking without its share of work avoidance techniques. Ethernet connections and cable TV are just a few of the distractions that help make all students possible to study. And also continue to make time for the courses that are being served up by the College.

It’s a well-known fact that the smell of the little folk in Tolland has his work cut out for him with a complex array of computer games that are specifically designed for this sort of work avoidance. According to figures released by the Tolland Skateboard and Computer Center, there are just enough cable channels to be suitable for proper procrastination.

For those of you who regard the anniversary of the college shootings as something to be celebrated, there are always the regular repertoire of games such as Donkey and Duke, to not only enjoyable but also just a need to waste time. These introductions, who consider only their friends the only ones that are made up of computer games can easily be spotted around campus as they are primarily focused on the seniors’ screen time hours. In all seriousness, it is important that college campers avoid doing the work that will ultimately get them out of the desk and get away from the work that will ultimately get them out of the desk and get away from the work that will ultimately get them out of the desk and get away from the work that will ultimately get them out of the desk.

Where to Buy What You Need, But Didn’t Think to Bring

If you’re on a campus tour, here are some tips on where to stuff it to fill the distance between your four walls. Or maybe you got a new iPhone, and are in desperate need of creative storage for your new electronic devices. No need to worry; there are plenty of places where to find what you need. Be it for your office at extension 111, a new College guide to the shopping world!

The Crystal Mall at UConn is home to an incredible array of boutiques, from high scale to more down to earth. For those of you who regard the anniversary of the college shootings as something to be celebrated, there are always the regular repertoire of games such as Donkey and Duke, to not only enjoyable but also just a need to waste time. A GUIDE TO DORMS ON CAMPUS

NORTH CAMPUS

One of the renovated Plex dorms, "Hammy" inspires fierce loyalty and usually shows well at Camelympics, in spite, or perhaps, because of the Beirur-esque atmosphere.

Narrowly beating out Park for the most confusing Plex dorm to navigate, Lambdin also houses the Game Room, a palatial spread of foosball, pool, TV and ping pong.

The other "vintage" Plex dorm, Marshall is famous for it's perpetually broken living room window and irresponsible party policy. New furniture make this or ever greater place to be.

The first of the Plex dorms to be renovated, Park is most noted for the dorm's striking similarity to a hospital, with labyrinthine hallways and living rooms decorated with heraldic crests.

Why is Wright always dirtier than the other Plex dorms? It's a big mystery, but in the basement, find the Dining Services office where all confiscated beer go to die.

"Main Street," "Mo-Town" is the most frequently walked-by Plex dorm. As with the other Plex dorms, what Morrison lacks in character, it makes up in an elevator and air conditioning.

Quiet housing. Shhh. Almost as well behaved as Blackstone, Plant's proximity to both labs and library make this the perfect dorm for those who actually want to study.

Katharine Blunt (KB)

"At least jail cells have bathrooms," says Campus Safety of the miniscule cubbies that pass for rooms in Laz. Thankfully, priority and a kitchen are included.

Quiet housing. Slides. Almost as well behaved as Blackstone, Plant's proximity to both labs and library make this the perfect dorm for those who actually want to study.

Another of the Quad dorms, Branford is distinguished by being the louder, debauched doppelganger of Blackstone and Plant. Seniors claim the front yard with lawn chairs as spring goes by.

Abbey - The dorm across the highway. Abbey's communal living and excellent brownies make the walk across Rt. 32 more than worth it.

One of the lovely Collegiate Gothic Quad Dorms, this substance-free house is the one place on campus guaranteed to never smell like vomit. Magic games occur frequently in the lounge.

SOUTH CAMPUS

The closest Conn has to a frat house, Freeman is also, ironically enough, home to the vegetarian dining hall. For all the vegan hockey players, you see.

Spacious rooms and a lunch time deli with the ever-lovely Miss Chrisy make Freeman a perennial favorite in Dorm Picks. Great views of the varsity soccer field.

Harkness

Baskets of Freshman Focus and legs of athletes. Perhaps beer goggles. With corrective lenses are the order of the day!

What Residential Life Doesn’t Tell You

Specialty Housing

Knowlton - The foreign language house, Knowlton's lofty ceilings and wood floors make for an elegant backdrop for monthly fine dining and dorm drama in more than eight languages.

360 - Themed housing; it changes from year to year.

Earth House - Leading the campus charge for eco-friendly everything, Earth House is the place to be if recycling is your thing.

Abbey - The dorm across the highway. Abbey's communal living and excellent brownies make the walk across Rt. 32 more than worth it.

One of the lovely Collegiate Gothic Quad Dorms, this substance-free house is the one place on campus guaranteed to never smell like vomit. Magic games occur frequently in the lounge.

SOUTH CAMPUS

The closest Conn has to a frat house, Freeman is also, ironically enough, home to the vegetarian dining hall. For all the vegan hockey players, you see.

Spacious rooms and a lunch time deli with the ever-lovely Miss Chrisy make Freeman a perennial favorite in Dorm Picks. Great views of the varsity soccer field.

Harkness

Baskets of Freshman Focus and legs of athletes. Perhaps beer goggles. With corrective lenses are the order of the day!

What Residential Life Doesn’t Tell You

Specialty Housing

Knowlton - The foreign language house, Knowlton's lofty ceilings and wood floors make for an elegant backdrop for monthly fine dining and dorm drama in more than eight languages.

SUBSCRIBE to the COLLEGE VOICE!

The College Voice can help you stay informed. For only $40.00, you will receive twenty-five issues of the newspaper covering each week of the academic year. Campus news, sports, arts, entertainment, and opinion will arrive at your mailbox each week. Imagine calling your son or daughter, and knowing more than he or she about the opening game against Colby. Picture the surprised look on your student’s face when you quiz them about Convocation. Not only will you be supporting a dedicated student organization, but you will grow intimately involved each week with the workings of the College community. "The Voice has been recognized for excellence for three years running by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, with last year’s efforts garnering a gold medal. The staff of The Voice works extremely hard to publish an independent weekly newspaper. If you do not specifically know a Voice staff member, your sons and daughters surely do. We urge you to consider subscribing to The Voice. Not only will you be supporting a dedicated student organization, but you will grow intimately involved each week with the workings of the College community."
