C. C. ALUMNA DOES NEW WORK.

MARGARET IVES HELPING VICTIMS OF POLIOEYLETIS

Those crippled by polioeyletitis are to have the opportunity in Vermont to learn some sort of work which can be done at home, and they can earn at least a part of their livelihood.

This is the plan which is to be developed under the direction of the polioeyletitis after-care department of the Board of Health, of which Miss Bertha E. Welsbod is in charge.

Miss Margaret R. Ives, an art student who has had a great deal of experience in this kind of work, has been secured to take charge of the work in the homes of the afflicted ones, teaching them to use their hands in skilful ways.

Miss Ives began her work Friday in Woodstock and vicinity.

The plan is to visit the homes of the crippled people who are unable to get around and earn a living outside, finding out what they would like to do, what they have a talent for, and what would be most likely to make use of that talent to the best advantage.

There will be no charge for the services of Miss Ives in the homes. She will give instruction and encouragement and the material will be furnished at first for the work. When the trade has been learned, however, the people will buy their own material.

Miss Ives will teach them to make things which will be most marketable and will find a market so that some of the products will be warranted.

In this way many people who have been shut-in through their crippled condition will have some sort of self-supporting, in part, if not entirely. Also, it will be a valuable after-care work, but have nothing which they know how to do, will be able to get about on their feet, and their hands have not been trained for any useful purposes. The homes of this kind which have been visited, the crippled people, all of whom are young, have joyfully welcomed the opportunity to learn to do something by which they can earn some money. It makes them feel of more use in the world and takes their minds off their own infirmities at the same time.

This vocational training, as it might be called, has been in the mind of many of those in charge of the polio after-care work for some time past. It is hoped and expected that it will be developed into quite an industry during the next few years.

Miss Ives, who takes charge of the work, was a student of Mount Holyoke college from 1912 to 1914, receiving her B.A. degree from that College in 1913, majoring in art there; was in the crafts and decorative design department of the school of Faine Arts, Boston, Mass., 1919-1920; was decorator for the Jamaica post-office company, Boston, 1921, and also did crafts work with private instructors in Boston, 1921-1922.

Some of the things which Miss Ives will teach her pupils to make are Christmas cards, toys, baskets, etc.

The girls will be taught to do needlework.

SERVICE LEAGUE PLANS.

The Service League expects to have plans for Children's Movies thoroughly organized before the "Children's Pleasure House" opens for the season.

A valuable addition to the managing board is Miss Lawrence, who has agreed to help the service secretary by being present at the Saturday movies. The cooperation of the Cheer Leaders' Class and the Physical Education Department has also been secured—the former to lead in singing and the latter to instruct the children in games before the movies. The Pleasure House will probably open the last of this month.

Massachusetts Secretary to the Institute of International Education, was on October 10th, to confer on the possibility of C. C. joining this Institute through the International Committee of Service Leagues. If the College decides to become a member of this body, it will have the advantage of receiving all publications issued by the Institute and of hearing the speakers sent out to colleges from the organization. The first visit which Miss Ives made was to the home of one of the first two College girls who talks on Russia.

The Service League announces that the sweater yarn has arrived and is being given out to those who wish to make sweaters for New London children.

A. CHRISTENS NEW BOATS

Saturday, October the fifteenth, in the capacity of undertaker, a new phase of our life here and one that we hope will prove to be a distinguishing characteristic for the College and future.

About one o'clock we waited at Harrison's Landing until the boats came sliding in. First the "Christen's Loyalty '19," the first "manned" by Agnes Leahy '21, with Emily Stymaker and with Miss Ives in the homes for about $3. The last one we rowed by Grace Fischer, with Gloria Lettier and with Miss Patton in charge. Upon the landing of the boats, Catherine McCarthy addressed us in a brief but effective speech expressing the hope which we all share for the success of the crew, and explaining that the boats were to be christened with water from the spring in Bolleswood, symbolic of the spirit of Wes. Then Dorothy Wulf broke the blue and white draped bottle over the prow of the first boat, giving it the name of one of the first two Colleges Loyalty '15. The second one was then christened in the same man-nder, Stymaker and Miss Stymaker. After the ceremony, we hurried to Harrison's Landing until the boats whose names were then written on small cards under the names of the boats. These will be used in the future to designate the names of the officers of the crew.

The Service League plans to have the trophoe cars not considered the property of quiet hours, not only in dormitories, but also in New London Hall, and especially in the Library; and to be more careful in crowding about the post office during mail time, and to remember that no water for baths is to be drawn after ten o'clock at night.

Miss Sperry reminded the student body that first, girls returning on the train must provide their own chaperones; second, that singing on the train is not considered the proper thing for the Connecticott College girls.

Telegram from Vassar was read containing an invitation to Connecticott College to send two delegates to represent the College at a conference comprising 26 of the leading Eastern colleges. Miss Sperry announced this to the Student government, and the following student opinion upon the question of appointment. The College voted to send Jeannette Sperry and Julia War-er as delegates.

Miss Sperry then announced that she and Agnes Leahy are planning to give a dance—at the College affair—for the benefit of the Endowment Fund, at the Mohican Hotel, October 24th, at 8.30 p.m. The price of the tickets is very reasonable and it is highly de-

After this announcement, Dr. Leib spoke a few words of great value to the students, always stressing the importance of a good education.

OCTOBER THE TWENTY-

FIRST.

October 28, 1921! Does the date mean much—anything—to you? Well, it ought, for those who have not been at the Mohican Hotel, there will be an all-college dance for the benefit of the Endowment Fund. It is your duty to support, and support heartily, all projects to help the College. Everybody finds duty most irksome, it must be administered in sugar-coated form, and what could be sweeter than a dance?

A WARNING.

With the opening of the new year, when drives for club members are in order, and we are all eager to join as many activities as possible, there comes the usual note of warning, "Don't over-organize." The calls come and our spirits are only too willing, for naturally we are anxious to support all college activities. But sooner or later we discover that we have been over-ambitious, and now the flesh is weak. We find that we have so much to do that we cannot attend the meetings or do justice to club work. This fact has been learned from sad experience, and the worthiest output of enthusiasm is over, certain lists appear liable or to be bored. The faithful members have to do the work of the faithless. Our good intentions to support our clubs have often been thwarted by our lack of time. The resignation of Katherine Ham.}

ROOMS AND PERSONALITY

You stood at her door and looked at her apartment in bloom, green mat, brown door, dimly curtained windows, shining white kitchen and dining room. Adequate to meet any need of workers, and graduates can find out if there is such an opportunity in their own "home town." By writing to the national body, the American Association for Organizing Family Schools, 166 East 25th St., New York City, the New York volunteer committee should apply in Miss Clare Teuny.

COLLEGE MILL.

Where a lovely river creaves gray granites, and presses calmly onward toward the open sea, on a lofty hilltop, crowning all the landscape, a College waits, waits proudly, patiently.

Waits with the pride of all the young and eager Crowding' to enter the wide open doors.

Waits with the patience of profound conviction

That growth and service shall be more and more.

All who love the College of such stately renown

Share a burden glorious, a mighty task to be;

That those who seek the flaming torch of knowledge

Shall find it held aloft upon this hill top by the sea.

ESTHER NEWCOMER.

During the summer Miss McCarrery made a short tour of the country about Washington and Philadelphia.

TAIL LIGHTS.

Not the least part of Dr. Wells' assignments is the copying of them. Egyptian hieroglyphics are easy compared to the handwriting on those papers. Indeed a few Seniors, having lived through many of his courses more or less successfully, have been delegated to do the translating for the other classes. Perhaps this will explain the following error: A member of the Shakespeare class copied this question, "What of Lawrence's decision to wed the lovers secretly?" so that it read, "What of Lawrence's decision to wed the lovers' secretary?"

This confirms the well-known saying that there is nothing new under the sun. At the time of Homer, May-mour maye in his "Life in the Homeric Age"; "although bridges do not seem to have been used, a ford is mentioned for the Scamander!"

Umbrellas tipped by green bows now add a bit of color to our campus.

We are growing! Witness the brand new faculty mail boxes. If Plato could shimmy, could Aristotle?—Virginia Reel.

"What does 'Je ne sais pas' mean?" "I don't know."

"Oh, yes you do; you're always saying 'Il est pur'"—Purple Owl.

Good heavens! What next? It's pretty bad when two Juniors go downtown to church, yet can't tell where they were last night.

"NEWS" CHANGES.

Ethel Adams was elected Assistant Junior Editor to replace Caroline Francies, who was forced to resign because of too many points.

Ethel Kane is to be the Junior Reporter to replace Ethel Adams.

OCTOBER THE TWENTY-FIRST.

Freshmen, you'll be broken-hearted that you didn't take advantage of this opportunity to have your men up when you see the Sophomores getting ready for their Hop.

The whole college ought to realize that there won't be another affair to which everyone may go, until the Tea Dance in December—almost four months away.

So, if you are dying from boredom, homesickness, love—why, just go to the dance and be cheered up—and for only two dollars!

Mrs. Noel spent the first five weeks of vacation at Spring Lake, a seaside resort on the New Jersey coast. From there she went for a short stay in Philadelphia. Then she toured through the White Mountains as far as Dixville Notch, which is a small town not far from the Canadian border.
