"Incline Thine Ear and Hear the Word of the Wise--

SENIOR PROCLAMATION

Blessed are the underclassmen that shall when addressed by Seniors for it shall not be said of them that their behavior is not only unethical, but foul.

Blessed are the underclassmen that shall in the seats of the scorner, namely, 9 across and 5 rows back from the front door of Fanning which is sacred to the Holy feet of the Seniors; for they shall not be purred with, the Delight, and the Senses, and among them there shall be no waiting and guilt-tearing of thistles.

Hearken unto me, ye handmaidens, And the Senior Foot-stool, and the subject of their-wise-cracks.

The act of the earth, but, ye have temporarily lost thy savour, Thy heart and humble thy low.

Ye wild ass bray when he hath grazes, By both the ox over his foalback, Or is there any taste in the white of an egg?

Lift up Hosannas, oh hosts of the Lord, To the Seniors who are slightly lower than the angels, Selah.

And when she had finished, behold, the multitude trembled and cried with one voice, "Alas! they are the Seniors, and their words are good, and we shall obey."

College Sponsors Courses in Town

This year our Student-body-the man of us who sit for hours each day, who attend classes from our professors and fountain pens poised over yawning notebooks—is stretching its wings to grow. Two lecture courses will be offered this fall; one on January 19, will be given in the New London Teachers League and are under the auspices of the college.

Dr. Frank E. Morris offers one--a course in Mental Hygiene to be given in Whithrop School on Fridays at four P.M.

During the present fall session, given by Dr. Henry W. Law, the most promising of our students, who have been on record as being of the most interest to the college, the course is taught.

The lectures are to be given once a week for a period of six weeks. Each lecture will be an hour and forty minutes in length, and to each it will be attended by one professor and a number of students. The college offers the course for the regular fee, which is five dollars payable at entrance.

From Other Colleges

Now that you have become acquainted with the college, we call to your attention our returning and transfer students. This year the college has had a number of them. Gertrude Smith ’31, of Montclair, N. J., returns for her study at the sorbonne; Dorothy Simpson ’31, of Norwich, Conn., and Evelyn Schwartz ’21, of New London, spent the past year at the University of Wisconsin; Wilhelmina Brown ’33, of West brighton, L. N. Y., is returning after an army service accomplished by Illness, and Virginia Davis ’32, comes back after a year spent at home in New London.

Five states have sent us one girl each: Marjorie Evans ’32, of Stoughton, Massachusetts; Dorothy Howland ’32, of Rothe; and a number of students from other schools, for the school on that occasion.

The college is also represented in the class of ’32, by two girls from Louisiana: Mrs. E. M. Orange, N. J., comes Elizabeth Sawyer ’27, a Senior Walks in New London, and the University, Anna Hess ’21, who is a member of the sorbonne; Dorothy Simpson ’31, of Norwich, Conn., and Evelyn Schwartz ’21, of New London, spent the past year at the University of Wisconsin. Wilhelmina Brown ’33, of West brighton, L. N. Y., is returning after an army service accomplished by Illness, and Virginia Davis ’32, comes back after a year spent at home in New London.

Soliology of a Freshman

How can a Freshman whose hair is brown, and who wears glasses,

Wear this gay chapeau?

Paul A. Wells, a Sophomore

No, I must know

I'm getting attached to my egg, you see.

It's a game

To smell it every day to see

At least for physical reasons.

Even my bummerhoot occupies

A useful place;

At least I think it hides my naked face.

The bloomers help me to bear it and

They hide the part that trembles when I dance.

But I don’t mind "Freshman, make my bed,

Or "Get Up Clean!"

But what I wear upon my head

I think is vital!
A-Hunting We Did Go

With the best of weather possible, and the eighty-four enthusiastic and hopeful hearts of the Franco-American Club season couldn't help but be a success. The Franco-American Club was held on a beautiful Wednesday afternoon, with merriment, merriment, and merriment! Small groups of girls and boys, dressed like Frenchmen, went on a scavenger hunt around the college, following the arrows, and throughout the afternoon, many of the arrows had to be found twice. The Hares and Hounds were divided into two teams, A's and B's. The A's proceeded to the front of the mountain, where they were greeted by newscapers and papas. Two of them were like, while the B's took another turn. Then, the Hares and Hounds, for the hours to follow. The hounds ran and maneuvered around a circle, and through the first thirty minutes, the hounds had tracked the foes. A what a froissant idea that proved to be! The hares had built a fire and were roasting dogs for the hungry hounds. Ribs, bacon, and steaming coffee disappeared as quickly as possible. A waffle, cookies and marshmallows followed after the most delicious of meals.

Could there be a more perfect end to a day around a college where you're tired and happy and completely exhausted? Perhaps they didn't feel like going to the friendly fire, to hike home, but with the help of the friendly fire and all the twinkle stars, they came at last to the end of the hunt.

It's for certain that it is a defined undergraduate opinion, 'It is a wise bit of foresight anyway, if a student is going to have to work his way throughout the freshman year. College in the middle west and the middle east is expected to have an effect on the enrollment, as the students will be deluged with advice from deans and from the whirl, the first years.
