COLONIAL HOUSE TO BE DEDICATED.

DR. HOCKING TO ADDRESS CONVOCATION.

The long needed Endowment effort is underway. Offers have been opened at 407-409 Plant Building with Miss Helen Hemingway of the class of '22 as executive secretary. Committees are being formed throughout the State and it is estimated that the solicitation effort probably the latter part of next month to raise $150,000.

Governor John H. Trumbull has accepted the chairmanship of the General Education Board for the intensive endowment movement throughout the State.

George H. Palmer, President of the Board of Trustees, has been named chairman of the executive committee which acts for the General Citizens' Committee, a group of persons prominent throughout the State.

Miss Agnes Leahy, President of the Alumni Association and head of the Personnel Bureau of the class of '23, but now of New York City, has been elected as alumni members of the endowment executive committee.

There have already begun plans to organize the alumnae throughout the State for the intensive endowment effort.

In the event the college raises its goal the General Education Board will augment the endowment with a gift of $150,000. This will raise the total in the effort to $700,000, of which $550,000 is to be raised as an endowment fund mainly because of the wonderful response of the alumni, who have pledged over $200,000. On the first floor in the salon, 72 by 46 feet, which has already become one of the social centers of the institution, a suite for the house guests will be furnished. In the basement rooms, a dining hall and pantry are also on this floor. On the second floor are twenty-four rooms, four of them single, and twenty accommodating two students each.

Colonial House completed during the past year, will be formally dedicated October 24. This dormitory was thrown open to students at the opening of college this Fall.

PADAIC COLUM TO SPEAK

The Senior Class will present Padraic Colum, the versatile Irish author, whose genius has placed him in the front rank of modern writers, at the college on October 24th at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Sykes Memorial Fund. His subject will be "Contemporary Poetry with readings from his own verse." The Senior Class has been given a program including the purpose of raising funds for a memorial in memory of the late Dr. Frederick Henry Sykes, first president of the college.

Mr. Colum is well known among student bodies. He has had a brilliant literary career—writing in his early youth many poems and plays. Later he joined the National Theater movement in Dublin—he play having been the first to be produced by the Irish movement. Two days, Mr. Colum is widely known as a contributor to the leading English and American magazines. He is a native of Limerick, Ireland—of Oliver Goldsmith, from Library association, and Mr. Colum's prose works constitute one of the greatest achievements of modern times. His stories of Irish life and folklore are singularly interesting, and have universal vitality. He has been equally successful in writing fairy stories for children, and arouses interest in classic legends. In recent years, Mr. Colum has had prominent success as a lecturer in this country, and has delighted many audiences by his charm as a speaker. The reading of his verse amounts to a work of art itself. We are most fortunate to be able to welcome Mr. Colum to our campus.

NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC OPENS CONCERT SERIES.

The first concert of the 1925-26 series was given in the State Armory on Tuesday night, October 26th. It has become customary this first number of the year's program was given by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, this time with Wilhem Mengelberg conducting.

The program was unusually interesting and varied. After-Suite No. 5, in B Minor, "A Victory Ball," Fantasia for Orchestra. Weiser—Overture to "Der Freischütz." Traub—Symphony No. 2, in D Major, Op. 73.

The huge audience applauded the unusual opportunity of hearing Mr. Mengelberg himself play the Scherzo portion. The Scherzo selection, "A Victory Ball," was a decided contrast to the preceding numbers. It is a vigorous, dramatic, and intimately emotional tone painting, inspired by Mr. Alfred Noyes' poem of the same name.

Weiser's "Der Freischütz" was perhaps the most familiar feature of the program. It is a graceful, tuneful work as transparent as a great composition can well be. Brahms' great piano and loved symphony, No. 2, in B Minor, closed the program. It is a work which appeals, even to the musical uninitiated, as very comprehensible and very beautiful.

The audience filled nearly to capacity, with an appreciative audience and forecasts for the rest of the season a success commensurate with the unusual high quality of the program.

DEDICATION PROGRAM.

12.30—Luncheon. The College Glee Club will sing during lunch.

12.45—Dedication address by President Benjamin Tinkham Marshall.

1.20—Competitive Step Singing by the four undergraduate classes.

3.15—Hockey game.

4.25—Inspection of buildings.

4.45—10-minute tour Colonial House.

The Annual Exhibition of Paintings will be hung in Colonial House beginning tomorrow. They will be on display until November 7th.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERS CONNECTICUT.

Next Monday evening, October 26th, the Chronicles of America's progress, "Columbus," will be given in the College Gymnasium, beginning at 6:45 o'clock. This is the first of a series of motion picture performances that will be presented on Campus during the coming year, in connection with the course in American History. These Chronicles of America's Photoplays, produced under the direct supervision of the New York Press, are now recognized as perhaps the most significant contribution made to the field of visual education. They represent an attempt at entertaining.

Dear Alumni:

As you remember the days of your college life, which you spent at C.C., you have many happy associations and pleasant memories. There are over five hundred of us now doing the things you did and enjoying what you enjoyed. We want you to share our good times, and in every way feel with us.

The Vex brings its happenings to you. By means of it you can listen to our fine speakers, keep in touch with Student Government, and play our games with us.

The Alumni as a body are not subservient to the Vex, but you are "in the Vex." We need your cooperation, and you need what the Vex brings you, of course.

Send your subscriptions (we are making it one dollar one year) in time for next week's issue, to Harriet Taylor, the business manager of the Vex.

Sincerely yours,

The News Staff

Student Government

At a recent meeting of Student Council, it was decided that girls should be allowed to text from the station after train and buses arriving before 8:30 A.M., when returning from a week-end. Students' attention is also called to the fact that if a student returns to her room between 10 and 1:30 P.M., she should report to her house committee rather than to the council.

Interest to students of the college who deal with Professor Hocking's observations and conclusions on the human organism, based on a background of years of training and study in his field. However, we are not so critical of his theories, for if he criticizes, he will do so constructively.

Dr. Erb Interprets First Concert of Series

Friday evening, October 16th, in the gymnasium, Dr. Erb gave an interesting talk on the structure, the members, and the function of the human orchestra, and the program of the New London Philharmonic Orchestra on October 24th. The structure of the orchestra had its birth in antiquity, the Romans, the Greeks, and the Jews, the four divisions of the orchestra, the woodwinds, the brass, the strings, the percussion, and the coasters. Dr. Erb spoke of some of the instruments in these groups, and the instruments of the orchestra on the stage; also discussed the part played by the conductor of the orchestra.

The Concert by the New London Philharmonic Orchestra consists of a Bach Suite, a modern selection. "The Victory Ball" an orchestra, and a Brahms Symphony. The Bach Suite was originally only a set of dances written for a small orchestra. The movements are not given in order rather than the use of flutes is due to the fact that it is hunting, and solicits from the parents of the young girls, and teach them delicate, which encircles with the pit boys of life? And how the young girls resist, and how the parents are two girls of the pit boys. Poor, dear Mrs. Santa Claus! It is much like a great spruce tree whose clustered branches are without much harm, and gives her the titles of the American soldier. Scotch bagpipes help to provide the proper atmosphere. Dr. Erb played the obbligato of the flutes, which was written by a pupil of Tchaikovsky. The Overture is the last work of the Austrian Symphonist, written in German. It is based on an old Scotch legend.

The second half of the concert was the Brahms Symphony in D, which has more movements, the first and second, the first being the most brilliant, the second, expressive, and the third, a fine work, all of which are岭ched and interpreted with a great German composer after Beethoven.

At C.C., she automatically becomes a member of the college as such, a participant in all its activities. Student government is an essential factor of college life and it is not a separate factor—it pervades all parts and each aspect of the college. However, there is no excuse for the attitude which seems to be so prevalent among some members of Council; namely, that the student government is the responsibility of the Council. FRESHMEN QUIZZED ON "CS."

The "C" quiz of October 16th brought to a close an intensive period of training which has been going on for the last two weeks. The "C" hand-books were much in evidence a few days before the quiz, not only among Freshmen, but also among Sophomores. The night of the event, the Senior class in cop and gear marched solemnly to their seats on the platform. Sophomores were seated on one side of the gym, the Freshmen in the middle of the gym floor, and the Juniors occupied the balcony. The Sophomores were given the privilege of asking the first questions. Some of the answers provided much merriment, as also did some of the questions. On the whole, the answers showed that the Freshmen knew their "C's" exceptionally well. After the Sophomores had finished asking questions, the Sophomores, now, in order to finish the "C" question, asked, "Do you think the Freshmen are too serious?" It was a question of the wrong kind and quite a novel approach to the "C" quiz. The Sophomores gave the Freshmen, who were all so busy with the "C" quiz. The Freshmen proved that they can answer a few questions, but they can also answer a few questions of a different kind. CIVIL SERVICE POSTS OPEN.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces the following open competitive examinations:

Assistant Child Psychologist.

Receipt of applications for assistant child psychologist will close November 30. The examination is to fill vacancies in the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, at an entrance salary of $2,400 a year. After the probationary period of six months required by the civil service rules, advancement in pay may be made without change in assignment, up to $3,000 a year. Promotion to higher grades may be made in accordance with the civil service rules.

There is also a vacancy in the position of assistant executive analyst (psychologist) in the Children's Bureau, New Haven, Conn., which will be filled from this examination. The entrance salary for this position at New Haven is $35 cents an hour.

The duties, under general supervision, are to study the development and behavior of certain groups of pre-school children, and to write reports thereon.

Applications must have been graduated from a college or university of recognized standing, with the completion of at least 114 semester hours of college work, and have had at least one year's graduate work in psychology. In addition, applicants must have had at least one year's experience in scientific studies of the mental development and behavior of young children.

Candidates will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on their education and experience, and a thesis of publications to be filed with the application. Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C., or the secretary of the board of U.S. civil service examiners at the post office or custom-house in any city.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERS CONNECTICUT.

When reduced to a mileage basis, the passenger rates in Europe are substantially lower than first class rates in this country. When reduced to a mileage basis, the fare from Paris to Milan is, a mille, while the American rates are approximately 4.8 cents a mile.

Rates on the Continent are much higher. Reduced to a mileage basis, the fare from Paris to Milan is 25 French francs, while in America, the rates are approximately 4.8 cents a mile.

Even these fares paid by Europeans are not the total cost of the journeys. The American passenger is entitled to free transportation of 150 pounds of baggage. In Europe, except in Great Britain, every pound of baggage except ordinary hand baggage, must be paid for. No tourist can calculate these charges in advance, for the complications of the baggage tariffs are quite beyond the grasp of the ordinary human mind. The only thing that can be counted upon with certainty is that they will be enough.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERS CONNECTICUT.

Importance in American History from the voyage of Columbus to the close of the Civil War.

In the production of these pictures the most faithful and painstaking work has characterized every step. Not only each incident and action portrayed, but every character and costume, setting, structure, and implement; every detail of custom and habit; every phase of military and naval practice; every word in the explanatory titles, in short, every object and movement shown represents the careful study of original and the labor of trained investigators in libraries, museums, and historical institutions.

All the costumes are made from individual sketches drawn by an artist who has long made history his major interest. In selecting the actors to take the parts, thousands of candidates are interviewed by historical experts and "screen tested" for character resemblance to the character in question. The dates and pictures thus far booked for Connecticut College are as follows:

October 26—Columbus.
November 2—Jamesville.
November 9—The Pilgrims.
November 23—The Puritans.
November 30—The Gateway of the West.
December 14—Wolfes and Montcalm.
January 11—The Declaration of Independence.
February 15—The Frontier Woman.
February 23—Yorktown.

Before each of these pictures a brief explanatory lecture will be given by one of the major students in the Department of History. This lecture will not cover the incidents shown in the photographs, but it will sketch an historical background for them, in so far as that can be done in the fifteen minutes between 6:45 and 7:00 o'clock.

The actual showing of the pictures will take place at 7 and 8. Between the reels, the two or three minutes of talking will be filled with amusing and other historical material prepared and presented by other students in the American History courses.

PRINCETON LIMITS ENROLLMENT.
In order to get more of the student body in college dormitories, Princeton has limited its enrollment to 2,500. As a result, of the new buildings under construction, they plan to have eighty-two per cent, of the students on campus. About seventy-three per cent, of them live in college houses now. This policy has been adopted because Princeton wants all the educational advantages of a large University coupled with the campus life of a smaller college.

YALE MUSEUM TO CO-OPERATE WITH SCHOOLS.

The Peabody Museum of Yale, which is to open in December, is carrying out plans for a children's room. Classes from the seventh and eighth grades, and Biology classes in the High School are especially welcomed. If this experiment proves successful, Dr. Richard Lait, the director, anticipates an entire building given over to the Children's Museum.

R. R. FARES IN U. S. CHEAPER THAN IN EUROPE.

There is a large difference in the cost of travel in Europe and the United States. The average cost of travel in America is approximately 4.8 cents a mile, while in Europe the cost is approximately 6.3 cents a mile.

The American passenger is entitled to free transportation of 150 pounds of baggage. In Europe, except in Great Britain, every pound of baggage except ordinary hand baggage, must be paid for. No tourist can calculate these charges in advance, for the complications of the baggage tariffs are quite beyond the grasp of the ordinary human mind.
