British Choir Opens Season With Concert

Saint Paul's Choir, which has already been announced as coming to St. Paul's in the New London area, will give a concert on Wednesday, October 20, at 8:30 p.m. in the Knowlton Salon at 8:30. This concert will be followed by a social hour with a reception to be given in the Knowlton Salon on Tuesday, October 26, at 8:30.

Bloodmobile to be in Plattsburgh on Tuesday, October 20. Permission cards must be completed and turned in at the Information Booth on October 12.

For this recital Mr. Dale chose to play Sonatas in C major by Mozart, Brahms, and Beethoven. The work was sung on a theme by Händel. Sonatas in C major and E minor by William Sterne; Two Preludes—La terrasse des auditeurs in his music and clearness of articulation in this line. The recital was given on the organ of St. Paul's Cathedral. There were approximately fifty of the St. Paul's congregation present for the recital, and approximately three hundred people attended the concert.

Construction Company Starts Immediately on New Building

Trustee Board Awards Contract on $165,000

One Story Structure

Construction of a new chemistry building will begin almost immediately. It was announced Friday by President Rosemary Park. Miss Park’s statement was made after a meeting of the board of trustees of the college, which met immediately after the building.

Chemistry Building to Be Erected

The trustees decided to go ahead immediately with the erection of the building. A one-story structure will be constructed of concrete blocks and will have an elevator. The site of the old building will be across the street from Blackstone.

College Development

The contract for the present building has been awarded to The Connecticut College Building Company, who are expected to be the builder of the new building, and to the St. Paul’s College Building Company, who are expected to be the constructors. The cost is expected to be $165,000. Plans for the construction of the new building have already been made, and the building is expected to be completed in the fall of 1954.

Contract Awarded

The Connecticut College Board of Trustees, on the recommendation of the Personnel Committee and the Personnel Director, has awarded the contract for the construction of the new building to the Connecticut College Building Company, who are expected to be the constructors. The cost is expected to be $165,000. Plans for the construction of the new building have already been made, and the building is expected to be completed in the fall of 1954.

Senior Returns After School Season Spent on Continent

Just returned to her senior year at Connecticut is Lilliets Alcain, who spent the summer in Paris in her major field, History. She left with the Smith group in September 1952, and, after finishing her studies in Paris, she is now at the University of Cambridge in England. She will return to her home in Suffolk, Connecticut, in early December.

Please Against Plea
Dear Editors of News:
This is a plea to abate the activities of the Plea Against Plea. We were grieved and shocked to read the plea of our own classmates regarding Mascot Hunt. We feel that Mascot Hunt is a defensive device in a campus that arouses spirit and class loyalty that the Associated Collegiate Press have pointed out in the pages of the News. We have not only quoted to know our own classmates but, we have made "personal contacts" literally with many juniors, who we do not "belong" to, in various colleges. In all we feel that it is important that we do not consider class spirit a worthwhile at all times. It is our responsibility to make our decisions based upon the Morris Series and to change what we believe to be the truth.

Nostalgia
To the Editor of News:
We do not intend to renew the discussion on Mascot Hunt. Since the primary factors which enable people to believe in their class spirit is traditions, Mascot Hunt is a tradition. After the associate editor of Connecticut College's "Nostalgia" who has established that Mascot Hunt is the tradition, we are not going to contest the second point of the question. We feel that this "nostalgia argument" is the only one that ever occurred to us. We feel that this "nostalgia argument" is the only one that ever occurred to us.

Purpose
Every college has some kind of organized introductory course, and it is only natural that we might more rightfully be classified as "tradition." We do not intend to argue over who served little or no purpose, however, we realize that this is the point of the question. It is in fact established that with further progress in the second year, students are usually more interested in activities with less personal inconvenience. We feel that this is the point of the question. White Wool Blazer Likely to Become Universal Apparel

Total profit from the Connecti cut blazer sale has been $4,000 to date. It is a part of the Student-Alumnae Auxiliary's annual income. It goes to the Recreation Hall fund.

The sale was held on Friday, October 22, in Fanning Hall, with a wide range of colors and styles on display. The blazers were priced at $20, and some of the favorites included the gray, blue, and green.

The white wool blazer with matching pants is a great look for fall and winter.

Co-education Hits College as Al, Glll Dick Do, Some

New Patterns for Mid-Century Living Form
Theme of NY Herald Tribune Annual Forum

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Attorney General Herbert Brownell will speak at the 22nd annual New York Herald Tribune Forum which will be held in New York from Sunday, Oct. 18, through Tuesday, Oct. 20.

The opening session of the Forum will convene at 8 p.m., Sunday, October 18, in the United Nations Assembly Hall and will be addressed by Dag Hammarskjöld, Secretary General of the UN. The third, fourth and fifth sessions will be held in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Issues Discussed

During the three days and four sessions of the conferences, speakers will examine issues of local, national and international interest as they relate to the theme of this year's Forum—New Patterns for Mid-Century Living. Some 2,000 delegates, including representatives selected from more than 300 businesses, labor, political, trade and civic groups and at least 400 colleges throughout the United States, are expected to attend each session.

New Patterns for Mid-Century Living Form

This year's Forum will not only deal with current affairs but also will be concerned with modern day living. The theme of the second session, which opens at 8 a.m., Monday, October 19, will be "The Influence of Design." Speakers will discuss the development of design and its impact on environment and on the human being. Following through, the third session, which opens at 8 a.m., Tuesday, October 20, will be "The Human Hand." Here discussions will center on how and why, the leisure time, created by technological advances, can best be put to use.

Second Session Speakers

Participants in the second session will include Henry Dreyfuss, New York industrial designer; George Nakashima, designer of modern furniture; Paul R. Williams, West Coast architect and recipient of this year's Spingarn Medal; and Anna Mary Robertson Moses-Dreyfuss, designer of Grandma Moses, an idealbeautqueen for your week-end.

Big Turnout Comes To Dance Workshop
Over thirty girls attended in Knowlton Room yesterday afternoon at 4:20 to participate in the first dance workshop of the year, according to Pam Ford, president of Dance Group. This class, for the purpose of "limbering up," was conducted by Faith Guild in which attended the School of Dance on this campus this summer.

The next workshop will be held on Tuesday, October 26 at 4:20, in the gym.
