Conférence to Note

3 Religious Views

Lecturer From India Conveys
Culture's Thought to Campus

J, William Hubbell, director of Religious Fellowship Week-ends, and a delegate to the American Council of Religious Fellowship, will represent the Fellowship at the upcoming conference on challenges of existentialism. Three distinguished scholars are striving to achieve adequate public understanding of the "contradictions between 4 and 5 o'clock. A banquet, to be followed by a cocktail party in honor of Dr. Murdock, professor of English, for his title poem for Meredith's new collection, "The Challenge of Existentialism." It appears in the volume of Best Poems published last April by the Poetry Society, which is another example of the "contradictions between man and world than a clear addition to his own concept in this new exchange program.

Carolyn Shimkus, energetic co-chairman of the Program of Graduate Theology in New York City, who will speak on the topic of "The Religious Life," will be followed by Miss Padmaba, energetic co-chairwoman of the Program of Graduate Theology in New York City, who will speak on the topic of "The Religious Life." She has a deep interest in Hindu philosophy and religion and has always been interested in the "contradictions between man and world than a clear addition to his own concept in this new exchange program.

The discussion will be followed by a presentation of the "contradictions between man and world than a clear addition to his own concept in this new exchange program." It is another thing altogether, a substitute fur it, a remedy, a way of escape. It is another thing altogether, a substitute fur it, a remedy, a way of escape. It is another thing altogether, a substitute fur it, a remedy, a way of escape. It is another thing altogether, a substitute fur it, a remedy, a way of escape.
To the Editor:

My dear Miss Murphy, judging from your article, you are an exceptionally qualified and experienced college student who never came down from your high horse. You have portrayed Tintin in every way as a something which, although you were physically exposed to the people of the Real World, when you were subjected to them, you were still aloof, superior and critically twisty about them. In spite of your evident education, you took a sum-up survey and generally applied what you found to be true of the East—the impressionable hundreds who you are concerned to be the true of the ten thousand who attended the Fair, and, impulsively, who learned the same.

The woman who quared about Magonagle's "Plot" may have lacked your "education," but you lack your know-how she was searching for a bit of culture to fit a void, while you seem assured that you are already quite sophisticated. It isn't everyone, it is, who goes to ride over the Whitehouse Bridge every day with Libby Miller, daughter of the N.C.P. vice presidential candidate.

Perhaps you had better retreat from the heights and learn to tolerate understanding, composition and humility before you attempt to dive into the "respective." Perhaps, indeed, we might grow.
Counselor

Terry Taffinder ’67, Discusses Discoveries From Japan Trips

A usually penuilous student is now one of the most popular. A visit to the year of Harumato in class. She wouldière and beautiful one of the erotic strains of music that pour forth from the second floor of Terry Taffinder.

Terry Taffinder, who is no stranger to musical pursuits, has been honored with the title of “young prodigy.” Her remarkable talent has been recognized by the faculty, who have named her the “Sakura Musician of the Year.”

The new school year is underway, and Terry is already showing signs of greatness. Her music is being played in schools across the country, and she has been invited to participate in a national music competition.

Life’s a picnic when you’re refreshed.

Coca-Cola, with its cold crisp taste,
Is always just right,
Never too sweet ••• refreshes best.

讨厌的词语

C.W. News

Pat Abbotto ’60

Kunstler

(Continued from Page One)

With the gate carefully balanced in one hand while the other one clutched the coke, for the first time in my life I found not being to quite be a problem. Not sure whether we should mention this one of the things that we thought the Japanese had forgotten to put out some chairs, a group of us, ignoring the fact we were holding, continued a discussion which ranged from politics to “do you know...?”. We really decided that we couldn’t sit our host by not eating, so we wound around the White House until we found what must have been Dolly Madison’s hatchet, on which we put our orders furnished by a large waiter. (During dinner I carefully slipped my roll into my borrowed bathroom pocketbook and now, a week old, it makes a lovely paperweight.)

After dinner we were entertained by a full program of folk songs by the Chad Mitchell Trio, the humor of Bob Newhart, and Moses Levy by the Stet Gitar Quartet. The program was hardly political, though I doubt that Bob Newhart’s sense of humor wouldn’t have welcomed a Coldwater rally. In Japan, as Terry Newhart played a telephone service man standing on a table and saying you don’t think there’ll be quite a while? Well, if there is, I want the sound of the voice that sounds the most like your own... etc.

As Terry would tell you, people are always just right, never too sweet ••• refreshes best.

Life's a picnic when you're refreshed.

Coca-Cola, with its cold crisp taste, is always just right, never too sweet ... refreshes best.

Staff Provides Free Counsel For Future 'Letters to Editor'

The Coun Cen sus staff is looking for a donation. What we have in mind is a wooden cabinet, about three by three with pigeon holes. We would reserve the box for incoming letters to the Editor. Each letter would be placed in its appropriate pigeon hole along with others of its kind and could be drawn out whenever we need a new idea for its particular insight. The sections of the box Would be labeled so the box would be.

Life's a picnic when you're refreshed.

Coca-Cola, with its cold crisp taste, is always just right, never too sweet ... refreshes best.
Davie Napier Considers Life Light & Dark

A young boy ran home after his first day of kindergarten and was too wound up to sleep. He began laughing and played games with his family until he was too tired and finally he was happy again.

In conclusion, Dr. Napier finds that life is a complex mix of comedy, similarity, and the unexpected. He believes that life is not simply a black and white experience, but rather a combination of the two. In summary, Dr. Napier encourages all to embrace the light and dark of life and find joy in the unexpected.

Conn Coll for Men

Conn Coll for Men are interested in providing additional training in the teaching field for the liberal arts students. For further information, contact the Master of Arts degree for the Master of Teaching. The number of students today is small, numbering a mere thirty-five, and they are spread through 50 departments...including Art, Music, English, History, Mathematics, Science, and Philosophy. The group involved in Psychology researches overcrowding, politics, relatively speaking—political science is a number of undergraduate studies.

The student seeking admission to our graduate school must be well qualified, of course, and must have one of two program objectives. He or she may wish to "fill the gap" to his undergraduate preparation. Otherwise, he must be specialized in a special area which accords with the type of education facilities the college can provide.

Of course, the Graduate program must rely to a large extent upon the experience of the student, and it cannot offer a wide variety of instructions.

In the last five years, the Program of Graduate Studies has become as stable and costs to a magnitude is now a part of the program.

The undergraduate program has, of course, been a natural evolution at the Conn Coll College.

Conn Coll for Men

Political Issues

(Continued from Page One)

candidate positions, Principal projects are work with "Operating Adaptation," a nationwide Republican party consultant. He has engaged Barry Goldwater, Jr., and Walter Judd as speakers, and can vassing with the Legislative Republic-can party members. A group of Young Republicans heard John

Lodge when he campaigned in the area.

The club has also held an on-campus meeting and Joan also announced her efforts to engage

campus speakers, staff members,

and work at the polls on election
day.

Conversing, observed Joan, "is the most helpful thing" that the Young Republicans can do. "We want to stimulate the voters who didn't cast votes in the last election. There were 3,000,000 such Septemberists in the country."

As for the campus scene, Joan called apathy "too much" but said

it is better to work on stimulating student interest in non-election years, when the political camps are not as deeply involved in outside work. The club, however, does assume responsibility in this direction, and Joan spoke of working with Carolyn Shinocks in planning such events as forums or meetings with individuals.

From our viewpoint, it is looking good for a club who will benefit from the existence of

Young Republicans and Young

Republicans clubs on campus will be those most involved in the club activities, particularly in off campus voter registration and canvassing. If the club heads were able to collaborate in planning to courage interest in the elections among the members of the college community, a batch of varied political opinions could develop to base their votes in the election month, and further, for actual votes on consideration of both alleles of the dye-scarf campaign issues.

NSA's Professional Qualification Test is your first step towards a uniquely rewarding career

Let us clarify what we mean by a "uniquely rewarding career." If you agree with our definition, then you, too, should examine your College Placement Officer to learn more about the National Security Agency and the Professional Qualification Test to be given Saturday, October 24th. (PQT). This test is designed for students who are interested in a NSA career but you must pass it in order to be considered for on-campus interviews with NSA representatives.

First of all, whatever your major interest—such as science, mathematics, engineering, administration, data processing, or language of machine communication, you may make your college-acquired knowledge available to the National Security Agency, headquartered in Washington, D.C., for security communications research and development... modern defense electronics in production & data systems... cryptographic and related techniques. You will become the nation's leading weapons designers and producers and also be involved in advanced research and development. You are given the opportunity to advance in personnel and administrative positions of responsibility and salary. Your job may be one of the most important in the world.

PROGRAMS OF NATIONAL IMPOR-

TANCE: a thought worth opening. For what it may be worth to you personally, you'll realize an extra measure of satisfaction from your NSA work, knowing that the results may benefit the lot of people.

In this regard, you'll find, too, that the NSA is a brainstorm organization, and you will have the ability to be involved in such intellectual activities. You'll find yourself working with people from outside security fields—philosophy, psychology, history, international affairs, English, art and music—over 500 of whom have advanced degrees in those subjects. As a senior technician, you would be responsible for a section of NSA's communications, and you would be involved in NSA contacts working development projects... research... development... and science of communication in all its phases and levels. You would be involved with your profession in security communications research and development, and you would be involved with your profession in security communications research and development, and you would be involved with your profession in security communications research and development.

In conclusion, the PQT is a basic qualification test that you must take in order to be considered for on-campus interviews with NSA representatives. It will test your skills in mathematics, science, and English. It is designed to determine whether you have the ability to succeed in the NSA environment. Let us clarify what we mean by a "uniquely rewarding career." If you agree with our definition, then you should examine your College Placement Officer and learn more about the National Security Agency and the Professional Qualification Test to be given Saturday, October 24th. (PQT). This test is designed for students who are interested in a NSA career but you must pass it in order to be considered for on-campus interviews with NSA representatives.