Connecticut College News Vol. 5 No. 4

Connecticut College

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_1919_1920

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.conncoll.edu/ccnews_1919_1920/27

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Newspapers at Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. It has been accepted for inclusion in 1919-1920 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Connecticut College. For more information, please contact bpancier@conncoll.edu.
The views expressed in this paper are solely those of the author.
A. C. A. CONFERENCE

On Oct. 21st and 22nd, the New London Branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae was hostess at a conference of the presidents of the branches of the North Atlantic section of this Association. The various meetings and events of the first day were held on the Colece campus, while the following program was carried out in detail:

3.00 P.M.

Room 216, New London Hall.
Welcome from the New London Branch, Anna Holbrook Wales, President. Problems of the Branches.
(1) How does the National Association handle Branches?
(2) Programs, Sophie H. Hart, Professor of English at Wesley College.
(3) The Increased National Drive.
(4) The Value of a Central Bureau in Giving Information on Effective Speakers.

4.30 P.M.

A visit to the dormitories of Connecticut College.

5.00 P.M.

The College Gymnasium.
College Convocation. Address: The Purpose of the A. C. A., Mrs. Marvin B. Rosenberry, National President of the A. C. A.

Thames Hall.
A dance in honor of the sneakers and visiting delegates by Connecticut College.

6.30 P.M.

The College Gymnasium.
Downtown Wheeler, president, Vice-President of the North Atlantic Section.

Connecticut College Choir, directed by Dr. Cockeye.

"I Am the Light." Cockeye.

"A Song of Seasons." Hawley.

Address: "The College Woman’s Part in Americanization Programmes," Clara B. Springsteen, Assistant Supervisor of Immigrant Education.

Address: "Children, Our Future A. C. A. Members." Elizabeth Woodbridge, head girl.

Address: "International Relations." Mrs. Gertrude S. Martin, Executive Secretary of the New London Branch.

Play by the College Girls—"A Marriage Has Been Arranged." Alfred Supervisor.

Lady Aline de Vaux.
Miss Marion F. Hendrie ’26

YES! Freshman! Audience at the Evolution of the Dance—Yes! Freshman! Yes! Service League! Yes—Cast!

Bewildered Freshman—Who’s Cast?

Some Record for Ruth
Senior—Ruth cools off Yale Record today.
Junior—I didn’t know Ruth owned a v’croila!

EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY

Thursday night at quarter to seven an excited gathering of students and faculty collected in the gymnasium to find out what the Seniors had to offer. The program was opened by Dr. Morris, a tenter of intelligence, Professor Blue, a judge of physique and stature, and Mlle. Sheurer, the famous artist whose decision on aesthetic questions is law.

Representatives of other colleges were present and noteworthy speciments from Vassar, Mt. Holyoke, and Smith were shown but the honors were all awarded to Connecticut College dogs, as follows:

Blue Ribbon—Entry No. 29
Honorable Mention No. 21
Honorable Mention No. 22
Honorable Mention No. 23

The blue ribbon was given to "Pep" the real live canine of 1920 because his physique is perfect; because nothing could excel the superb shading of buff and brown in his coat of fur, and because his intelligence was rated as being very high—indeed, the judges made the remark that "Pep" showed more good horse-sense than any dog he had ever seen.

At the conclusion of the manager’s words, the Senior class arose and sang several songs to "Pep," who gleefully接受了 his appreciation as played upon with the class president who had him in charge. Then a light dawmed upon everyone present. This lively air-dale, this epiphany of Pep, with his buff fur and blue ribbon,—this was the Senior mascot whom no daring Junior would venture to steal.

The true success of the occasion was proved by the fact that approximately one hundred dollars was raised for the fund.

DO YOU WANT WORK?

There must be many girls here who realize the value of independence. It is difficult for us to be totally independent while we are at college, but it is the duty of every girl to do something which aims toward that goal.

The Student Employment Bureau of the Service League offers you this opportunity for YOU:

1. Servicing
2. Care of Children
3. Domestic duties of all kinds
4. Or have you always longed to try your art in salesmanship? If so, there is just such an agency open for you.

The first thing you must do is sign your name for work with Ethel M. Mason, 383 Plant.

Second: State the kind of work you desire to do and the hours you have free to give to it.

Third: Await results.

FALL SPORTS

Schedule of Fall Games

Nov. 1: Freshmen Hockey Section.
Sophomore-Junior Soccer.
Nov. 4: Freshmen—Sophomore Hockey.
Junior-Senior Hockey.
Nov. 15: Senior Hockey.
Nov. 22: (Winner).—(Winner)
Nov. 25: Faculty-Senior Soccer, 11 a.m.

SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM

Center—M. Davies
Right Inside—E. Williams (Capt.)
Left Inside—J. Munsen, Cambridge.
Right Outside—M. Warner.
Left Outside—C. Costanzo.
Right Halfback—M. Howard.
Left Halfback—H. Allard.
Center Halfback—H. Gage.
Right Fullback—J. McGowan.
Left Fullback—C. A. Smith.

HOTCHELLES
Goal—M. Doyle.

TRIPPING THE LIGHT FANTASTIC TOE

On Saturday evening, October twenty-fifth, an enjoyable party was held in the gymnasium where the first dance of the year was given to swell the budget of the Sykes fund. The gymnasium was attractively decorated with multi-colored autumn leaves and smiling Jack-o’lanterns, whose eerie, flickering grins spread an uncanny atmosphere over the "lightless" Jack-o’lantern dance. The music was especially lively, while the varicolored dresses of the girls made an enticing picture.

The true success of the occasion was proved by the fact that approximately one hundred dollars was raised for the fund.

THE CUCKOO OF MONS

"And women will be singing in their doorways, little children playing on the streets, and from the green hills the call of the cuckoo will come again in the spring of the year." This is the world that Con misky Dawson described "Thursday evening, but he spoke in the sober tones of no light-hearted optimism. He was the voice of the soldier who had fought through months of the smoulder and fight of the trenches in order to find his way back through Hell and come out alive. Yes, you have all heard those phrases: but maybe you have been joining the ranks of the "Let’s forget the past—let us all forget the past—let us all forget the past." No! The war is due in his mind, the new world slowly growing there from the poppy-fields of inspiration and hope. He has found the same old world brooding him what! This room there was left and bidding him to fight for his own hands.

"We have been making so long in to the heart of a furnace that we are dazed and cannot see our opportunities in true proportions." But Mr. Dawson spoke encouragingly of the signs of the new world that must eventually roll into place. The three most encouraging evidences that he gave were:

1. Prohibition
2. The League of Nations
3. The Victory of Demobilization

By this he meant a sane, and peaceful demobilization. His categorizing the strikers as the "prophets of the war" in most cases, and that we find the same old world brooding them.

The war turned the water ways of Flanders into streets, and from the green hills the call of the cuckoo will come again in the spring of the year."

ASSETS FOR MANDOLIN CLUB

The members of the Mandolin Club have welcomed in their midst the following musicians:

Catherine Stone
Jean Murray
Clara Calhoun
James Robinson
Alice Beersheimer
Katherine Culver
Dorothy Randall
Alice Gardner
B. Smith
Miss Woodford.

(Continued, pp. 2, col. 3)
A Pleasant Nod

Have we lost our custom of nodding to our fellow students when we meet them on the campus? Some of us do observe it, and all of us would have a smile and a greeting if we realized that it is a symbol of the democracy of Connecticut College. It is pitiful to reflect that some never take anything from the giver, but often means a great deal to the person to whom they are given. Of course— "don't know every girl, but we wave," is this one way of getting acquainted.

Appearances

"Certainly Charles didn't marry her for her appearance." Upon his return from the wedding Harry made this remark about his brother's choice of a bride. "Ladies and gentlemen," he continued, "I was told but could not contradict the statement. I want beauty, but it must be of the truest sort." No, but they help!" was his prompt rejoinder. I laughed and said no more.

Nevertheless, the meaning in his thought is there. Beauty has been brought home to me many times since he gave them utterance. In fact, I have come to realize that he was giving expression to one of the fundamental defects in modern-day, yes, in all society. What a different world this would be if appearances counted for nothing and honest, naked truth were all that mattered—were, indeed, the final judge of all things, both great and small. For then the existing state of affairs would involve everyone, even the lowest of men. Business, labor, capital, religion, art, education—all would undergo a revolution, if sham were eliminated and truth imported into our society.

At present, how many people are there who live on a strict basis of facts, regardless of appearances? Do we need to be reminded again for impressions—impressions we make upon our neighbors—their friends, our acquaintances, and through public opinion? "Looks don't count." They say it but whether it is true or not is always questioned. Why do we so hesitate to put our hands over our eyes, and the most costly of clothes? Why do we choose our friends, and often our enemies, who are blessed with money and with bra's, although they have ever so little of that which constitutes ethical qualities in their nature? Why do we judge and misunderstand those friends, once we choose them, misinterpreting the good in them as evil, and constantly any sign of 'such and such' morality they may disapprove? Of course we are acquainted only with the objective, worldly side of each.

This sham, this hypocrisy, permeates into every walk of life. We meet it in literature, in the method of education, in literature. Everywhere it has spread its roots, even into our language. For who is there that does not occasionally use empty words for the sake of their appearance written and their sound when spoken? I confess, I have loved most of all the humor which I have spoken and of whose meaning I have known nothing. Even as I write, I exult in 'phrases, mere phrases, with no thought of any sense I may or may not display. Appearances, indeed! And to these we cling.

Yet what would one advocate? That mankind change its ways and search for truth, for the hidden facts and realities of life? After all, there are enough people who have the sham, are enough people 'perpetuated falsely for righteousness' sake,' so to say, innocent victims of the penal technique each year as a result of circumstance, evidence—a... great enough to justify a change? Is it not true that the quantity of words who derive pleasure and benefit from society as it is, outnumbers by far those ofasters and the unfortunate people—society's apostates? Then the concern should be for the majority, and the 'future generation of acquires.' Or if, indeed, it believes these things are strenuous words alone," let 't withdraw within its strength. But let it by no means try to revolutionize the happy world—never, if it has at heart the welfare of the world, must it interfere with the order of life, of the plans of things as they are. 20.

Serve

All of us, even the freshest ones, prefer an unclouded Connecticut College. So today, have been impressed with the fact that the real reason why we are and what we are, is that we are. As we live in the world—an other world—some of us already know it. But if there are a multitude of ways to do this, for we can't all serve the same function. There are those who try to serve, and others learn to serve their tennis balls. But something we all can learn to serve is a serving, not only in the kitchen, but in the lecture room, or in a country church, or in a city church, or even on their grounds. There are some places where there is a great need for us. But every step you take brings another and more engaging scene before you. Some serve to love others, and if you are tired after a long week of studying, if you want to partake of the beauty, if you want to see the things that have been seen.

We're Still Discussing

The discussion groups this year have been placed under the direction of three efficient leaders, Dr. Leb, Dr. Morris, and Dean Nye. The latter holds her meetings on Mondays at 11 o'clock, Dr. Morris meets the students at the students on Tuesdays at seven o'clock, and Dr. Leb holds his group discussion the Sabbath evening. Some of them try to find inspiration to the new world, some use a hand into which a heart may save what a heart has been, and others do the most, for the hidden things, with no more outward expression than their purpose state. And it is not true that the Quantity of, Poor people, is the number great enough to justify the thought of the most powerful. How may we cheat the wave, the wave that comes over us? How may we cheat the ocean, the ocean that breaks on us? How may we cheat the thought, the thought that grows since the world began?

Bollweusel

As part of our campus we have Bollweusel. It's a beautiful place which we are fortunate in possessing. There are a few colleges, if any, that can boast of havens such a place nearby, or even on their grounds. Bollweusel came as a great surprise to me when I first saw that there are actually girls on our campus who are never present at the waves. They don't know the pleasures they are missing. When one enters, it is like entering a wonderful new world, a place of infinite beauty and restfulness. In the Spring it has a wood full of sounds of birds and buds of flowers. In the summer a cool, delightful spot, resting place and sense. Just now, in the autumn of the year, the leaves are falling off. There are all browns, and reds, and rich golden yellow. Bollweusel is a part of our college and pleasant place. Bollweusel may be broken down, but not left as it is. We all love it. If you are tired after a long week of studying, it is a chance to see the beauty. Every step you take brings another and more engaging scene before you.

We'll Still Discussing

The discussion groups this year have been placed under the direction of three efficient leaders, Dr. Leb, Dr. Morris, and Dean Nye. The latter holds her meetings on Mondays at 11 o'clock, Dr. Morris meets the students at the students on Tuesdays at seven o'clock, and Dr. Leb holds his group discussion the Sabbath evening. Some of them try to find inspiration to the new world, some use a hand into which a heart may save what a heart has been, and others do the most, for the hidden things, with no more outward expression than their purpose state. And it is not true that the Quantity of, Poor people, is the number great enough to justify the thought of the most powerful. How may we cheat the wave, the wave that comes over us? How may we cheat the ocean, the ocean that breaks on us? How may we cheat the thought, the thought that grows since the world began?

Shall it swing again?  A Faculty Contribution.

To Mother.

My dream in the night was of death, dear, and the passing on of my soul; I lingered thought was of you here. While I was paying the toll, I went from a land that was lost, With a heart full of woe and distrust. For none I called friend rare you only And you loved e'en to excess.

But you guessed not my love, mother darling— You knew just how I cared; You thought me cold and indifferent, Of peace for my soul you despised. You knew not my tears in the darkness, My prayers, to be worthy of—you Saw not that outward indifference Maks passions violent and true.

My dream in the night was of death, dear, And the future life of my soul. My gazping breath was for you here While I reached the journey's last goal. I went from a land that was lonely— My heart held nought but distrust And I came to a place that was home—

A Phe that held humpness. Love was the watchword, dear mother In the place where everyone cared, And no one was forgotten For each in his brother's love Truth for all shook through the thorn. My great love for you was unshared. Peace for men's souls was awaiting In the land where everyone cared.
THE CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

A Stork Visits Campus.
On Tuesday, October 21, a son arrived at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Kip.

With Our President;
On the week end of October eighteenth President Marshall attended the Founder's Day exercises at Dartmouth where Alumnae events he delivered a speech. Dr. Leb was also a visitor at Hanover during the festivities which celebrated the founding of the college.

Introducing the Current Events Column
It must be realized that one column cannot do justice to all of the news of the week. In order that we may keep informed, there will be placed weekly upon the bulletin board the main hall, suggested topics on magazines and papers mentioned on this list will be found on the new Current Events table in the North room of the Library. The purpose of this column will be to make a short digest of the most prominent events of the week.

Situation of Labor
As this article goes to press, the Labor Group despite President Wilson's plea to the Conference to "stand together" has with or from the Industrial Conference because the employees defeated the bargaining plan of Mr. Gompers and John Searcy expressed the fullest appreciation of the President's message, but it is the desire of the Federation of Labor to bring the financial and moral support of the workers of America to aid the steel and iron workers in their contention for a conference on collective bargaining. Judge Gary will recognize only "company unions." and concedes the right to collective bargaining to his employees only when their employees in the Longshoremen strike, a few thousand men returned to work after the river fronts in the ports of New York had been tied up for two weeks. United States soldiers were called out to relieve the situation.

The striking employees of the American Railway Express have also returned to work on the promises of Director General Hines to commercialize it. The situation is growing out of the League of Nations. The United States would not become a party to the betrayal of Russia. But not be a party to the betrayal of China and clean of injustice.

The Peace Treaty
With the fall and loose amendments voted down and out of the way the public waits with interest the fate of the Johnson amendment. The Foreign Relations Committee have adopted five reservations providing that ratification of the Treaty is not to take effect or bind the United States until these reservations have been accepted by three of the five principal Allied and Associated Powers—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. This is considered by friends of Mr. Wilson a knife thrust at the heart of the covenant. A current question of interest: If the Treaty is rejected what then? Senator H.witchcock of Nebraska: "The United States would not become a party to the peace settlement."

We would lose all material benefits secured from Germany at the current's mouth unwillingly. Granted—deprive us of the power to dictate terms ourselves. Delay the restoration of Europe—danger the loan of United States of ten thousand million dollars to other governments. Give the Bolshevik element of all countries opportunity to proceed with these destructive influences.

Fail to give the League of Nations stability and high character and to convince the public of the world that is organized for the sake of a sintered justice."

Senator Borah from Idaho: "Relieves the United States of all obligations legal or moral to take part in European affairs.

Leave us free to devote our entire attention to domestic problems and to offer no assistance of our army in Russia. Relieve us of responsibility in moral situations such as the Shantung affair. We would not be charged with the shameless betrayal of old friend.

Not be a party to the betrayal of Egypt—short free of oppression and clean of injustice.

Not become one of four dictators to rule one-half of the globe by force.

Not forced to send our soldiersither and thither to settle questions growing out of the League of Nations.

The Quality Drug House of Eastern Connecticut
THE NICHOLS HARRIS CO.
Established 1850
119 State Street
New London, Conn.

The following girls have made the Senior Soccer team:

Junior Hockey Team
Dorothy Wolf, captain of the Junior Hockey Team, has selected the following members:

The Quality Drug House of Eastern Connecticut
THE NICHOLS HARRIS CO.
Established 1850
119 State Street
New London, Conn.

More Silks
Better Silks
An Unusual Stock
Unusually Complete
THE S. A. GOLDSMITH CO.
STATE STREET, NEW LONDON, CONN.
THE CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

KODAKS
Photography

Kodaks and Photo Supplies

Chidsey
115 State Street

ALL KINDS OF
Women's Furnishings Visit The
JAMES HISLOP CO.
153-163 State St.

The Gager-Crawford Co.
PURE FOOD STORE
New London, Conn.

Freshest Stock
Greatest Variety
Lowest Prices
Largest Output

FELLMAN
The Florist
DESIGNER — DECORATOR
FLOWERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
37 Washington St., New London, Ct.
Phones: Store 2373-2; House 3723-9

J. TANNEBAUM
Fine Stationery and Imported
Novelties
All Office Supplies
Whitting's Stationery by the Pound or Box
Kodak and Supplies
126 State St.

THE SPECIALTY SHOP
MANWARING BLDG
HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR
WAISTs, NECKWEAR, CORSET

DR. E. G. ABERNETHY
Dentist
86 State St., New London, Ct.
Goldsmith Bldg. Tel. 730

N. M. RUDY
Jeweler and Optician
C. C. COSTELLO, Mgr.
52 State Street,
NEW LONDON, CONN.

Exchange
Mount Holyoke—Seventeen years ago the 8th of November saw the beginning the custom of Founder's Day. On this day the students lay on the grave of Mary Lyon, the foun-dress.
Goucher College—Goucher College has a list of seven commandments for 1923, five of which are:
I. Freshmen must wear green bibs.
II. Freshmen must carry all books on trails.
III. Freshmen must wear odd stockings.
IV. Freshmen must salute every Sophomore with the right hand.
V. Freshmen must wear their hair in six wired plaits made from the front hair and protruding horizontally from the forehead.
—the War Council at Goucher has been formally dissolved, since it is no longer useful. The Red Cross Work, formerly directed by the Council, will now be conducted by the Social Service League.
Smith College—A recommendation that the custom be made permanent of having one day of vacation at Thanksgiving and six weeks at Christmas was approved by the Council and will be presented for ratification at the next meeting of The House of Representatives.
Wellesley—The Vocational Guidance Committee is arranging conferences for the Freshmen with Miss Florence Jackson. At the request of the Admission committee, every member of 1923 is required to schedule such a conference.

Junior Soccer Team

For the Soccer Team this year
Esther Watrous, captain, has chosen as her players:
L. W.—Jeanne Higdon
L. J.—Laura Batchelder
C. F.—Edith Williams
R. L.—Dorothy Wulf
R. W.—Rachel Smith
L. H.—Dorothy Groezens
C. H.—Esther Watrous
R. A.—Anna Brasos
Dorothy Pryde
L. F.—Margaret Pease
Evaleen Taylor
Goal—Lydia Marvin

Sophomore Soccer Team

The girls who made the Soccer team of which Catherine McCarty is captain are:
Elsie Hall
Alice Hazar
Blanche Finchsilver
Helen Coons

Catherine McCarty
Grace Fisher
Jennie Williams
Olive Tuthill
Wray Warner
Mabel Duncan
Ruth Levine
Grace Berger
Eva Lys Gray
Janet Sperry

Facts About Ink

Ink is a fluid which always flows downward. It comes in a variety of colors. We know the species best by the common variety, which is a dark color. Blue, purple, and black constitute the dark colors commonly found.
Ink can be found in wells, in fountain pens, on the hands and clothes of users and on doors and furniture.
Every year we find more and more ink on floors and on furniture.
It seems to grow, or rather to spring up, in these places. Many people use ink. It is a good substitute for pencil, and the proverb "In ink, on one side of the paper," is very well known. The users of ink come from even walks of life—in fact one may call ink the most democratic fluid known. It is especially used by authors, and Freshmen (the instructors of the latter class tend to use quantities of the red variety.) As well as the use of ink, there is the abuse of ink. It's wasted in the most shameful ways. Ink is wasted especially by a species of human being known as the "ink-shaker." The ink-shaker looks like a normal person, but, as in the case of blenders, you never can tell. The most innocent looking person may be an ink-shaker disguised. The only way to discover an ink-shaker is to use the old fas-dioned detective methed: follow the trail! Soon you will come upon the culprit. She usually sits with a fasopned air, and then all of a sudden —woof, bang and the pen has been shaken. The floor and the people about her give you conclusive evidence. The point is, how are you going to prevent it from happening?
There is no use locking up the stable,
no. How about another organization on campus called the S. P. O. F. S.?

THE NATIONAL

WOMAN'S MEDICAL COLLEGE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Eleventh year beginning Oct. 1, 1918. Entrance requirements: two years of college work, including certain credits in science and languages.
Excellent laboratories. Full-time teachers. Clinical advantages; dispensaries, clinics, bedside instruction, out-patient obstetrical service.
Special eight months' course of training for laboratory technicians.
Four months' preliminary didactic and laboratory course for nurses.
For announcements and further information, address
Martha Tracy, M. D., Dean, Philá., Pa.

A Store of Individual Shops

Rockwell & Forester
Barrows Building, New London

Carefully Selected
Ultra-fashionable
Ready-to-wear for Women and Males
Moderate Prices

THE NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE
of New London
New London, Connecticut

SHALLETT'S
Cleaning, Dyeing and Pressing
OFFICE AND WORKS
6 Montauk Ave. Tel. 345-12
Branch
57 Broad St. Tel. 345-12
Free Auto Delivery
Also 156 Main St., Norwich

Union Bank & Trust Co.

STATE STREET

Compliments of ISAAC C. BISHOP
Photographer
Phone 403 Manwaring Bldg

STRAUSS & MACOMBER WATCHES, DIAMONDS AND JEWELRY
Badges and Medals to Order
Fine Watch Repaired & Adjusted
109 State St., New London, Conn.