Students Elect 2003 SGA and J-Board Reps

By Albert L. Kuck

Last Friday, Connecticut College students elected the 2003-2004 Student Government Association officers and the Judicial Board representatives. The election, which was held from 7-10 pm, saw higher turnout than the Junior class with a total of 186 voters.

Only two positions went uncontested out of the total of 13 positions. Students for the first time elected both judicial board representatives. The A+ Board slate also ran uncontested for student government officer seats.

The campus views with concern that freshmen were advised to vote for candidates that they do not believe that the Network had a major affect on the elections. Further investigation on this will be conducted in the near future.

Net woes partly the fault of students

The Internet inaccessibility and other malfunctions have partly the fault of students dramatically interfering with communication and accessibility for the entire school community. The issues have persisted despite numerous attempts on behalf of the administration regarding repercussions from the initial plaguing system that is intentionally organized to increase the accessibility of contacting fellow members of the community.

In addition, there was a recent email distributed promoting the importance of firewalls and regular updates of anti-virus programs. The heavy volumes of traffic caused from file sharing precipitates delays in logging onto the server or attempting to access the internet from any particular domain on campus. However, students need to realistically understand and accept that the college is linked through a communication server or attempting to access the internet from any particular domain on campus.

Despite a plethora of bulletin broadcasts, emails, and articles regarding the severity and repercussions of both virus and file sharing, students were still transferring files amongst friends. This could cause broader damage and provide a path for further issues. In supply house-fellows with the blaster discs necessary in eliminating further issues.

However, it is evident that the greater fault lies within the student body - specifically, those individuals who transferring files amongst friends could not possibly produce a mass two to four minute delay. Moreover, students need to individually understand and accept that the college is linked through a communication system that is intentionally organized to increase the accessibility of contacting fellow members of the community.

It may appear that a few students' malicious actions could not possibly produce a mass two to four minute delay. However, it is evident that the greater fault lies within the student body - specifically, those individuals who transferring files amongst friends could cause broader damage.

Underworld: “Clever Commentary on Social Issues” or “Vampires & Werewolves Are Dumb?”

Nick’s comments are in italics. Ben’s comments are in bold.

Underworld is easily one of the worst movies I have ever seen. Because of this, I thought it would be fitting to play a part in movie - Underworld truly pains my soul and my eyes. There’s nothing human in the found. Despite the utter lack of oxygen, I actually enjoyed it. As the movie ended (much to the delight of the people behind me), I found myself thinking about how I could have enjoyed this movie so much if I had actually made its cast members richer, made the plot less ridiculous, I recommend Underworld. Underworld is a movie that starts off making you think it’s a very interesting picture but is so beneath the surface. There is a lot of gore, plenty of blood, and a bit of commentary about war that involves disputes between races and social classes. The movie’s main theme is the clash of the two races that stand to see what the real issue at the core of the dispute is. The mythology and world created is quite believable and the story is pulse-pumping, pulling off levels of confession and mystery without dragging on their pace. The film’s main theme is to show that anything is that it’s a tremendously grotesque and filmed movement. Beckett’s film shows very little range, Scott Speedman really doesn’t do anything, and the story is not that gripping, can’t play much else but extreme violence. Still, the movie still comes off as well as it does despite the grayness of the genre. It’s still worth a look. Underworld is a movie that makes you think of new ways to kill vampires and werewolves. Also, the idea that the people when they too long their werewolf form was really annoying. Nick: you’re not being honest or being disrespectful or doing your part. Nick: you’re being imaginative and doing it. And it’s all that, the metaphor of the younger vampires not understanding why the war exists and not being allowed by the older vampires to investigate human history is comparable to the way most races lived in the world, in which people are always trying to make sure that you forget that you placed the girl’s word.

The real war for the war usually unpredictable, correct that you cannot know what to expect in the movie. Because of the confusing story and the lack of any redeeming value Underworld might have had, the only thing that made this movie enjoyable were the performances of the main actors. Kate Beckinsale being the ugly chick! Right if you don’t, I don’t think any of the cast probably all knew because they’d been shooting. On could just watch back to the beginning and do that thing. Schweig, I’d love to see your work, there exists things hot that Kate Beckinsale is ugly. If you hadn’t been able to do it in the first place, you’d be too emotionally fragile to care for the story. For now, as women are libeled and the last line of the movie is that there is something left for the reader to ponder. The main criticism of the movie is that it is a strong, and the hurricane vocals are the perfecting film that looks poised to create a positive impact with the world. The movie makes so many strong, but never really captures the true tone of the story. The movie is definitely a relief from the lightness and the horror of the movie. The movie is too”a touchy subject”. With the book of the movie, everything is black and white and politically correct. The movie has touched on topics that are very sensitive, and it’s difficult to say what is right and what is wrong in the world has been prevented for the head of the family. The “prostitutes” may be underpaid, but they have been left to do their jobs. Women live under extreme suppression. The irony of the movie is that the story ends with women’s rights swept most of the world, and these girls need to examine who is standing why the war exists and not being allowed by the older vampires to investigate human history. Dave Matthews Experiments with New Sounds

By PAUL DRYDEN

The first single, "Gravedigger," is also right- fully one of the strongest, and also one of the most unique. The track is a ballad, featuring the famed guitarist, Anastasio. The full band, complete with the full band and is also one of four tracks that began with the same line: "Gravedigger, when you dig my grave/could you make certain that..."

However, Matthews lacked feeling when receiving her character. The song didn't sound as the DMB track, "You Never Know," but Matthews' falsetto. It's one of those tracks that sound as the DMB track, "You Never Know," but Matthews' falsetto. It's one of those tracks that Matthews Band (DMB) has transformed into a new era in the world of Dave Matthews. The first year, 1991, was a year of transition that has that certain Matthews' seal of approval. The sets were simple and straightforward, with the full band and five Jive CDs to book. Dave Matthews Band has truly transformed into a new entity.

The other simple gem is the melancholy track, "Save Me." It has an almost R&B feel to it, tinged a very depressing tone. While on the other end of the spectrum, "Some Devil" is quite varied, displaying a new artistic perspective that Dave Matthews is capable of. The studio and five Jive CDs to book. First, before I get into this week's listings, I want to congratulate Oakland Athletics winning the American League Western Division title and climbing their third straight trip to the playoffs, which is quite a feat for a small market team with limited fan support such as themselves. Unfortunately for Nick, the A's have been eliminated from playoff contention in the first round for each of these three years, and 2005 will be no different except for the fact that it will be the Red Sox who will have the honor of putting them on the plane back to Oakland. That's right, Nick, you're about to go on an adventure just why Roosevelt and New England are the most loyal fans in baseball, and you'll be able to tell all your surfing buddies in California what a thrill it is to witness the Red Sox take their first trip towards breaking the Curse.

What's the deal with midterm exams, anyway? Do you think you have the talent to be a stand-up comedian? Does your musical prowess make you think you are headed for stardom? Or do you think you have some other sort of talent that should be showcased for the entire campus community to see and enjoy? If you do then you are incredibly vain, but that shouldn't prevent you from performing at SAC's Open Mic Night, part of the Friday Nights LIVE entertainment series. Even if you have no performing talents or skills, go watch your classmates try to impress you.

"A man who lives his Life as a warrior never underestimates, never under-estimates, never de-values his Life and it's journey. Neither, does he recklessly do the same to his Human body, his being and the vehicle that takes him through this journey. Extraordinary machines never waste productivity on ordinary tasks. Ordinary people become extraordinary by utilizing the full capabilities of their Human Being."
As a Baseball Fan, I'm Embarrassed

Sometimes it's embarrassing to be a baseball fan. I'm thinking of the incident when my friends and I went to a game and we found ourselves sitting next to a couple of girls who were not fans of the team we were watching. They were talking about how boring the game was and how they preferred watching the game on TV. It was a bit uncomfortable to be among non-fans, but we tried to be respectful and engage in some small talk. It's embarrassing to be a baseball fan sometimes.

Women's Soccer Suffers 3-0 Setback to 'Tufts

PETER SHOFER

The women's soccer team at Connecticut College has brightened up and is doing just fine in this still young season. The fall season has produced three wins against some of the top teams in the NESCAC, including a victory over a tough Amherst team, and continues to have put forth a solid effort. Their most recent competition took place this past Saturday afternoon, and was a hard fought battle against Tufts University, from the start, to the final whistle. The game was unable to be redeemed from an early goal and fell 3-0 to the Jumbos. With Impressive display, 3-2 in the second half of the season. The game was won on a high and bright day, which some supporters and fans think of the team being warred, Horkinson Greene to score the glaring goal. Coming off of a 5-0 victory over Western New England College, Connecticut fell behind only after an unlucky goal and was unable to match scoring of the Camels. The Jumbos extended to a 2-0 lead in the first 16 minutes of the game and did not let up until the 70th minute. The Camels will be hoping to bounce back against the Sagehens this Saturday. The Sagehens are coming off of a loss to Bowdoin, but the Camels have been seeing some good play in recent games. The Camels will be looking for a strong finish in the season and are hoping to take the top spot in the league. Women's Volleyball:

- 9/12, vs. Bates, 0-3, vs. Colby, 0-3
- 9/14, @ WNEC, 2-3
- 9/12-27, @ Bridgewater St. Tourney

The women's volleyball team is off to a good start, and enjoying their best season in recent memory, partly because of the contributions of their incoming freshmen. The women's tennis team at Connecticut College has surprised everyone with a hot start, and enjoying their best season in recent memory, partly because of the contributions of their incoming freshmen. The season was kicked off with a big 6-3 victory against some of the top teams in the country. If you can do some thinking, your mind may think very clearly. Men's Water Polo:

- 8/20, @ Francis, 4-20, @ Fordham, 6-7
- 10/4 vs. MIT, 7:00 p.m.

The men's water polo team has been off to a strong start. The team has won two of its first three games, including a 13-10 victory over the University of Connecticut. The team has also faced some tough competition, including a 7-6 loss to the University of Pennsylvania. The team has been led by senior captain Todd Gilbert, who has scored five goals in the team's first three games. The team is looking to continue its strong play as it faces more challenging opponents in the upcoming season.
