Non-Partisan Rally Will Be Held In Gym Tomorrow Night; Landon Leads By More Than 2-1 In Conn. College Poll

Governor Gets 331, 147 For Roosevelt
Almost 75% of Student Body Shows Preference at Election on Monday

Thomas Gets 12
Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate for president, received 331 votes as compared to 147 for President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate for re-election.

In addition to these two principal selections, Norman Thomas, socialist nominee, received twelve votes; Earl Browder, Communist, three; and William Lemke, Unionist, two.

Grande totals of 2,383 students, or approximately seventy-five percent of the student body cast ballots. Of these, only fifty-two can actually vote on November 3. Forty students voted for Landon in this preliminary election, thirty-five seniors, six juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman.

Eleven people of legal age cast ballots for Roosevelt, ten seniors, and one junior. One senior will vote for Thomas. There were no Communist or Unionist voters of legal age.

Complete results are as follows:
Landon, 331
Roosevelt, 147
Thomas, 12
Browder, 3
Lemke, 1

Building Program Proposed by Miss Blunt at Meeting
Twelve New Structures to be Erected in the Near Future
President Blunt proposed a building program to include the erection of twelve new buildings in the near future at a recent meeting of the college trustees.

The suggested buildings include a dormitory adjacent to Jane Addison House, an auditorium, a chapel, wings to the Palmer library, a small cooperative dormitory near Visser cottage, two more dormitories probably to the north—to all of which all resident students will be housed on the campus; a science building, a gymnasium with a swimming pool, nursery school and building for child study, another academic building—probably for social science —and a faculty apartment house.

The significance of these additions to the campus is much greater than mere physical expansion. In refer (Continued to Page 8, Column 4) — 2-13

Presentation of Party Platforms
Further Unbiased Discussion Planned in Two Rallies Week Before Election

Thompson Chairman
A presentation of the issues between the various political parties, as expressed in their platforms, will be given next Thursday night at 7:15 p. m. in the gymnasium. Contrary to the popular representation of these issues, the platforms will be studied on a non-partisan basis. The Communist, Democratic, Republican, and Socialist stands will be discussed in the light of the actual pronouncements of the parties in their platforms and in subsequent speeches made by various party leaders.

Political Strategy
The conviction of the committee working on the subject is that the actual stand of the various conditions and social issues, will carry no political reprisals and counter-reprisals. The strategy resorted to has been one of pertaining on facts, bringing up issues, appealing to certain groups of voters, and general mutual denunciation. Certain important economic questions have been dragged into a political discussion and the true issues at stake have been lost. Hence the actual stand on agriculture, labor, social security, foreign policy, (Continued to Page 6, Column 4)

Professor Tweedy Will Speak Before Vespers Assembly
Is Authority on Public Worship And Hymnology
Professor Henry Hallam Tweedy of Yale Divinity School will be the Vesper speaker Sunday, October 25. Dr. Tweedy is no stranger to the New London audiences, having addressed Lenten gatherings in this city, and only recently having participated in the ordination of Clark Poling at First Church.

For a number of years he has been an annual visitor to the college. Finishing his undergraduate work in Yale university, he continued his theological studies at Union theological seminary, and in the University of Berlin. He was later awarded the honorary degree of D.D. from Lebanon Valley College. He has served as pastorates in Utica, N. Y., and in Bridgeport, and since 1909 has been professor of practical theology at Yale Divinity school.

He is joint author of Three Divinity School and the School and Home, and is editor of the King's Highway Series. He is an authority on public worship and hymnology.
13 Clubs Bring Fame to Mosier Bridge Fiend

This is a very short story, but it burrs its challenge to the whole world. We proudly announce that

To be specific, it is about Patsy Tillinghast.

Last Saturday, over at Mosier, Bobbie Clark '39, Mollie Maclenna '39, and Ken Kemigoch '38 sat down with Pat for a quiet game of bridge. Quiet? did we say? Little did they dream of the strange happening that was to befall their little playmates!

Mollie dealt and bid. Bobbie bid, and so did Min. But what did Pat say? Did she trump her partner's ace? Oh, no! For greater feats shall she be renowned! She recognized that hand which dealt out victory in every 396,604 times (if you don't believe us, you deal four hands 396,604 times): Patsy's hand was black; for it contained thirteen clubs!

Epilogue:
Our story's told; We take our cow; We dare the world To show us now; "The Connecticut College tradition is a part of the life with which our college endows you." This sentence, taken from the "C", applies to the "C" Quiz given each year to the freshmen in an effort to place them with the rules and regulations of their college. This year's quiz took place in the gym last night and was a successful undertaking.

All seniors present in cap and gown were seated on the stage. Sophomores, minus their "C's", sat in the middle of the gym, and freshmen on the other. Freshmen were questioned by the sophomores. If any subject failed to answer correctly, she was given another question. If her second attempt was unsuccessful, she was told to hand in to the sophomore president some time soon, a written form of not less than three hundred words.

Monday night each freshman house held a meeting during which a member of Cabinet stated the parts of the "C" for which the freshmen will be held responsible. She also explained any section which was not clear to them.

Freshmen Know "C". Prove It At Quiz. Taken Last Evening.

POLITICS.

Why I am for Roosevelt
by Margaret Hall '38

I have often heard the argument: "I am for Roosevelt because I want a relaxed and colorless political figure." Then there is the longer tirade about inexperience and the conduct of ungodly governments of the nation. Early in any discussion Hearst's patronage is dropped in. There are clever slighting and distorted remarks that have a part of any good Democrat's vocabulary. They are easy to say, easy to remember, easy to retell!

And then I say I am a Republican and for--

Lam! It amuses some people; it annoys many people; but it pleases many. The favorite accusations of do--

The question for you to answer is: in your opinion, is such a political figure of my belief; that I have not bothered to think independently; that I am being faithful to your political creed?

I defend myself: As a minor I still respect the views of my parents. That I am not old enough to vote that I am not old enough to think and to evaluate. I have no friends; I have no enemies; I have not been convinced. I am being faithful to my class boundaries as promoted so strenuously by President Roosevelt. The way it is, it is being a living resurrection of the foundations for the sake of a popular spirit of worshipful liberalism.

The counter-act those gibber Democratic arguments with Republican ones. I can say that Roosevelt is a rational man who changes his policies and friends with the time; he has never told the story of "My Friends". And then to really match points against a situation that Hearst supported Roosevelt in 1922.

But from such trivialities which only annoy, I say that I am for Roosevelt because he stands for the justifiable American reaction to "Try-this-out legislation", "perfected" theories, and wild extravagance. There needs to be a curb on the prevailing demands of "How much can we do for nothing?" The trend toward a heavy national debt must be stopped and a balance of payments must be arranged. The President is the Courts restablished.

At a final dig--even rabid Democrats admit that there has been too much Farley.

Why I am for Roosevelt
by Frances Wheeler '37

What I want most for my future is a guarantee of peace and tranquility. The fascist and Communist platforms today offer the most concrete method of obtaining these but this year we must choose between Roosevelt and Lanham.

The Republican party also promises me "freedom of enterprise" and "equality of opportunity". But that's an empty gesture. I know that I can't get out and find whatever job I want and am trained for at the wages that would give me a living. Having found a job, I won't cite my "economic liberty" as a reason for not being fired. I know that no party can legislate "equality of opportunity" and "freedom of enterprise" in present-day economy. So I would rather see a party go into office that is not deluding itself about the possibilities of bringing back misguided individualism. Giving up my "economic liberty" with Roosevelt, as the Liberty League warns, will mean giving up what does mean the most to me.

Dictatorships, with the repression of the things I desire most, arise where the national government has refused to assume the responsibility of solving exciting problems—if we are to draw conclusions from the history of Russia, Italy, and Germany. And Lanham's backing is in favor of stripping the federal government of the power to handle national problems in a political way. Turn over regulation of business, social security over to the states, they urge—what better way of shrinking a burden? I'm sick of talking about political parties. "Our children must pay and work." They didn't worry about how were going to pay for the World War. I know that, while the national debt has increased by twelv--
German Exchange Student Shows Contrasts With German Education

The term "broad Atlantic" while trite is only too true of the lives in most of us. The favored few who have crossed the Atlantic and regard Germany as one of the strange countries that Germany is, of course, no longer so, those of us who are not so fortunate, that word "broad" can only be realized when we study the habits and discussions with our exchange students. Imgrund Rein has given us an understanding of what a real German schooling and her opinions of life are.

In Germany they have four years of Grammar school and nine years of high school. This is why they have no exams. They are truly skilled at their natural talents. The summer vacation is long, four months.

Dr. Hornell Hart
Tells of Changing Religious Views

The Sunday speaker was Dr. hornell Hart of the Hartford Theological Seminary. His speech was a great idea, to set our minds and move and have our being within a world which is alive. Our world is constantly and swiftly changing from a technological, political, and economic standpoint.

Since everything about us is changing we should not expect religious thinking to stay the same. We must have a living religion in order to know how to work with the intellectual life that has moved forward. Colleges are a means of getting into the swing of civilization. However, the method of escaping the changes, we may experience, is just asking our own, our world, to alarm us, for it is just a part of life.

It has been claimed by some that we cannot keep intellectual integrity if we believe in the old dogmas. The remedy for that is in truth and in those who really devote their lives to research and the publishing of truth. To keep up with this changing world, we must be able to understand and learn what others know and believe, and incorporate their thoughts with our own.

Informal Group Meets
Dr. Hornell Hart

Sunday evening, Dr. Hornell Hart, who spoke at regents, was kind enough to give time for a discussion in Windham after the service. The subject was not an ordinary discussion, and that Dr. Hart inspired his listeners was proven by the eagerness with which they wanted to know of discussions about the listener's life, as one of the ways to learn. Everyone seemed reluctant to let him go, and he had a persuasive view of so many sub-jects that his listeners had already moved on to new ideas that they could comprehend at one time. They, at
WIG AND CANDLE
The board of Wig and Candle, Florence McConnell, Erna Hullett, Palomona Williams, Barbara Lawrence, Betty Butler, Norma Bloom, Emma Moore, Margaret Griesen, Margaret Ball, and Charlene Bush, and the representatives of the Wesleyan Dramatic Club, the Messrs., Mary, Little, Weld, and Bishop, met and discussed the dates of the plays to be given in January. The Full Play, at Connecticut, will be composed of an all-girl cast, but the Wesleyan dramatic club will cooperate in the Mid-Winter play.

Dinner to be Given
On Wednesday evening, October 21, members of Wig and Candle will have dinner at Windham at the regular hour, after which Miss Others will read a short version of "First Lady" by Katherine Dayton and George Kaufman. Members and prospective members who are not able to attend the dinner are welcome to be present at the meeting afterwards.

RIDING CLUB
With Leonore Walker "38 as president, the Riding Club began its activities with a Sunday breakfast ride October 18, at 6:00 a.m.

The grand opening of the new stables is to be a feature of the 1938 gymnastics which the group hopes to present before the weather gets too cold. After the games on horseback in the ring, refreshments will be served.

Father plans include a horseshoe in the spring with outside competition as its main feature. In view of the present high prices, the members are organizing a beaver drive for the stables.

College Gladraggs

Dear Sue—

Thanks a lot for the news of home! I looked up a few of the latest fashions in college clothes as you asked me to—here they are:

The other day I noticed a girl wearing a new chamois colored blouse of nude velvet. The style is just like a cotton sport shirt plus three small buttons down the front. It's smart, inexpensive, and washable. You might also have an imported natural shetland wool sweater—"Brooks style" and mightily soft!

A light tan wool dress would look grand under your coat. One I have is dark brown, British tan, and white yarn threads pulled through the material to form horizontal rows around the dress. The neckline is a small stand-up collar with two buttons on either side and a narrow brown belt adds a final touch of smartness.

Then if you are looking for a dress to wear late in the fall or to dinner, how about a "Scotch and Soda"? Yes, that's the name of a dress to be had in other crystal velvet or metallic silk. It is street length, with a full skirt, short sleeves, and a small draped neckline, trimmed with a jewelled clip.

Here's a tip—the dressier the material, the plainer the dress! I found the twill suit you mentioned. It is a navy blue button-down-the-front wool jacket, a blue and tan flocked tweed skirt and sweater coat. A tan fish-net scarf and two pockets bound with blue and tan leather certainly add the "extra" touch!

And for the prom next week you had better pack a "smooth" looking formal! How does this sound? A black velvet decollete waist trimmed with a huge bunch of gay flowers and from the waist to the floor hangs a sunburst-flared skirt—thin strips of black velvet on black net! Or a tailored black taffeta—full skirt—with a red metal brocade jacket?

Now for "luxury"—you might have a perky Glenlarry cap, complete with streamers and jaunty feather! Or one of the new leather belted, attached with regular "castle stitching"—"It would look neat with your different sweaters. Or a large white silk scarf, patterned with one big green star in the center and splashes of little green stars all over!

This is all for now—hope it helped you!

Write soon!

Good-bye now.

Dear Miss Blunt said, "They mean a greater opportunity for teaching and a real growth in the intellectual life of the college." The auditorium, chapel, and library wings are already assured. The auditorium will be built with a recent $500,000 bequest from Miss Virginia Palmer of New London. Mrs. Frederick Bill of Groton left a bequest for a chapel in 1938. The library wings are the gift of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Palmer through a fund left in 1931. The wings were in the original plan of the library donated by Mr. Palmer.

Quotable Quotes

"During my experience as a teacher I have found that there are three types of students. Some believe that studies should not interfere with social activities. In life there is a certain percentage of failures in this group, but it is not as high as among other types, for those in this group usually become active in civic affairs. They are the reaching successes, but few of them have carried on in the cultural arts."—President L. A. Pittenger of Ball State Teachers' College suggests the middle course.—(ACP)

Reed College students and faculty members are inaugurating a beauty of an idea: they plan to set aside one whole day of the school year to make the campus more attractive.—(ACP)

Conference Brings Alumni Groups
(Continued from Page 1, Column 2) zines and variation to avoid monosity were read for Herbert F. Taylors of Worcester Polytechnic Insti- tute and Edith N. Hill of Smith College, who were unable to attend. Mr. Mark Bradford of the Banta Press, which publishes the Connecti- cut College Alumnae News and alumnae news organs of other col- leges, spoke on the problems and perils of production of alumnae publications.

The consideration of the various functions of the alumni office follow- ed, presided over by Mr. Alfred H. Garney of Brown University. An- nual and quinquennial reunions were discussed by Mr. Alden F. Hay- ward of Dartmouth College. The points of view of a woman's college and a preparatory school toward local alumnae club activities were presented by Mary C. J. Higley of Mount Holyoke College and Albert E. Roberts of Mount Hermon School. The topic was concluded with a talk on the ideal form of alumni organization for a small men's college by Mr. Edgar J. Wiley of Middlebury College.

Financial Problems
In the afternoon session of the conference the financial problems of alumnae associations were considered. Gertrude V. Brayn of Mount Holy- schild College presided. "Money Raising Coordinated—and Administrativa Responsibility" was the topic of a paper read for Walter L. Olsen, treasurer of Lehigh University. Various phases of the subject "Money Raising Concentrated—Alumnae Fund" were dealt with by Susanne R. Bolster of Radcliffe College, G. Cecil Goddard of Colby College, Phillip A. Wilder of Bowdoin College, and R. Warren Saller of Cornell University.

The delegates were guests of Con- necticut College at a tea in Wind- ham House Friday afternoon. Miss Kathryn Moss, executive secretary of the Connecticut College Alumnae Association, Mrs. Burton L. Howe, president of the association, and Miss Elizabeth Wright, an alumna of Wesleyan, were in the receiving line. Miss L. Alice Ramsey and Dean Irene Nye poured.

Summary of Conference
A summary of the conference was given by Mr. Charles B. Stroum of the College of the Holy Cross, in a session on Saturday morning at the Mulberry Hotel. The summary was followed by informal confer- ence groups on women's and men's colleges. Marjorie L. Shair of Simmons College presided over the discussion of women's colleges and Philip S. Wilder of Bowdoin College presided over the discussion of men's colleges.

A luncheon in the ball room offi- cially closed the conference. Some of the delegates spent the afternoon inspecting Connecticut College.

Colleges Represented
The colleges which were repre- sented by one or more delegates were Bates College, Bowdoin Col- lege, Brown University, Colby Col- lege, Clark University, Connecticut College, College of the Holy Cross, Dartmouth College, Mount Holyoke, Massachusetts State Teachers' Col- lege, Mount Hermon School, Mid- connecticut College News

Presentation of Party Platforms
(Continued from Page 1, Column 5) monetary problems, etc, will be pre- sented. One other conviction lies behind this non-partisan attitude, namely that much of the political thinking done by many students finds its basis in family tradition and background and does not come from a study and understanding of the situation of the United States and the alternative methods of meet- ing that situation as offered by the various parties.

Further Rallies
Two further rallies are planned, for Thursday the twenty-ninth, and for Monday the second of Novem- ber. The second meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the major issues of the campaign. Elise Thompson will talk on "Economic Issues Between the Two Major Parties"; Frances Wheeler on, "The Relation of Government to Busi- ness"; and Margaret Ross on, "The Foreign Policies of the Two Major Parties". The third night before election will be given to a talk on more fundamental issues at stake in the United States and in the world. Emily Allyn will be the speaker. A question and answer period will follow her talk.
