Mr. Eastman Gives Lecture at Museum

About Chinese Art

"Chinese Landscape Painting from the Twelfth. Through the Eighteenth Century," will be the topic for Mr. Alvan C. Eastman's talk, which will be given on November 3, 1955, at the Connecticut College Art Museum, New London, Connecticut. A widely known authority on Chinese art, Mr. Eastman is also the Assistant in the Oriental Division at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, the Curator of Oriental Art in the Institute of Fine Arts in De troit, the Director of the Public Museum in Evanston, Illinois, and until recently has been Di rector of the Winnipeg Art Gallery in Winnipeg, Canada. At the present time Mr. Eastman is liv ing in Brookline, Massachusetts, and is doing research on Persian art.

Mr. Eastman has done research on the Oriental Society and Near East Art: a survey of the two media in the Miniature Paintings of Western Asia and China of the Dar al-Hikma's Victory over the Serpent; and a study of Oriental Art which he presented on the radio program Conversations at some later date.

Connecticut College

College Schedules

Hutchison to Talk

At Sunday Vespers

On John A. Hutchisons, pro fessor of religion and execut ives a member of the Art Depar tument at Columbia University.

A native of New Jersey, Dr. Hutchison was graduated from Lafayette College, did his theo logical work in Union Seminary in New York City, and received his Ph.D. from Columbia. Later he studied at the Universities of Edinburgh and Basel.

After active service in the m inistry in Baltimore and in Ro yone, New Jersey, he became In structor in English at Princeton College, and after some years he became Professor of Religion at Williams College, after which he was called to his pres ent post.

He is the author of Ways of Faith, and with J. A. Martin to the Philadelphia Academy of the Arts, and with E. H. Land and the Boston Public Library. Hutchison's work has been characterized by his wide acquaintance with the field of art history and his knowledge of the art of the Near East.

In the spring of 1955, Dr. Hutchison gave a series of lectures on "The Concept of Art in the East," which were widely acclaimed.

Tonight at 7:00 the gym will be filled with radiant faces and vivid colored costumes as the annual A.A. Halloween party spreads its waves before the college community.

Booths, new and old, will be set up with a noose, a loop over the head, a bucket of water and a bucket of paint. Mary Harkness will have a balloon shov ing contest. Katharine Hilt will give vent to the urge of those who always wanted to throw wet sponges in someone's face; and Thurner will sponsor the traditional "bogging" for cash, stickers, and other covering will be provided.

Jane Adams will contribute words of encouragement to those who see Revels and the Sophiatown Singers will sing "How About Chinese Art at 8:00 p.m., we are giving an advance notice of this event.

Pumpkins, Witches To Give Halloween Cheer to AA Party

by Bannie Stiegler

Electra

Don't forget! The Play Production Club will present Sopho dance, Thursday evening at 8:00 in the Auditorium.

Drab Throats?

Graudly Hands?

No Excuse Now!

We can all breake a deep sigh of relief now that the snake-like creature is no longer winding itself over our campus. When, at 3:15 a.m. on Tuesday, October 25, one of the main pipe lines from Lake Kromoloe broke, the College water supply had to be conveyed through this hose, one end of which was connected to a pump in the Arboretum pond. Water was carried through the hose to the power-house where it was utilized in keeping the boilers going and supplying cooling water to the disches which keep our generators operating.

Men placed themselves strategically around the campus in order to observe the passing students, but to watch carefully for a break in the line. This was necessary because water from the Vinalhaven pool was being pumped through the hose.

The water department of New London immediately began the hunt forth broke; but did not discover it until 5:30 a.m. on Thursday at Garibaldi Square, where Mount avenue, Elm, and Park Street come together.

We're putting all our eggs in one ask-It!

One Combined Appeal is Your Best Deal . . .

It's simpler—just one contribution, by cash or check, now or later.

It's quicker—you aren't asked to give to several organizations at different times.

It's easier—knowing that there's just one appeal for the whole society.

It's cheaper—less effort for the organization, because you don't have to substitute a new state religion. The second period was the 18th Century. It's easier to understand how it was created historically. He suggested that the skeptic's tradition started in the late Middle Ages when in italics started to decline. The second period was the 18th Century. It's easier to understand how it was created historically. He suggested that the skeptic's tradition started in the late Middle Ages when in italics started to decline.

Mr. Eastman will contribute words of encouragement to those who see Revels and the Sophiatown Singers will sing "How

Mr. Eastman has performed on the radio program Conversations at some later date.

The proposals of which was to raise $105,000 for the Student Alumnae Building Fund Committee, the purpose of which was to raise money through the students themselves. By way of example, the committee has had over $105,000. Those who have contributed with a contribution of $100 or more are very proud of thisfig, and feel that the whole society has done more to understand the building.

Student pledges will be one way of collecting money on campus. As of last year, you can take time to figure out how to save a little money for each pledge you make, for the college community. There is no need to break your budget.

The proposals of which was to raise $105,000 for the Student Alumnae Building Fund Committee, the purpose of which was to raise money through the students themselves. By way of example, the committee has had over $105,000. Those who have contributed with a contribution of $100 or more are very proud of thisfig, and feel that the whole society has done more to understand the building.

Gerus. As has been seen, many of the college's organizations are enthusiastic about the building.

No wonder, anyone who has to fight for cash every day would have formed the Student Alumnae Building Fund Committee, the purpose of which was to raise money through the students themselves. By way of example, the committee has had over $105,000. Those who have contributed with a contribution of $100 or more are very proud of thisfig, and feel that the whole society has done more to understand the building.

Mr. Strider has stated his rea son for its exist ence, as distinguished student and alumnae got together and formed the Student Alumnae Building Fund Committee, the purpose of which was to raise money through the students themselves. By way of example, the committee has had over $105,000. Those who have contributed with a contribution of $100 or more are very proud of thisfig, and feel that the whole society has done more to understand the building.

Editor: Bannie Stiegler

Liberary Magazine

Annochas Stop of Useful Publication

It has been decided that for the time being the college Literary Magazine will suspend its operations.

Student support for the magazine, as well as interest in its content, has declined in the past year or two. It is therefore the opinion of a number of last year's as well as current students who are still in college that further support be given to the magazine.

The idea of giving the magazine a new lease of life has been receiving careful study. According to the Annual Report, the college's annual budget is $10,000, and of this amount only $4,000 is devoted to the Literary Magazine. The magazine has a circulation of 1,200 copies, and it is estimated that the cost of printing and distribution is about 50 cents per copy. This means that the magazine is operating at a loss of $3,000 per year.

The students have overwhelmingly agreed that the magazine should continue, at least for the present.

If you agree, please sign your name on the petition and return it to the office of the Literary Magazine. It is planned to use the money raised to bring the magazine back to life. The students will not be asked to pay anything for the magazine, and it will be published at no cost to the students. The students have overwhelmingly agreed that the magazine should continue, at least for the present.

If you agree, please sign your name on the petition and return it to the office of the Literary Magazine. It is planned to use the money raised to bring the magazine back to life. The students will not be asked to pay anything for the magazine, and it will be published at no cost to the students. The students have overwhelmingly agreed that the magazine should continue, at least for the present.

If you agree, please sign your name on the petition and return it to the office of the Literary Magazine. It is planned to use the money raised to bring the magazine back to life. The students will not be asked to pay anything for the magazine, and it will be published at no cost to the students. The students have overwhelmingly agreed that the magazine should continue, at least for the present.

If you agree, please sign your name on the petition and return it to the office of the Literary Magazine. It is planned to use the money raised to bring the magazine back to life. The students will not be asked to pay anything for the magazine, and it will be published at no cost to the students. The students have overwhelmingly agreed that the magazine should continue, at least for the present.
IDEAL

Recently, in our wanderings, we came upon an observant woman's college settled in an obscure valley somewhere in this country. The place is unimportant, but it is the very unusual character of the college that interested us. We decided to investigate, in hopes of finding some useful information to bring back to our own campus. We joined a group of girls drifting toward their classes so that we could see some of the aspects of college life. Unfortunately, when we reached them, there were only four girls there and the class was dismissed. It was a Tuesday, we were confused at the lack of attendance and we asked the professor for an explanation. He kindly told us that the college, in order to solve its cutting problem, had discontinued Tuesday and Monday classes, but had recently been forced to schedule fewer classes on Tuesday too, and now it seemed that there was a new movement toward lessen- ing Tuesday classes. He reassured us, however, that the work accomplished on Wednesday was of the highest caliber.

Leaving the building, we heard chapel bells and hurried in that direction. On the way, we talked about the students of the college and asked her about chapel attendance. She told us that there had been so much complaining from the students about chapel attendance that the college had left the problem up to the girls themselves. We were quite impressed with this idea, and saw that the five girls in the chapel seemed to be enjoy- ing themselves.

We suddenly remembered that we had heard no mention of an honor system at this college and asked the Dean eagerly if there was such a thing. Apparently, we had hit upon a favorite topic, because her eyes lighted up, and the pride in her voice was wonderful to hear. Their honor system was im- peccable, said the Dean enigmatically. For twenty-three years, the students have been forced to schedule fewer classes on Tuesday too, and now it seemed that there was a new movement toward lessen- ing Tuesday classes. He reassured us, however, that the work accomplished on Wednesday was of the highest caliber.

Leaving the building, we heard chapel bells and hurried in that direction. On the way, we talked about the students of the college and asked her about chapel attendance. She told us that there had been so much complaining from the students about chapel attendance that the college had left the problem up to the girls themselves. We were quite impressed with this idea, and saw that the five girls in the chapel seemed to be enjoy- ing themselves.

We suddenly remembered that we had heard no mention of an honor system at this college and asked the Dean eagerly if there was such a thing. Apparently, we had hit upon a favorite topic, because her eyes lighted up, and the pride in her voice was wonderful to hear. Their honor system was im- peccable, said the Dean enigmatically. For twenty-three years, the students have been forced to schedule fewer classes on Tuesday too, and now it seemed that there was a new movement toward lessen- ing Tuesday classes. He reassured us, however, that the work accomplished on Wednesday was of the highest caliber.

Leaving the building, we heard chapel bells and hurried in that direction. On the way, we talked about the students of the college and asked her about chapel attendance. She told us that there had been so much complaining from the students about chapel attendance that the college had left the problem up to the girls themselves. We were quite impressed with this idea, and saw that the five girls in the chapel seemed to be enjoy- ing themselves.

We suddenly remembered that we had heard no mention of an honor system at this college and asked the Dean eagerly if there was such a thing. Apparently, we had hit upon a favorite topic, because her eyes lighted up, and the pride in her voice was wonderful to hear. Their honor system was im- peccable, said the Dean enigmatically. For twenty-three years, the students have been forced to schedule fewer classes on Tuesday too, and now it seemed that there was a new movement toward lessen- ing Tuesday classes. He reassured us, however, that the work accomplished on Wednesday was of the highest caliber.

Leaving the building, we heard chapel bells and hurried in that direction. On the way, we talked about the students of the college and asked her about chapel attendance. She told us that there had been so much complaining from the students about chapel attendance that the college had left the problem up to the girls themselves. We were quite impressed with this idea, and saw that the five girls in the chapel seemed to be enjoy- ing themselves.

We suddenly remembered that we had heard no mention of an honor system at this college and asked the Dean eagerly if there was such a thing. Apparently, we had hit upon a favorite topic, because her eyes lighted up, and the pride in her voice was wonderful to hear. Their honor system was im- peccable, said the Dean enigmatically. For twenty-three years, the students have been forced to schedule fewer classes on Tuesday too, and now it seemed that there was a new movement toward lessen-

Events Calendar

Thurssday, October 27
Gymnasium, 7:00 p.m. — Campus Wall Scene

FRIDAY, October 27
Auditorium, 7:30 p.m. — Campbell, of the Blind, "Men Who See Without Eyes"

SATURDAY, October 28
Museum of Modern Art Movie: "Blue Angel" Auditorium, 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY, October 29
Service League Meeting — Windham Rec. Room, 7:00 p.m.

Monday, November 2
Auditorium, 7:00 p.m. — "The Wall, after Amalgo"

Tuesday, November 3
Chapel, 7:00 p.m. — "Moonlight Sing by the Wall of the Chapel"

Wednesday, November 3
Auditorium, 7:00 p.m. — "The Wall, after Amalgo"

Friday, October 27
Hymn Sing: Nancy Beeler '58
Vespers: John Hutchinson, Columbia University

Tuesday, November 3
Carol Reeves '58

Wednesday, November 2
Marna Leeborg '59
Chapel will be open from 9:00-10:00 p.m.

Thursday, November 3
Dr. Paul F. Laubeinstein

Campus Wall Scene Of Moonlight Sing Following Amalgo

Following Amalgo on Monday evening, October 31, the Colleges will join in the traditional Moon- light Sing by the wall of the hockey field. It will begin, according to tradition, with "Good Evening, Mr. Moon," and continue with college campfire songs that everyone can sing. Because the purpose of Moonlight Sing is to draw the colleges closer together and to give them the right of full moon. When was Seniors would dress in their caps and gowns and stand on top of the wall, but now all the girls mingled under the unlit power of song. Ann Lewis, the College song leader, has had enough of the night, and once her own song leader to sing leading at supper- time so that all the girls might know the songs well and partici- pate in Moonlight Sing.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

Published by the students of Connecticut College every Thursday throughout the college year from September to June, except during mid-years and vacations.

Copyright, 1955.

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Intercollegiate Press

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE NEWS

Published by the students of Connecticut College every Thursday throughout the college year from September to June, except during mid-years and vacations.

Copyright, 1955.

Member

Associated Collegiate Press

Intercollegiate Press
Marna Wagner Spends Junior Year Abroad; Studies at Geneva, Travels, Skis in Alps

by Marna Wagner

On a dark rainy afternoon last fall, as a jeep left the doorstep of 116 Boulevard Rambouillet in Paris, I and several others left behind our homes and someone who could understand us. We were all thankful to have ridden in a little tessel which jerked and creaked up three flights of stairs to the second floor, where the front of an elderly woman, who greeted us with a smile of welcome, the only word which we could understand. The bell rang and time passed at a rapid pace. We were all on the wrong side of our fork, people talking in French. Was this the full and expected answer to when mine was? When a boy sitting next to me in a cafe called "pension" was one of the deputés of government who could not be heard. This disappointing feeling was never eaten before 7:30. This is what you are accustomed. There is no contact between the students and their professors who deliver their lectures and leave them. Some of the classes, such as International Law, were extremely formal. Professor Bourguin marched down the aisle of his large lecture hall each day, while the noise in the class when a student was going to answer was reflected in every facet of the pace of life was very different, but extremely beautiful. The social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.

Chaotic Meal

The confusion of my first meal in Geneva was one of the most upsetting times I had. A huge bottle of red wine was set before me on the table, everyone ate with his fork, people talked in French. Was this the wrong side of my fork, people talking in French? Was this the full and expected answer to the noise in the class when a student was going to answer was never eaten before 7:30. This is what you are accustomed. There is no contact between the students and their professors who deliver their lectures and leave them. Some of the classes, such as International Law, were extremely formal. Professor Bourguin marched down the aisle of his large lecture hall each day, while the noise in the class when a student was going to answer was reflected in every facet of the pace of life was very different, but extremely beautiful. The social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.

Chaotic Meal

The confusion of my first meal in Geneva was one of the most upsetting times I had. A huge bottle of red wine was set before me on the table, everyone ate with his fork, people talked in French. Was this the wrong side of my fork, people talking in French? Was this the full and expected answer to the noise in the class when a student was going to answer was never eaten before 7:30. This is what you are accustomed. There is no contact between the students and their professors who deliver their lectures and leave them. Some of the classes, such as International Law, were extremely formal. Professor Bourguin marched down the aisle of his large lecture hall each day, while the noise in the class when a student was going to answer was reflected in every facet of the pace of life was very different, but extremely beautiful. The social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.

Randard Paris

During the rest of my free time, I traveled a great deal. Many hours were spent enjoying ourselves in art galleries, the opera, ballet, the book store, the student cafes, the cafes, the stores, the bookstore, the school children, and the Parisian people.

At the end of October I left Paris for Davos, which was a great difference between France and Switzerland. The architecture was quite different. The student atmosphere was quite different from ours. We were able to see a lot of the city and the countryside. The scenery was beautiful.

In Davos, a ski resort in Switzerland, many hours were spent in discussions. The students made some nice steals. Liz Bove was outstanding in her opening and control of the ball. The freshmen made some nice steals. Our social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.

At the end of October I left Paris for Davos, which was a great difference between France and Switzerland. The architecture was quite different. The student atmosphere was quite different from ours. We were able to see a lot of the city and the countryside. The scenery was beautiful.

In Davos, a ski resort in Switzerland, many hours were spent in discussions. The students made some nice steals. Liz Bove was outstanding in her opening and control of the ball. The freshmen made some nice steals. Our social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.

At the end of October I left Paris for Davos, which was a great difference between France and Switzerland. The architecture was quite different. The student atmosphere was quite different from ours. We were able to see a lot of the city and the countryside. The scenery was beautiful.

In Davos, a ski resort in Switzerland, many hours were spent in discussions. The students made some nice steals. Liz Bove was outstanding in her opening and control of the ball. The freshmen made some nice steals. Our social life was mainly centered around the contacts we made at the University. French was not the natural language of many of the students, but it was the common language of everyone. The fraternity system was quite different from our idea of fraternities. The main students were made according to nationalistic policies and law, and political sessions that were going on throughout the country. Cocktail parties and receptions were held for the visiting ambassadors and diplomats, and we were able to get invitations to these functions.
CROCKER SHOP
camera corner
featuring:
• film service
• photo equipment
• magazines
• interesting sundries

Drop into the Crocker Shop in the lobby of the hotel.
128 State Street
GI 3-5371

COLLEGE BOOKSHOP
Complete Modern Library
Poetry and Art
Stationery Gifts
Penguin - Vintage - Anchor
Paper-Bound Books

L. LEWIS & CO.
CHINA — GLASS — SILVER unusual gifts
146 State St.
Est. 1860
GI 3-4270

COURTESY DRUG STORE
119 State St.
New London, Conn.
COSMETICS
CHECKS CASHED
FREE DELIVERY
Tel. GI 2-5837

You're both go for this cigarette!

WINSTON "wrote the book on flavor!"

WINSTON TASTES GOOD!

Unlike a cigarette should!

Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!
Mr. L. Finkels~ein shows work of UN in UN Day Lecture

To commemorate the tenth anniversary of the United Nations, Mr. Lawrence Finkelsstein spoke at the Lyman Allyn Museum, Monday evening, October 24. Mr. Finkelsstein spoke on the UN: Past and Future. He showed, through the use of specific examples, the work of the UN.

Mr. Finkelsstein demonstrated that while the League of Nations failed, the UN has survived ten years of experience and has met its tasks successfully. The UN has proved flexible and resilient. Although the UN is not a super body, it is an organization through which member nations have been able to express their interests.

Mr. Finkelsstein traced the work of the UN in negotiations for peace concerning Palestine and Indonesia. He showed that world opinion has played an important role in deciding such issues as these. He showed how the UN has taken positive steps concerning collective defense and economic assistance programs. The UN has also played an important role in problems of self-determination of certain Trusteeships which the UN has established.

Problems facing the UN now and in the future concern the above securety, disarmament and peaceful use of atomic energy. Mr. Finkelsstein indicated that the most important element in keeping the UN a working organization was to have agreement on basic issues. The future of the UN will involve a resolution of each problem step by step.

Hallowe’en

Mr. L. Finkels~ein shows work of UN in UN Day Lecture

To commemorate the tenth anniversary of the United Nations, Mr. Lawrence Finkelsstein spoke at the Lyman Allyn Museum, Monday evening, October 24. Mr. Finkelsstein spoke on the UN: Past and Future. He showed, through the use of specific examples, the work of the UN.

Mr. Finkelsstein demonstrated that while the League of Nations failed, the UN has survived ten years of experience and has met its tasks successfully. The UN has proved flexible and resilient. Although the UN is not a super body, it is an organization through which member nations have been able to express their interests.

Mr. Finkelsstein traced the work of the UN in negotiations for peace concerning Palestine and Indonesia. He showed that world opinion has played an important role in deciding such issues as these. He showed how the UN has taken positive steps concerning collective defense and economic assistance programs. The UN has also played an important role in problems of self-determination of certain Trusteeships which the UN has established.

Problems facing the UN now and in the future concern the above securety, disarmament and peaceful use of atomic energy. Mr. Finkelsstein indicated that the most important element in keeping the UN a working organization was to have agreement on basic issues. The future of the UN will involve a resolution of each problem step by step.

Water Line

(Continued from Page One)

Truman streets meet.

The Giro Defense from the entire state docked to this city to help find and repair the break in the pipe line. Here on campus we were fortunate in having an efficient crew working all day Thursday for us, and it was through their efforts that we were supplied with any water at all.

Everything from a Snack to a Formal Dinner.

THAMES

LOBSTER HOUSE 94 Main St. New London Catering For Parties and Banquets
Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

Because only VICEROY gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance—cellulose—found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only VICEROY has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.

2. The VICEROY filter wasn’t just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filter-tipped cigarettes. VICEROY pioneered. Started research and development to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for fruits and other edibles!

3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroys have a flavor of their own.

4. VICEROY draws in easily that you wouldn’t know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and VICEROY cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That’s why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that’s why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!