Pat McGee will Headline Concert Due to Strong Student Interest

By Lauren Myers

Pat McGee will perform at Connecticut College's annual fall benefit concert, November 1, the Student Activities Committee this week announced.

"The concert was a success," said Smith. "The benefit of a concert like this is not that people come out of SAC's roughly $80,000 budgetkg. SAC is now making it their goal to be with the opportunities and challenges we were in, our differences, and, especially, our commonalties."

Fainstein prepares for life as a camel

By Bruce Woon

Harold Koh addresses recent terrorism in America

By Ken Woonson

 form the overwCting number of people who volunteered to donate, people were able to do. But, what you well do is to strengthen the capacity of the institution to govern itself. And that's why we were in, our differences, and, especially, our commonalties."

He called for students toImagine you'd be able to do. But, what you well do is to strengthen the capacity of the institution to govern itself. And that's why we were in, our differences, and, especially, our commonalties.

This is SAC's chance to get involved on a higher level," said Smith. "Because we have access to funds in certain areas of the College, our goal is to use those resources and money for causes that go beyond the scope of student life or entertainment."

"The mission of the concert has yet to be determined," Koh said. "SAC's first charity concert was held last fall to benefit the World AIDS Group, a group founded by former student Christof Putze!. SAC is now making it their goal to fund a concert that will benefit the American agenda, Koh warned that justified retaliation can easily become a human rights violation when the magnitude of acts of terrorism increases. Koh said that following the September 11 terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, the American public faced a test to mobilize the forces of democracy.

"In a fight of the four world markets, we can win.

"The globalization of freedom is the ultimate analogue to the globalization of terrorism," said Yale International Law Professor Harold Koh, a leading scholar in international law.

Harold Koh addresses recent terrorism in America

Before assuming the presidency, Norman Fainstein waned to make sure he was adequately prepared. To do that, in July he enrolled in a 6-day seminar for new presidents at Harvard Graduate School of Education.

The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

Fainstein said there are similarities between what he and his colleagues picked up at Harvard and what college students learn.

"Some of it was knowledge-based, and some of it was skill-based: skill-oriented and group building and group development," he said. "A lot of it was like attention to freshness, in which we got to know each other through various social functions and got to understand the range of institutions these presidents are in, and, especially, our commonalties."

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.

"The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.

"The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.

"The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.

"The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.

"The program's main goal was to familiarize Fainstein and 44 other presidents with the opportunities and challenges they are likely to encounter in the first year. While awaying various other skills, seminar participants learned how to organize staff and administrative units, deal with budgets, and manage public relations.

After the new presidents had met each other, they attended panel-group discussion meetings and participated in developmental exercises.
Conn's Over-Reliance on Temporary Faculty
Misrepresents College, Disadvantages Students

Conn College has proposed reducing the size of its faculty by 10 percent, a move that will likely lead to a decrease in the quality of education in the upcoming 2004-2005 semester. The faculty shortages that are likely to result from this move will damage the college's reputation and well-being.

The college is looking to cut $700,000 from the faculty salary pool—about 5 percent of the total. Departments with fewer faculty members will be asked to find creative ways to educate a rising number of students.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In addition, the college is proposing to eliminate the positions of 30 instructors, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

The college is also proposing to cut $150,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.

Even worse, the college is proposing to cut $500,000 to $600,000 in funding for tenured faculty, who have been suspended from their teaching duties. This means that students are being asked to pay higher tuition and fees to support a college that is not meeting its obligations.

In Connecticut College College, Disadvantages Students is the impact on the quality of teaching is debatable, but teacher-student relations certainly suffer. Visiting professors are not always available, and the atmosphere of a small liberal-arts college is destroyed when visiting professors or temporary faculty have to moderate student discipline.
According to Congressman Sandman of Vermont, "There is always a demand for democracy now that the wealthiest one quarter of 1% of our nation donates 50% of the funds that candidates for federal office receive." Although I tend to agree with this statement, I have sometimes found it difficult to see the financing of campaigns as something that directly affects my day-to-day life. However, an article that appeared in last Thursday's Boston Globe should make people as well as politicians aware of just how vital it is for us to have a campaign finance system that is fair and open to everyone involved, and re-emphasized the need for meaningful reform policies. The article, entitled "Airports Fight Security Changes," details the recent history of attempts by Congress to increase security at the nation's airports. In 1998, a group of the nation's largest air carriers led by the Association of Airport Physicians, which opposes the mandatory use of medical procedures for airport workers, pressured Congress to increase the number of medical procedures required for airport workers. The Clinton Administration backed off on this proposal after the air carriers contributed $250,000 to support the bill. The article states that the aviation industry became conspicuous in its attempts to influence key congressional decisions, and that the support of the labor unions has been cited as a factor in the legislature's role in determining the fate of proposals. The success of the aviation industry has been one of the reasons why other industries have followed suit in seeking to influence key congressional decisions. Some of these industries have donated large sums to political campaigns, while others have spent significant amounts of money on lobbying efforts. The article highlights the need for meaningful reform policies, such as those that would make it easier for the public to monitor the activities of Congress, and that would ensure that the public has access to information about the decisions that are made by Congress. It is clear that the public has a stake in the success of the aviation industry, and that meaningful reform policies are necessary to ensure that the public has access to information about the decisions that are made by Congress.
Rockstar: A Tale of Sex, Drugs, & Identity Crisis

Tape Dogs: The Restless Beast

Mark Wahlberg, Starring: 46
Length: 1 hour

As a result of the film's success, Wahlberg was offered another role in the 2001 American film "American Pie 2". In this sequel, he plays a character who is trying to get into college. Wahlberg was excited about the opportunity to return to the role of Stifler, as he felt it was a chance to showcase his comedic talent.

The film was directed by Thomas Ackley, who had previously worked with Wahlberg on the first "American Pie" film. The cast also includes Jason Biggs, Seann William Scott, and Justin Long, who reprise their roles as the other members of the original group of friends.

"American Pie 2" was released in February 2001 and was met with mixed reviews by critics. Despite this, the film was a commercial success, grossing over $200 million in the United States and becoming one of the highest-grossing films of the year. It also received a Golden Globe nomination for Best Screenplay.

Rockstar, directed by Eric Bress andplay by Jerry Bruckheimer, is a movie that explores the world of the music industry. The film focuses on a young musician who is discovered by a record label executive and becomes a overnight sensation. However, as he rises to fame, he struggles with the pressures of being a rock star and the impact it has on his personal relationships.

The movie stars Mark Wahlberg as the lead character and is distributed by Warner Bros. and produced by Jerry Bruckheimer Films. The film was released in 2001 and was met with positive reviews, with particular praise for Wahlberg's performance.

Spinning Into Butter, directed by Scott K. Cohen, is a comedy film that explores the world of high school sports. The film follows a student who is trying to make a name for himself on the school's track team. However, as he becomes more involved with the team, he starts to question the values and expectations that are placed on him by his coaches and peers.

The film was released in 2002 and was met with mixed reviews. Despite this, it was a commercial success, grossing over $7 million in the United States. It also received a Golden Globe nomination for Best Screenplay.

The Garde Arts Center Kicks of 75th Year with Tap Dancing Extravaganza

The set art for the audience describes the performance as "witty, wry, and a little bit snarky," a sentiment echoed by the audience at the opening of the show. The performance at the Garde marks a stop on the Tap Dogs National Tour, which began in August and runs through the end of December. The show itself adequately reflects Perry's original aims to reflect his personal experiences, and a framework was developed to perform the various songs and dances that comprised the show. As a result, the audience had a chance and try and make it on your own.

The show, described by an audience member as "witty, wry, and a little bit snarky," consisted of layered sets of symbolism, and a steel and wood performance space which consisted of a series of steps on a steel platform. One of the most amazing things about the performance was the way in which the six dancers moved in harmony with the emotional tone. The performance was superbly illustrated, and it was a pleasure to see such a talented group of dancers. Mark Wahlberg, Starring: 46
Length: 1 hour

As a result of the film's success, Wahlberg was offered another role in the 2001 American film "American Pie 2". In this sequel, he plays a character who is trying to get into college. Wahlberg was excited about the opportunity to return to the role of Stifler, as he felt it was a chance to showcase his comedic talent.

The film was directed by Thomas Ackley, who had previously worked with Wahlberg on the first "American Pie" film. The cast also includes Jason Biggs, Seann William Scott, and Justin Long, who reprise their roles as the other members of the original group of friends.

"American Pie 2" was released in February 2001 and was met with mixed reviews by critics. Despite this, the film was a commercial success, grossing over $200 million in the United States and becoming one of the highest-grossing films of the year. It also received a Golden Globe nomination for Best Screenplay.

Rockstar, directed by Eric Bress andplay by Jerry Bruckheimer, is a movie that explores the world of the music industry. The film focuses on a young musician who is discovered by a record label executive and becomes a overnight sensation. However, as he rises to fame, he struggles with the pressures of being a rock star and the impact it has on his personal relationships.

The movie stars Mark Wahlberg as the lead character and is distributed by Warner Bros. and produced by Jerry Bruckheimer Films. The film was released in 2001 and was met with positive reviews, with particular praise for Wahlberg's performance.

Spinning Into Butter, directed by Scott K. Cohen, is a comedy film that explores the world of high school sports. The film follows a student who is trying to make a name for himself on the school's track team. However, as he becomes more involved with the team, he starts to question the values and expectations that are placed on him by his coaches and peers.

The film was released in 2002 and was met with mixed reviews. Despite this, it was a commercial success, grossing over $7 million in the United States. It also received a Golden Globe nomination for Best Screenplay.

The Garde Arts Center Kicks of 75th Year with Tap Dancing Extravaganza

The set art for the audience describes the performance as "witty, wry, and a little bit snarky," a sentiment echoed by the audience at the opening of the show. The performance at the Garde marks a stop on the Tap Dogs National Tour, which began in August and runs through the end of December. The show itself adequately reflects Perry's original aims to reflect his personal experiences, and a framework was developed to perform the various songs and dances that comprised the show. As a result, the audience had a chance and try and make it on your own.

The show, described by an audience member as "witty, wry, and a little bit snarky," consisted of layered sets of symbolism, and a steel and wood performance space which consisted of a series of steps on a steel platform. One of the most amazing things about the performance was the way in which the six dancers moved in harmony with the emotional tone. The performance was superbly illustrated, and it was a pleasure to see such a talented group of dancers.
Dylan: Love and Theft, Not Love and Peace

By AMANNA MCCALL
STAFF WRITER

The American Heritage Dictionary defines Bob Dylan as "any of a number of former and current American performers and songwriters in the field of modern folk music." This is true. The folk singer, lyricist, and musician who became known as Bob Dylan is a complex figure. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

Dylan, born Robert Allen Zimmerman in Duluth, Minnesota, began his career as a singer-songwriter in the late 1950s. His early work was heavily influenced by the folk music of the time, and he was quickly recognized for his ability to write and perform. Over the years, Dylan's music has evolved, and he has experimented with different genres, including rock, blues, and country.

Dylan's music has been widely influential, and he has been celebrated for his ability to write and perform. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

The music of Dylan is simple and stately. Dylan's head is made complicated by the sounds made by the music. The lyrics are full of bite and brilliance, and are inspired by the music of the time.

Dylan's music has influenced a wide range of artists, and his influence can be heard in the work of many modern musicians. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

The music of Dylan is simple and stately. Dylan's head is made complicated by the sounds made by the music. The lyrics are full of bite and brilliance, and are inspired by the music of the time.

Dylan's music has influenced a wide range of artists, and his influence can be heard in the work of many modern musicians. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

The music of Dylan is simple and stately. Dylan's head is made complicated by the sounds made by the music. The lyrics are full of bite and brilliance, and are inspired by the music of the time.

Dylan's music has influenced a wide range of artists, and his influence can be heard in the work of many modern musicians. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

The music of Dylan is simple and stately. Dylan's head is made complicated by the sounds made by the music. The lyrics are full of bite and brilliance, and are inspired by the music of the time.

Dylan's music has influenced a wide range of artists, and his influence can be heard in the work of many modern musicians. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.

The music of Dylan is simple and stately. Dylan's head is made complicated by the sounds made by the music. The lyrics are full of bite and brilliance, and are inspired by the music of the time.

Dylan's music has influenced a wide range of artists, and his influence can be heard in the work of many modern musicians. His music has been described as "melancholy, funny, and political." He is a musician who has been widely influential in the world of music and literature.
New Chair, Same Challenges for PPBC

by LYNDA TWIN

STAFF WRITER

"We're trying to lay out a plan for the year that will affect how the students, alumni, faculty and parents can best think about the challenges we have to cross that bridge when we want it," said Baird of the mathematics department.

"Not every department relies equally on visiting and part-time professors, and for that reason we have to look carefully at how we make more positions in those departments responsibke for planning trips. We are looking to go skiing, to Broadway shows, downtown Boston, etc. Where we can't pro- vide campus, we will try and get the students the opportunity to travel to see things elswhere."

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might unequally and unfairly affect us," said Devlin.

"Our success is really reliant on them, our students, because that might un
Q & A: An In-Depth Discussion with President Elect Ealin Stein

President-Elect Panama: I think the first priority for any new president is to understand the institution.
I'm hoping to have very informal dinner parties over the first six or eight weeks to meet the entire faculty in small groups of 20-25. I hope to meet students in similar ways. One of the things that I think is very important at a college like Connecticut College is that students and faculty be the major guests at all kinds of events and dinners that the president organizes. This also of events and dinners that the president organizes. This is not just that it's moving in the right direction but that the kinds of further decisions that we will have to be made are coming into office?

One of the first things that I did was to ask Dean Helen Reim to provide me with samples of all the faculty members. I spent a whole weekend at least getting to know faculty on paper, and I am just overwhelmingly impressed with the quality of the faculty. Since then I have been working with important faculty committees like FSCC and have gotten to know faculty leaders in people working on common concerns together. It's like being a freshman.

Q: What does liberal arts mean to you?
NF: The first attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

One of the first things that I did was to ask Dean Helen Reim to provide me with samples of all the faculty members. I spent a whole weekend at least getting to know the faculty on paper, and I was just overwhelmingly impressed with the quality of the faculty. Since then I have been working with important faculty committees like FSCC and have gotten to know faculty leaders in people working on common concerns together. It's like being a freshman.

Q: What does liberal arts mean to you?
NF: The first attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

The second attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

The second attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

The second attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

The second attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.

The second attraction was the quality of the students and faculty. I know the student quality mainly statist-
cal, but it isn't just that I have known 180-190 students in a class I would like to. I did meet students on the second floor and I was very impressed with them, and I have had a chance to deal with students on a couples of different occasions.
Special College Pricing
12" Cheese $5.99
14" Cheese $7.99

New London/ Waterford
442-9383
Behind Blockbuster Video

Open for lunch daily
11 A.M. - 11 P.M
Fri + Sat 11 A.M-Midnight

September Special:
Large one topping $9.99
Free cheesy bread

TUESDAY BUY 1 GET 1 FREE!
(Buy one pizza at regular price get a second of equal or lesser value free)

subs salads
buffalo wings
jalapeno poppers
cheesy bread
cinastix
ESCAC Losses and Injuries Mounting for Men’s Soccer

BvM AlTM DIAPELLA
STAFF WRITER

"The wheels have not fallen off the bus," the transmission needs some off," said Coach Lessig, after the Connecticuts plight Men’s soccer team lost to the ESCAC’s easternmost team Anthony College in three straight overtime games. Ambrose scored at about 16:15 in the 2nd period, and went on to score a hat trick. The Camels were able to keep the scoreline well under control in the first two periods, but Anthony was able to use three different goalies, one of whom was subsequently deemed to be "non-existent," and a point was awarded to the opposing team.
Many players were not completely out of the loop, and as they would try and get through their individual games, the Camels would have to rely on their own resources to compensate for the absence of their regular team.

This most recent loss pushes the Men’s soccer record to a disappointing 2-3. However, the good news is that both the team and their fans feel that the season is not over yet.
The Camels will still be playing and division finals to battle it out.

On Wednesday, the Camels travel to Mount Union in search of their third intramural:

Escac intramural: Football and Soccer Seasons in Full Swing

For decades, the coming of fall has typically meant football season. At Connecticut, this season is no exception. In fact, the fall season consists of one or two strong varsity teams for the championship of the league. This year, there are at least three possibilities of winning the championship.

The first game of the season saw the Connecticut Volunteers triumphing over Western New York in a 12-7 victory. The Connecticut Volunteers will carry their recent victories into the conference to continue their winning streak.

The second game of the season saw Connecticut against the Western New York Warriors. The Connecticut Warriors won the match with a score of 3-0.

The third game of the season saw Connecticut against the Western New York Senators. The Connecticut Senators
won the match with a score of 1-0.

The season continued with a dominant performance by the Connecticut Volunteers, who scored two goals without allowing any to the opposing team. The Connecticut Volunteers defeated
the Western New York
Warriors with a score of 13-0.

The fourth game of the season saw Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The fifth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The sixth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The seventh game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The eighth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The ninth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The tenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The eleventh game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The twelfth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The thirteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The fourteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The fifteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The sixteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The seventeenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The eighteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The nineteenth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The twentieth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The twenty-first game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The twenty-second game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The twenty-third game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The twenty-fourth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The twenty-fifth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The twenty-sixth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The twenty-seventh game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The twenty-eighth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The twenty-ninth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The thirtieth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The thirty-first game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The thirty-second game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The thirty-third game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The thirty-fourth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The thirty-fifth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The thirty-sixth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The thirty-seventh game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The thirty-eighth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The thirty-ninth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The fortieth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The forty-first game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The forty-second game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The forty-third game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The forty-fourth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The forty-fifth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The forty-sixth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-1.

The forty-seventh game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 2-0.

The forty-eighth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 1-0.

The forty-ninth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Warriors. The Connecticut
Warriors won the match with
a score of 3-1.

The fiftieth game of the season saw
Connecticut against the
Western New York
Senators. The Connecticut
Senators won the match with
a score of 2-0.
Men’s Water Polo Still Undefeated After Tournament Thrashing
By RYAN WOODWARD

The Connecticut College Men’s Water Polo team hosted a four-team tournament last weekend to kick off their 2001 campaign. The tournament was held in Greensboro, NC, which is托运ed to by many as the best place to play water polo, and the Camels went 4-0 in the tourney with at least 15 goals in every game — they are making a name for themselves as one of the top programs in the nation.

Connecticut College lost their first game on Saturday afternoon to Knox College. The Camels let the Frogs take the lead early in the game, which they held for most of the game until the end. The Camels held their ground and beat the Frogs, 17-16, in a double-overtime thriller to begin the weekend. The Camels stuck to their game plan, and let their defense work to their advantage. As a result, the Camels won the game 17-16.

Connecticut College went on to win the last two games of the tournament, 20-0 and 25-13, over the University of California and the Mountsin’s, respectively. The Camels dominated both games, scoring heavily in both and ending the tournament with a winning record of 4-0. They ended the tournament in second place overall, behind the University of California.

The Camels’ triumph can be attributed to their strong defense and ability to score efficiently. Their defense held their opponents to a total of 33 goals in the four games, while the Camels scored a total of 74 goals. The Camels’ defense played a crucial role in their success, holding their opponents to an average of 8.25 goals per game.

The Camels’ offense was also a key factor in their success. They scored a total of 74 goals in the tournament, with an average of 18.5 goals per game. The Camels were able to score efficiently, with a goal percentage of 47.89%. This high goal percentage helped the Camels to win their games and establish their dominance in the tournament.

The Camels’ success in the tournament is a testament to their hard work and dedication to the sport of water polo. They have proven themselves to be one of the top teams in the nation, and their success in the tournament is a likely indication of their continued success in the future.

Women’s Soccer Taking “Five Steps” Towards Success
By LES WOODWARD

A double-overtime loss to the Adelphi College has left the Connecticut College women’s soccer team down two goals to one. The Camels dominated the action, but were unable to score the winning goal thanks to a solid defense effort by Adelphi.

In the first half, the Camels had the upper hand, with控 controls and opportunities to score. However, they were unable to capitalize on their chances, and the game remained scoreless at halftime.

In the second half, Adelphi took control, scoring two goals in the first 10 minutes of the half. The Camels responded with a goal in the 55th minute, but it was too little too late, and Adelphi held on to win the game 2-1.

The Camels are now 0-1-1 on the season, but coach John Koenig believes that they have a bright future.

“Misha’s Such a crucial part of the team, and we’ll have to keep working hard to make sure that we maintain our success,” Koenig said.

Coach Susan Kelly recognized “Misha’s Leadership would be missed if she were to leave,” Stated Kelly.

All players agree with Susan when they explain “Misha’s such a crucial part of the team, and we’ll be just as influential as she is. Her skills are there, we just need to step up,” Stated Kelly.

When asked about her plans for the future, Kelly stated “I’ll be keeping an eye on the court, I am sure that they will be a big part of this team even if they aren’t on the court.”

The women’s soccer team has a bright future, and they are determined to make the most of it.

Camel Cross Country Perfect in College Invitational At All
By MATT PETERS

As expected, both the Men’s and Women’s Cross Country teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning.

The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.

“Executive, both the men’s and women’s teams dominated their opponents at the 17th Connecticut College Invitational, held on the Presque Isle field yesterday morning. The men’s team was led by Matt Lunt ‘03, who placed second overall with a time of 21:42. The women’s team was led by second-year co-captain, Liz Perez, who won the women’s race with a time of 19:59.