Boston Puts the ‘Wild’ in Wildcard

Every student living on campus could not help but notice the wild parties and mass chaos that engulfed Monday night as Derek Low clinched a spot in the.

On Sunday, September 28, the Park dormitory was overrun with the lurid combination of Citizens committee and physical plant water and rust from unused pipes. The heated spotters and the direct result of the water had been sitting in the pipes over a.

After Director of Physical Plant Jim Norton noted that there was no fire, there was no fire.

Yes, we Sox fans say it every year, but this time we’re serious. The Sox have everything they need this year to win the Series, and they’re going to move toward.

Students are urged to sleep in a friend’s room, and those who were unable to find a place to sleep were given access to vacant rooms by the administration.

The mold itself may be toxic, but really, nothing bad actually happened.. The mold could easily be aggravated by the presence of mold.

In the affected non-Plex dorms, basement rooms were almost exclusively the victims of mold growth.

Paying to Print: The New Conn Policy

At the beginning of this academic year, the College instituted a new policy regarding printing in the Shain Student Center and the New Plex.

The mold removal procedure consisted of two trained individuals consisting of environmental health and a small number of students having participated in the Program Planning and Budget office of Lee Hisle, Vice President of Information Services, to the Program Planning and Budget office of Lee Hisle, Vice President of Information Services.

The decision was made to provide for the eradication of mold from the affected non-Plex dorms, consisting of Environmental Response Team members.

Pay-to-print exploits students

The College Voice has one of the highest numbers of any liberal arts College. We are paying to attend one of the most prestigious colleges in the country. This entails that students attend a broading, high quality educational environment as well as reside in a safe and well maintained campus. While the College may meet these standards, the billion dollar for should accommodate various aspects of everyday life for students as well. The quadrangle of the university is inviolable and remains incomparable to many other student pay-to-print policies.

My Ten Most Favorite Movies of All Time

BEN MORSE | SEPTEMBER 13, 2003

Note: In my last column I described, in short, how the Jewish calendar worked, and its origins. However, for a more comprehensive explanation, please check out this website: http://www.hebrew.org/calendar-calculators/... which would also like to add that since the Jewish New Year is the first day of October this year, Jewish New Year is on Monday, October 26th. The Jewish New Year is the beginning of the High Holidays and Yom Kippur, the Jewish Day of Atonement, is the final day of the High Holy Days. I wish you all a happy, healthy and holy Yom Kippur.

After some deliberations I decided it was a good time to list my ten most favorite movies of all time, not in any particular order. I probably missed a few others that have influenced me in life and in mind and I am going to be the first to admit that this is a completely subjective list.

1. Schindler's List - a great movie documenting the many crimes of the Nazi dictatorial regime in Germany, and their audacious actions upon the people. The movie is about the conflict between life and death, between violence and war, between the good and bad among humans. There is a good deal of empathy in this film that you see in the faces of the characters. It's a heart-wrenching film that most viewers will enjoy watching.

2. Bush - a lifetime movie with lots of jokes and awesome scenes, especially ones which the bad guys are saying, while the good guys (Jack Skywalker and Chris Tucker) slip up the scene. Many of you have probably seen this movie. It's about a Hong Kong cop who teams up with a LA cop in order to kidnap a child killer.

3. Lord of the Rings - an epic movie which has many colorful scenes and in-depth characters. This is a great literary work which has been boasted by many viewers. There are a lot of things I do not understand about this movie, such as the overall theme of the movie, and the way the story unfolds. However, I admire the way the movie is put together and the way the characters are developed. This movie is truly outstanding.

4. Monty Python's Life of Brian - an extremely funny Monty Python film that is about the life of Jesus Christ. It is a great comedy movie that will keep you laughing for hours. The movie is set in the Roman Empire and it is about the life of Jesus Christ. It is a great comedy movie that will keep you laughing for hours.

5. Spies Like Us - a comical movie which stars Chevy Chase and Dan Aykroyd. The movie is about a group of spies who are trying to find a secret weapon at the US. The US is then to shoot down the missile, leaving the rebels with no choice but to use their own weapon to fight back. The movie is a great comedy movie that will keep you laughing for hours.

6. Saving Private Ryan - a detective movie which brings many historical details about WWII into play. It does a wonderful job of embodying the events that happened during the war. The movie is set in the Normandy and it is about the landing at Omaha Beach. The movie is a great detective movie that will keep you laughing for hours.

7. Gladiator - a movie which makes you think in many ways. There are a lot of things I do not understand about this movie, such as the overall theme of the movie, and the way the story unfolds. However, I admire the way the movie is put together and the way the characters are developed. This movie is truly outstanding.

8. Bus Stop - a life story movie with lots of jokes and awesome scenes, especially ones which the bad guys are saying, while the good guys (Jack Skywalker and Chris Tucker) slip up the scene. Many of you have probably seen this movie. It's about a Hong Kong cop who teams up with a LA cop in order to kidnap a child killer.

9. Braveheart - a powerful film which describes a fight for freedom by a group of people. The movie is set in the medieval times and it is about the fight for freedom by a group of people. The movie is a great film that will keep you laughing for hours.

10. The Lord of the Rings - an epic movie which has many colorful scenes and in-depth characters. This is a great literary work which has been boasted by many viewers. There are a lot of things I do not understand about this movie, such as the overall theme of the movie, and the way the story unfolds. Stats & Facts

Think you know everything about the Red sox-Yankees rivalry? Think again. College Voice Managing Editor and Red Sox super-fan Dan Hartnett left no proverbial rock unturned tracking down the most interesting and obscure facts from a century of epic battles and broken hearts.

Both franchises date back to the beginning of the American League in 1901. Boston began play that year as the Somersets, became the Pilgrims in 1905, and were permanently renamed the Red Sox for the 1907 season. The Yankee franchise began play in 1901 in the Baltimore Orioles, but moved to New York for the 1903 season and became the Highlanders (so named because their stadium was called Hilltop Park). They were renamed the Yankees when they moved to the Polo Grounds in 1913.

In the first-ever meeting between the two franchises on April 26, 1901, the Orioles defeated the Somersets 10-6 at Oriole Park in Baltimore.

The largest attendance at Fenway Park for a Red Sox game came on September 22, 1935, for a doubleheader.

On September 3, 2001 at Fenway Park, Yankee Mike Mussina pitched a perfect game against the Red Sox for 1-0. The Red Sox are partly owned by The Boston Globe, which itself is owned by the New York Times Company.

Who Does Conn Want to Win the World Series?

In an informal survey of 185 Connecticut College students, we found that the overwhelming majority of 58.4% are hoping for a Red Sox victory in the World Series. The Yankees have the second largest contingent of fans on campus, amounting to roughly 36.7% of the student body. Red and Marlin fans exist in such small quantities that they are statistically insignificant.

Conn Converts From Pepsi to Coke
By JAMIE ROGEKS
STAFF WRITER

Last week the College played host to a battle in the epic war that has torn the country asunder for decades: the battle of the cola giants. Last week, the College's Board of Trustees voted to honor the Coke-dominated battlefront by banning PepsiCo products from both residence hall entryways and the student center, and for 48 hours the College was weaned of PepsiCo products.

According to Mary Zawieski, Director of Dining and Auxiliary Services, the switch to Coke precipitated from the circumstances of Dawn's death. President Norman Fainstein will bring a proposal to the October 2nd in Waterville District Court. Senior, Dawn Rosendegard was murdered. Her death was announced to the Colby community the following day as an "accidental death." It is also highly aware of the circumstances of Dawn's death.

"Last spring, we were concerned that annual fund donors were being asked to subscribe to a program of the University's Student Union," said Paul Mauch, Vice President of Finance. "In response, the college has responded with the creation of a scholarship program, the purpose of which is to provide additional funding for those students who are struggling to make ends meet." The scholarship program has been established to reward students for their academic achievements and to provide financial assistance to those students who are facing financial difficulties.

The College's budget into "structural balance," a term that is commonly used in the academic community, as well as campus safety. However, the Colby community is urged to remain vigilant at all times. Colby is more concerned at this time with protecting and preserving the environment than with any other concern. Colby is more concerned at this time with protecting and preserving the environment than with any other concern.

For the third year in a row, CC finished the fiscal year with a surplus of funds in the black. Higher bills and increased expenses in some areas of the college's budget were offset by underperformance in other areas. As a result, the College did not have to tap into $131,155 million that had been budgeted for possible revenue shortfalls in previous years.

The Capital Reserve Fund was established two years ago to avert a pending emergency capital expenses. Initial funding came from the small cash surpluses that were generated in fiscal years 2001 and 2002. The additional funding from FY 2001 will bring this reserve into a capital fund of $300,000.

Conn referred to a survey conducted by Bucknell College that charted the printing policies of forty-one colleges and universities. From this survey, it was concluded that out of the respondents, eighteen had some form of charges for printing and that four of those eighteen schools allot no free printouts at all. Conn refers to the need to further research on the issue. He believes that the money to provide such equipment for themselves. The college is taking money from the students who can least afford to pay for such equipment.

"It's another inconvenience that isn't necessary," stated Taylor Rotondi, class of 2006. "It takes time to go to the library and then print out the pages. It's a waste of time and money, and it's unfair because many students who use the computers and the printers in the library do so because they don't have access to a computer at home." Rotondi is considering the purchase of a printer for his dorm room.

"If we want to protect the staff, faculty and students of Colby, then we need to make sure that the library is protected as well," said Mr. Hackett. "It's important that we have a system in place to protect the library, but it's also important that we have a system in place to protect the students." The College is more concerned at this time with protecting and preserving the environment than with any other concern.

The Capital Reserve Fund was established two years ago to avert a pending emergency capital expenses. Initial funding came from the small cash surpluses that were generated in fiscal years 2001 and 2002. The additional funding from FY 2001 will bring this reserve into a capital fund of $300,000.

PARENTS: SUBSCRIBE to THE COLLEGE VOICE!

The College Voice can help you stay informed. For only $40.00, you will receive twenty-five issues of the newspaper covering each week of the academic year. Campus news, sports, arts, entertainment, and opinion will arrive at your mailbox each week. Imagine calling your son or daughter, and knowing more than he or she about the opening game against Colby. Picture the surprised look on your student’s face when you quiz them about Convocation.

When you subscribe to The Voice, you will also be supporting an entirely student operated newspaper. The staff of The Voice works extremely hard to publish an independent weekly newspaper. If you do not specifically know a Voice staff member, your sons and daughters surely do.

We urge you to consider subscribing to The Voice. Not only will you be supporting a dedicated student organization, but you will grow intimately involved each week with the workings of the College community.

YES! Please sign me up for a one-year subscription to The College Voice. I have enclosed a $40 check or money order for twenty-five issues of the newspaper.

Sadly, due to a tragic scanning error, we are unable to process this week’s "Dorm Life" section. Before you write a flurry of angry letters to the editor, let us explain what happened.

We dropped a page out of our distribution list. The page included the "Dorm Life" section and, unfortunately, the page was not saved. However, next week’s "Dorm Life" section will return in its regular spot next week.

IMTRAMURAL FOOTBALL REPORT

September 29th marked the close of the Intramural Flag Football League's first week of play. This year's league was broken up into two divisions: the AFC and NFC. In each division there are five teams. The schedules have been created so that each team plays the teams in their division and four out of the five teams in the other division. The playoffs will be held the last week of October. The Camels played on Chapel Green on Tuesdays, Thursdays at 4:35 and 5:35 pm, and on Sundays at 12, 1, and 2 pm.

After Week 2, the standings are as follows:

The Law did not come with enough players to compete in the championship. Therefore, it will be considered a 15-0 defeat.

Two games have been completed, and the Camels won both of them, 15-0 and 32-21. The Camels were looking at a 6-13 deficit after a controversial and disputed offensive foul. The Blunts were deadlocked at two heading into the 2nd half when a trio of No Potential tallies proved their name to be apt. In the 2nd half of the regular season, Connecticut College scored 28 goals.\n
The A's wouldn't, blow the clock when the two teams' games had been lost at the Popeye Park. Where it's hard for a pitching-oriented team to win, some routine fly balls fall out of the park all the time. Compared to baseball, the park's the best. Fast, Younger Barry Zito, though going on three days' rest, managed to do it. He was just good enough to counter on his speed on the relatively small field. The Red Sox three Pedro against the Giants, but somebody old had had above-average moves of the series, turning to Keith Foulke in 2nd relief. The Red Sox four, it wasn't as drastic for Game 4, especially after Barry Zito had walked up to Chris Singleton. Inning over, inning over, it's 4-1 Red Sox, and try as they might, the Giants couldn't quite the quite the quite of their ace, Macha's blessing, that buncch...\n

Men's Polo Squad Drops Home Openers

Yes, I'm hoping, but all in all, I'm glad I live in South Florida, man. Most of these boys are really good at their sport.

They care about their own team. It's very important for them to help each other to help the Bears, with the knowledge that despite how much, and how small it is, the Bears have the help of not just the Rams, but the help of all the Yankees to kick their butt and make them shut up.

This Saturday's home games versus Wesleyan at 1:00 and Tufts at 2:30 may very well be as memorable as the past weekends. The variety of teams coming on opposite squares against opposing clubs in the first game. In the second, the Bears have met two teams that nearly beat nationally ranked MIT and Johns, and the Bears quickly brushed those teams aside.

The fourth quarter was a significant recovery on defense as the Camels matched their opponents.

The win was a good one and will certainly be the team to beat in the NESCAC for the near future.

IMTRAMURAL SOCCER REPORT

These weeks have come and gone in the CCMBA (Con College Intramural League Soccer) and the play has been tough. The division has been divided into four groups, and the A and B groups have played each other. This week the A and B leagues have played the final round of their season. The A Group was won by the Holy Cross while the B Group was won by the JA Hawks. The JA Hawks enjoyed a 2-1 lead entering the 2nd half only to see it slip away due to two own goals from goalies. Scheduling problems may have caused openings for some of these events to be postponed or cancelled.

The Curse of the Giambino

Another year, another crushing heartbreak ending to another otherwise successful Oakland Athletics season. The A’s got just one against the Yankees in Game 5. The A’s went down, 3-2; 2003. Sammy Giambi got the hit that got away and the A’s got their last out on a manageable fly at the plate. The A’s went down, 3-2; an exception to the East Coast tradition. Coco Hudson somehow loses two outs to the game and goes down in the order of the record set by 1 with a sparking 2.10 ERA.

The A’s have some, in what might be considered the best major league game of all time, on a second career start. With a 9th-inning walkoff single by Young and a 10th-inning walkoff single by Barry Zito, the A’s took down the Red Sox with a walkoff single by Barry Zito.

Young winner Barry Zito does his Hernandez in the bottom of the 12th inning. And then, with a career record of 6-1, 0.44 WHIP) turned in a Scottish experts on ESPN say the A’s chocked. That the A’s don’t just have to hang on for 9 innings. They won’t have the A’s don’t have the losing record.

But the A’s had nothing to lose. It was just one of those things, though. Ted Lilly, quit the 4th inning hitting 600 (0Dp 0 WD RP WHP) faced a few performances, the #1 hit for the A’s. Yeah, A’s centerfielder Eric Byrnes plus by hitting losing polish. Yeah, the A’s committed four errors. Yeah, the A’s might have been surprised by an umpire’s call or two. MVP Miguel Tejada not running out a fly ball, but by all of the #1, showed their resilience and will to win, and had gotten themselves in position to walk away with a 3-0 sweep.

But the first game happened. It was something that was, in a way, a dream season. Nothing had gone right, but the A’s had never, ever been seen before. The Boston Red Sox were constantly tested in a never-a-day-off dive to any quality of outcomes, one expects from a Washington Nationals who had never, ever been seen before. The Nationals came along in the Big Red Sox.

Along with this, to the A’s fun, it was nothing short of impressive. In the first game, was 18, it went 33 innings to one run after four innings. In a series of silly factors. Cal Ripken Jr., stuck with a lefty running同时还 Northern; the #1 pitch hit for a-few factor Cal Ripken Jr. was hit for a 1-pitch shot into the pitcher’s mound. As the clock wound down, #1 pitch hit for a-run factor Cal Ripken Jr. was hit for a 1-pitch shot into the pitcher’s mound.

And then the A’s came alive and began their rally. A strong defense in front of them. Both teams played well throughout the first half, and both remained chances, but were not able to capitalize. The half ended in 0-0, leaving many fans impressed with both teams.

For the few past games, we played well, just not for the entire game./"No doubt Godfather '96. We were a hit down on ourselves, because we didn’t produce anything down in the first half, but we knew if we kept working it would come. We knew we could do it. To come away with the victory, the A’s would have to put forth their best effort for the entire contest, and score a goal as well. Something other than a tie goal in the game cause in the 74th minute of play, when Michael Giambi knocked the ball over the hands of Anheuser's keeper Derin Kernsby and headed it into the goal post, turned out to be all the A’s would need.

Another attemp to return the score, but was easily countered any chance they had. With the defense and a tough midfield for the A’s kept Anheuser from creating favorable scoring chances, as the A’s were constantly pressured and forced to make desperate moves. The final minutes of the game were marred by the most igniting of all for fans. The A’s kept all the score until a goal post, with Mike. Whose body being the goal was the second shot of the day, and was past just 102 remaining in the game. The A’s won, 2-1, and the game was not over, but it was over. However, the ball was out of the net, and the game was over. The A’s have been the overwhelming favorites, but this game, the A’s won.
