Dr. Klineburg To Give First Psych Lecture

Social Psych Author Will Speak at 4:20
Thurs. in Knowlton

Professor Otto Klineburg of Columbia University will address CS students Thursday, November 9, at 4:20 in Knowlton Salon. The lecture this week will be the first of a series of three offered by the purchase of a blank for a partial replacement for the Social Psych course, which is not offered this year.

Klineburg is known to all who have ever taken Baby Psych and Social Psych in the Psychology department. The most recent publication is "Social Psychology," the textbook for the Knowlton Salon lecture.

The U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey in Germany, which took place during World War II, is the subject of the projects in which he participated, said Klineburg. After receiving his Ph.D. from Harvard, he received his doctorate at the latter.

There will be a coffee at 7 o'clock Thursday evening in the Fanning faculty lounge for Dr. Klineburg, who will be open to all Psychology majors.

Clipping brock To Head CC Tours

Something new in the way of summer tours in Europe is being planned under the sponsorship of the city of New London, under the supervision of Dr. S. Clippingbrock Will Head at Norwich and the college's student tour coordinator, Mr. Ted Gell, Harvard and Columbus, has received his doctorate at the latter.

The plan is to have two groups, with ten to twelve girls in each group. These girls will plan their own tour; reservations will be made through the Simmons Travel Agency Travel will be second class, which will place it in the medium price bracket. The group will include representatives of the different European countries which they visit.

At least two groups will be needed, one to participate in the traditional carnival. The traditional carnival will be a series of activities which will be held on the campus.

As we hate to admit it, we are mortalized. Well, they should have a flagpole about all the uproarious things about the carnival, and we have no way of knowing about all the uproarious things of our college Carnival. Consequently, next time your roommate decides to sit atop the flagpole, or the girl next door dyes her hair green, don't call Bellevue-just watch her. And if you've written it down, put it in the N.E.E. (New England Ephemera) and let the things that should be immortalized. Well, they should be put in Caughn on Campus, anyway.

Art Club Offers Chance in Creative Expression From Clay to Cooks

All interested students will be given a chance to participate in a newly organized Art Club. Classes will be offered in conventional sketching, finger painting, and clay modeling; but for those with more modern leanings, the introduction of making mobiles and collages will be explained and practiced.

President Sue Benetto has announced that the club will hold regular two hour meetings. Its purpose is to offer a chance for creative work which is not offered in the art classes.

The Social Psych work of the most promising projects will take place at the end of the year, if enough good results are obtained from the participants.

Zino Francescatti

In the New York Herald Tribune of April 23, 1951, Virgil Thompson, in reviewing one of Francescatti's performances, wrote: "Nowhere in his work was there anything of bluf, of inadequacy, of volition, of hesitation before any difficulty either of execution or of expression. Everywhere there was beauty, dignity, repose, and the authority of solid worth."

Jane Neely, 1951, To Receive Award For Prize Paper

A paper written by Jane Neely, a Connecticut college senior majoring in chemistry, will receive an American Chemical Society Award in the monthly meeting of the American Chemical Society. The award is given to the student who makes the best presentation in the society's section of the society at St. Joseph's college in Hartford.

The award consists of $50, a membership in the American Chemical Society and a subscription to the society's journal. At the meeting she will read her prize winning paper, which is entitled "The Use of Rabi Fletcher Reagent in Water Determinations." It is worked in the medium-priced bracket.

Clip during the past two summers Jane has worked in the chemical laboratory under the direction of Dr. David Dushkln, New Brunswick, N. J. Her paper has been included in the course of her work on procurements of the University of Connecticut. Jane Neely is the chairman of the group which will probably attend the Red Cross, President Roosevelt Park and Davis, Aid. She and her group gave a number of suggestions to the committee on the technical organization of the drive itself.

Aside from this technical assistance, the Faculty plays in the most generous to our drive. Though they are asked to contribute to the New London Community Chest and the Red Cross drives, they still support the work of the College Community Fund. Last year, 10% of our total goal was contributed by the faculty.

For the faculty contributions will be made up of student contributions and pledges, while the faculty contributions and the cameral returns will also be included in the Community Chest.

The Community Drive, which opened at the college at 7 p.m. on November 13, was arrived at arbitrarily, and it is not a necessary part of the Community Chest, nor is such an amount necessary. This is our sincerest thanks.

The College Community Fund Drive is an annual Community Drive on campus, with the exception of the Sylvania Fund Drive, which is a Student Service Fund Drive, The Student Service Fund Drive, the Red Cross and the National Community Funds will be to assist in general money in the Community Chest.

Helen Johnson is the chairman of the drive, Nancy Bach, vice-chairman, and Corinne Fisher as secretary. Miss Johnson is the art publicity director, Miss Johnson is the art publicity director, and Miss Johnson is the general publicity. Mrs. Berenice Wheeler is acting as the adviser of the group and as faculty collector.

Moonlight Sing Open To All CS Students

The second moonlight sing of the year will be held on the campus on Thursday, November 15, at 9:30 at the Wall. Under the direction of Miss standing at 6:00. At this time Judy and Olivia will explain the planned itinerary in greater detail, and answer questions concerning the tour.

Zino Francescatti

Connecticut College's 1951 Con- cert Series opens on Thursday, November 9, at 8:30 p.m., when Zino Francescatti will pre- pare a vocal recital in Palmer Auditorium. His program includes the following works: the Chau- nonce of Venus-Ludovici, and the Kreutzer Sonatas (Opus 47) of Beethoven.

In addition, Mr. Francescatti will play a group of compositions by Fritz Kreisler, five in number, which were written and composed for his pupil, Mr. Kreisler played these compositions, and he has been thoroughly satisfied with the fact that he had written them, thus perpetuating perhaps the greatest musical back in history. The re- cital will conclude with the "Barcarolle" by Chabrier, "Dukhutin, La Psa aux Cheveux de Lin," written a beauty in a tour. The meeting will include France, England, Italy, Scotland, and Salzburg, Aus-in countries. While they will probably attend the Red Cross, Roosevelt Park and Davis, Aid, the group gave a number of suggestions to the committee on the technical organization of the drive itself.

Aside from this technical assistance, the Faculty plays in the most generously to our drive. Though they are asked to contribute to the New London Community Chest and the Red Cross drives, they still support the work of the College Community Fund. Last year, 10% of our total goal was contributed by the faculty.

For the faculty contributions will be made up of student contributions and pledges, while the faculty contributions and the cameral returns will also be included in the Community Chest.

The Community Drive, which opened at the college at 7 p.m. on November 13, was arrived at arbitrarily, and it is not a necessary part of the Community Chest, nor is such an amount necessary. This is our sincerest thanks.
The College Community Fund, kitherto known as Community Chest, has opened its annual drive. In previous issues of NEWS, the organizations which benefit from the funds collected through the Community Chest Fund, have been listed and explained. Each one is in dire need of money to carry on its important work. We urge you to give the only opportunity to our college, in one lump sum, to these various and vital services. As someone with a turn for puns has put it, it's like "putting all your eggs in one basket," and we feel that you look at it, the College Community Fund does mean an opportunity—an opportunity for you to give and for others to live.

Free Speech
A Forum of Opinion
On and Off the Campus
The practice of free speech does not necessarily restrict itself to the pages of the Connecticut College News or any other public forum. The very process of defending your ideas is a democratic act. The only way to fight a belief, is to defeat it. The idea of freedom of thought is a noble one. Although I have not been included in the number of people who have spoken for the cause of free speech, I wish to support the idea that all people should have the right to express their opinions openly and without fear of repercussions. It is true that there are risks involved in exercising this freedom; however, the rewards are significant.

Blanket Warnings
Dear Editor:
The blanket warnings that have been issued may have been an overreaction to certain incidents. It is important to strike a balance between protecting students and respecting their rights. These warnings are not effective in deterring illegal activities, and they can actually be seen as a form of punishment. The true way to prevent such behavior is through education and enforcing existing laws.

No Current Events
To the Editor:
Every Monday morning the faculty of the college receives a resume of the current events. I can remember my freshman year when this program was introduced. In the last two years, however, attendance has fallen off sharply. In fact, it seems that there are rarely even fifty people present.

The preparation for this program takes place for the two or three days following the week's current events. Any suggestions from either faculty or students on this matter would be appreciated.

Summer Work Reported at 70%
Summer employment statistics announced today by the Personnel Bureau show that a great number of students either worked, traveled, or studied during the summer. A total of 638 students answered the questionnaire. Work or study took care of 70% of this group, while 15% were involved in travel and work. Obviously something should be done about this. If a current event occurs, it is no longer desirable, then it seems to me that the faculty should be relieved of the burden of preparing one. If it is simply a matter of lore, maybe more publicity would help. Perhaps it would be a good idea if the lectures were formed into a Bill 100. Then at least the speaker is not left to cope with an empty room. Any suggestions from either faculty or students on this matter would be appreciated.

A Student

Can't Be Apathetic
There is an old saying that "there is no such thing as a free lunch." I believe this saying is applicable to all aspects of life. In the same manner, there is no such thing as apathy. Apathy is a passive response to a situation that requires action. It is also a lack of concern for one's own well-being and the well-being of others. Apathy is a disease that can spread, and it is dangerous for all members of society.

Outing Club Offers Men, Food, Cider
Every CU student is a member of the Connecticut College Outing Club and therefore is eligible to sign up for any outing or supper. Keep an eye on the COOC bulletin board near the north door of Putnam for notices.

The Outing Club point system is as follows: 25 points for each COOC supper and 5 points for serving on the faculty committee for an outing or supper. The COOC real is awarded to those who have accumulated a total of six points. Eight points make an AA club, and the point totals are carried over from year to year. If you wish to know how many points you have, see the secretary, Margaret Ohl, in Grace Smith.

The purpose is to bring greater cooperation between the students and the library in order that the various needs of all may be taken care of. Members of the Commit-tee for improving the library for men, aged Dr. Blackburn, Jus Shepard, Bunny Bradshaw, Helen Brogan, Barbara Goldman, Cathy Kirsch, Helley Mills, and Barbara Nowick.

An open evening will be held in the staff room of the library on November 9 at seven o'clock. House librarians and other students who are interested are invited to come. Please sign up on your class bulletin board if you wish to work with the committee for improving the library for everyone. And to anyone who has a complaint—see your house librarian or one of the committee members! Give us your ideas!
College Papers Reveal Other Schools Have Exciting Times

We think that the life at CC is a pretty busy and exciting exist existence, but a glance through the weekly bundles of college papers from all over the country clearly shows that other campuses are keeping themselves occupied in a variety of entertaining ways.

Beaver College freshmen have just lived through their tradition tradition month of hazing, which included the Freshman Fun Week. Some fun, huh? Actually, the whole thing is done in a spirit of friendliness. By the end of the first month the freshmen and upperclassmen have gotten to know each other much better and in a most informal manner.

You girls who enjoy a week-end at Wesleyan now and then might do well to keep a weather eye out for one Bob Hardy '54, who, it seems, is quite an expert hypnotherapist.

A slightly more serious study is that of fourteen students at Hob- stra College who gave up their lunch hours to take a course in yet another subject.

"I'm not Marriage and Life, not the mechanics of better housekeeping, not the Ancient Greek. Don't laugh at the students love it, nor is it a play. It is a pause at the feeding a bunch of peanut butter sandwich which they run through their afternoon classes.

There's a lot of excitement up at Storrs these days with the State Department making a two reel film on the University of Connecticut. The film will be shown to the High School students for the 'Historical Causes for the Failure of the Paris Peace Settlement.'

The speaker began with the Peace Treaty of Vienna in the early nineteenth century and catalogued the major international facts up to 1812. The achievements of this treaty were preserved but it had little equilibrium restored and for 40 years no major war occurred. He then pointed to the Industrial Revolution developed and the nationalism movement began.

Simple Purpose Lacking

Professor Holborn stressed the fact that the United States, 1812 were aimed at defeating Napoleon in Europe, whereas, World War I did not have a simple purpose. This war was started in 1914 and was a continuous war until 1917. If the Allies would not have been in intervention, Europe would have probably been saved and probably because of the economic situation was not restored, and the war proved that the old European political system was not up to the present necessities.

Woodrow Wilson's 14 points for the restoration of peace were the solutions of ideals and power. He believed that they represented the common man, but actually, Prime Ministers Lloyd George and Orlando represented the people better than Wilson. With the whole world, the war was not restored, and the war proved that the old European political system was not up to the peace settlements.

HELEN JOHNSON

by Nancy Morton

With the opening of a new Community Fund drive on campus, Atlantic has once again been focused on this great and fine work. Needless to say, such drive does not arise from mere charity itself—it requires rigid direction and careful planning before it can even become a working organization. This year, the College Community Fund is headed by Helen Johnson, a vivacious old little blonde from Longmeadow, Massachusetts.

Although the responsibility involved is great, Helen has more than once proved her capabilities as a leader. In her four years at CC, she has served in many such official capacities, beginning with her freshman year when she was that's not surprising for such a busy girl.

Helen's keen enthusiasm for activity stems, no doubt, from her deep interest in people. Although majoring in art, she has learned through her college experience that her main interest lies in personal work, where she can best use her field of study and come in contact with all types of people. With an eye on her future, she has held various kinds of summer jobs, including one as a general office girl two years ago, where she carried the financial responsibility. Hockey

The stands were packed. The weather was. There was a clank of sticks. The game was over. The Juniors won. There is still space to fill—we must resort to details.
The game was characterized not by the smooth playing of the Juniors, nor by the vaunted defense of the Sophs but rather by FA· TIGUE. Dell Stone was on the verge of collapse from lack of wind and was accompanied in this condition by Jane Murchison.

The Irish Pirates scored first with Sia Braimard beating Noel
Green at 4:30, of the first half.
Nina Davis retaliated with the Sophs only goal a few minutes later. The Juniors scored their second goal after an excellent pass from Laura Wholewright, the right wing.

Then the pause that refreshed interested. Pick Tulloic's excellent play at fullback prevented the Juniors from scoring more than one goal during the second half.
Noel Green must also be commented for clearing the ball away at crucial moments. The biggest surprise of the day was the fine job turned in by Ruth Mancoso, the Junior right half. The Juniors didn't know what a star they had.
Thus, competitive hockey opened with a bang

Senior Receiving Line: Chaucerian Pilgrimage Highlight Senior Day

Once again the almighty Senior, so dignified in her cap and gown, was paid all the regard by each and every underclassman. There was a striking contrast in attire—blue jeans protruding 'neath caps and gowns while all underclassmen were their most sophisticated selves. And even the non-smoking members of the senior class wore chain smokers for the day, for did anyone ever refuse a free cigarette? Oh the bliss of the happy chain smokers for the day. for did anyone ever refuse a free cigarette?

For dinner, seniors interchanged menus, and held homemade umbrellas. Then, as You Like Them was a wonderful senior day. Cooperating underclassmen who went to five to try all cases of underclassman offenses. All sophomores were stricken underdogs in their classes.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 5...THE GNU

The debating team couldn't make much use of this non-talkative baby...but one look at his "literary leanings" tells you that tests don't buffaloo him. "Specially those tricky cigarette tests! As a smoker, you probably know, too, that one puff or one sniff— or a mere one-inhale comparison can't prove very much about a cigarette! Why not make the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test. You judge Camel mildness and flavor in your own "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) ...for 30 days. Rings are the fad on campus. Summer romance has turned out to be wonderful for Joan Patur, who has just become engaged to Howard Gross, a senior at Hartford Law School. Joan, a sophomore, will be leaving us soon to make plans for the wedding which is scheduled for January 28.

Another sophomore, Cynthia Lastik, in the School of Business, has announced her engagement. Her fiance is Richard Kinsler, a graduate of the University of Vermont. She has known him since high school. Richard is working in Springfield, where they plan to live after their wedding January 14.

Beverly Benenson '51 is engaged to Allan Gasner, who is a graduate of Dartmouth. Bev says that Allan is a plumber, but we interpret that to mean a plumbing engineer. He comes from Woodwinds the clock at the chapel.

Those little men you see scampering around on scaffolds are "pointing the stones." For the benefit of the layman, that means they're doing a cement job so that the stones won't fall out—or something.
