Music Club to Hold Talk on Musical Therapy

Music Club will present a talk on musical therapy by Joseph Cooper, class of 1950, on Tues.

day, November 13, at 8:00 p.m. in Auditorium 207.

Mrs. Dill, well remembered by upperclassmen as "Jody," was an active participant in academic and extracurricular pursuits while at college. In 1946, she joined the faculty at Northfield School for girls while still at college.

For almost 30 years Mr. Johnson has been a faculty member of the Music Department at Connecticut College. He has been one of the few American-born and American-trained conductors of collegiate music programs. He has been successful in directing orchestras of several music camps and festivals. In 1949 he received a Bachelor of Music degree from the University of North Carolina. Mr. Johnson studied for several years abroad.

On November 13, the Nursery School Betsy McLane '52, voiced the tense atmosphere of her home, Her interest in music therapy was aroused early in her college years when she studied to apply the principles of music therapy to the patients at Northfield School for girls while still at college.

The second talk will be of particular interest to upperclassmen as "Joey," was an upperclassman and faculty member at Connecticut College. He has been a faculty member of the Music Department at Connecticut College. He has been successful in directing orchestras of several music camps and festivals. In 1949 he received a Bachelor of Music degree from the University of North Carolina. Mr. Johnson studied for several years abroad.

Treaty With Germany
SHEILA BURNELL

Last week, almost ten years after hostilities began, President Truman formally declared the war on Germany to be at an end. Shortly after the President's declaration, the United Nations Commission on the German Question announced that the so-called "peace contract," which retroactively imposed full Germanization on the western part of Germany, was a matter of specification for international law. "The peace contract" is designed to end the occupation of the western German sovereignty and pave the way for a new German foreign policy toward Western defense.

Conditional Freedom

This is a step for which the German people have long waited. It may not be a very long step, but it does constitute a certain amount of political sovereignty and ends the military occupation by the three powers—the United States, Great Britain, and France. Troops will remain but more as a western defense measure and not as a penalty of defeat. These three powers retain the right to proclaim a state of emergency whenever the determination of the German government be'a member ex-officio of the Allied Commission of Control and, therefore, the German government is responsible to the three powers.

The German people are rather dubious of their status. They have been told that they can now receive the benefits of the peace without qualification, but the process of integration has been a long and drawn-out one. It is a difficult question to answer, what can the defeated Nazi Germany be expected to do? It is a question that must be answered before the world can gain a true sense of Germany's future.
Current Details On Other Colleges Presented by NEWS

In order to increase students awareness of opportunities to attend other colleges, NEWS presents the following items on jobs, opinions on the basic system, and other current happenings at the schools. Here you will find a list of some of the items that are directed to the college student. A few of the more hopeful opportunities are having difficulty finding enough resources for their educational efforts. New students are always encouraged to join in these opportunities that are open to them. Also, there are a few jobs available for students who are interested in the area of educational opportunities. The following applications are some of the possible areas of interest for students who are interested in pursuing a career in teaching:

Curtain Will Go Up Tonight For Production of Everyman

Tonight, Wednesday, November 14, at 8, the play "Everyman" will be given. The play, staged by the Play Production Group, is the only play in which both members of the class and outside students are involved. Everyman is a morality play of the Middle Ages' method of presenting a play, the style of presentation is that of the Stained Glass movement, and the setting and atmosphere made this an unusual play that should be both enjoyable and educational.
The closing date for filing for the examinations may be obtained from the Personnel Bureau.

The purpose of the Junior Program is to recruit college seniors who have the ability and interest to enter careers in the fields of bacteriology, economics, social sciences, and government. Mr. Wheeler laid out plans for the extension of our campus and supervised the actual building of new dormitories and the laying of the lawns. In Mr. Wheeler's department, too, is the painting of trees and the laying of the lawns. Mr. Wheeler and his men are responsible also for the maintenance of the grounds and the care of the lawns, snow-plows, trees, and sidewalk plows in case of storms. Their big responsibility is to maintain the shoveling and grading of the new infirmary, which is scheduled for completion within a month.

Now residing in Waterford, Mr. Wheeler and his family live in the old wooden house, and he continues to garden. Mr. Wheeler came to the United States in 1883 with his family and the age of five. FREE SPEECH

Opinions Are Personal. But...

Personal opinions are quite common and when based on facts indisputable, are not necessarily misinterpreted or misrepresented. These are the facts that I consider: Midge Briggs and Sue Crowe were beaten by suddenly coming to life and lacking in experience and thus the Frosh men look promising and can be trifled with.

In the small world the seniors best the freshmen 20-5. Janet W., who was the high scorer, making six goals. The freshmen were missing in the last two periods and thus were hindered in their offensive work.

Next Saturday is another big day for hockey. OC is playing host to Pom-and-Wheat at the all college play. If you are around come out and cheer—our team wants local backing. The same thing goes for interclass games whenever more than playing with class backing, and all the team sports make excellent watching.

STU-FAC FORUM

GROUP SINGING

The general consensus on campus seems to be that it should be a time when a girl may follow up her college career with some aptitude. Miss Dilley stated that it is up to the individual to decide whether or not to continue her period, and that it is necessary to use that time for reading which is the basis. She said that since the Freshmen is one week shorter than the work not covered in the course must be done during reading period.

Mr. Striker, however, expressed the opposite view that the time should be used for reading in the subject material in which the student is interested but which correlates with the semester's work. He suggested that there be several choices of reading, from which the student may choose the one which most interests her.

Nothing was resolved by this discussion, but it did provide an opportunity for the students and faculty to present their opinions. It is easy for us to make snap judgments when we don't know what the students and faculty are talking about. Now we will understand more clearly the theory and problems from comprehensives and testing period.

SINGING

Barbi~ Guerin, the Social Chairwoman, Cynie Linton, the Class Secretary, and Judy Bond, the Class President, introduced the remaining entertainers, then the group singing ended the party, which was not assigned during the first semester's work. Mr. Churchill has had more opportunity for the students and faculty to present their opinions. It is easy for us to make snap judgments when we don't know what the students and faculty are talking about. Now we will understand more clearly the theory and problems from comprehensives and testing period.

Weather Fails to Hurt Party Plans

Although the weather did dampen the bonfire plans for the Senior Night and also for the Frosh Night party, the weather did not prevent the students from enjoying the festivities.

The entertainment of the evening had as its feature attraction the Baker's Dozen from Yale, who sang quite harmoniously but far too short a time as far as the audience was concerned. However, Joan Malinsky proved to be the hit of the evening with her impersonation of a woman trying to save a seat at an outdoor concert. Group singing ended the party, and it had begun, and many thanks go to Midge Hunt and Lynne Dillen, the Class President and her friend, for their time and effort in making the party, in spite of the unfortunate weather, a success as it was.

To meet your budget, we are going to "rejoice and be very merry" and therefore may bring Astorians and Angus-Western world relations to a new height, which also can also be enjoyed by Mr. Churchill. All proves to have the moral leadership to bring England from the economic crisis which the war and necessary cold weather has left her. Mr. Churchill may be able to revive these "paralytic people" which the author considered "sapped by a paternalistic form of government" (in 'The World Crisis'.

It is not necessary to consider a number one professor as perfect but simply as good as the best the student has listened to. Similarly, the number five teacher is not unfit for teaching, but compares with the poorest the student has had. The rating tests are voluntary with the instructors.

After the students have checked the test, their responses are recorded electrically and results are given to the instructors. No report is made to his superiors or to the University administration, and no one else sees the test.

The electric scoring machine also tabulates the tests and, from these the teacher can compare his ratings with the averages of all those who were rated.

This faculty rating procedure is used as one means of improving the quality of university teaching. It places the responsibility for improvement on the individual instructor, on the basis of his students' opinions of him. A primary benefit of the plan is to help those who have no ideas of how they are getting along with their classes. Other teachers will probably use the test every few years to chart their progress.

President W. R. White announced here that the program is planned to "present factors which will contribute to the balanced life of the college young woman. Attention will be given to areas of health, manners, ethics, group and family relationships, and personality development. Offering is Experimental."

The course's offering will be experimental for the three quarters of the regular 1951-52 school year. Dr. White said. He explained that it is being sponsored financially for that period by the Ford Foundation of this city. It is being taught by Mrs. Lois Smith Douglas, assisted by specialized lecturers and professional people in the discussion fields covered.

Motion pictures, panel discussions, round tables, and a human relations court will be part of the presentation, Mrs. Douglas explained. The "court" will permit students to raise and discuss for 10 minutes each day some current problem in their own personal relations.

The way we live together means more to our happiness and usefulness than does our modern standard of living, Mrs. Douglas asserted in explaining the purpose of the course. "Yet, progress in our personal development has fallen far below our progressive material development. By a frank sincere approach to the problems confronting the college girl, we hope to aid her in taking stock of herself and to direct her in making of herself a wholesome, happy, useful member of society."

Enrollment in the first class is limited to 70 junior and senior women students, she said. Sophomore women will be enrolled for the Winter quarter, and freshmen for the Spring quarter. The class meets daily Monday through Friday.
