MISS DUNKER SPEaks ON CHILD WELFARE

On the evening of Friday, November 19th, in Branford living-room, Miss Delphine Dunker of the Child Welfare Commission of Connecticut, addressed all the students of the Sociology Department. She sketched the work of the Commission thus far, spoke of some of the outstanding problems in this state and outlined methods of relief. Miss Dunker is the first of several speakers who will lecture to the Sociology students during the course of this winter on subjects pertaining to their interest.

TAKING THIS TO HEART!

Did you ever happen to think that the college does not generally realize the service the Book Store stands ready to furnish in other ways than more candy, theme paper, and required textbooks—necessary though they all be in their own ways? The books these theme papers, and most other supplies sell for less than the usual retail price, at a discount usually of from five to 10 per cent of that price. In this way the Book Store aims to be co-operative without all the red tape that, for instance, a co-operative association would require.

Special orders for books of all kinds, fiction included, will be filled as rapidly as possible, and fall information about the book you want, including title, author and publisher, will help to avoid a delay at the start. This is purely a business proposition. The Book Store makes the expenses which such special orders impose and you get the book you've been wanting so long, for less than the net price. And in closing, let me add: Have you seen the new college stationary at the Book Store? And the fountain pens that make wonderful Christmas presents?

H. C. H. '21

POTTERY EXHIBIT

A pottery exhibit will be held in the dormitory room, New London Hall, next week Monday and Tuesday, November 29th and 30th, from 3:45 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Potters represented in the exhibit are from: Marble Head, Paul Reeves Bowl Shop, Gruvy Tile and Faience Co, North Bennett Street Industrial School, Boston, Mass. Caesar Price and Beatrice Urban, Mass. Also a small group of pieces made in the pottery department of Connecticut College.

Procedures from pieces sold will be used for the College Endowment Fund. (Continued on page 5, column 1.)

MRS. FORBES-ROBERTSON HALE SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale is a lecturer of well-known ability and charm. After a career of several years on the stage, she took up lecturing and devoted her attention largely to poetry, drama and the woman's movement. She has talked on woman suffrage in over thirty states and in May was lectured for the Progressive Party. In addition to this profession, Mrs. Hale has written several books among them: "What Women Want," "The Little Brother and 'Little Sister," and "Last Tuesday." Mrs. Hale spoke at Connecticut College on "What will be required of a woman after she leaves college?"

In all ask to be good wives and good mothers. Modern life with all

OVER THE TOP!

Speaking of trenchs, why go to France for local color when you can get the real thing on Campus? The only details lacking to make the proper effect are a tin derby, and a liberal sprinkling of shell holes, a few ambulances ambling about, poke bonnets and doughnuts. Add to these a few good looking "lutz," barbed wire entanglements, pitch blackness and a swirling gale of rain, and we'll have a "No Man's Land" that would make the Chateau Thiryry, in the good old days, look like a hole in a ten cent piece. Needless to say that three times a day at least, the trenches are most popular, being thronged with newly-enlisted recruits, please notice the above-mentioned usual term "raw"—only a bit of green but hungry. And every day these strange trenches lengthen, and the trenchs of March increase. We are burrowing to the very doors of the enemy's dugouts, Thames Hall. Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country with such reminders as "Carry On," —"They Shall Not Pass,"—"And Let Us For-get." Yes,—just we forget to pick up our feet and avoid breaking our necks coming to dinner some dark night.

R.H.K.

SOPHOMORE HOP ISSUE

EVErybody HELP MAKE IT A SUCCESS

Contributions Wanted
Jokes, Jingles, Poems, Articles
Originality! Pep!

DON'T READ.

DANGER!

After our first experience in fire drills, one can only think of the rules, if ever read, have been entirely forgotten. Our house drills have been anything but successful; the New London Hall drill was worse. It seems that when one goes to the college stage, it is high time that the seriousness of drills should be realized. Why must one always "lock the stable after the horse is stolen?" Brief summary and speed are the two great essentials in a good fire drill. Know your floor aides, the curtains in New London Hall, and go through it as quickly and as safely as possible.

In the Campus houses, where the side exits are used, the girls are to come around to the front entrance and wait for the roll call before re-entering the dormitory. In New London Hall the first floor students go out through the front and back entrance; but the students on the second and third floors are to use only the fire stairs—and not the wooden stairs. There are entrances to the fire towers on the second floor, through the English office and the cloaker room, and on the third floor, through the German room and the Dietician's office. Please note this and use them.

General Regulations
1. The names of afiries going out overnight or those coming in should be marked down.
2. After the signal for return to the building has been given, each girl is to return to her own dormitory in her room or floor in order.
3. In case of illness of any student who could not go out for a reason without danger, the matter must be made known to the fire captain who will inform such a student if a fire drill is to be held.
4. obey your fire captain and your side.
5. Know the location and use of the fire apparatus in your dormitory.

DUTIES OF THE STUDENT
1. Turn on light.
2. Shut windows.
3. Leave door open.
4. Put on heavy cloak and shoes; go immediately down staircase, and out of corresponding exit.

Duties of Aides
1. Be responsible for all the girls and servants in the rooms in your floor.
2. Third floor aides report to second floor aides that all are in order.
3. Third floor aides report to second floor to first floor aides, who, in turn, report to everyone.

R. F., College Fire Marshal.

SENIORS AT TEA

Thursday afternoon from three to five the Seniors served tea, cake and crackers in Branford House lounge.

The sale amounted to five dollars. Each week a tea is held in the living room of some Campus house. Come early and avoid the rush for the lascivious chocolate cake layer.
CONQUETICUT COLLEGE NEWS

E.AT.3B.O L.116.

WHEN your copy is still engaged as Advertising Copy with in the Publicity Department for The Travelers' Insurance Co., Hartford.

Don Hall towards Chapel, resemblesance. Just we always consult our own tuition for others? Justly suited to reading aloud in class, need our mirth to overstep all reasonable niceties. We have become so callous that we have openly rude and noisy, and most of us admit our discourtesies. Instead, we are ticisms.

Sselves that we, as the latest generation, will not get the reputation of being push-overs, "sickers" unless you have some infallible rem-edy for the evils which you condemn. We have no remedy, but we have con-structive criticism, and I submit a few suggestions for your consideration.

Thank Heaven for that clause! Thank Heaven on the truth of it, even "enthusiasts." Enthusiasts are people who freely accept-embrace-embrace every new idea or plan, but never bring up tenacity to develop it. Some-times they are raving because we have no reason to oppose them. I suppose, then, that perhaps at all, there is this-thing-there-thing: The "facts" through because -I -promised spirit.

People whom we are char-babe in every new idea or plan, but never do it. Now, let's be wise. How do we get so many ideas, and be right to use them? To do their utmost. Perhaps they do. Perhaps they say so. Let's have a few things that we girls here at Conn. What are your plans, and there fol-lows to this: "...I -promised spirit."

READERS. Who do you think that there are girls here who take things up with a keen interest, and an I-see-thts-thtng-s-thtng-through -because -I -promised spirit.

Now you are probably asking, "Why the raving?" And we'll tell you. We raving because we do not think that some of this class of persons right is to use them? To do their utmost. Perhaps they say so. Let's have a few things that we girls here at Conn. What are your plans, and there fol-ows to this: "...I -promised spirit."

There is no sort of persons more despicable, more worthy of whole-souled loathing than these "Funks." Sometimes they get by with the label of "gurus" on them, and sometimes they don't. More often than not, for true genius despises them as much as do the rest of the world.

Now you are probably asking, "Why the raving?" And we'll tell you. We raving because we do not think that some of this class of persons right is to use them? To do their utmost. Perhaps they say so. Let's have a few things that we girls here at Conn. What are your plans, and there fol-ows to this: "...I -promised spirit."

You wish to abide by our present plan. I wish you to abide by our present plan. I wish you not to give the idea entirely and having the ring seal, and with class numerals. We desire to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college by which every graduate of C. C. may have a ring of dignity. The ring is all right and a vast improvement on the repressed behavior of girls of our generation.

We desire to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college by which every graduate of C. C. may have a ring of dignity. The ring is all right and a vast improvement on the repressed behavior of girls of our generation. The plot, if it can stand a few kind words now and then, without having to stretch our editorial hatband one bit.

This youth of this generation receive much severe criticism from their elders, for the most part seemingly, forethought and consideration for others. They are not even the least ashamed. If an instructor shows a fondness for airing pet jokes, the occasion need not necessarily be the basis for our mirth to overstrep all reasonable bounds. And, of course, a book, whose subject matter is not especially suited to reading aloud in class, need not be a signal for general disturbance. Must we always consult our own wishes to the exclusion of consideration for others? Not only the class room is this lack of consideration felt. The student body proceeding from New London Hall, the domina is more a yelling, laughing mob, than a group of girls bent on participating in the devotional exercises of the morning. Even the Vespers service is frequently disturbed by the irreverent giggles or sidelong whispers of some inconsiderate persons.

Perhaps we do not transgress as unmercifully as others do in the matter of "Conversation," but we do like the mention of "Library," we all start giggling. Consideration for others is not enough to enter our minds. We do not care to enter into the conversation. We do not wish to share the education of our classmates with "tall story-telling." We are not /y students of Connecticut College for seven years. We wish to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college.

The famous seal of Connecticut College. The seal is made of gold, set with a diamond, and engraved with the college name and the class name. The seal is worn on a ribbon, with class numerals.

The ring is all right and a vast improvement on the repressed behavior of girls of our generation. The plot, if it can stand a few kind words now and then, without having to stretch our editorial hatband one bit.

This youth of this generation receive much severe criticism from their elders, for the most part seemingly, forethought and consideration for others. They are not even the least ashamed. If an instructor shows a fondness for airing pet jokes, the occasion need not necessarily be the basis for our mirth to overstrep all reasonable bounds. And, of course, a book, whose subject matter is not especially suited to reading aloud in class, need not be a signal for general disturbance. Must we always consult our own wishes to the exclusion of consideration for others? Not only the class room is this lack of consideration felt. The student body proceeding from New London Hall, the domina is more a yelling, laughing mob, than a group of girls bent on participating in the devotional exercises of the morning. Even the Vesper service is frequently disturbed by the irreverent giggles or sidelong whispers of some inconsiderate persons.

Perhaps we do not transgress as unmercifully as others do in the matter of "Conversation," but we do like the mention of "Library," we all start giggling. Consideration for others is not enough to enter our minds. We do not care to enter into the conversation. We do not wish to share the education of our classmates with "tall story-telling." We are not /y students of Connecticut College for seven years. We wish to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college.

Perhaps we do not transgress as unmercifully as others do in the matter of "Conversation," but we do like the mention of "Library," we all start giggling. Consideration for others is not enough to enter our minds. We do not care to enter into the conversation. We do not wish to share the education of our classmates with "tall story-telling." We are not /y students of Connecticut College for seven years. We wish to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college.

Perhaps we do not transgress as unmercifully as others do in the matter of "Conversation," but we do like the mention of "Library," we all start giggling. Consideration for others is not enough to enter our minds. We do not care to enter into the conversation. We do not wish to share the education of our classmates with "tall story-telling." We are not /y students of Connecticut College for seven years. We wish to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college.

Perhaps we do not transgress as unmercifully as others do in the matter of "Conversation," but we do like the mention of "Library," we all start giggling. Consideration for others is not enough to enter our minds. We do not care to enter into the conversation. We do not wish to share the education of our classmates with "tall story-telling." We are not /y students of Connecticut College for seven years. We wish to discuss in an animated fashion the fashionable doings of the college.
FACULTY TENNIS. The Woman's Faculty Tennis tournament has been completed, with Miss Patten, of the Physical Education Department, as champion. The entrants in the tournament were: Dean Nye, Miss Erst, Miss White, Miss Dickerson, Miss Allen, Miss Robinson, Miss Patterson, Miss Fairies, Miss Southworth, Miss Black, Miss Rector, Miss Speck, Miss Borman, Miss Walters, Dr. Todd, and Miss Lovell. The winners of the first round were: Miss Erst, Miss White, Miss Robinson, Miss Pat ton, Miss Black, Miss Rector, Miss Walters, and Dr. Todd. Miss White won from Miss Erst and Miss Walters from Dr. Todd, by default, in the second round. Miss Patterson won from Miss Robinson, with a score of 6-6, 6-0. Miss Rector won from Miss Black, with a score of 6-0, 6-1.

In the third round Miss Patterson beat Miss White, with a score of 6-6, 6-1. Miss Rector won the sets with Miss Walters, with 6-1, 6-2 score.

Miss Patterson and Miss Rector played off the final game, with scores of 4-6, 4-6, and 4-2 in Miss Patterson's favor.

AT HOME AND ABROAD. "Swiss hospitality shelters both King Constantine and the League of Nations, but it perhaps finds the League the 'easiest troublesome guest.'"—Springfield Republican.

DEFEAT OF WRANGLER. The tide turned against Baron Wrangel when Trotsky's troops secured a decisive victory. This victory means that Wrangel will be forced to retire again into the Crimea. "The American Government has been approached by one of the powers, presumably France, to see if the United States would come to the aid of Wrangel by participating in a blockade of the Black Sea. Our Government has not yet consulted but the State Department still expresses confidence in Wrangel's victory and the speedy collapse of the Soviet power. "Ireland seems bent on being one of the United Kingdom's exiles."—Norse-Virginian Pilot.

FORCE FOR THE FIRST TIME. The League of Nations is to have a military force to ensure carrying out its decisions for a force has been sent to Lithuania to maintain order and to supervise the peace signals which the Latvian Government has decided shall be held in Varna. The sending of troops is authorized under Article XI which says that "the only logical explanation of the price of coal is that the earth has begun to charge storage."—Baltimore Sun.

SENIORS ARE HOCKEY CHAMPIONS. The last hockey game of the season was played on Saturday afternoon, November 20th, between the Seniors and Freshmen, ending with a score of 2-0 in favor of the Seniors. The Freshmen put up a hard fight, and probably would have scored, if it had not been for the splendid work of Lydia Marvin, the sophomore goalie. Miss Marvin, undoubtedly the most efficient goalie in college, will be missed especially good and their quick pass from center to left, inside to left wing proved most effective. Both points scored by Dorothy Wolf, in the last quarter of play.

The line-up was as follows: Senior: Miss Marvin, undoubtedly the most efficient goalie in college, will be missed most effective and their quick pass from center to left, inside to left wing proved most effective. Both points scored by Dorothy Wolf, in the last quarter of play.

FACULTY TENNIS. The Woman's Faculty Tennis tournament has been completed, with Miss Patterson, of the Physical Education Department, as champion. The entrants in the tournament were: Dean Nye, Miss Erst, Miss White, Miss Dickerson, Miss Allen, Miss Robinson, Miss Patterson, Miss Fairies, Miss Southworth, Miss Black, Miss Rector, Miss Speck, Miss Borman, Miss Walters, Dr. Todd, and Miss Lovell. The winners of the first round were: Miss Erst, Miss White, Miss Robinson, Miss Patterson, Miss Black, Miss Rector, Miss Walters, and Dr. Todd. Miss White won from Miss Erst and Miss Walters from Dr. Todd, by default, in the second round. Miss Patterson won from Miss Robinson, with a score of 6-6, 6-0. Miss Rector won from Miss Black, with a score of 6-0, 6-1.

In the third round Miss Patterson beat Miss White, with a score of 6-6, 6-1. Miss Rector won the sets with Miss Walters, with 6-1, 6-2 score.

Miss Patterson and Miss Rector played off the final game, with scores of 4-6, 4-6, and 4-2 in Miss Patterson's favor.

AT HOME AND ABROAD. "Swiss hospitality shelters both King Constantine and the League of Nations, but it perhaps finds the League the 'easiest troublesome guest.'"—Springfield Republican.

DEFEAT OF WRANGLER. The tide turned against Baron Wrangel when Trotsky's troops secured a decisive victory. This victory means that Wrangel will be forced to retire again into the Crimea. "The American Government has been approached by one of the powers, presumably France, to see if the United States would come to the aid of Wrangel by participating in a blockade of the Black Sea. Our Government has not yet consulted but the State Department still expresses confidence in Wrangel's victory and the speedy collapse of the Soviet power. "Ireland seems bent on being one of the United Kingdom's exiles."—Norse-Virginian Pilot.

FORCE FOR THE FIRST TIME. The League of Nations is to have a military force to ensure carrying out its decisions for a force has been sent to Lithuania to maintain order and to supervise the peace signals which the Latvian Government has decided shall be held in Varna. The sending of troops is authorized under Article XI which says that "the only logical explanation of the price of coal is that the earth has begun to charge storage."—Baltimore Sun.

SENIORS ARE HOCKEY CHAMPIONS. The last hockey game of the season was played on Saturday afternoon, November 20th, between the Seniors and Freshmen, ending with a score of 2-0 in favor of the Seniors. The Freshmen put up a hard fight, and probably would have scored, if it had not been for the splendid work of Lydia Marvin, the sophomore goalie. Miss Marvin, undoubtedly the most efficient goalie in college, will be missed especially good and their quick pass from center to left, inside to left wing proved most effective. Both points scored by Dorothy Wolf, in the last quarter of play.

The line-up was as follows: Senior: Miss Marvin, undoubtedly the most efficient goalie in college, will be missed especially good and their quick pass from center to left, inside to left wing proved most effective. Both points scored by Dorothy Wolf, in the last quarter of play.
SOCIETY NOTES.

Quite a delegation of students attended the Yale-Harvard game at New Haven, Saturday. Among these were Anita Greenbaum, Betty Moyle, Claire Calhoun, Elizabeth Brazon, Frances Schwartz, Florence Duvivier, Gertrude Fairlie and Helen Remington. Nina Purvis, Elizabeth Irving, Clara Cooper, Ethel Ayres.

Abby Gallup, Hattie Goldman and Blanche Finnerwell attended the News Conference at Goucher College, Baltimore, last week.

President H. T. Marshall and Professor Frank Morris went to the Yale-Harvard game on Saturday.

Last Tuesday night, a very unhappy accident befell one of our number, Romola Martin was walking home on the State road in company of one or two other Freshmen, was struck by a passing truck, which, although it was a Dodge, failed to live up to its name and dodge Romola. As for her, she cannot remember anything except that in the course of time, she was revived and picked up, all intact as far as could be ascertained at the time. The owner of the fateful machine was so solicitous, — how could he be otherwise? And he insisted that an X-ray be taken of her head to be sure that she was all there. All of which came to pass the next day, revealing every convoluted in its rightful corner of her brain and no damage done. So Romola is resting comfortably in the infirmary, suffering only a few minor bruises and a slightly swollen and pondeous head, and making fun, like a true sport, of an affair that might easily have been much more serious.

Miss Caroline Francke spent a very pleasant week-end at her home in New York.

Alice Partill honored South Glastonbury with her presence over Sunday.

And still our menagerie increases! Blackstone has added to it in the last week a young bat and an owl!

Lydia Jane Lord Marvin '21, soloist at the First Baptist Church in New London, assisted Mr. Bush, the church organist, at a recital given in Groton on November 14th.

Verna Kelsey ex-'23 was in New London last week-end.

Helen Gage '20, famous dramatic star, visited Grace Fisher last week.

Olive and Rose Doherty paid a visit to their sister Kathleen '24 on New York.

Julia Hawley entertained two guests from New York, over the last week-end.

Among the week-end visitors was Jean Mundie's sister, who spent some time at Connecticut.

On Saturday at four o'clock Miss McKee entertained her Freshmen advisors at tea at her suite in Blackstone House.

Rachel Smith entertained her family Saturday night in Bradford.

"All," Herrick, last year's Senior, Class president, was on Campus during the last week-end and received a most royal welcome from all who saw her.

Anne Butler's Spanish Club president, was here last week-end visiting Miss Ernst.

Helen Clarke '22 "inflicted" herself on Simmons. Owing to her objection to our choice of a verb, she will not tell us when or whom she "inflicted."

SENIOR-JUNIOR HOCKEY.

The Senior-Junior hockey game played November 18th, was won by the team of '21. The work of Dorothy Pryce, of the Senior team, was the outstanding feature of the game. Dorothy Wulf, Ruth Wilson and Rachel Smith played well on the Senior forward line. Ruth Levine and Catherine McCarthy nobly upheld Junior prestige.

The line-up was as follows:

Senior: J. F. Fagen, C. McCarthy

Junior: L. Batchelder, C. McCarthy

R. Wilson: W. House, R. Levens

D. Wulf: W. House, C. McCarthy

R. Haasle, D. Littlebales, G. Fieber, H. Smith: B. Hall, C. McCarthy

C. Hall: R. Wulf, R. Wulf

A. Braze: B. Hall, B. Hall

C. Hall: G. Powell, M. Dameral

L. Dickinson: R. Wulf, R. Wulf

A. Fishery: J. Sperry

L. Marvin: H. Stickle, A. Peck

Score: Seniors 4, Juniors 2.

Referees: Miss Sheavesly; umpire, Miss Lawson.

THE QUALITY DRUG HOUSE OF EASTERN CONNECTICUT

The Nichols & Harris Co.

Established 1859

119 STATE STREET

NEW LONDON, CONN.

TELEPHONE 193

LYON & EWALD

Hardware

88 STATE STREET

NEW LONDON, CONN.