Upperclass Dorms Announce Results of Recent Elections

Ann McCoy '58

Ann Grayson McCoy '58, known as Ann G., is house president of Windham and halls from Stambaugh, Connecticut. She was graduated from the windshield school in Westtown, Pennsylvania.

Ann has many artistic inclinations. Most prominent among them is design - a field in which she has distinguished herself. At prep school she was Tennis Captain, and is now a member of the Connecticut College Tennis team. At Westtown she was Manager of the hockey team, and is on the hockey club here. Ann G. was Secretary of the Skiing Club. She is a skier and an avid knitter.

Her real interest, however, is math, in which she is majoring. She is Vice President of the Math Club. After graduation she hopes to live and work in Boston for a while.

Ann G. has spent the last four years, and most of her senior year, improving and increasing her record.

Peggy Morris '58

Peggy Morris '58, house president of Mary Harkness, was graduated from Chatham Hall in Chatham, Virginia. Miss Haggerty cultivated an eccentricity: along with her intelligence she has an innate and unexplained devotion toward hippopotami. It has grown directed to its fullest limit. Along with many of her pictures of those adorable creatures, Peggy has one picture of her dog, Cookie Spaniel.

She is majoring in zoology and plans to go into Medical Art. The baby of her family (both her stage manager and married), Peggy is by far the most active Judy. Ann G. is now in Riding, Hockey, and Skiing Clubs here at Connecticut. At Chatham, Peggy was head of the Developmental Department of the Service League and wrote occasionally for the school paper. Peggy is a good writer, and is in an avid knitter.

Among the honors awarded Ann G. and Peggy Morris this year, the Award of the Future Teachers of America, the Treasure of her church's youth fellowship, Sophomore Class Treasurer (no, and a Merit Scholar this year.

Wild Life Series

Lecture Features "Birds of Prey"

Initiating the Nature Screen Term for the coming academic and festive year, Ritten Menz will speak on the Birds of Prey of the Northern United States on Sunday, November 10, at 3 p.m. in Palmer Auditorium.

Various media, including koda chrome slides and movies, will be used to demonstrate each hawk's role in the balance of nature. As many people know, some hawks are predators. A movie featuring the hawk Duck using its natural prey will be shown.

In addition to the talking head, these films will also be the hawk's role in the balance of nature. As many people know, some hawks are predators. A movie featuring the hawk Duck using its natural prey will be shown.

In addition to the talking head, these films will also be used to demonstrate the role of hawks as scavengers and as predators, the way they hunt, and their habits and habitats. The birds will also be able to be heard to help illustrate the relationship to the wild life in question.

Dr. Meng is Associate Professor of Zoology at Connecticut College.

Other programs in the nature series will be held in the coming year. They include: "The Birds of Prey," "The Amphibians," "The Invertebrates," and "The Invertebrates." The talk will show high spots of field trips during the term as well as a full schedule of activities which will be presented in the series which will be presented at the beginning of the coming term.

Is it a dull text? Dying for some fancy, something unusual? Want the history really? Well then, The Story of Mankind is just your scene. The account of Mankind is a boring history of the terrible and the ridiculous, this is the way it is. Even the colors, as to rival the heavens; Heidy Lamy, western by Paul, Marie Wilson, Peter Lorre, and Vincent Price, one after another (already the title story). Is the pretext of a trial conducted by the high tribunal of the Court of History. Price as Nations, and Roland Coleman as the Split, of Man argue their points as they see them to be, as they see them to be (that is, as the history that they navigate their way through as they see it). The greatest privileges claimed are that she is to be able to tell the earth among any hierarchies and any other arguments.

A lowly discovery of Fire, through his use of the Atom Bomb there is one intriguing figure after another, for instance: Cazpe (Hedy Lamy) spurred on to the world by Mark Anthony. Isaac S6797.49 $6400

Sociology at Connecticut College:

In the audience, you will be surprised.

So what is the story? It is a story of communal living. To be without a house and without a home is the condition of Rosella, the elephant by Sue Ryder, who has been alarmed that he ran up a tree, and to learn that she's been found. In this story is it possible to set up the pattern necessary for successful communal living. This assures that we have a true honor system here is what we think of Stuplik, of the Supreme Court, of the laws of gravity, of our parents perhaps, or faith.

The greatest privilege given to us is to be able to tell the earth among any hierarchies and any other arguments.

Any of you who might have read the wonderful new book of Elia Kazan's, “A Colour Loose in the Catacombs”, and wished, like many of us, to consider that she's been found. God. Symbolically speaking, when Marie Antoinette (Anny scohn) triumphantly proclaims “let them eat cake,” and, of course, the people don’t eat it any more. But there is more to it than that. Mr. Myron Gilmore Discusses Scholar's Role in the World

On Wednesday evening, November 8, Mr. Myron P. Gilmore addressed a large audience in Palmer Auditorium. His lecture was extremely interesting and very well received.

Dr. Gilmore began his talk with an explanation of the title which he had selected. The antithesis suggested in the phrase, the Scholar and the World, points out the choice which a scholar must make between the active and the contemplative roles in life.

Erasmus, in his own life, carried on the debate, and biographers of this famous scholar have further discussed it. Erasmus left a monastery to become a scholar in the world, and throughout his life he concerned himself with the duty of a man of letters in the political world, and thus he upheld the liberal tradition.

In these three events, it is clear that Erasmus chose to rise above the world and follow a contemplative life rather than become involved in an active political role. He did not yield to the temptation to enter into the service of a patriarch nor to the attempt to ensure his support of a particular party policy. The one instance in which Erasmus played an active role was in the case of Luther's defense of Luther, and then he yielded more to the dictates of his conscience than to a desire for participation in political concerns.
