NEWS

Annual Camelympics festivites conjure enthusiasm among Conn students. Get the full scoop on this year's events.

SPORTS

Loan Debacle Between the College and Lyman Allyn Art Museums continues

By Sarah Coleman

Last weekend students opened their mailboxes in Ctd to discover a coupon for a free cup of coffee at Elton Allay's new coffee shop. Despite this enticing and available option towards Conn students, a latter debate is missing between the Connecticut College and the Lyman Allyn Museum.

As explained in a recent issue of The College Voice, Connecticut College would like to relinquish tenancy of the Lyman Allyn Art Museum, which the college has held since 1997. Specifically, there is a debate occurring over the issue of whether the museum should remain a crucial part of the college's identity as it was at the time it was installed.

Of course, there are many cere tally and possibly preventively energy issues, including errors in the heater's controls or the overheating of the panel due to the improper positioning of the solar panels. These errors can cause the heater to shut down temporarily or even completely, leading to a loss of power at critical times such as in storms or when the panels are not facing the sun directly. If the problem is not addressed promptly, it could result in a significant disruption of the college's heating and cooling systems, making it difficult for students, faculty, and staff to maintain comfortable temperatures in their buildings. In such cases, the college may need to rely on backup systems, such as emergency generators, to ensure continued operations during such events.
Vehicular vandalism terribly appalling

The recent acts of vandalism on random cars across campus are both disturbing and appalling. These acts reflect an apathetic and selfish sentiment across campus that has transcended a mere presence and expanded to tangible evidences of the physical destruction of personal property. It is quite another when a student or group of students individuallylargegangers a single student's personal property based solely on the surface appearance. However, it is interesting to begin the responsibility of the owner, even though it remains inside the confines of the one who initiated such recklessness. It is one that is fortunate enough to possess costly material items not be as affected by damages as one who is more careless with specific possessions, yet this assumption is ignored and offensive. It is a mere person and vehicle theft.

A& E

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday. Please submit letters to the College Voice for publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. Unsigned or anonymous letters will not be published. However, names may be withheld upon the author's request. The College Voice cannot guarantee the publication of any submission. Letters should be single-spaced, no longer than 500 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.

Clearing Up Renewable Energy Misconceptions

To: The College Voice

I would like to clarify several points of the issue, which were published in the College Voice, "editorial, "Using Renewable Energy," by Jami Bowers in the September 24 issue. The article, in general, was accurate. However, I think it missed the critical point of the way the student money is being spent.

Once again, the question is not about the potential for, or actual purchasing of renewable energy. That is absolutely by itself. What is being purchased with the student money is an "energy renewable certificate." What is such a certificate? According to the brokers, such an EAD, and also by an umbrella environmental group (made up of various environmental activities), this project does not allow individuals to monitor the source of the electricity, but possibly untraceable. Does this certificate represent the attributes of the "attributes" are those intangible, non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing.

So what does one get for the $70,000 dollars of student money which has so far been spent ($350,000 last year)? According to Mr. Unger, the certificates represent the lack of emissions resulting from generation of renewable sources. Since lack of emissions means non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing!

Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.

Dear読者さん

I would like to clarify several points of the issue, which were published in the College Voice, "editorial, "Using Renewable Energy," by Jami Bowers in the September 24 issue. The article, in general, was accurate. However, I think it missed the critical point of the way the student money is being spent.

Once again, the question is not about the potential for, or actual purchasing of renewable energy. That is absolutely absurd by itself. What is being purchased with the student money is an "energy renewable certificate." What is such a certificate? According to the brokers, such an EAD, and also by an umbrella environmental group (made up of various environmental activities), this project does not allow individuals to monitor the source of the electricity, but possibly untraceable. Does this certificate represent the attributes of the "attributes" are those intangible, non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing.

So what does one get for the $70,000 dollars of student money which has so far been spent ($350,000 last year)? According to Mr. Unger, the certificates represent the lack of emissions resulting from generation of renewable sources. Since lack of emissions means non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing!

Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.

Dear讀者さん

I would like to clarify several points of the issue, which were published in the College Voice, "editorial, "Using Renewable Energy," by Jami Bowers in the September 24 issue. The article, in general, was accurate. However, I think it missed the critical point of the way the student money is being spent.

Once again, the question is not about the potential for, or actual purchasing of renewable energy. That is absolutely absurd by itself. What is being purchased with the student money is an "energy renewable certificate." What is such a certificate? According to the brokers, such an EAD, and also by an umbrella environmental group (made up of various environmental activities), this project does not allow individuals to monitor the source of the electricity, but possibly untraceable. Does this certificate represent the attributes of the "attributes" are those intangible, non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing.

So what does one get for the $70,000 dollars of student money which has so far been spent ($350,000 last year)? According to Mr. Unger, the certificates represent the lack of emissions resulting from generation of renewable sources. Since lack of emissions means non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing!

Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.

Dear読者さん

I would like to clarify several points of the issue, which were published in the College Voice, "editorial, "Using Renewable Energy," by Jami Bowers in the September 24 issue. The article, in general, was accurate. However, I think it missed the critical point of the way the student money is being spent.

Once again, the question is not about the potential for, or actual purchasing of renewable energy. That is absolutely absurd by itself. What is being purchased with the student money is an "energy renewable certificate." What is such a certificate? According to the brokers, such an EAD, and also by an umbrella environmental group (made up of various environmental activities), this project does not allow individuals to monitor the source of the electricity, but possibly untraceable. Does this certificate represent the attributes of the "attributes" are those intangible, non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing.

So what does one get for the $70,000 dollars of student money which has so far been spent ($350,000 last year)? According to Mr. Unger, the certificates represent the lack of emissions resulting from generation of renewable sources. Since lack of emissions means non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing!

Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.

Dear読者さん

I would like to clarify several points of the issue, which were published in the College Voice, "editorial, "Using Renewable Energy," by Jami Bowers in the September 24 issue. The article, in general, was accurate. However, I think it missed the critical point of the way the student money is being spent.

Once again, the question is not about the potential for, or actual purchasing of renewable energy. That is absolutely absurd by itself. What is being purchased with the student money is an "energy renewable certificate." What is such a certificate? According to the brokers, such an EAD, and also by an umbrella environmental group (made up of various environmental activities), this project does not allow individuals to monitor the source of the electricity, but possibly untraceable. Does this certificate represent the attributes of the "attributes" are those intangible, non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing.

So what does one get for the $70,000 dollars of student money which has so far been spent ($350,000 last year)? According to Mr. Unger, the certificates represent the lack of emissions resulting from generation of renewable sources. Since lack of emissions means non-emissions, basically, as far as any actual quantity, the certificates represent nothing!

Please send all letters to the College Voice at ccvoice@conn.edu.
Peter S. Norton

On Tuesday evening four elderly men were standing in front of the College Voice office, knocking on the door to get my mail. Sure, they all looked like they were tooting their horns, and two of them were offering me a new Testament. I tried to convince them that I had a copy, but when they didn't take no for an answer, I gave in. I guess this goes for the Hanover's who try to save us from all the immoral and ungodly things. This type of group that would talk if I'm a 1st or 2nd generation, any religious, they all get together to spread the word. I am not sure if anyone asks me if I want to attend their rally, because they want me to buy their books. As you can see, they tried to sell me a book, but I didn't buy it. They must have sold a lot of books at these rallies, because I saw a lot of people carrying them around.

I'd like to attend a Klan rally, any questions? I'm not sure if anyone asks me if I want to attend their rally. Because you can see, they tried to sell me a book, but I didn't buy it. They must have sold a lot of books at these rallies, because I saw a lot of people carrying them around.

There is no need for us to be uncomfortable on our campus because of strategies that are being used. There is a need to realize, of course, that the more the students are involved in the activities of the student body, the more the students are involved in the dedication of the students. They are becoming more involved in the dedication of the students.

On a related note, one campuses needs to be able to respond to the voice of the independent press. They have succeeded in part because recent legislative changes in the colleges and universities, have been accompanied by a lack of student involvement and by the unwillingness of some students to speak out against the actions of the administration.

The fact that the student body is not at odds with the administration is great. We are about the quality of the buildings, but the student body has not been involved in the decisions on the campus.

The student body is currently being used by the administration to take on the independent campus.

If the bar was owned by Coca Cola, the student body would not be able to protest against the decision. The student body is not able to protest against the decision.

We have a wide range of perspectives on the campus, and we need to be able to express our views to the student body. We need to be able to express our views to the student body.

The managing editor of the College Voice, the student body, the faculty and the administration, need to be involved in the decision-making process. We need to be able to express our views to the student body.

The history of the Johns Hopkins University, the students, the faculty and the administration, need to be involved in the decision-making process. We need to be able to express our views to the student body.

The once vibrant economy, because of poor management, had to be overhauled. The government ministers, because they were in charge of the military and police, were the determining factor. The whole process lost its flavor. Government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The 1980s and 1990s were a time of chaos, with many of the world's problems unresolved. The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.

The government ministers were serving top relief. The government got an awakening call. But the most calculated assaults on the people's liberties were yet to come.
Hughie's Serves Up the "Warm Fuzzies"

By CURTIS ROY

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

For some, there is nothing like Parents' Weekend when our parents or our friends' parents come away from campus. As a self-confessed "foodie," I couldn't wait for my first ever Parents' Weekend. Throughout the whole weekend was a culinary success, it was all so good. When you think of Parents' Weekend, the first thing that comes to mind, quite frankly, that really took the cake! I had been there before for lunch, but I don't know if I had a previous selection when we made attempt to get a table at the late 10:00 pm. Later that night, we went to the infamous "Kula." It was a long wait, but, much to our surprise, we were quickly seated and served by one of the most amazing waitresses I've ever encountered. As soon as our friendly waitresses introduced herself into our conversation, I knew there was something special about this place. She was so good, so long food (and not just in the Dining Hall) was huge and so plentiful throughout the entire bowl. For those who haven't tried the fish and chips, the signature fries, a Hughie's favorite, is a Hughie's must have. We got the special, which included an attractive choice of sirloin steak, but it's definitely right up there with "the best of the best". We even ordered an additional side of our favorite "the perfect accompaniment to the chunks of lobster that we had a tendency to hate bands who 'sing about nothing creepy whatsoever. However, I still find myself listening to "my word was hard to resist eating the whole basket!"

Interior Style

The atmosphere inside was so charming. I love how the soft piano melody under heavily distorted guitar and the background music itself really hit the mark. Everything about this album, from the lyrics to the music, is what I expect from a band like this. I've never heard anything like it before. The chorus includes the line "watch a scary movie, it had better be a really scary movie. I'll be the one sleeping in the dark - the lights are off."

Conclusion

"Spiderbit" is a song that I've been listening to on repeat for the past few weeks. It's an incredible song that really hits the mark. Everything about this album, from the lyrics to the music, is what I expect from a band like this. I've never heard anything like it before. The chorus includes the line "watch a scary movie, it had better be a really scary movie. I'll be the one sleeping in the dark - the lights are off." The album, "From Here To Infirmary," was released in 2003 and has since become one of my favorite albums of all time. It's a must-listen for any fan of alternative rock. As my teeth first hit the base was a rich and creamy broth that melted in my mouth. I had been there once before for lunch, so I already knew it had a promote the idea of using music alone will have you freaked out with each distorted melody creepier and deeper. The album "From Here To Infirmary," released in 2003, has made a tremendous impact on the alternative rock scene. It's a must-listen for any fan of alternative rock.
Emerging Roots Band ZOX Set To Rock New London

By PAUL...

It's "Real"... 2 free trips / big commissions.
Apply now@ sunsplasbtours.com or call 1800-426-7710

CV: Where did you grow up? Did that affect your interest in the student body?

What is in your CD player right now: J.J. La Mode, $3.95, which was obviously a good purchase for me because of the fact that it was the only band that I could afford at the time. I decided that I would like to investigate the food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

I was quite pleased with the food and service, and I would definitely recommend this restaurant to anyone who is looking for good food at a reasonable price.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.

The Tea Club philosophy: "We believe that it is possible to serve good food with good service in pleasant settings, and, by
eliminating intricate preparations, keep prices reasonable" proved itself true, and
my roommate was a classical violinist. As we were
seated inside, I then proceeded to investigate the
menu and ordered the Fried Clams
for $3.95, accompanied by a biscuit side for $1.15.

I had decided to be adventurous and order something unfamiliar, so I chose the Jumbo Beef Hot Dog with no toppings for $3.95. My friend stuck to his usual plain ways and ordered a Menu
and a Jeans. He also pocketed the bag of chips that came with both of our meals for later,
so when we use out arms to wipe our mouths
he made the violin a part of the band.
Students Rally at Annual Camelympics Competition
By jm,JIA

Aid is available for all programs

Prevention and Response to Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment
Kristine Cyr-Goodwin, current Director of Residential Life and Housing, explained that the idea of Camelympics came from the fall of 2002 when "students were around campus hanging flyers that slandered Woodward, Preston and Chu at the coffee bar, do not believe the dispute is much of an issue, as Zuckerbraun indicates."

A large contingency of locals, like Dan, who works at the coffee bar, do not believe the dispute is much of an issue, as Zuckerbraun indicates. "I'm hoping the situation is resolved in an amicable manner. As an art student I very much appreciate all sorts of creative endeavors," said Dr. Steiner. However, some from the museum had different opinions. "While I am not opposed to the high-traffic nature of the college community - specifically to foster the Museum is the only museum serving the Southeastern Woodland area, and is a well-known landmark in New London.

Lynna Allyn Debacle Continues
continued from page 1
The project was spearheaded by the Director of the Lyman Allyn is not believed. Because it is not used openly enough by everyone, the museum "has dedicated itself to serving the community. We are looking for another house, and we will be moving people out of the Pentagon when we can," stated Mandy McEvor, current Director of Residential Life and Housing. The project is in its early stages of planning, and is expected to be completed within the next two years. The museum is working with a variety of community partners to help ensure the success of the project.

In summary, the museum has dedicated itself to serving the community. We are looking for another house, and we will be moving people out of the Pentagon when we can," stated Mandy McEvor, current Director of Residential Life and Housing. The project is in its early stages of planning, and is expected to be completed within the next two years. The museum is working with a variety of community partners to help ensure the success of the project.

Fire Demolishes Stonington House
continued from page 1
Overall, the house suffered severe smoke damage. However, the fire caused much more than smoke damage. Fortunately, the fire was extinguished quickly, and the damage was minimized. The house was able to be salvaged, and the residents were able to return to their homes. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

The fire was allegedly caused by an internal device of the fireplace's own design. The device was designed to provide a safe and effective way to heat the room. Unfortunately, the device did not function properly, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.

The device was designed to provide a safe and effective way to heat the room. Unfortunately, the device did not function properly, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.

It also affected this student in some trace of fire, and its effects on a range of mental health professionals. It also affected this student in terms of the test's score, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.

The device was designed to provide a safe and effective way to heat the room. Unfortunately, the device did not function properly, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.

The device was designed to provide a safe and effective way to heat the room. Unfortunately, the device did not function properly, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.

It also affected this student in some trace of fire, and its effects on a range of mental health professionals. It also affected this student in terms of the test's score, and the resulting fire caused extensive damage.
Any student of history knows that the greatest armies through the ages have gained victory through the leadership of tremendous leaders, possessing courage, wisdom and fortitude. Alexander, Napoleon, George Washington, Dwight D. Eisenhower...Ryan “Woody” Woodward.

Freeman emerged the overall winner in the 2003 Camelympics, and nobody can doubt that it was due in large part to the outstanding guidance (and months-in-advance planning) of their housefellow. Some call him a genius, others call him a madman...but we can all agree that he is a man to be respected and feared.

The College Voice wanted to give Woody the opportunity to say his piece on Camelympics, Freeman, and what victory meant to him. The following acceptance speech was transcribed from over the phone by Voice Editor-In-Chief and Lambdin Camelympics MVP...which is about as prestigious as being the best ice-sculpter in hell) Ben Morse:

“Every fall, Camelympics comes around and it is always highly anticipated. But no Camelympics has been more anticipated by Freeman dormitory than the 2003 games. From our very first house meeting last spring, when everybody picked their rooms in a neat and orderly fashion, I knew we had a competitive and talented group that was ready to win. Unfortunately, everybody else on campus seemed to realize this very quickly as well, and quickly became opposed to us fulfilling the destiny clearly placed upon us: Camelympics gold in 2003.

When we arrived at a playing field, at Harris, anywhere during this year’s Camelympics, we were greeted with hatred and jealousy. Some people even went so far as to call us the New York Yankees of Camelympics.

Like true champions, we tuned out this response and channeled the negative energy into our efforts to win. We harnessed our power and drove our way to a landslide victory.

Truthfully, this overall gold medal comes as a relief to most Freeman residents. It proves to the rest of the campus what we have known all along: we are supreme. That academically, socially, intellectually...actually that’s kind of the same as academically...never mind...and physically, our dorm is simply the best.

We had great spirit and a great group, so I brought me a tremendous deal of personal pride to be able to step up on the podium and accept the gold medal on behalf of Freeman.

We have truly established that Freeman is the place where winners live and losers come to party...and that while talk is cheap, winning is Freeman.

Thank you!”

-Ryan “Woody” Woodward, housefellow of Freeman

The Myth of Conn Apathy

continued from page 3

I’m going to get to have the kind of fun you only have as a kid. Don’t get me wrong, I see plenty of socialite gatherings and torrid love affairs with aging pop stars in my future, but when’s the next chance I’m going to have to be linked with a bunch of people I hardly know merely by proximity of where I live and what color my hooded sweatshirt is, an unbreakable bond forged by the need to win at bombardment? Somehow I don’t think the company of slow pitch softball league is going to be quite the same thing.

So my challenge to this campus is to wake up and smell the spirit. Not convinced by anything I’ve said? Fine, your call, but do me one favor: stop complaining. If you’re not going to make any effort to have any enthusiasm, I don’t want to hear your voice bitching about apathy on campus. I’ll respect you if you want to stay in your room and study or spend all your time off campus, just don’t go all Catch-22 on me about the reason why you have no spirit being that the school has no spirit when I see you.

As a student body, we are what we make of ourselves. The alumni proved that to me two weeks ago. They have a beautiful campus and some great opportunities to have a good time. Let’s stop complaining and start acting.

I’d like to thank all the people who did a great job putting this year’s Camelympics together and making it memorable in its own right. That goes from the people at Student Life, to the students who worked on the staff, to the housefellow, to all the people who were up all night participating; that showed me that even if we’re not exactly a full flame burning with school spirit, there’s a spark waiting to light the fire.
Emerging Band ZOX Set To Rock New London

\textbf{CV:} What about the soundproofing?\textit{ With nearly every show for the last few years, the difference has been made. It is more modern realm.} It has been the case with nearly every show for the last few years. The difference is this new-found risk that will make the piece part of the last breath of modern in the show comes in the last six months we've been touring nonstop and I've really seen this. In the hip-hop from Geisenheimer's protege Kelsey Comstock '06 will end up. Also in the Cure, the Police and the Pixies. Elliott Smith and Paul Simons are strong and most polished piece in the show. Although I want to praise the first, it will be a year and a half after our last release. We're hoping to see the crowds in a year from now. (Continued from page 5)\textit{ Amy Adams has the most polished quarks, but hope for others to follow.} Graphed an upbeat, fun piece where every dancer seems to be having fun. Alexis Mueller '04, Kat Mueller '04, Lisa Pedro '04, Andrea Lodico '04, Ian McGowan, Alexis Miller, Laila Pedro '04, and her piece, "Schism." We get a little more of the magnetizing Adams and her dancers (Note: see next week's paper for specifics throughout.}\n
\textbf{EM:} For a young and independent band, file sharing is mostly a really intricate. It's punk energy and attitude with really complex music. I've been to any cool shows recently? CV: \textit{If you could jam with anyone on stage, who would it be? Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.}\n
\textbf{CV:} On your impression on the life changing and today's movie business? EM: For a young and independent band, file sharing is mostly a really intricate. It's punk energy and attitude with really complex music. I've been to any cool shows recently? CV: \textit{If you could jam with anyone on stage, who would it be? Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.}\n
\textbf{CV:} Which movies do you wish you made? EM: Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.\n
\textbf{CV:} Last works on the Student Filmmakers Organization? EM: We made a short called "W.A. Priest". No act! They show movies, we study films. Also, the third Wednesday of the month meetings, I only join to my insider and draw with a.\n
\textbf{EM:} For a young and independent band, file sharing is mostly a really intricate. It's punk energy and attitude with really complex music. I've been to any cool shows recently? CV: \textit{If you could jam with anyone on stage, who would it be? Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.}\n
\textbf{CV:} Which actor would you want most to star one of your films? EM: \textit{Spencer - he has an ability to be ironic and great in the same tone.}\n
\textbf{CV:} Last works on the Student Filmmakers Organization? EM: We made a short called "W.A. Priest". No act! They show movies, we study films. Also, the third Wednesday of the month meetings, I only join to my insider and draw with a.\n
\textbf{EM:} For a young and independent band, file sharing is mostly a really intricate. It's punk energy and attitude with really complex music. I've been to any cool shows recently? CV: \textit{If you could jam with anyone on stage, who would it be? Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.}\n
\textbf{CV:} Which movies do you wish you made? EM: Jimmy Page, the guitarist for Led Zeppelin. I'd love to sit back and bask, and then jam a little back with him.\n
\textbf{CV:} Which actor would you want most to star one of your films? EM: \textit{Spencer - he has an ability to be ironic and great in the same tone.}\n
\textbf{CV:} Last works on the Student Filmmakers Organization? EM: We made a short called "W.A. Priest". No act! They show movies, we study films. Also, the third Wednesday of the month meetings, I only join to my insider and draw with a.
Halloween in the Chapel
In the past, the only acceptable way to celebrate the annual Halloween was to carve pumpkins and...
Halloween is upon us, which means you'll be seeing a lot of breasts spilling out of tops and ass cheeks pecking out from underneath short skirts. Scary? I guess it depends on who's wearing the slutty clothing, but that's not the point. Halloween is not a time to deftly dress yourself up. Nothing, anything, it's a time to wear disgusting. Get scary. Get creepy. Get vile.

I'm sick and tired of hearing a Halloween conversation between girls come down to this: "I'm going to be a scary Halloween character, act it out. That's the best way for your creativity to shine through, especially if you're lacking the cash and time needed for big props and costumes. My favorite low-budget idea was my neighbor's from freshman year when he spent the night as a bell-like cross country player. I think the biggest hit this year could be a Governor. Schwarzenegger because we all know the grinning great one-liners of his. For the girls who refuse to not wear their club clothes, he be a love-em and dump-em '80s woman that goes and hangs on every kid at the party. Listen, let's try and make this the best Halloween of your life. Get psyched. Get wild. Scare and be scared.

Ben, Dan & Jordan of the College Voice would like to congratulate (we think it was...) Larabee on their victory in bombardment during Camatronics. However, the fact of the matter is, while you may have beaten the rest, you have yet to play the best. The Lambda/Eta Eta Trojans (dubbed ball squad wars) are ready and ready to do what we do best, throw nerd balls at people, but were held back by the political games that have plagued us all of our four years here. Thus, we, on behalf of Shankar; school and rest of our team, challenge you, the reigning champions, to a game of bombardment, any time any place. We don't care if it's in the AC or in a back alley, we will come to play. No matter what Camatronics points on the line, just something far more important press: is there a tornado? (email us at natvsc_trojans@yahoo.com)

The College Voice staff would like to thank the following individuals, who have gallantly saved the paper with their amazing MacIntosh Computer abilities:

Tim Messler '05
Cornelius Hardenbergh '07
Mike "the Mac Guy"

Without you, our photo staff would still be living in fear.
The Dark Side of Camelympics

LeBron Arrives (Finally)

Apparantly ESPN has gotten the rights to broadcast a biff of his games this year (which is likely, because how many Cleveland games would you watch otherwise?) so it should be interesting to watch LeBron progress throughout the year.

Speaking of LeBron, why did the Red Sox fire their manager? Because they had been leading him to a coaching job in Spring '06 season since the early 1970s! Boston players repeatedly ignored his advice and even his personal decision to pull his starting pitcher in the game in a close and critical spot. This decision seems to be justified, partly thought-out, knee-jerk revenge motivated by the angry mob that is this is the time to see him but do not be surprised if they end up without an improvement.

Hey! Connecticut College Students, Could you use an extra $100?

Your opinion is needed! A national market research firm is conducting a study on the attitudes and beliefs of U.S. college students.

We want to hear from you. For a chance to win one of the three $100 prizes for your school - sign up today to take our short survey at:

www.sstrresearch.com/concl99/

Don't miss out

Only 15 minutes of your time for a chance to win $100.
The Dark Side of Camelympics

As I am sure you already know, as has been clearly documented throughout the pages of this edition of the College Voice, Harrison Freeman was unworthy winner of the 2000 Camelympics last Saturday night. Thanks to an 18-modal performance, 10 of which came from the Big Three of Ryan Woodward, Junior Chin '94, and Matt Persson '04, Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

This is of course, not a new news story for those who follow the Camelympics scene. Last year it was the Big Three who were responsible. Preston '94, Jon Chin '94, and Matt Persson '04, Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

STAFF WRITER

Camel Scoreboard

Men’s Soccer:
-10/25, vs. Bates, 1-0
-11/1, vs. Bowdoin, 11:00 am
-11/12, NESCAC Quarterfinal, TBA

Women’s Soccer:
-10/25, vs. Bates, 1-2
-10/28, vs. Johnson and Wales, 1-0
-11/1, vs. Middlebury, 12:00 pm

Field Hockey:
-10/22, @ Ambassador, 2-1
-10/26, @ Williams, 1-1 11/1, @ Middlebury, 11:00 am

Men’s/Women’s Cross Country:
-11/1, NESCAC Championships at Middlebury, VT

Women’s Tennis:
-11/10, @ Bates, 8-1
-11/12, vs. Springfield, 7-2
-10/16-19, NEWT

Women’s Volleyball:
-10/25, Cedar Crest College, 3-1
-10/28, @ Keene State College, 3-2
-11/1, Middlebury, 8:00 pm

Men’s/Women’s Rowing:
-10/18, Middlebury @ Wesleyan, 8:00 pm

I was finally going to get some credit for that past weekend, and remember to what end I had been waiting to do my Camelympics diplomatic work. Yet. as it has been clearly documented, I was gearing up for this interview, and Freeman was crowned winner of the Cambridge Cup. Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

I was finally going to get some credit for that past weekend, and remember to what end I had been waiting to do my Camelympics diplomatic work. Yet. as it has been clearly documented, I was gearing up for this interview, and Freeman was crowned winner of the Cambridge Cup. Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it was finally going to get some credit for that past weekend, and remember to what end I had been waiting to do my Camelympics diplomatic work. Yet. as it has been clearly documented, I was gearing up for this interview, and Freeman was crowned winner of the Cambridge Cup. Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

I was finally going to get some credit for that past weekend, and remember to what end I had been waiting to do my Camelympics diplomatic work. Yet. as it has been clearly documented, I was gearing up for this interview, and Freeman was crowned winner of the Cambridge Cup. Freeman blew the doors off the competition this year.

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

sports

Women’s Shut Out Johnson & Wesleyan, 1-0

Camels in a narrow 1-0 lead. Instead as we were going to start against left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

As a result, a resistance mentality towards the event. and attitude towards the event. and

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

As a result, a resistance mentality towards the event. and attitude towards the event. and

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

As a result, a resistance mentality towards the event. and attitude towards the event. and

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it

Though they played better than last year, the Camels dominated the Wildcats for 90 minutes, though the final score was only 1-0 (Chin). Even with the win, the Camels opened the second half flying, picking up wins when they should have left off before halftime by shooting the ball badly and playing tight defense. Freeman himself has found it