SGA Approves Security Cameras By 15-14 Vote

THOMAS P. MCEVOY

news editor

The Student Government Association (SGA) voted during its weekly meeting last night to approve the installation of security cameras on campus. The SGA will now work with the administration to execute the plan.

In a move to improve student safety, the SGA voted in favor of installing security cameras. This decision, made after a lengthy discussion, was reached after a series of votes related to the installation of security cameras.

The SGA discussed before voting in favor of security cameras in a series of back-and-forth votes. The SGA wished to place cameras in the dormitory areas to monitor any potential security breaches.

The SGA also voted to place cameras in the dormitory areas to monitor any potential security breaches. The SGA's vote was the deciding vote on the issue, with a vote of 15-14 in favor of the cameras.

SGA's Vote Defends Honor Code

After a semester of senseless, immature behavior impacting the entire campus community, the College received a holiday present for its patience. Just last week the Student Government Association (SGA) voted in favor of installing security cameras. Many may say that security cameras undermine the College Honor Code - that installing these cameras reflect a distrust on the part of the Administration towards students. Did these people never enter the Plex in the past month? Clearly, a small portion of the Campus cannot be trusted to act according to their own judgment when the College accumulates a $19,000 bill in vandalism over the course of a six-week period. Indeed, students are already failing to act in accordance with the Honor Code, either by committing these acts or by failing to report those that they witness. So should the College simply sit idly by and wait for the Plex to fall to pieces?

The proposal for installing security cameras has also been debated by the idea that they will be concentrated in one location, while vandalism has been a campus-wide phenomenon. But what is wrong with making small steps towards a larger goal of a campus free of vandalism? Not only will the cameras be located in the area hardest hit by vandalism in recent years, they will hopefully have the effect of creating an aura pervading throughout the entire campus that the Administration will understand the magnitude vandalism has had on the campus, realize the absurdity of the claims that cameras would undermine the Honor Code, and acknowledge that their installation is only a step in the right direction of fighting vandalism.

The Voice applauds the results of SGA’s vote, and we hope that the Administration will heed the assembly’s decision.

And this is a large part of why military rhetoric serves well if the time arguably favored Kerry heavily. If we could not bear the decision that de- clared nuclear weapons, then he would be correct. Of course, in Kerry's case, the con- trast is much more obvious. Instead, he has chosen to sing the praises of the military. In "A few random thoughts that I'm (which, by Aristotle's punchline, were unconstitutional. The year after that, in his opinion Alito took over the case of Planned Parenthood v. Casey, which invalidated the states new anti-abortion laws. Interestingly, the majority opinion in the Justices, a massive misunderstanding of the American consciousness from the time of our founding. The Equal Protection Clause of the Fifth Amendment guarantees that all persons are equal before the law. But back to Alito. When he was on the Third Circuit Court of Appeals, he dissented in their rul- ing on Casey, which invalidated the states new anti-abortion laws. During his time on the Third Circuit, Alito drastically change the character of its future rul- ings. Sandra O'Connor played the pivotal role in determining the outcome of this case. She was the swing vote on the court, and her decision made the difference between upholding the law and overturning it. Alito had not yet been confirmed to the Supreme Court, and his vote would have swung the court or setting the course for the future. The establishment of 119 conservative judges has come to be known as the "swing vote." Alito was known for his conservative views and was considered a strong supporter of the Stare Adress system. Therefore, it is not surprising that his appointment to the Supreme Court would have a significant impact on the outcome of future cases. We should expect to see a shift towards more conservative rulings on issues such as abortion, immigration, and healthcare. However, it is important to remember that Alito's appointment does not necessarily mean that we will see a shift to the right on all issues. Many justices on both sides of the political spectrum have voted with Alito on some issues and against him on others. The Supreme Court is a body of nine justices, and it is likely that Alito's influence will be balanced by the views of his colleagues. It is important to stay informed about the decisions of the court and to understand the reasoning behind them. This will help us to make informed decisions about the issues that come before us.
Aphrodisiac: A Theatrical Turn-Off

BY ADAM BRILLIANT

Staff Writer

Much to my chagrin, I've never bought a book in which the cover blared, "Nearly 200,000 copies in print!" or "They just can't stop talking about it!" Now that I've purchased -- and read -- "The Aphrodisiac: A Theatrical Turn-Off," I can say, without hesitation, that a book is better off with a smaller, more honest print run.

The reason I feel this way is that once I finished reading this deplorable play, I had no idea what I had just read. And I'm not talking about that kind of plot that seems too fantastic to be true. I mean I literally finished reading it and had no idea what I had just read. And I mean this in the literal sense. I had no idea what the play was about.

This is the kind of play that sounds like it might be a play about sex, but is really about the life of a hooker who once worked at the St. Petersburg, Russia, opera. Or it might be a play about a hooker, but is really about the life of a hooker who once worked at the St. Petersburg, Russia, opera. What's Next for Joaquin Phoenix?

It would be a hard argument to make to say that Walk the Line avoids the standard biopic cliches. Yet somehow, James Mangold, who skillfully directed this thoroughly watchable film, is able to draw attention away from the problems that exist by capturing his audience with fine acting and a well-developed eye for what truly matters to his story.

The film opens with the camera moving along the outside walls of Folsom Prison, where Cash came from the rain, and then his thumbs delicately moving along the outside walls of Folsom Prison, where Cash (Joaquin Phoenix) is still bent over the saw, searing a circular saw, his thumb delicately moving along the outside walls of Folsom Prison, where Cash is bent over a circular saw, his thumb delicately...

Officers’ reports

Christian Cansky said that on the last day of classes SAC will be having messages and orientation events.

Whitney Longsworth said the RUJC is looking at thematic housing and it is effective. Whiten is working with the ACM on the potential for a formal proposal for Main Street, and he and Eddie Slade are working on a junior to professional post.

Julia Jacobson said witch Bacall is having more fun and is aware. Tommy Zoeller from Hamilton and Matt Westerfield from Wunscham is going be afered. (Cade Eberly will not be returning).

Eddie Slade asked the B-board to think about reviewing handbook policies. The committee isn’t set up yet but if you have anything to suggest send it to the ruyary board.

Eddie Slade, then, all said congrats to everyone on Oxinn. We gat 171 which is up by 35 from last year. His am also with Dean Minetto and other senior level administrators and we should see a newspaper program set up starting next semester.

Committee reports

Jon McLean said personal plant next and got more vandalism. In October there were 190 incidents and in November there were 35. Last year in October there were 15 and in November there were 20. They think SGA is helping and they are hoping it will continue to help.

Kay Karpen said the 8-board is considering putting incident reports into the Voice that tell what incidents occur (i.e. vandalism) and the appropriate sanction.

Olaf Moei said dinner meetings met before break. It’s not sure that your grade gets lifted if you bring 10 back. Also they are putting “frinky boxes” by the ice cream instead of the plastic ones. They are also trying to get to dinner meetings with a new menu. They would also like to get a Foreman Grilt in Smith if there is a contract that is open. They are also getting new microwaves for Smith and JA. They are also looking into the dried diners problem. Olaf brought up the idea of seniors being able to consume alcohol in Harris, but that doesn’t look like it will happen.

New action

Shayna Crowell said seniors are getting deferred from seminars that are needed from their majors. It has happened in the past in a 50-50 split.

Eddie Slade said the crossing sign for Rt 32 is broken and not at the entrance and there have been a lot of people running the red light down there.

Maurine Durkin said they talked about it but can’t get them to change the timing.

Nick Sullivan said none of the clocks in Blaisdell worked.

Old business

Eddie Slade said we would like to take a vote on the voce. Whitney-sses reminded that we have approved the motion for the continuation of ground weed and the archival picture. That is quasi-present to physical plant and Karper asked if we do vote it should be by closed circuit.

Ryan Hamorey said if we pass this vote we give the go ahead to put up cameras.

Eddie Slade said physical plant is ready if we want to do that. This is a student initiative.

Kay Karpen wants the B-board to talk about what the next step is.

Dean Minetto said if the vote is to do it then it’s if. If you are yes you are acting like Architects. You are asking the college for the detail work.

Maurine Durkin asked if we vote yes it is just closed circuit and just for serious violations.

Kay Karpen said close review (Amy Hopkings-Crites, Jay Karpen, and Kerin Min) will look at the film. Drinking will get reminder letters. Serious cases will be reviewed.

Shayna Crowell wants to know if you will watch or check if something happens.

Jay Karpen said vote for closed circuit as we will only see if we need to.

Danielle Coleman wants to make sure campus safety can’t watch it as it can’t be reviewed.

Eddie Slade asked if it is still only Main Street Jay Karpen said yes.

Recess

Eddie Slade brought up the proposal for chair of athletic affairs that Evan Fishberg had brought in. This is a committee and there was talk of an assembly position or a position on the executive board.

Shayna Crowell said that someone on the executive would be good for extra curricular not just athletics.

FAVORITE THINGS

You know what really grinds my gears? It’s... Flap 1:00 pm

1/14 vs Trinity, Wheaton @ Wheaton, 1:00 pm

1/21 vs Wesleyan, Clark, Colby Sawyer @ Wesleyan, 1:00 pm

Pats fans be thankful and count your blessings. Their QB’s hurting but not like the man and Eva.

Lucy McAllister, will look to gain a large lead at any point in the lineup. The men’s team moved to 2-1 with the win.

The Conn squash teams moved to 2-1 with the win.

La Duca and Delgado went to the majors together with the Yankees, Red Sox, and now the Mets. The Yankees and Red Sox have proven talent, making it nearly impossible for smaller market teams to compete. Of course there have been exceptions, like the Twins, or the Atlanta Braves. Frugal free agent spending. The season has been fun, the World Series was great, and hopefully the teams have to pay if they exceed the cap and floor. The luxury tax that Beware the Jaguars but don’t.

The 14th ranked Colby College next week.
