On February 4 at 2:26 in the morning, the sprinkler went off in the room of 119 Sunderland Hall, sending water shooting down the hall and leaving a small pool of water on the hallway floor. The action was part of the University's annual sprinkler test, which is intended to check the functionality of the sprinkler system. However, the fire alarm system was triggered as well, because the two systems are connected.

According to Jim Miner, Director of Campus Safety, normally when a sprinkler goes off, a little water is spread around in the residence hall. Shortly after, the fire alarm system was triggered as well and all residents were evacuated from the building.

"When any fire alarm is triggered on campus, Campus Safety is immediately notified," Miner said. "If Campus Safety contacts the NFPA (National Fire Protection Association), it is to ensure that the sprinkler system is functioning properly. If the sprinkler system is functioning properly, the water alarm is frequently set off in the residence hall. The sprinkler system is designed to be a precautionary measure, not a true emergency." Miner added that standard procedure for flooding is to primarily insure that no students or faculty are in immediate danger. Additionally, a Fire Protection System mechanic was called to fix the sprinkler system.

The water accumulated to a couple inches throughout the first floor, predominantly for students and also faculty, while maintenance crews worked on houses. The group plans to arrive in Austin, Texas, constructing in Austin, Texas, constructing a vacant Habitat for Humanity home and working on residential housing projects. The group also plans to work on homes in Austin, Texas, building a home alongside contractors.

The Unity website states "the Unity House mission is to encourage students, building and strengthening inter/intercultural communities, primarily for students and also faculty, in a safe, student, and cultivating positive student leadership." For more information about Unity House, check out their website at http://www.conncellasis.com/unity/index.html, or stop by and see the new and improved space for yourself.

Professor Dunlap Named “Woman of the Year” by Connecticut African-American Affairs Commission

BY MARIA CORSA

Associate Professor of Women’s, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Professor Dunlap’s extensive work in the field of African-American studies has been recognized by a major statewide organization. On February 4, 2005, the Connecticut African-American Affairs Commission named Professor Dunlap “Woman of the Year.” The award is one that appears annually in recognition of the advancement of the general welfare of the African-American community in the state of Connecticut.

Professor Dunlap has been an integral part of the Connecticut College faculty since 1994. Courses that she teaches include The Social World of Children and Families and Racism and Prejudice in Multicultural Society.

Professor Dunlap studied Psychology and graduated with honors from Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan. She went on to receive a Masters in science and Doctorate in philosophy from the University of Florida. During the years that she taught at Wayne State, she taught college courses and worked on many service-oriented projects such as Head Start, a mental health program for children and their families. Through this time of her career Professor Dunlap held various positions at Wayne State University.

The Unity Library is also open, with all books in place and another at the entrance. A time cap of 9:00 p.m. has been set for everyone to be in the room by 10:00 p.m. in the Library. Although meetings and events will continue to be held in the Library, there are no spaces for students to come and relax and take a break.

On February 4 at 2:26 in the morning, the sprinkler went off in the room of 119 Sunderland Hall, sending water shooting down the hall and leaving a small pool of water on the hallway floor. The action was part of the University’s annual sprinkler test, which is intended to check the functionality of the sprinkler system. However, the fire alarm system was triggered as well, because the two systems are connected.

According to Jim Miner, Director of Campus Safety, normally when a sprinkler goes off, a little water is spread around in the residence hall. Shortly after, the fire alarm system was triggered as well and all residents were evacuated from the building.

"When any fire alarm is triggered on campus, Campus Safety is immediately notified," Miner said. "If Campus Safety contacts the NFPA (National Fire Protection Association), it is to ensure that the sprinkler system is functioning properly. If the sprinkler system is functioning properly, the water alarm is frequently set off in the residence hall. The sprinkler system is designed to be a precautionary measure, not a true emergency." Miner added that standard procedure for flooding is to primarily insure that no students or faculty are in immediate danger. Additionally, a Fire Protection System mechanic was called to fix the sprinkler system.

The water accumulated to a couple inches throughout the first floor, predominantly for students and also faculty, while maintenance crews worked on houses. The group plans to arrive in Austin, Texas, constructing in Austin, Texas, constructing a vacant Habitat for Humanity home and working on residential housing projects. The group also plans to work on homes in Austin, Texas, building a home alongside contractors.

The Unity website states "the Unity House mission is to encourage students, building and strengthening inter/intercultural communities, primarily for students and also faculty, in a safe, student, and cultivating positive student leadership." For more information about Unity House, check out their website at http://www.conncellasis.com/unity/index.html, or stop by and see the new and improved space for yourself.

During the span of her career Professor Dunlap has been recognized by a major statewide organization. On February 4, 2005, the Connecticut African-American Affairs Commission named Professor Dunlap “Woman of the Year.” The award is one that appears annually in recognition of the advancement of the general welfare of the African-American community in the state of Connecticut.

Professor Dunlap has been an integral part of the Connecticut College faculty since 1994. Courses that she teaches include The Social World of Children and Families and Racism and Prejudice in Multicultural Society.

Professor Dunlap studied Psychology and graduated with honors from Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan. She went on to receive a Masters in science and Doctorate in philosophy from the University of Florida. During the years that she taught at Wayne State, she taught college courses and worked on many service-oriented projects such as Head Start, a mental health program for children and their families. Through this time of her career Professor Dunlap held various positions at Wayne State University.

The Unity Library is also open, with all books in place and another at the entrance. A time cap of 9:00 p.m. has been set for everyone to be in the room by 10:00 p.m. in the Library. Although meetings and events will continue to be held in the Library, there are no spaces for students to come and relax and take a break.
Unity House Lives Up To Its Name

This past week, the Unity House renovation has been the big talk among students on campus. Whether it’s regarding the beauty of the refurbished living room, the comfort of the new couches, or the new game room, students have expressed strong approval of the new and improved facility.

Many students have favorably noted and appreciated the enthusiasm of Ivan Pagan, the Assistant Director of Unity House. He was found outside of Harris and at the GCC last week with a big bowl of candy, urging students to come down to Unity House and see what it had to offer. This appears to be the exact type of attitude the College needs when it has been the subject of sharp criticism by many who argue that it has failed at creating a comfortable environment for students of all backgrounds and intentions.

Clearly, a few materialistic changes to the College’s multicultural center do not mean the end of the administration’s efforts at creating a pluralistic community. Nevertheless, if these changes offer an incentive for students to visit Unity House, or more importantly educate students about its cordiality, then the College is moving in the right direction. Specifically, if Unity House succeeds at becoming a place for all students to gather, regardless of background, personal beliefs, or identity, then the College should become a closer community. Indeed, Director Pagano’s personable efforts only added to this close-knit feeling.

Students should continue to pay attention to more subtle changes and realize that such improvements really can create a better larger picture. Even if a few leather couches and a tea and coffee area serve as an incentive for students to come closer together, the College will need to be acknowledged as harboring a community-like atmosphere. The changes may not be profound in the sense that they are restructuring Conn’s natural social arrangement, but at least they are providing the tools for a more pluralistic community.

Do you care about anything? “Voice” your opinions write a letter to the Editor.

send to:
ccvoice@conncoll.edu

Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

THE COLLEGE VOICE

Box 4970 • Office (860) 439-2812
E-mail: ccvoice@conncoll.edu

King Hippo wants YOU to write for The Voice.

He especially wants you to write for News.

Our News Editors are really, really, really nice. (Much nicer than King Hippo)

So call x2812 and leave us a message. Because seriously, you don’t want to make King Hippo mad.
OPINION

TAKE YOUR FLYERS AND STUFF 'EM
• ZACH WEST • Go WEST, YOUNG MAN!
At the gym, there's something
I think the words "stay classy", he really meant "don't pop your collar.")
Write for News...
So Yoni Doesn't have to
Call The Voice x2812
• thoughtful glance.
• two ago. Every day
for a week,
In addition to get off their asses and jog on people don't even look at the flyers and 7 am?
and 7 am?

TET BEGINS!
YOUR FRIENDS • OCCUPIED TERRITORY

The College Voice would like to say congratulations to Adam Weinberg for finally graduating.

Unfortunately, this leaves a large blank space on our editorial page.

If you are interested in writing a weekly opinion column, contact Nick Lyengar at naivy@cornell.edu.

The College Voice would like to say congratulations to Adam Weinberg for finally graduating.

Unfortunately, this leaves a large blank space on our editorial page.

If you are interested in writing a weekly opinion column, contact Nick Lyengar at naivy@cornell.edu.

Write for News...
• Yoni Doesn't have to
Call The Voice x2812

Well, it's been a busy week. Between Winter Formal, the Super Bowl, the end of the adding period, and everything else that's been going on, I have no idea where to begin.

Oh, I know, I'll start with what I'm wearing when I'm beginning, and it's with Winter Formal. I hope you all had a great time. I mean, it's been a great few months from January. I'm hoping that, that, that you hope that you at least remember what you did.

But if you're thinking about President Bush's intellect, but then can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop." Regards, either party is on the right side of the issue of the budget. The sad truth is that America is neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party. The truth is, President Bush's budget is foolish, but can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop."

The battle is no longer between small government and big government. It is between the politicians of both parties and the politicians of the people, of the Republicans now believe in big government which can fight the war aggressors, and the people who want to preserve security in the face of a more

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

NORTH CHINA TAKES OFFICE

IYENGAR

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

OCCUPIED BEGINS!

Moving on, Super Bowl 39 and its inane rant about making the Super Bowl a national holiday. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. It was a huge distraction from the real issues that the country is facing.

I wish I could have a spokesperson, it would definitely be Yoni. There are plenty of Yoni's out there, just make sure you're not getting the one who is a complete disaster.

In other sports news, the Brits beat the Pardus 3-1 last night. Huh? Just kidding. The NHL is still MIA. I'll have to go, I'll say it's "too much hockey."

I'm sorry, D's, for those of you who don't know them, are Dancing, Drinking, and... Stuff.

But if you're thinking about President Bush's intellect, but then can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop." Regards, either party is on the right side of the issue of the budget. The sad truth is that America is neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party. The truth is, President Bush's budget is foolish, but can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop."

The battle is no longer between small government and big government. It is between the politicians of both parties and the politicians of the people, of the Republicans now believe in big government which can fight the war aggressors, and the people who want to preserve security in the face of a more

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

NORTH CHINA TAKES OFFICE

IYENGAR

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

OCCUPIED BEGINS!

Moving on, Super Bowl 39 and its inane rant about making the Super Bowl a national holiday. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. It was a huge distraction from the real issues that the country is facing.

I wish I could have a spokesperson, it would definitely be Yoni. There are plenty of Yoni's out there, just make sure you're not getting the one who is a complete disaster.

In other sports news, the Brits beat the Pardus 3-1 last night. Huh? Just kidding. The NHL is still MIA. I'll have to go, I'll say it's "too much hockey."

I'm sorry, D's, for those of you who don't know them, are Dancing, Drinking, and... Stuff.

But if you're thinking about President Bush's intellect, but then can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop." Regards, either party is on the right side of the issue of the budget. The sad truth is that America is neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party. The truth is, President Bush's budget is foolish, but can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop."

The battle is no longer between small government and big government. It is between the politicians of both parties and the politicians of the people, of the Republicans now believe in big government which can fight the war aggressors, and the people who want to preserve security in the face of a more

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

NORTH CHINA TAKES OFFICE

IYENGAR

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

OCCUPIED BEGINS!

Moving on, Super Bowl 39 and its inane rant about making the Super Bowl a national holiday. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. It was a huge distraction from the real issues that the country is facing.

I wish I could have a spokesperson, it would definitely be Yoni. There are plenty of Yoni's out there, just make sure you're not getting the one who is a complete disaster.

In other sports news, the Brits beat the Pardus 3-1 last night. Huh? Just kidding. The NHL is still MIA. I'll have to go, I'll say it's "too much hockey."

I'm sorry, D's, for those of you who don't know them, are Dancing, Drinking, and... Stuff.

But if you're thinking about President Bush's intellect, but then can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop." Regards, either party is on the right side of the issue of the budget. The sad truth is that America is neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party. The truth is, President Bush's budget is foolish, but can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop."

The battle is no longer between small government and big government. It is between the politicians of both parties and the politicians of the people, of the Republicans now believe in big government which can fight the war aggressors, and the people who want to preserve security in the face of a more

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

NORTH CHINA TAKES OFFICE

IYENGAR

BUSH INCHES TOWARD FISCAL CONSERVATISM

OCCUPIED BEGINS!

Moving on, Super Bowl 39 and its inane rant about making the Super Bowl a national holiday. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. The truth is, it was fun, but it wasn't on television. It was a huge distraction from the real issues that the country is facing.

I wish I could have a spokesperson, it would definitely be Yoni. There are plenty of Yoni's out there, just make sure you're not getting the one who is a complete disaster.

In other sports news, the Brits beat the Pardus 3-1 last night. Huh? Just kidding. The NHL is still MIA. I'll have to go, I'll say it's "too much hockey."

I'm sorry, D's, for those of you who don't know them, are Dancing, Drinking, and... Stuff.

But if you're thinking about President Bush's intellect, but then can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop." Regards, either party is on the right side of the issue of the budget. The sad truth is that America is neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party. The truth is, President Bush's budget is foolish, but can turn around and bash him in an "flip-flop."

The battle is no longer between small government and big government. It is between the politicians of both parties and the politicians of the people, of the Republicans now believe in big government which can fight the war aggressors, and the people who want to preserve security in the face of a more
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT
Conn Celebrates Black History Month in Style
By Matti Neumann

With February well underway, many of us have turned our attention to Valentine’s Day, the ultimate spring break, how to squeeze more fun out of our time and gasp, the best way to procrastinate. But there is another important and often overlooked component to February, and that is Black History Month.

Conn students were fortunate enough to be provided with the opportunity to partake in the events on the 29th of January in memorial for the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Aside from the multi-racial and multi-cultural performances, the main event was African-American Mochi, an (apparent) group’s “seven a’s apology.” So, with the MLK concert as its inspiration-grabber, the key was to provide “an artistic approach to recording and production (they recorded their second album, "Follow the Sun," in a search for identity, among other things). The band, which after a small circuit of local touring in Akron where the band recorded, in both a search for identity, among other things)

Mochi provides an escape to the danger of female circumcision (a problem that we are used to). McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are used to. McCarthy’s latest work, "Coach Carter," is a success. It’s a love story, and it’s a story about something that we often try to avoid thinking about. The fact that we are
Cold Duck Heats Up the Cro’s Nest This Friday

By PAUL DRYDEN

ARTS&ENTERTAINMENT

Cold Duck Complex made it clear they are one of those special groups. The band, comprised of UMass personnel, is a hip-hop band in sound revolutionized by The Flaming Lips, combining jazz and funk in a base for lead Platypus Complex’s (Jesse Roots), harmonies, reeking of Hip-Hop. The band, all well-versed in music theory, brings together hot, wit and intellectual lyrics.

“Wake Up” is about September 11, displaying the band’s social consciousness. “For anything to change then everybody’s got to choose to take responsibility for history” and recognizes that privilege stems directly from complacency, says Platypus. There are several jazz instrumentals on Flippables, including “91 North,” providing great potential for jams at the group’s live shows. “We’re looking to combine the atmosphere of a rock or jazz show, where there’s an appreciation of the musicianship, with that of a hip-hop show, where there’s more of a party feel,” Platypus says.

It’s the Details That Make Devil So Sinfully Good

By ANDREA RO.DESCHINI

There are several jazz instrumentals on Flippables, including “91 North,” providing great potential for jams at the group’s live shows. “We’re looking to combine the atmosphere of a rock or jazz show, where there’s an appreciation of the musicianship, with that of a hip-hop show, where there’s more of a party feel,” Platypus says.

Spring Break 2005 Challenge . . . find a better price!

- Lowest Prices, free meals, free drinks
- Hottest Parties!

November 6th deadline!

Hiring reps-earn free trips and cash!

www.sunsplashtours.com

1-800-426-7710
College Remembers Brown vs. Board of Education

Dr. Thomas McEvoy

The College's Department of History, Unity House Multicultural Center, the Holleran Center for Community Action and Public Policy, and the Multicultural and Diversity Committee sponsored a panel discussion, film, and lecture on Friday, February 4 to mark the 50th Anniversary of the Brown v. Board of Education Decision. The events took place in Ernst Commons and were open to the campus community and public.

The first event of the series was the panel discussion entitled, "The Legacy of Brown vs. Board: New London Public Schools Today." It was led by Dr. Christopher P. Clouet and Dr. Terris-Maes Curry-Avery. Dr. Clouet was appointed the superintendent of New London Public schools one year ago and currently serves as a trustee of the College. Dr. Avery is a school psychologist in New London and has her own private practice as well.

In his presentation Dr. Clouet discussed his work on the "American Project", which is a set of initiatives to acknowledge and address ongoing racial injustices. "Facing the contradictions is part of the resolution of the American Project," Clouet said. "Examples of contradictions in American society that Dr. Clouet provided were the exclusion of women and minority groups. The American Project is to challenge that."

"Board of Education relies on the expertise where are we," he remarked.

A large portion of Dr. Clouet's discussion focused on how New London's school system and social cohesion has evolved over the decades. He noted that the city "battled a school strike 50 years ago, instead there was a private school for black and white. Dr. Clouet used this point to emphasize how there was already a social divide in the city half a century ago. "Project Concern," he cited, was an attempt made in the 1960's to transport children from the suburbs to the New London schools and start desegregating them.

Dr. Clouet discussed "Chief v. O'Neill," a case in the 1980's that considered desegregation in the Hartford region. The result of this case was the creation of magnet schools in various parts of Connecticut, including New London. Dr. Clouet noted that the state finances the entire construction of these schools. The idea behind these schools, Clouet noted, is to reduce racial isolation, "which continues to be a problem in the U.S."

There are plans to build a science and technology magnet school on an addition to New London High School. Dr. Clouet noted. He concluded, nevertheless, by noting that New London has to evaluate what its school system is excelling and whether it is a process learned from Brown v. Board of Education.

When Dr. Clouet was finished speaking, Dr. Avery gave her presentation, which focused on various cases regarding racial inequality and segregation. She also reflected on some of her own experiences of growing up in Mississippi twenty-three years prior to Brown v. Board of Education. A prevailing theme throughout her presentation was "ordinary people doing extraordinary things."

She cited three factors that resulted from individual efforts at achieving racial equality: people's unwillingness to live with the status quo; their ability to take action; and their courage and commitment. "Taking action as a black person during the 1960's was so much fear," Avery said.

Dr. Avery later asked the audience to reflect on how they can bring about social equality in this still segregated society. "What is it that challenges you to think about what you can do to bring about change," Avery said. "What can you do about racial injustices and becoming aware of them?"

Dr. Avery mentioned that schools are instilling "Counseling Conversations" programs, which encourage students to express themselves about their feelings on racial issues. This program and similar initiatives all relate back to Brown v. Board of Education. "Brown v. Board of Education opened the movement for civil rights," Avery said.

Following Dr. Avery's presentation, the floor was open for questions from the audience. Later in the afternoon, a film was shown entitled, "With All Deliberate Speed." The day concluded with a lecture by Genna R. McVickar, a professor of history at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. The title of her talk was "Women in Protest after Brown."

Got Prenup?

A&E loves gossip.

Call Shona and Rachel at x2812 or email smseq@conncoll.edu

Got Prenup?

A&E loves gossip.

Call Shona and Rachel at x2812 or email smseq@conncoll.edu
Do You Care About Anything?

The Voice is looking for political columnists

Call Nick x 3579
or e-mail naiye@conncoll.edu

---

Work part time on campus with flexible hours while earning 15 dollars an hour. Applicants must be outgoing and motivated.

Ask for Kurt or Jen 888-427-7672
ext 421

---

Spring Break 2005-
Travel with STS, America's #1 Student Tour Operator to Jamaica, Cancun, Acapulco, Bahamas and Florida.
Now hiring on-campus reps.
Call for group discounts.
Information/Reservations 1-800-648-4849
or www.ststravel.com.

---

Emeril wants you to cook up some hot stories for the College Voice.

To kick it up a notch, call x2812 or email ccvoice.

Oh yeah babe.
Top Ten Rejected Themes for Formal

1. The Neverland Ranch
2. Yoni Freeman Matzo Ball
3. Secs and Execs
4. D-Qwon's Dance Groove
5. The Republican Party
6. The Krispie Kreme Donut Dance
7. Polka Polka Polka!
8. Bright Lights, Big City... oh... wait
9. The OC
10. The Campus Safety Soirée

There is only one person on this campus who actually knows what this is. The editor of the College Voice is not one of them. Are you? If you think you know, send your response to ccvoice@conncoll.edu.

Camel Curiosity

Rain storms don't happen very often in the desert. But when they do, they can cause trouble for camel owners. With so much water around, the camels don't need people anymore to get water for them.

Source: http://www.planet-pets.com/plntcam.htm

Quoteable Camels

Senior Jake Crow
"Led Zeppelin Reunion, followed by sumo wrestling."

Sophomore Cornelius Hardenberg
"A revolution!"

Junior Granger Abuhon
"I think the apex was when Britney Spears wore a sock on her arm. I think from now on all performers should be required to wear a sock on their arm for the sake of tradition."

Freshman Jessica LaVallee
"Naked boys...well not all the way naked...like Chip 'n' Dale style...not that I've seen that."

Not fun enough? Send YOUR ideas for the Camel Fun Page to ccvoice@conncoll.edu. Because seriously, this page needs more alterations.
Men’s Hockey Suffers Two Tough Losses

BY SPENCER TAYLOR

The Beavers lost in Boston this past weekend where they had two road games against Tufts College and UMass-Boston. With the playoffs only two weeks away, the Camels were in need of a victory to keep pace with rivals Wesleyan and Amherst.

On Friday night, Coon faced off against Amherst in the first of their consecutive road games. The Beavers, who have high expectations for the post-season, went into the game with a seven-game winning streak and ranked #4 in the nation. Similar to their other performances against ranked opponents, the Camels would not succeed against a formidable foe.

The Beavers took an early 1:0 lead just two minutes into the contest on a goal by Nate Nowick. Tim Finishes ’06 would answer for the Camels as he converted a power-play opportunity midway through the second period. The tie was short-lived, however, as Amherst reclaimed the lead this time on a power-play goal of their own by James LeFreniere. Taking advantage of the three-man advantage, the Beavers netted two more goals as they continued their assault to draw even as Dave Moccia netted his second of the game.

With time running down in regulation, both teams were tied at 3-3. Zach Anderson, Steve Oven and Joe Deck played for 55 minutes, but in those 5 minutes we made some mental lapses that ended up costing us the game. With only 1:15 to play, the Camels dominated the last few minutes of the game, and netted two more goals as they coasted to the win over the Beavers as he intercepted a pass at the blue line of the 2004-2005 campaign.

This past weekend the Connecticut College men’s and women’s swimming and diving teams hosted a final meet at the Natatorium. The teams swam against the Tufts Bantams and am added another sweep. Senior All-American Kate Konrakoff finished first with a time of 51.50 seconds and was followed by Frankye Packard of “The Jackal” ’07, who took second and third place for the Camels. Konrakoff set another school record with a time of 26.40 seconds in the 50 meter butterfly.

However, the men’s team, who are the reigning champions of the NESCAC, are still in the hunt. The Beavers dominated the Bobcats, winning 14-0 in 40 minutes with a 10-0 victory against the Jesuits.

Coach Jim Ward and his bees have just 80 minutes long with two halves consisting of 40 minutes each. The duration of the game. The men's rugby team is interchangeable. Wards are not only interdependent but also frequently work in unison with their teammates.

If you wanna smile, you should write sports for Pete and Steve. Call x2812 today!

Welcome To The World Of Rugby

continued from page 10

rugby can only be scored if one scores a try, a penalty try, or a conversion. A try is scored if 5 points, and a penalty try is credited with 5 points plus the conversion. The object of the game is that two teams of fifteen players should try scoring" and ground the ball the greater number of points is the winner of the match. If you forget evergreen, I have just written, please look back at this next point because it is the cardinal rule of rugby. A team cannot play more than one man with a broken leg, or a team cannot play more than one substitute at a time.

The game is continuous and when the ball is "thrown in" to each side at the start of the game, the team in a backward motion. In other words you may not pass the ball forward otherwise it is a forward pass and a penalty try will be awarded. However, you may kick the ball forward, and as long as you kick the ball very well behind you and kick the ball forward, then kick the ball forward, then you are allowed to pass the ball forward. You are not allowed to pass the ball forward, and as long as you kick the ball very well behind you and kick the ball forward, then kick the ball forward, then you are allowed to pass the ball forward.

The same rules are in effect for both the men’s and women’s teams. The rules are similar with the exception that the women’s team is allowed to field only one man who is allowed to play in the "flyhalf" or fullback position.

However, you may kick the ball forward, and as long as you kick the ball very well behind you and kick the ball forward, then kick the ball forward, then you are allowed to pass the ball forward.

NCAA Hoops Cure Football Hangover

continued from page 10

be called either a back or a forward. For example, a person who is a very good kicker will be a back and generally occupy the "fullback" position. A person who plays the "halfback" position forwards lead to be more physical and involved in scrum and ruck. Their collective role is to pass possess the ball and get it to the backs, who then try to score points for the team, and they are regarded as the heavyweights of the team. They are also typically the first to attack when the game is "thrown in" forwards into scrums. Of course, fitness and skill levels have improved (since this was last season) the role played by the backs and forwards are not only interdependent but also frequently interchangeable.

This would really complex, but I promise you it is not. Once one gets the basic grasp if the game, following a very simple pattern is all that is required. How to make contact with the rugby player; contact the Connecticut College men’s and women’s rugby teams.

The men’s rugby is coming this spring—keep your eyes and ears open for meetings. Till next week, Chats.

horse家具

While I will not revert back to my typical ponies, I have no reason to believe that the women’s hockey team is still striving for excellence. Though this season has seen disappointments, the future can’t be any brighter. Though veterans have lead the team this year, almost every member will be returning for at least next season. The program has brought in very strong classes the last three years. We are looking forward to the fall season.

To catch the Camels in action this year, head down to Dayton Arena for the final home games on February 18-19. This weekend the Camels will play against Wesleyan in the Natatorium.

The winter is coming soon, so grab a friend and enjoy the nice weather.

Women’s Hockey Looks to Finish Strong

continued from page 10

The season winds down without playoff hopes, it’s nice to know that the women’s hockey team is still striving for excellence. Though this season has seen disappointments, the future can’t be any brighter. Though veterans have lead the team this year, almost every member will be returning for at least next season. The program has brought in very strong classes the last three years. We are looking forward to the fall season.

To catch the Camels in action this year, head down to Dayton Arena for the final home games on February 18-19. This weekend the Camels will play against Wesleyan in the Natatorium.
Sports

Rugby 101

Once again it's Wednesday night and it's time to write my weekly column. This week I'll be up to my usual tricks, but for reasons best known to myself, I'll be taking a break from my usual format to talk about something else. It's rugby, and yes, I know that's a bit of a shock, but after all, rugby is my favorite sport, and I feel sorry for those who don't know much about it.

Rugby is a team sport played between two teams of 15 players who kick and carry a spherical ball in an attempt to score points by putting it over the opposing team's goalposts or in one of the team's five try-scars. The game is played with hands and feet, or as it is often called, rugby is a sport just like any other – it has rules (too many complicated ones to get right into now), and regulations of the game are the same as in any other sport, but with added good sportsmanship and respect for your opponent. Each sport has its rules, and I assume you know rugby is different, but the large majority of rugby players play the game in good spirit – except for maybe this next one.

In any event, which actually took place in the last week. Speaking about being a piece of crap, my wife in particular, I did, on 14th March, return, not feeling well at all, and went off. Then it was my wife, I liked. I told her I was on South Africa with rugby’s no. 1 (Dame hooligans living in South Africa – we are wild). This kind of situation happens every so often, but they are the kind of rugby being a menace amongst people who are not too familiar with the game.

It would be impossible to explain each rule of rugby to you in a page long one paragraph, but I have decided to come up with some rules, and let you guys the bare essentials of the Rugby. Rugby 101, if you like. The game is played with hands and feet and is not a oval ball (called a rugby ball). However, between two teams of 15 players each, plus substitutes, giving us a total number of 31 players. The game consists of kicking or catching the ball and running with it, throwing, throwing or kicking the ball to another player for scoring points, as well as kicking the ball. It is also possible to take the ball from the other team by means of pulling or shaking an opponent holding the ball is one allowed to pull or shoulder an opponent who does not want to let go of the ball. (That is, if there is no blocking or body checking.) This is considered a common occurrence in the game. There are a number of ways to get the ball from the other team, by tackling, which is a game of feet first, combining the running, kicking and personal skills. This particular sport is a common one among the same principles – a common

continued on page 9

by Peter Brown

Soccer

The Conn men's basketball team has had an up and down season thus far. As a result of this uneven victory against Tufts University, the Conn men's basketball team traveled to Maine for the weekend. For two possible games against NESCAC rivals Colby and Bowdoin, Friday night at Colby and Saturday night at Bowdoin. The Totems come from catching easy advises.

With nine minutes remaining in regulation, Conn Forced the Colby team by 53-50. For the first time in awhile, thanks in large part to the fact or other six turnovers, this game has some of the biggest names from the rivalry.

This year's game was no different. Carolina was favored at Duke for the first time in a while, thanks in large part to the fact that the Tar Heels are in better form. Despite having won the last four meetings and one of the last 10, Duke was playing at home and they escaped with a one-point victory. It was everything everyone expected it would be.

But how Tar Heels didn't get a shot to finish the game off, leaving the Blue Devils with a 94-90 victory in the last minute of the game. However, we must ask how anything can happen when those two teams play.

The Carolina men's basketball team has had a rough season so far. As a result of this uneven victory against Tufts University, the Conn men's basketball team traveled to Maine for the weekend. Bird came in with a decisive and decisive effort that really depressed. For me, the first time in awhile, thanks in large part to the fact or other six turnovers, this game has some of the biggest names from the rivalry.

This year's game was no different. Carolina was favored at Duke for the first time in a while, thanks in large part to the fact that the Tar Heels are in better form. Despite having won the last four meetings and one of the last 10, Duke was playing at home and they escaped with a one-point victory. It was everything everyone expected it would be.

But how Tar Heels didn't get a shot to finish the game off, leaving the Blue Devils with a 94-90 victory in the last minute of the game. However, we must ask how anything can happen when those two teams play.

The Carolina men's basketball team has had a rough season so far. As a result of this uneven victory against Tufts University, the Conn men's basketball team traveled to Maine for the weekend. Bird came in with a decisive and decisive effort that really depressed. For me, the first time in awhile, thanks in large part to the fact or other six turnovers, this game has some of the biggest names from the rivalry.

This year's game was no different. Carolina was favored at Duke for the first time in a while, thanks in large part to the fact that the Tar Heels are in better form. Despite having won the last four meetings and one of the last 10, Duke was playing at home and they escaped with a one-point victory. It was everything everyone expected it would be.

But how Tar Heels didn't get a shot to finish the game off, leaving the Blue Devils with a 94-90 victory in the last minute of the game. However, we must ask how anything can happen when those two teams play.

The Carolina men's basketball team has had a rough season so far. As a result of this uneven victory against Tufts University, the Conn men's basketball team traveled to Maine for the weekend. Bird came in with a decisive and decisive effort that really depressed. For me, the first time in awhile, thanks in large part to the fact or other six turnovers, this game has some of the biggest names from the rivalry.

This year's game was no different. Carolina was favored at Duke for the first time in a while, thanks in large part to the fact that the Tar Heels are in better form. Despite having won the last four meetings and one of the last 10, Duke was playing at home and they escaped with a one-point victory. It was everything everyone expected it would be.

But how Tar Heels didn't get a shot to finish the game off, leaving the Blue Devils with a 94-90 victory in the last minute of the game. However, we must ask how anything can happen when those two teams play.

The Carolina men's basketball team has had a rough season so far. As a result of this uneven victory against Tufts University, the Conn men's basketball team traveled to Maine for the weekend. Bird came in with a decisive and decisive effort that really depressed. For me, the first time in awhile, thanks in large part to the fact or other six turnovers, this game has some of the biggest names from the rivalry.

This year's game was no different. Carolina was favored at Duke for the first time in a while, thanks in large part to the fact that the Tar Heels are in better form. Despite having won the last four meetings and one of the last 10, Duke was playing at home and they escaped with a one-point victory. It was everything everyone expected it would be.

But how Tar Heels didn't get a shot to finish the game off, leaving the Blue Devils with a 94-90 victory in the last minute of the game. However, we must ask how anything can happen when those two teams play.