FRESHMEN GRANTED SOPHOMORE PRIVILEGES

Various Announcements Made at Amalgamation Meeting

Freshmen were granted Sophomore privileges for the second semester at the Amalgamation Meeting held on January 12th. The new ruling, which had been approved by Cabinet, was brought before the student body and unanimously accepted. It contains only one provision, that a Freshman shall not go to town when she is supposed to be studying.

Another matter relating to Student Government was the question of the Senate meeting on the Sunday night after mid-year examination. Mark Twain, who failed, suggested instead a play. Mr. Clevely, said, in retaining her position.

Going over these statistics we find that although more alumnae took up teaching than took up any other profession, yet only about one-fifth of the graduates are teaching. The graduates seem to have chosen a great variety of occupations; foremen, editors, lawyers, a dentist, and a large number of other professional women who have chosen work formerly con sidered the province of men. The fact that only 197 of the 454 graduates are married makes this seem rather surprising. But when we follow the statistics from year to year, we see that among the students of the earlier classes the percentage married is around 50%, while it is for the more recently graduated classes who lower the percentage.

CLAIRA CLEMENS DISCUSSES THE ORIGIN OF "JOAN OF ARC"

Lecture Given At Mount Holyoke College

Claire Clemens, daughter of Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), who is to be here tonight in her production of "Joan of Arc," discussed the origin of her father's interest in Joan of Arc at a lecture she gave at Mount Holyoke College. To quote from the Mount Holyoke News:

"The author was but eighteen and prospecting out west, a chance leaf of a book blowing in the street attracted his attention and turned out to be an excerpt from the life of the great French saint. It seemed then very beautiful and romantic, but utterly improbable except as a legend. 'It was when he was in France, years later,' Madame Clemens said, 'that he remembered his interest, and was given access to some old documents scarcely ever revealed.' And by them at last, he was convinced that the miracles could happen, that she was truly real and great, and that the name must be preserved.

"Poreful lent the public feel bound to laugh at any book under his name. Mark Twain published his Personal Recollections of Joan of Arc anonymously and in serial form, introducing it ahead of time by a dinner party in New York. La Flora Liasica, a quarto volume, was published in Spanish description of these collections. Dr. Wieland is a member of the Geological, Theological and Botanical Societies and of the Royal Academy of Science of Belgium. He was awarded the Archduke Rainer gold medal, Vienna, 1914. He is an international authority on fossil plants and will give an illustrated lecture on the Flowering Plants in the time of the Dinosaurs, at Convocation Tuesday, January 24. Dr. Wieland is Professor of Paleobotany at Yale University and maintains a private laboratory at his home.

CAROLINE A. BLACK,
an opera to Madame Clemens about two years ago. Their musical and dramatic affair on the same subject had failed, she said, and now it stands as that, with some music, and with constant revisions, almost every year. It is not a direct dramatization of the book. Dr. Clemens said, in retelling her father's story, that it was not the act of a brave, human, yet spiritual, with a high temper and a brilliant mind,

Dear Editor: It seems exceedingly unfortunate that more of our students and coaches have declared themselves in favor of statements of names, dates and places.

The problems of China are well portrayed—Miss. Sarah, Alexander, who longed to give the Chinese a chance to study the causes of war and to do what he could to help the Chinese.

Kitty manages to outwit the mother, who is a two-track mind. Her more breezy news when exams are over mean to her, too, is the strength to carry on.

Brubacher, who thinks the "main purpose of sorority is to provide the best housing conditions and the best possible social life." Scholarship is not expected to suffer, according to the council president. On the contrary, she believes it is one of the duties of the living organizations to try to bolster poor scholarship among its members.

In the Oling College president and athletic directors are beginning to think seriously about Carnegie Foundation reports on college athletics, due this winter after two years of study and inspection. George Huff, athletic director at Western University of Illinois, told western conference coaches that "an upheaval in college athletics is in the offing." Huff is expected to be elected regardless of her scholarship. The struggling athlete is likely to suffer, and many matters of social life that are shared in an organization are likely to suffer.

In the midst of all this, Kitty—'-the daughter of a woman who keeps a little tobacco shop—a sensible,aufder handle, who, from the beginning, gives Alex her heart. Her courage gives him the strength to carry on—"she is one of the bravest girls the world has ever seen." Kitty is a very brave girl, but she is not without her weaknesses. She is a belligerent savage, who always has a lot to say.
NEED CAREFUL SELF ANALYSIS IN CHOOSING ONE’S VOCATION

During the month of December, the Christian Science Monitor printed a series of articles by H. Adole Howe, who is Head of Employers’ and Executive Exchange, Boston. The articles were entitled “Finding Your Right Work in the Adult World” and analyze the problem which faces the person looking for a position.

First, you must analyze yourself and do it very fully. Treat yourself as an absolute stranger and put down even the most obvious facts. Give your race, religion, age, birthplace, etc., then give all details about education and past experience in any line. Past experience is important not only because it may allow you to take an advanced position in that line but also because it may help to show what kind of work you enjoy. Your individual attitudes and “requirements” are important factors in determining what work to consider. Therefore, give all you can about your tastes, interests, and recreations. Run up your weak and strong points but remember that the “luck of ability in any given line usually indicates a difference in

GOOD NEWS FOR LEAP YEAR—HUSBANDS FED FOR $.51

A budget prepared by Miss Katharine Hunt of the Home Economics Department of Chicago University shows scientifically that a young woman ought to earn $1,800 or more if she wants to wear chiffon hose or go to the theatre. Some of the items are for cosmetics, $3.55, for jewelry, $21.19 a year, $50 for doctor and dentist, and $18 for vacation! The budget also shows how the wife of a $3,000 a year man can feed her husband for fifty-one cents a day.

destiny rather than a weakness and should cause you no concern.

Having considered your qualifications, you must now look to see what types of work are open to you. To successfully fill a position you must have the proper education and training and also be in sympathy with the ideals and policies of the house you are to represent. There is also the personal side; do you wish work which will bring you into contact with a number of people, or do you prefer to work alone? See "if you can work harmoniously with your immediate superior and your associates, and if your own type of individuality fits into the picture and can develop to best advantage."

Set yourself a goal which will show "the position you ought to be holding at some definite future date, the salary you should be earning; and last but not least, the progress you should have made in self-development."

"There is a right place for you. Study occupations till you find it."　

POSITIONS IN RETAIL STORES INTERESTING AND PROFITABLE

One of the most fascinating answers to that ever present question of what to do after college was given by Mrs. Dorothy Walsh, when she discussed "Personnel Work in Retail Stores." Mrs. Walsh said that the store executives of today are making a definite attempt to have college people in their employ. Nevertheless, preference is given to those college graduates who have also had one year's intensive training in store work.

Mrs. Walsh recommended the Prince School in Boston and the University of Pittsburgh. Both schools guarantee their graduates well-paying positions. Those positions may be as junior executives, stylists or artists, for with the rapid development of art and merchandising itself there is a wide field for the artistically inclined person.

For preparatory courses Mrs. Walsh advises as much Psychology as possible, also English, French and Economics. —"Wellesley College News."
