The recent questionnaire sent out by the Student Council last month revealed that many people have an interest in drama and would like to participate in dramatic activities. The Student Council, with the help of their advisor, Miss Kenyon, feels that the new system of drama club should be initiated immediately following this spring auditorium program.

Miss Kenyon has proposed a ten-week introductory drama course. The course will consist of two sessions per week, the first devoted to acting and the second to directing. The course will be open to any student who wishes to participate, regardless of previous experience. The course will culminate in a play to be presented in the auditorium at the end of the ten weeks.

The courses will be held in the afternoon hours to accommodate the schedules of the participants. The course will be open to all students, and Miss Kenyon is hoping to attract a large number of participants. The course will be held in the auditorium, and the equipment will be provided by the school. The course will be taught by Miss Kenyon, and she is looking forward to working with the students.

Miss Kenyon has said that she is confident that the course will be a success, and she is looking forward to seeing the talent that the students have.

Please join us in supporting this new and exciting venture at our school. We believe that it will be a great opportunity for students to develop their talents and enjoy the creative process of drama.

This is a tale by an ill. With all this literary supplement business, I can think of nothing else.

Orchids To The Faculty

May we take this column to offer loud and appreciative applause for Orchids to the Faculty 1956! We speak for all of the students when we say that the faculty should be well worth wailing about; we bring you a chance not only to glimpse the unexpected (though not unexpected) talent of our faculty members, but to thank them in a role other than that of great-giver or administrator.

Fortunately, Connecticut is a college small enough to allow the students and faculty to be on the better side of classroom acquaintances, and it is to the faculty that we can show our thanks for their Orchids-to-the-Faculty personalities. Such a thing as the faculty show would be impossible if the students had not had ample time just an indifferent group called faculty, to teach us.

It was obvious that a great deal of work had gone into the planning, writing, and directing of the Orchids, which fulfilled and surpassed our expectations with its cleverness, perfect sets and costumes, and, above all, its witty and effective presentation. Orchids to you, faculty—we'll be back in four years—JLJ
Student Gov't President

Your president of Student Government has an office with a double role—she represents the interests of the students, and she leads the student body in its school activities. To get the best information, clarify policy, or bring up questions of discussion. She holds weekly meetings once a week with the heads of all campus organizations to discuss all matters of policy, and subjects concerning the whole campus. Once a month, she organizes and conducts the Amalgamation meetings. These are important because they bring together the important matters of government or campus interest, and are held to bring the attention of the student body as a whole.

The ideal Student Government president should have among other qualifications ability leadership and organization; imagination and to introduce and encourage new ideas or methods; a sense of humor, especially when the going is rough; a sympathetic understanding of the student point of view; and faith in the student body as a whole. The ideal is a "standard of perfection" but it's a standard that we can work for. Remember—she's yours for a year, so do your best to choose her, and give her your backing once you've got her!

Vice President, Student Gov't

The vice president of Student Government has the opportunity in her job for varied and stimulating work. There are four main facets of her job in addition to the weekly Cabinet meetings at which student business and policies are discussed and decided upon.

These four branches of her office include the Student-Faculty Forum, which plans and conducts events, and four main facets of her job in addition to the weekly Cabinet meetings at which student business and policies are discussed and decided upon.

She arranges the banquet for old and new students, and holds among college students on her plans are ignored by disinterested people, who actually wants to see that the candidates get their blood. This too is her responsibility. She sees that her program is no one in the fall and to get people's money, but try and make the welcome in the fall a success. To meet this demand, the difficulties and advantages, which make the experience rich and varied. It requires enthusiasm as a number one prerequisite, and tireless energy to go along with it. Service League

An outstanding hand on the job of Student Government is the Service League. It is an important and a worthwhile job. The president of Religious Fellowship is expected to promote all the work of the student body on campus, and if she isn't, no one else will be! There will be new life when disinterested students, who require a genuine love for people, and who should be attracted to all her endeavors. If she isn't, no one else will be! There will be new life when disinterested students, who require genuine love for people, and who should be attracted to all her endeavors.

It is important and a worthwhile job and it deserves careful consideration on the part of each student before election day.
