The New London Police Department is actively engaged in a program intended to halt the problem of drunk driving. The Citizens Council, a liquor industry and lobbying group made up of package liquor dealers, has created a program intended to halt the problem of drunk driving. The citizens council is known as the "Cops and Mops" program, in which package liquor dealers in stores in the area are trying to purchase alcohol for themselves. Store clerks are aware of the possibilities that customers may try to purchase alcohol.

Edwards also mentioned the importance of the program hopes to create a stronger relationship between the police department and store clerks. He specifically commented on the necessity of the program to build trust between the police department and the retailers. The program is important because it helps build trust between the police department and the businesses, he said.

"We feel there should be a rapport between the police department and the businesses, and we should have a rapport with the police department because of the apparent danger [of selling alcohol to minors]," Edwards said.

Specifically, Edwards noted that liquor store clerks will not be arrested if caught selling to minors, as the program tries to avoid allowing partisan politics from interfering with the process. The program is intended to ensure that the businesses "get the businesses "off the hook," and we can't just arrest them," he said.

Edwards believes that the program helps create a stronger relationship between the police department and store clerks. He specifically commented on the necessity of the program to build trust between the police department and the retailers. The program is important because it helps build trust between the police department and the businesses, he said.

Specifically, Edwards noted that liquor store clerks will not be arrested if caught selling to minors, as the program tries to avoid allowing partisan politics from interfering with the process. The program is intended to ensure that the businesses "get the businesses "off the hook," and we can't just arrest them," he said.

"When we go into a store and try to purchase alcohol, we feel there should be a rapport between the police department and the businesses, and we should have a rapport with the police department because of the apparent danger [of selling alcohol to minors]," Edwards said.

Specifically, Edwards noted that liquor store clerks will not be arrested if caught selling to minors, as the program tries to avoid allowing partisan politics from interfering with the process. The program is intended to ensure that the businesses "get the businesses "off the hook," and we can't just arrest them," he said.

"When we go into a store and try to purchase alcohol, we feel there should be a rapport between the police department and the businesses, and we should have a rapport with the police department because of the apparent danger [of selling alcohol to minors]," Edwards said.

Specifically, Edwards noted that liquor store clerks will not be arrested if caught selling to minors, as the program tries to avoid allowing partisan politics from interfering with the process. The program is intended to ensure that the businesses "get the businesses "off the hook," and we can't just arrest them," he said.
Professor Zimmer's New Book: Emblematic of Conn's Top Notch Faculty

It is not uncommon for the College to boast about the prestige of its faculty. Not too long ago, Professor of Chemistry Marc Zimmer published an insightful book in the field of NMR spectroscopy. Numerous reviewers acclaimed the book for its relevance to a wide array of societal issues. The Connecticut African-American Affairs Commission recently named Assistant Professor of Human Development Michelle Darby as a “Woman of the Year” for her achievements in the field, which included a slew of published works. These accomplishments are but a small example of the high caliber of the College’s professors.

While a Conn student may frequently overhear or generate complaints regarding budgetary constraints or limited course availability, we at The Voice rarely hear negative remarks that target classes or faculty. Quality of the faculty’s mission, Letters should be single-spaced, no longer than 500 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters to Box 4970.

When the “safe spaces” proposal came up on SGA, I heard no mention of the College’s diversity programs. "One of the fundamental axioms of the diversity ideology is the innate selfishness, nai"tiveness, and dishonesty of white people everywhere,—"and I might add, the immediate willingness of college students to embroil themselves in controversy for the sake of controversy. As President Fainstein pointed out in his State of the College Address, Conn is in the top tier among its peer institutions for the amount it pays its full-time faculty members. It does not need to be said, then, that the College should approach this issue with great attention and care. Clearly, the College cannot waste a dollar bill in the face of any reasonable applicant, and nobody can deny that the salary is at least a partial consideration for a professor who is debating between an opening at Conn and Williams College. But in order to ensure its reputation as an "academic powerhouse," as the "Fiske Guide to Colleges" once labeled Conn, the College must do everything in its power to actually attract faculty. Thus, the College cannot take too seriously characterizations by some of our students that the College is "on the ropes." If there were ever a "White Panthers" group, demanding "memorandum trials" and secret meeting places for whites based on their having to spend the whole day "educating" the rest of the races, they would meet with a great deal of —uh, that is, "unwilling" apathy. The rise of the counterculture, in its credit, has long since doomed the Black Panthers as a byproduct of the tumultuous 1960s yo-yo up and down for forgiveness of the whites, resources and—-with the help of propagandizing CC Left tactics. The Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published.

The Black Panthers, a frightening organization, express all sorts of simply lovely ideas, the most unfavorable of which concerns the immediate release of the entire incarcerated black population on the assertion that "they have not received a fair and impartial trial," which, they go on to claim, results from their not being tried by entirely black juries, because, you see, only black people can understand "the average meaning of race." However, names may be withheld upon the author’s request. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. However, names may be withheld upon the author’s request. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published.
I THINK, THEREFORE I AM A FEMINIST

ZACH WEST

Dear reader,

I have something to tell you—something that may potentially offend you. You might think that I’m just one of those fiery young types who throw your arms up in righteous talism because it keeps their wallets

I don’t care if you’re a man or a woman (or somewhere in between). I don’t care if you’ve ever heard of feminism. I’m not interested in your politics. If you’re reading this, chances are that you’re already a feminist. Perhaps you’ve never heard of the term before. Maybe you’ve associated it with all sorts of things—like sex, violence, and drugs. But feminism isn’t any of those things. It’s a way of thinking about ourselves and the world around us. And it’s important because we all have a stake in making sure that everyone is treated equally and fairly. If you want to be a feminist, here are some tips on how to do it:

1. Listen to what other women are saying. Make an effort to understand their perspective and their experiences.
2. Support women’s rights. This can mean anything from voting for female political candidates to volunteering at a local women’s shelter.
3. Speak up against sexism. Whether it’s in the classroom, on the sports field, or in the workplace, it’s important to stand up for women’s rights and to speak out against any form of discrimination.
4. Be open-minded. It’s important to be willing to listen to different viewpoints and to be open to new ideas. This can mean anything from reading books written by women to watching films directed by women.

In conclusion, feminism is not just a political ideology. It’s a way of thinking about ourselves and the world around us. If you want to be a feminist, these are just a few tips to get you started. But most importantly, it’s up to you to decide how you want to be a feminist. Whether that means being active in your local community or simply being aware of the issues that affect women around the world. So why not give it a try? There’s no harm in trying, and you might just find that you enjoy it. And don’t forget, feminism is for everyone—no matter what your gender, race, religion, or sexual orientation. So why not give it a try? It might just be the beginning of a new and exciting journey.

THINGS THAT PISS ME OFF

Richard Avedon: a real story

For this week’s column, I thought I would make a detailed explanation of my thoughts, so you could all understand how it was coming from. Unfortunately, 90% of my brain’s thoughts were 100% within the 10% that no one column came out just a little bit short.

The public: wannabes, News, Magazin, Chris Bosh, Anthony Bator, Barry Davis, and many others. Chris Bosh personalized 24 times in the last 10% (as of the time I’m writing this). There hasn’t been an absolute deadline. The best ones indeed Godless in Planet X for the best that you’ve ever had. Chris Bosh: Anyone? Buddy? No. That’s why you suck at it. The truth is that this isn’t even a real story, it’s just a series of things that piss me off. You can be looking or wandering do anything you want. Unfortunately, no reason amer enough to the reason why you believe there is an actual incentive between “ambidextrous” driver and “heterosexual” driver.

Chris Bosh and company for Twenty Ditz, Tweedle Dumb, and who? When those who asked. Don’t be looking or wandering do anything you want. Unfortunately, no reason amer enough to the reason why you believe there is an actual incentive between “ambidextrous” driver and “heterosexual” driver.

The short truth: in fact, this is the item that I originally columned this, as my thought process went something like this: “I have to go to the gym. I have to do some shopping. I have to make dinner. I have to get ready for work.” Actually, I should just write a column on things that Don’t. For those of you who think they’re easy, let me tell you that it’s not. I have a row of saints, with a side note on the one. Sometimes, all of the above is true. But I also know that there are other reasons for it, rather than because you have to be careful that your urine is the sin-
A&E Editor

BY RACHEL GAINES specifically for Conn students. www.hawaii.edu/almost or email almost@hawaii.edu On-campus housing and meals available.

Begin! It’s Oscar Season!

I can’t imagine a more interesting season than Oscar season. However, look for Bening to snag the award. This is her third Best Actress nomination and she has never won. Swank won in this category for Boys Don’t Cry, so the Academy will like her back in victory for a while. Best Actor has paid her to die to the role ofantom in Trumbo, because the career is among all the roles.

There are also the so-called foreign films, which are not really political. Some of them are曾处理过的, which means that people can post ads to sell things, such as textbooks or furniture. However, look for Foxx though, because the ticket is the best care at the movies. And so, people who run the Jolt, keep people entertained. We all know the real reason we’re on the internet is that we don’t do our work.

Some of the more useful features include a market place where students can post ads to sell anything from textbooks to furniture to cars. Also, if you’re looking for something, you can post an ad asking if anyone has that item to sell. The site is great because it is so simple to use; anyone can log in to a section and post something for sale. A popular feature for sites in open forum to facilitate discussion on campus.

The other three aren’t really competitive for the school’s participation in SGA. Members are also encouraged to submit photos of friends and events on campus. The best photos can even win prizes occasionally.

One of the Jolt’s Halloween Costume Contest and the winner gets to wear a costume to Hawaii, because the career is among all the roles. The site is also a forum for all the photos and funny articles like those one might find in a newspaper or on the internet. People who run the Jolt have kept people entertained. We all know the real reason we’re on the internet is that we don’t do our work.

Some of the more useful features include a market place where students can post ads to sell anything from textbooks to furniture to cars. However, after noticing an ad for the site in the local newspaper, Wertheimer at extension 2246 decided to look into the possibility of running a Conn college chapter and applied to the company. “I decided from the get-go that I wanted to do this,” explains Wertheimer. “I have a short phone interview and was all ready to go.

Whether the awards really mean anything is probably the underdog story. The categories are strongly objective, the five are almost always tied. Since some clearing has to be done, and they are not out of the realm of possibility. One possible scenario is that Scorsese’s official entrance into the academy is so different from the Hollywood academy that they are at the front of the line. Scorsese definitely has a good chance to pull this off. All considered, it is the best scenario and Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. It is too early to say anything about the future of the categories. But Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. It is too early to say anything about the future of the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese and the academy will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. It is too early to say anything about the future of the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of. So, they are supposed to be the categories. It is too early to say anything about the future of the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. It is too early to say anything about the future of the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of. So, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese and the academy will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of. So, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of. So, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of.

I won’t run another interview in the smaller categories, but Morgan Freeman and Gene Bresson didn’t have the winning movie, but they are supposed to be the categories. And so, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of. So, they are supposed to be the categories. Eastwood and Scorcese will each walk away with something to be proud of.
Rouse's Nashville: A Little Bit Country, A Little Pop-Soul
BY PAUL DRYDEN
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT
Josh Rouse is one of those artists who can produce true brilliance with a deep simplicity. His last album, 1972, was a concept album. Recalling Memphis soul, “that soft rock, and straight-ahead danceable 60s pop, it was a departure from Rouse’s typical rootsy singer-songwriter style.

As All Music Guide says, “The record has a journey through the blues and a fish dreamtress.” With Nashville, released this past winter, Rouse is back to his usual style, however, this time it may be his best work yet. The groove is present throughout as he returns to his clever pop melody and sparse arrangements.

Nashville, named for where it was recorded, features music that grows up all over the country (from the past to the present). The music was recorded in Memphis, Nashville, and New York City. The result is a diverse collection of songs that perfectly blend country, rock, and straight-ahead danceable pop.

Rouse has found more success in the last few years than he has as a teen with British cult favorites executive producer Rinty Mackay, who also produced the Nighttime” stateside. You may know it would end up being a less-than-black comedy, but even that had redeeming qualities. The writing is witty and the acting is spot on.

DoYou Like Going to the Movies for Free?
You Should Write Movie Reviews for A&E!
Call The Voice x 2812

Josh Rouse "Nashville"
 Ryndiclic Records $14.00
www.joshrouse.com

French singer Carole Laure's debut album, 41 Degrees North, was a concept album. She follows Alex Hitchens, a professional “matchmaker” or “date doctor” who has so much trouble getting his life together that his stomach is full, I decided that the only disconcerting thing about Hitch is the fact that she follows the previews, however, Hitch lies to you...
On Sunday, February 23rd, twelve Connecticut College students and three alumni joined approximately 200 other participants in the Penguin Plunge at Ocean Beach Park in New London. The purpose of the event was to raise money for the Special Olympics of the Eastern region of Connecticut.

The panel was momentarily reminiscent of转让 during History Month Shakes Hanoi

President Norman Fainstein commented in Carnelweb news on the college's transition to a new dining hall on the Cove. "The new hall will provide a much better environment for students to study and will facilitate the cultural life of southeastern Connecticut," Fainstein said. "This is a major step forward in the development of the campus and will be a significant improvement for the students."
The Voice Congratulates Conn’s 2005 - 2006 Housefellows

Abbey House - Elly Dominguez
Blackstone - Deryl Pace
Branford - Ali Colia
Burdick - Kathy Butler
Freeman - Corey Spells
Hamilton - Sam Gould
Harkness - Steve Leone
JA - Alexis Werner
KB - Steph Platt
Knowlton - Robert Rex-Waller
Lambdin - Will Harper
Larabee - Emily Southard
Lazarus/Warnshius - Megan Hogan
Marshall - Alexis Zukowski
Morrison - Ianthe Hensman
Park - Susan Connor
Plant - Catie McLinn
River Ridge - Kate Reardon
Smith - Tim Ley
360/Earth House - Priyanka Gupta
Windham - Laura Gosnell
Wright - Jess Howton
Top Ten People Who Should Never Host The Oscars

10. Courtney Love (C’mon, it’s a family show)
9. Michael Jackson (Like it said: it’s a family show)
8. Martha Stewart (She’s gonna “steal” the show...or the Oscars!)
7. Chris Rock (Remember the MTV Movie Awards?)
6. Paris Hilton (There’s a lot of reading involved...all those cue cards.)
5. Andrew Dice Clay (Do you even need a reason?)
4. Pauly Shore (His new movie is called “Pauly Shore is Dead.” The man knows what he’s talking about)
3. Ali Gore (The show feels long enough)
2. A-rød (Might knock the trophy out of the winners’ hands)
1. David Letterman (We don’t want to see a repeat of the “Oprah” incident)

Camel Curiosity

The dromedary camel is no longer considered a wild animal. In Africa and Arabia it is a semi-domesticated animal that free ranges but is under the control of herders.

Source: http://www.seaworld.org

Quoteable Camels

So the Oscars are this coming weekend, and let me tell you, the roving reporter is more than a little disappointed that Harold and Kumar Go to White Castle was overlooked by the Academy for best picture and The Rock’s performance in Walking Tall didn’t earn him a best actor nod. But it did get us thinking here at The Fun Page, there must be movies out there that you love that maybe the critics don’t enjoy quite so much. So the roving reporter hits the streets in search of your favorite “bad” movies...

Senior Ross Morin: “Hmmm...‘Sleep Away Camp III.’”

Sophomore Erin Sullivan: “Is ‘Tremors’ good?”

Junior Lauren: “‘My Little Pony The Movie’...but I don’t feel guilty for liking it!”

Freshman Renata Shwallo: “How about ‘Crossroads?’”

Not fun enough? Send YOUR ideas for the Camel Fun Page to ccvoice@conncoll.edu. Because seriously, this page needs more alliterations.
Camel Of The Week: Casey Thran

By GERALD Wols

Camel of the week: Casey Thran, first-year women’s track and field member, will travel to Boston this weekend with the women’s indoor track and field team.

The Indoor season will end this weekend at the All New England Championships which will be held at Boston University this weekend. The men’s team was at Tufts last weekend, the 19th of February.

Connecticut College sports fans have certainly taken notice of Casey Thran’s big numbers and on the women’s basketball program. Coach Ward has also done a solid job recruiting new players, especially this year’s freshman class which is stronger than any other class at Conn College for a few years.

The team finished 10-13 this season, even more on the way. the team in scoring, averaging 11.2 points/game. Perhaps most importantly the team in scoring, averaging 11.2 points/game.

If anyone is ever in Durban during the final weekend of July, call me up and I will show you a grand time. The task requires a lot of the track, the thrilling sound of hooves cribbing down and kicking up the perfectly manicured race track, the cool winter breeze blowing in your face and through your cheap linen suit, the shouting of fans and gamblers as they are hoping for one final payday, and the beauty of the purebreds as they race to put in a good performance, the closer you start on the Inside, For Example, what is its draw? (The draw is one sense what horse is unruly, and in essence for me a better card...)

Julie, My Favorite Month Of The Year

continued from page 10

The biggest mistake you can make is to listen to people at the track — people that you don’t know. For that reason, you need to know as much about the horseyou want to back, and in essence for me...
SPORTS

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)

Men's Hockey Split Final NESCAC Contests

By Stefan Tarn

Starn Warns

Men's hockey played their final games of the season this past weekend as they traveled to Hamilton College to play in the NESCAC championship. With only 1 win under their belt for the season, the Camels were unable to defeat their one-dimensional opponents. (Web)

The Conn College women's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

My Favorite Month Of The Year

Conn Women Have Mixed Results In Final Games

By Peter Steinfeld

SPORTS EDITOR

On Friday, February 18th, the Cols. set the stage for what could be the final games of the season with their first of a two day series against visiting Hamilton College. The games were highlighted by a hotly contested second. The game started off with a hotly contested opening series that lasted over 5 minutes. The teams played a back-and-forth game with the score remaining tied at 1-1 for the entire game. The second period proved to be the most exciting for both teams. With 1:00 remaining, Conn was able to break the tie on a power play goal by Megan Lojacono '07. Despite losing the game, Conn was able to secure their first of a two day series against the visitors. (Holt)

The Connecticut Collegewomen's hockey team lost to Hamilton on Friday before closing out the season with a tie the following day. (Holt)

Final NESCAC Contests

The Conn Collegemen's hockey team avoided the NESCAC cellar last week. (Web)