Sympo. on Current Affairs In Latin America To Be Held

By Hannah C. Rosch

On March 4, 6 and 7 Connecticut College will hold a Symposium on Current Affairs in Latin America in the Palmer Auditorium. This first event will be a lecture on March 4 by the distinguished Latin American jurist, diplomat, and statesman Jose J. Alfaro, ex-President of Panama, former Minister of Panama to the United States, and member of the Permanent Court of International Justice. This topic will be "Contemporary Aspects of Inter-American Relations.

The opportunity to see three of our most important neighbors to the south in the pictures of the noted camera-reporter Julian Bryan will be unusual. Mr. Bryan was the only photographer-correspondent to travel through every part of the Argentine Wars and to this his account of it in "Siesta," with uncensored pictures. His pictures of Brazil and Argentina, to say nothing of the many Colonial, respectively on March 6, were taken in the summer of 1941. They show in detail the life of the German communities and their cooperation in the military defense plans of Brazil. Mr. Bryan spent some time in the interior of Brazil in order to give a picture of the characteristic economy of the country, and his pictures show the dramatic contrasts between the primitive Indians and the wealthy aristocrats of Spanish descent; they show the social progress in Buenos Aires and the lack of it in Havana. This topic will be "Social and Political Relations.

The main purpose of the gathering will be "Contemporary Aspects of a Latin-American Balance of Power." It should be illuminating to the public and to the students of the College.

Boat Races, Literature, Art, Interest Versatile Trustee

President of the F. H. A. and H. A. Champagne, members of the College, and trust in the interest of Boston.

Boston was his immediate aim, and he was to busy himself up the following day, not on business, but as a trustee, not as a father, but as Chairman of the Regents Committee for the Yale-Harvard boat races. The object of the trip was to talk to the Harvard officials about 1941's regatta, school, and school, and for June 4 here on the Thames. It seems that being chairman, like being president, is one of the things that Mr. Champagne has been doing for 41 years, for he is a New Englander and swims between organized labor and the labor movement. It is hoped that everyone will favor a rapprochment as such a rapprochment as that brought to the public and to the students of the College.

Our New Policy

It was on a Monday evening several weeks ago that the members of the editorial staff of the News surveyed with despair the heaps of galley sheets piled high about them. Speeches to the left of them! Lectures to the right of them! Whatever could all the material be made to fit into six page issue, and the result was a definitely drafted, interlaced, and slanted views of both the readers and the writers of News, the editorial board has adopted the plan of allowing only a part of the paper will be devoted to lectures and speeches, and the reporters, in covering their assignments, have been asked to limit their write-ups to fifty words or less.

We hope our readers this may seem to be an unfair policy, but there are two very sound reasons why we think it justifiable: (1) Those people who do not attend the lectures are probably not interested and certainly will not bother to read the write-ups; and (2) Those who did attend the lecture will no doubt merely scan the reviews or skip over them altogether.

By limiting the space allotted to reviews of past events, the News will attempt to compensate with lively feature stories, entertaining columns, and worthwhile tips on coming events. All remarks of criticism or approval will be greatly appreciated by the staff. Remember, this is your paper. It's the news to give you what you want.

Kenneth Roberts Presents Exciting Historical Novel

In "Oliver Wiscott," Kenneth Roberts gives us another of his exciting and adventure-packed historical novels in which he again tries to prove that most history books are outdated. This time he writes of the Revolutionary War from the point of view of a Tory, or Loyalist. The Loyalists, according to Mr. Roberts, were the real patriots of the cause because they loved their country and desired freedom, but they wanted that freedom under law. Oliver believed it could be achieved peacefully, feared the rabble-rousing leaders of the Rebels. Oliver Wiscott, a student at Yale, returns to college to find his town and the country side under the control of fighting mobs. Oliver then begins to burn the houses and destroying the property of any Loyalist. Oliver and his father are driven from their home and are forced to go to Boston. From then on, Oliver finds himself under the protection of the British and ally himself with them. He captures a Rebel schooner, acts as a spy, goes to London and Paris as an agent, becomes a soldier in the ranks, and at last when the Rebel cause is lost, joins the barreled French Loyalists to safety and a new life for himself with them. Carry On, Connecticut!

Every year's over but the election! Last week candidates were nominated for student government offices. Many campaign songs were sung through the auditorium. Now all that we have to do is cast our ballots—the most important action of all.

The successful functioning of a democracy depends upon the intelligent, good sportsmanship, fair-mindedness, and a careful examination of the merits of each of the candidates. It is preposterous of a student to vote for every student at Connecticut casts her ballot according to these standards, next year's student government will be started well on its way to succes.

Over a long period of years, our college has built up a tradition for fair elections in a successful democracy. Let's carry on, Connecticut!

One of the biggest problems was to find not only songs, but also the music for the English Shakespeare. Our College Songs, unlike our English suit, the record won't go out of style, unlike our voices, those voices will remain young. It looks like a good investment.

The Wesleyan Parley on Marriage will be held February 28, and has invited delegations from ninety colleges and universities in the New England and Middle Atlantic areas. The Parley will consist of addresses by noted speakers, among them Mrs. Katharine Hepburn, with table discussions, and a debate on "Women's Place in the Home."

That college students want marriage铭k a strong change "in many cases," is the result of the Student Opinion Survey of America. New England students were asked this question: "Do you want marriage?" 62 per cent were in favor of instruction on the subject.

The Senate of Brazil completed the first week of debate on the Lease-Bill and the Administration seems certain of an early passage. A Senate poll shows that fifty-six senators favor the bill, twenty-three oppose it. The Leasing Bill, twenty oppose the plan, and twenty-five are uncertain. But even in commenting on the bill many senators said that a decision on the Bill is business of 1941 and hoped that they would have been called to make. The opposition while mainly Republican, is made up of Senators Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat. Feelings are high in this group and in the Senate, there is fear of filibuster to delay this passage.

To the Editor:

In this present war we need more intelligent hate! Wars cannot go on without hate. The trouble with most wars has been that the hate was misdirected - was aimed at the wrong things. Consider, for instance, our own part in the wars 1917-1918, and illustrate by the following scene, described by a participant:

We hated with a common hate the Kaiser, when captured, be tried, and his supporters are stopped, to top your dinner off with Hitler broiled steaks. If you should want to top your dinner off with a delicious sundae, try Bailey's, just off Copley Plaza, for your cocktail or drink.

Here's a drink that is unique. It never loses the freshness of apples, and first charmed your taste. You drink it and enjoy an after-sense of complete refreshment. So when you pause to enjoy the day, make it the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola. You taste its quality.

Kenneth Roberts Presents Exciting Historical Novel
(Continued from Page Two) The return of the age of war, and the glorified and prejudiced historical accounts is evident. This book is in many ways the opposite of the "jewel" and "memories of Valley Forge," etc. The fault in his novel may be that it is too angry; Roberts is accurate, but over emphatic. He is at his best, however, in showing how war could have been avoided, or, once it had started, could have been quickly ended. With typical intensity, he describes for us the reaching out and grasping even those who are lovers of peace and freedom.

Chesterfield Free Book, Tobaccoland
So many requests have been received for the big free book, "Tobaccoland, U.S.A." offered by Chesterfield Cigarettes in a recent national newspaper advertisement, that another million copies for immediate distribution are being rushed through publication.

Individuals and groups will receive their free books by mailing a letter to Chesterfield & Myer Tobacco Company, 650 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. The name given to the group of states in connection with America's first cigarette tobaccos are grown. Of particular interest to many readers is the long preparation of tobaccos for Chesterfield, a process lasting from two to three years.

"Tobaccoland, U.S.A." also relates the story of a typical Southern tobacco-growing family, showing how the family's life revolves around the progress of the tobacco crop from seed to season. The importance of the cities and universities of America's tobacco capital are shown in pictures and text.

Chesterfield radio programs are on the air as follows:
Fred Waring's Pleasant Time---NRC Station Mondays through Thursdays 7-9 p.m.
Glenn Miller's Moonlight Serenades---CBS Stations--Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays 10-12 a.m.

"Let us lay all the blame for today's chaos at Hitler's door," said George Shuster, speaking on Catholicism, at the second of the inter-faith services, "For," he continued, "there is something radically wrong in the soul of man, else he could never be forced to forget the principles, and ethics of the Christian life.

This is not a time for helpless despair," he said, "for we know what is right and we can realize the brotherhood that will bring the peace of Christ." Catholicism stands for and always will stand for all that is justice and charity and kindness. "And the suffering of Catholics, as well as of others, will not be in vain," he concluded.

His literary interests made him eligible for the Elizabethan Club with its devotion to the Elizabethan writers. "I'm a good friend of Billy Philips, although I believe that if you flick through the pages of the Connect- icut Echoes, you'll see that Mr. Chamberlaine is a member of its advisory board, but he disclaims any credit. Perhaps this yea for literature is greater than Mr. Chamberlaine would like to admit.

There's another side to this trustee, his artistic one. He's been collecting etchings since his late teens. "I try not to specialize on one artist, although for a time I paid special attention to Zorn's work, and did accumulate a good number of Italian prints." The facts that "100 Years of American Prints" is on display in Grand Central Palace, that the exhibitor closes March first, and that he has a part in creating just one more problem in his life. He's civic-minded, too, as many know. At present he's on the Draft Board for the nine towns just outside of New London. Another "little" job he attends to is the management of the State Pier as Chairman of Commissioners of State Termi- nals. The Jonathan Cott Trust Fund, of which he is a trustee, is especially interesting to him, he says, because it's used only to provide luxuries, not necessities; to the inmates of New London's charitable organizations.

Another half-hour and consequen- tly another column would have revealed, perhaps, more about this versatile trustee. One hundred and one things in this life hold interest for him--business, college, sports, literature, the state, art, and his children.

A. A. News
At the Athletic Association meeting held Tuesday, February 18 in the A.A. room in Branford basement, a role was passed stat- ing that a girl may only compete in one sport because others would be kept out of competition if an in- dividual played on as many teams as possible. It was decided to place the recently purchased blazer on display in Fanning Orders. For the ticket are being taken by Frances Honer 42.

The basketball managers were appointed as follows: Lois Van- serhilt 41, Shirley Austin 42, Dorothy Fitzell 43, and Freddie Giles 44. The headliners managing were: Ann Breyer 43, Barbara Stengle 42, Margery Claverie 42, and Elizabeth Massie 44.

Inter-class swimming meets start March 12 and practice hours must precede the meets. It is important to remember that the races are all short and there are novelty races requiring no ex- ceptional skill. Sign up in Fanning early.

Caught On Campus

"Ohie has forgotten his collar and vest" wailed a certain junior from in the Hot House, as she regarded her Mid-winter date from Avenue A, who stood before her in this condition of partial deshabille. It was too late to go downtown and for a minute it looked sadly as though the dance was out. But "never say die" is our motto, and the junior, in a sudden flash of inspiration, picked up the phone and called Dr. Lawrence and Mr. Ames. Whereupon, these two noble gentlemen graciously donated the essentials. Professors do come in handy at times. Incidentally, should the teaching profession become dull, we would suggest that mathematics is the answer. The Ames hang out their sign: "Second-hand clothes for absent-minded college men."

We've been over to the library regularly pursuing our library major, "Abnormal Concentration" or "Adjust Yourself to Steam Shoes," which is very edifying. Our other resort to roaring or to sign language to convey any messages. We've found that using the dictionary is next to impossible. The other day when we were looking up "phantasmagoria" (no remarks to either resorts to roaring or to sign language to convey any messages. We've found that using the dictionary is next to impossible. The other day when we were looking up "phantasmagoria," the librarian was astonished to receive a beautifully wrapped baby alligator in the mail. As she was fondling the little dear, the ungrateful stuttered and demanded "What is it?" Quite naturally, she dropped him, and from his appearance as he lay prone on the floor, she decided that his neck was broken. He was rushed to the morgue immediately and latest bulletins say that he is coming along nicely.

We want to take this opportunity to express our deep appreciation to the college for omitting the day on Valentine's Day.

Connie Hilary '41 is sporting an engagement ring. The man is one Charles Motevar who lives in Long Island and works in New York. He graduated from Wesleyan last year.

Over in Windham the other day, there was a birthday party going on for Jessie Ashley (a late posting candidate). There was a birthday party going on for Jessie Ashley (a late posting candidate). There was a birthday party going on for Jessie Ashley (a late posting candidate). During the party, alarm clocks went off at three minute intervals (reminisces of mass egg cooking) and one Louise Stevens '41 took it upon herself to trot around and loose all the bells. However it became a pleasant affair as the first trip to each alarm clock at an extra cost produced a free gift that turned out to be a wedding present. In other words the party was a double feature. Birthday party and wedding show all rolled into one.

We think a blind date practical joke to funny as you do, but let this be a warining to you. 4'10" got her friend a 5'9" a blind, and they decided that B would dress as a complete lenon, meet her date, and then go upstairs and transform. The fatal eve arrived; B, looking like a caricature of the genus homo, flitted into the living room to give the boys a treat. She entered, turned on a swift transformation, rushed upstairs. She effected a swift transformation, and came down, but her bird had flown, pleading fairness. It evolved that he had been her first date—and a blind one too—and had thought that she was the person he had brought to the dance. Seeing her again, he was convinced of it, and had left saying "I never make the same mistake twice".

Oh, for the life of a senior—Carolyn Dick '41 dashed out one night from the library to mail some letters. She was carrying her let ters and some index cards. Stop ped by the subject "Economics and Man" (the title of her source theme) Miss Dick deposited the notes in the mail box, and went home to study her letters.

And then there was the girl—too—two—who solicited the up posing candidate to sign her petition.

The zoology lab goes Hypocrit ic! Friday past an underclassman was astonished to receive a healthy one pound baby alligator in the mail. As she was fondling the little dear, the ungrateful stuttered and demanded "What is it?" Quite naturally, she dropped him, and from his appearance as he lay prone on the floor, she decided that his neck was broken. He was rushed to the morgue immediately and latest bulletins say that he is coming along nicely.

We've been waiting for the day when someone would get married with the steam engine which has been chosen to hibernate near the li brary. What we've been waiting for didn't come true but the incident is right down our alley. B. Q. Hollingshead '41 was wrapped up in one of her letters (who isn't around here? we even get wrapped up in our blotters) the other day and fell in the rather large hole that the steam engine has made in its recess hours. A few hours were heard and when she was asked what happened, she replied that she had fallen in Mr. Benvenuti's hole. There's no doubt about it. Mr. Benvenuti is a very profound guy.

for Chesterfield

it's the smoker's cigarette
COOLER, MILD, BETTER-TASTING

It's called the smoker's cigarette because Chesterfield is the one cigarette that gives you a completely satisfying smoke.

You try a Chesterfield and find them cool and pleasant. You light one after another and find they really taste better. You buy pack after pack and find that Chesterfields are milder.

You can't buy a better cigarette
