Dr. Moore Reports
Plans and Dates
Of Summer Session

Activities Scheduled
Are Lecture Series, Lectures, Shows and Concerts.
The date of the Connecticut college summer session will be June 21 to September 13, according to an announcement made recently by Dr. John F. Moore, director of the summer session for 1944. The first term will last from June 21 to August 1, and the second term will be from August 27 to September 13.

The tuition fee for the full summer session of 12 points will be $1.00, while for the summer school courses, the fee will be $2.00. The fee for each course is $1.00, and for each three-point course, the fee is $2.00. Students who have completed 150 credits may take two three-point courses without charge, but they will have to pay for the extra points.

Normal Program
The normal program will be two terms of six-week periods for the first two courses of the regular curriculum.

Integrated Course Points
A special feature of the summer session is the opportunity provided for interested students to combine two related courses in a group.

Dear Editor,

This year, more than ever— if that is possible, the Sylvan Fund drive is worthy of special notice. Not only is the purpose of that obtaining funds to help in the construction of an alumnae building, a fine one but also the money being raised will mean nothing in which we can invest our money if more worthwhile than a worthwhile.

If two birds were ever hit with one stone, then the 1948 Sylvan Fund drive has hit the jackpot. Let’s back this double attack.

Dear Editor,

With the coming of elections it is necessary for each student to exercise his right to vote and to carefully consider the qualifications of the girl who has chosen as a candidate for the office.

Of equal importance, and especially for the freshmen, is the signing of the petitions. Once girls sign the first petition which is presented to them rather than waiting until they find the one for a girl they know to be well qualified. Occasionally this is excused with a shrug of the shoulders and a comment that we really know any of them. "To correct this situation, the candidates appear in the auditorium, sign and speak on some phase of the office for which they are running.

Let’s all exercise our rights to participate in student government by doing our best to elect and best the candidates for each office.

THE CAPITOL THEATRE

The Capitol theater will present the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hit Cry Havoc of Thursday, February 24, until Tuesday, February 22. The thrilling chapter in this film is, strangely enough, all women. Margaret Sullivan, Ann Southern, Joan Blondell, and Marsha Hunt are the stars. They portray the different walks of life, who are caught together in the horror and hardship of the Japanese invasion of Bataan and the Philippines at Pearl Harbor. Their efforts to work together to aid the Americans and their lives during the siege of Bataan make a story which is heroic and, at times, amusing, but it is also a plot that creates an exceedingly fine movie. Margaret Sullivan is particularly good in her part while Ann Southern and Joan Blondell provide some comic relief.

All Baba and the Forty Thieves

All Baba and the Forty Thieves will be the feature attraction at the Capital theater starting from Wednesday, February 16, through Saturday, February 19. This film has been photographed entirely in technicolor and was made through Universal studios, Maria Montez and Joan Hall are the stars. This is a modernized version of the famous Arabian Nights tale. There is nothing outstanding about this film other than the llevity in this battle. The acting of every one of the characters is extremely good and the film is well worth seeing if only to appreciate more fully the work of our armed forces in the present war.
Miss Schaffter Plans Lecture Explaining The College Charter

In her chapel talk on Tuesday, February 15, President Schaffter explained that one of her first duties as the new president of Connecticut college was to study the structure of the college. She began by describing the differences between colleges and universities, such as the buildings, the size of the student body, and the curriculum. Then she went on to say that there were many other differences of which she hopes the students should be aware. Since the subject is much too technical to be adequately covered in one chapel talk, Miss Schaffter plans to continue on this subject in her talks during the next two or three weeks.

Definition, Purpose of College

"The President continued her talk by saying, "I shall look at the college as a legal corporation, the college as a living thing, and the college as an academic institution."

The legal corporation formally names the administration staff, the state and the control of the college as one of the most important functions of the college. This institution is exercised positively, chiefly through officers or employees or agents of the corporation, and it is used negatvively through requiring permission to operate a college, not to admit or expel an incompetent and fraudulent person. The legal corporation is seeking to be educated."

Miss Schaffter then went on to say that on April 4, 1911, a charter was granted by the Connecticut Legislature to a group of citizens, who were the originators of this charter which constitutes a legal corporation. As trustee, the President, the faculty, the administration, the student body, the faculty or officer or employee or agent of the corporation, all are supposed to work to educate a man or woman for the purpose of seeking to be educated."

Miss Schaffter explained that the charter of the college is the first catalogue of the college in the library, since it bears an all-important relationship to their work.

Comparison of College and University

Miss Schaffter then explained that the charter as beginning under the name of "New London College of Thanesse College," and that she said that the end of the charter is a statement of fact that the legislature passed a resolution authorizing the incorporation of the "Connecticut College for Women," and that the charter from that statement of fact is that the legislature passed a resolution that the Connecticut college was incorporated as a corporation.

Miss Schaffter continued by saying that the difference between our incorporated college and the university of New London is in fact that the university has political power, while the college is granted this power to carry on educational enterprizes within a given area paricipates in legislation to the extent that the legislation is connected with the college, however, the college is given specific non-governmental functions and the institutions are political entities, which are primarily concerned with the general welfare of mankind. Miss Schaffter declared that "we, as a 'crown' of the state," are the "dominant purpose for which the college was established."

To Be Preceded by Luncheon in Dorms

On Wednesday and Thursday the Connecticut College Trustees are holding their regular quarterly meeting on campus, and in honor of their housing luncheon at Miss Schaffler's home on Thursday, some of them will have lunch in various dormitories so that students may meet them. In her chapel talk, Miss Schaffler urged the students to take advantage of this opportunity to meet the trustees since "they are doing such a remarkably fine job."

Miss Mary Bulkeley and Mr. F. Valentine Chappell, the father of an alumna of the class of '41 and the son of one of the first trustees, are to have lunch at Knowlton house. Miss Katherine Ludington, former President of the League of Women Voters for the state, Mr. Earl W. Stamm, President of the National Bank of Commerce In New London, and

Mr. William L. Cross, former ge-eral secretary of Connecticut and author of "Connecticut Yankee" will be guests at Windham house. Grace

Smith house will have Judge

Christopher L. Ayer and Mount

Agnes L. Leahy, an alumna and an executive of the New York branch of the Girl Scout organization

as its luncheon guests. Mr. Frederic C. Wallcott, former senator and former Director of Public Welfare for Connecticut, and Mrs. Dorothy L. McCuller will be guests at Freeman house. Jane

Addams house will be host to Miss Louise C. Howe, one of the original trustees, and to Mrs. Mary

Poulton Morrison, President of the local League of Woman Voters who worked at Hall

House with Jane Addams. Mary

Harkness will entertain Mr. William H. Putnam, Chairman of the Board of Trustees and a member of the Board of Hartford Hospital, and Miss Anna Lord Breus, who is working in an airplane factory in Bridgewater and who at

Caught on Campus

The former Mary Ann Swanger '44 is now Mrs. William Burns, the bride of Lt. (g.) Bill Burns of the Naval Air Corps. June McDermott '44 and Shirley Wood '44 were bridesmaids from here. Mrs. Burns left before exams but plans to return to college.

Two lost sheep have returned to the fold, Louise LeFever Norton '44 who got married last summer has returned to college for the second semester last year to be married, is living in New London and has returned to school to take the second semester of her senior year with the class of 45.

Not so fortunate Miss Noyes dropped a special pearl in her Vicky Litt class. She was discussing Ruskin and his ideas that architecture should fit its purpose and she went on to mention the fact that the Connecticut college architecture is the best of a monastery except for one obvious item, its fountains. That makes the college architecture not good in terms of Ruskin, or something. Another pearl she dropped was "It looks like a nursery, for obvious reasons."

Inquiries and requests for the Summer Session Bulletin should be addressed to the Director of the Summer Session, Connecticut College, New London, Connecticut.

A questionnaire has been distributed among the students and this is to be returned to the house presidents by February 18. The results of the questionnaire will be tabulated this weekend if possible and the details of the tabulation will be disclosed sometime in March.

A number of special conferences are being arranged to be held during the summer and some of these conferences will last a few days, while some are expected to last a few weeks. There will be a program of several weeks of art in wartime, and another on consumer problems. "These are examples of the sort of things being arranged for the Summer Session," Dr. Moore said.

The summer session office is in room 207 Fanning hall. Dr. Moore and Mrs. Cummins will answer any questions.

Available to get a Civil Service rating are 4 students of the class of 1945 who have been employed to work with the Personnel Bureau during the next few weeks. Employers will be meeting on short notice, and full particulars of the opportunities are on file.

The Bell Telephone Laboratories will have a number of openings in both their New York City and New Jersey locations for technical people.

The Calvert Distilling Company has nineteen plants located in Kentucky, Indiana, Maryland, and Ohio, all engaged in the production of industrial alcohol for the war effort. A graduate in the class of 1935 has been employed by them for a number of years and has given the bureau full details about the excellent employment opportunities available.

Alumnae Employed at L.B.M.

Lois Brenner '42 and Betty Shank '43 have both been notified of the merits of International Business Machines, and Helen Hippey '44 starts work for them on March 1. Interviews will be held Tuesday, February 22.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York City employed six of last year's seniors, Alice Brew- er, Yvonne Forbus, Wilma Par- ker, Ruth Remsen, Alice G. Saxon, and Augusta Wood. The employment manager has hopes of finding similar candidates in the class of 1943. He will be here early in March.

Mathematicians Needed

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Virginia, is looking for scientific aides, artist-illustrators, mathematicians, and computer specialists.

The Nursery department of the Framingham (Massachusetts) Reformatory for Women has an apprenticeship open for anyone interested in helping to plan a daily program combining child care, parent education, and social service.

Positions in Social Agencies

It is now possible for well-qualified girls just out of college who are interested in social work to become case workers with social agencies such as the Community Service Society in New York City. Arrangements will be made for training on a special scholarship basis.

Communications have been received from the Chief Signal Officer at Washington, D.C., on many of these positions is available in the bureau.

Civil Service Ratings Available

The Associate for the Junior Profes- sional Assistant examination are now at college. The examination will be given in the New London post office upon request. It is ad-
