

VariedOpinions on Post-War MilitaryConscriptionGiven

by Shirley Armstrong '45

In pursuance of its aim to present a student opinion on vital issues facing them as adults who must live with the consequences of what it is to again at peace, the News has taken it as its duty to find out what the student body thinks about compulsory military training in peace time.

Most of the members of each class have been asked for their opinions. Some of the students are better informed than others, and some of the political problems involved in any military training may not be made clear to the entire student body. The results are even more worth noting, for, despite the fact that the returns were simply, "What do you think?" it is not likely that the majority of the students are not aware of what exactly military training means.

The most striking similarity between the answers of the freshmen and the sophomores was the lack of interest of the seniors. Equally noteworthy is the sentiment that any military training that may be imposed would be subject to the individual's wishes. Some students believe that if the nation needs men in the service, let them volunteer, and those who do not want to be bound by the draft should not be compelled.

Eight Students Honored With Phi Beta Kappa Memberships

The newest members of the Delta chapter of Connecticut of Phi Beta Kappa were announced yesterday by President Dorothy Reinholt in the seminarian house chapel. They are Nancy Faye Attwood, Anne E. Heater, Katherine H. Lowe, Doreen McCabe, Lehd Meyer, Estelle M. Raymond, June C. Sawhill, and Clara R. Sinnott.

The most striking similarity between the newly-elected members of Phi Beta Kappa is their sur prise at having been chosen. No one had predicted their selection, although some had contributed consistently to campus activities on the campus.

Extra-CurricularActivities

One of the new Phi Betes, Katherine H. Lowe, accelerated and is now at work as hostess of the Union Memorial church in Cincinnati, Ohio. A major in the history department, she was an active member of the German club, the Foyer club and the Sunday school, representing her class on the Student assembly.

Mathematics Major

Marjorie McClean, whose major in mathematics is now complete, is now a reporter for the Topeka State Journal.

Radcliffe Offers Three Personal Fellowships

Radcliffe college, Cambridge, has announced that three graduate fellowships amounting to $600 each are available to the personal administration of the following three: Henry Lewis "Fellowship in Economic History," a first-year graduate student in the history department; Charles M. Martin, "Fellowship in Religion," a second-year graduate student in the history department; and A. A. Brown, "Fellowship in the Humanities," a second-year graduate student in the history department.

The fellowships are open to students of any class who have shown exceptional promise in their work and who have made a special contribution to the life of the college.
FREE SPEECH

The Editors of the "Page" do not hold them responsible for the opinion expressed in this column. The purpose of this column is to give the students an opportunity to express their views. This column is an organ for the expression of opinions, and the Editor must know the names of contributors.

To the Members of the Student Body:
Monday night at Amassigam home meeting, in answering the question of a freshman, I unfortunately hurt her feelings. A part of my answer was unjust, and for that I apologize to the freshman; for having my temper, I apologize to the entire group. Please know that I speak as an individual, not as a member of Connecticut government officer.
My feelings, I hope based on loyalty, were strong. I regret that between and after these feelings, good order and without my humble apologies.

Very sincerely,
Mary Lawrence '45

Dear Editor,

This year $300 has been set as the goal for war bond sales for each class.

To date no class has reached the halfway mark and it is already second semester. That leaves us approximately four months in which to see what we can do.

The goal is a high one. However, I do not feel that we have made a mistake in so establishing it. For many people, in three years of war, the constant request that they buy war bonds has become tedious. Likewise, the often repeated statement that men need equipment in order to fight never seems to take root. Furthermore, the truth of the matter remains. For, buying war bonds is the easiest way in which we can help bring the war to a close; in fact, for many of us, it is the only way.

Therefore, I am convinced that we can only be urged to buy Army Loan plans—which is not much, but they would help. However, this is not all. We have the responsibility. Many have done so already, but more have not.

Beginning now, let's make the participation 100% and work to the goal of having the bond sales figures in as soon as possible.

Mary Howard '46

DINNER PROGRAM

Wednesday, March 7, 1945

Seven o'clock, sophomore common

Dr. Seymour's excellent lecture by the annoying needles. Unfortunately such discourteous action is not an uncommon occurrence—needing needles and rushing papers are sources of disturbance at all college sidewalks, despite the "C" ruling to the contrary. It seems that such a state of affairs should not even be necessary. College girls should have enough innate courtesy to respect the comfort of those whose work we demand profit from the library they are attending.

1947

The Aim is 100%

College elections will take place Thursday, March 8, and it is in the interest of every one that we, the students of this college, will do the best that we can for the students of this college. For this reason, I wish to bring to your attention certain considerations that should precede each student's voting. But a word might be said on the whole election period.

Each year the election committee urges 100% student participation in the elections, and each year we are the worst offenders. There is no way we can save our college once we have gone to a start which they deserve, one which in the long run seems to be the only one which will benefit us.

It seems unfortunate that the junior and senior class are the only groups of students in and out of the Men's faculty lounge to vote. Some few students are oblivious of all this, and it becomes necessary for members of the election committee to phone them to remind them to vote. Is this active participation in Stu G?

Petitions for offices were taken out last week to be signed. But the deadlines could be taken out, intentions for them to be filled. This year, we shall endeavor to get out our total quota of applications.

The mistakes have already been made for this election period. Unfortunately, they are irreparable. There is, however, one chance left to redeem this poor showing. Several changes in the election methods this year may be the only way we can save our college once we have gone to a start which they deserve, one which in the long run seems to be the only one which will benefit us.

Thursday, March 1

Student Government elections
8:30 Mary's faculty lounge

Choir rehearsal
10:00 Chapel

Friday, March 2

Competitive plays, senior and junior 8:00 Auditorium

Sunday, March 4

Group report
9:00 and 10:00 Chapel

Jesus Messiah, 2:10 p.m.

House of Representatives
5:15 Bradford 22

Chairman election
7:50 to 10:00

PALMER RADIO PROGRAM

WNL

1490 On Your Dial

Thursday, March 1, 1:45 p.m.

"This Week in History" will be heard on the daily department program in The Founding of the Hospital in Christ in New London. The Rev. Mr. Neeld did the research and prepared the script.

Wednesday, March 7, 10:50 a.m.

The department of economics will present Public Affairs in Connecticut. Prof. Harleby W. Farr will discuss the important economic issues before the People of Connecticut.

Thursday, March 8, after noon

"Page" column will be heard on the history department program in The Founding of the Hospital in Christ in New London. The Rev. Mr. Neeld did the research and prepared the script.

Friday, March 9, 10:50 a.m.

The department of economics will present Public Affairs in Connecticut. Prof. Harleby W. Farr will discuss the important economic issues before the People of Connecticut.

MOVIE MINUTES

BY JEAN HOWARD '45

50,000,000 POSTWAR JOBS

No, this isn't an old issue, it's a new one. Hooray everybody, it's time to organize! In case you're interested, I have spent the last three weeks looking for a job. This is what I found: THERE ARE NO JOBS! I am not saying that Paul McNeill doesn't know what he is talking about or that the national service act isn't a good idea. There probably is a shortage of war workers. But I am talking about the kind of a job you would be likely to look for after the war, or the kind of a job which would be unfilled when the war ends. (The case for war is quite a different story altogether.)

And that kind of a job is very hard to find. I have been looking, and when the war ends, a few million war workers and their families will be looking, too, not to forget several generations of teenagers who will be looking for work.

If nothing is done about it now, there will be large scale unemployment in the postwar period. To convert the biggest war production center of the world to a peace time operation involves more than a victory parade down Fifth Avenue. To induce businesses to start making telephones and radios requires more than a presidential statement that the war is over. We are told that only full postwar employment can prevent the unemployment crisis. In order to keep the machines running, it is necessary to increase the standard of living of all those Americans who lived on a subsistence wage until the war broke out. In order to help the liberated countries back on their feet, we will need sixty million jobs here at home.

Needless to say, it will take the most gigantic effort and planning to enable private industry, with the help of the government when necessary, to provide sixty million jobs.

"Yes, Pa, I learned how to Christy"
Personnel Bureau Presents List of Summer Positions

Even at this early date, the Personnel Bureau is requesting applications for several summer jobs. These opportunities are numerous and are available in many fields of work, including business, education, and industry. The Personnel Bureau is particularly interested in the opportunities for part-time work provided by these positions. For more information about these and other summer positions, students are encouraged to contact the Personnel Bureau. The Personnel Bureau will be open on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Work in Mexico and Arabia

The Personnel Bureau is pleased to announce an upcoming trip to Mexico and Arabia. This opportunity will provide students with the chance to explore new cultures and gain valuable work experience. The trip is open to all students and will begin on August 1st. Those interested in applying are encouraged to speak with the Personnel Bureau as soon as possible.

Student Botanists Are Now Busy With Flower Show Plans

By Pat McNeil '45

One of the forthcoming events on the college calendar is the annual flower show. This year, the show will be held on May 1st and is expected to draw a large crowd. According to the Personnel Bureau, the show will feature a wide variety of plants and flowers, as well as a selection of interesting exhibits. Those interested in participating in the show are encouraged to contact the Personnel Bureau as soon as possible.

LC's Phi Beta Kappa Chapter Observes Tenth Anniversary

By Dr. Hannah G. Bond

Ten years ago, on February 13, 1935, the LC's Phi Beta Kappa chapter was installed at Connecticut College. The chapter's founders were Dr. Hannah G. Bond, and Dr. Walter R. MacCrone, both of whom were prominent figures in the history of the college. Since its inception, the chapter has continued to thrive, and it has become an integral part of the college community.

In commenting on our qualifications as a member of the investiture, Dr. MacCrone emphasized the importance of being a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. He noted that the society was founded to recognize academic excellence, and that membership in the society is a symbol of intellectual achievement.

Critics Laud Sophomore Play, Call Freshman Play Deficient

By Dr. R. B. Jones

While it is true that many critics are always quick to praise the performances of the students in the college's drama programs, it is also true that there are times when the students are not able to satisfy the expectations of the critics. This was the case with the recent performances of the students in the college's drama programs.

In the case of the sophomore play, the critics were particularly complimentary. They praised the performances of the students, and they commended the efforts of the faculty members who had worked so hard to make the play a success. The critics noted that the play was well-crafted, and that it was well-received by the audience.

On the other hand, the critics were much more critical of the performances of the students in the freshman play. They noted that the performances were not as strong as those in the sophomore play, and that the play was not as well-crafted. The critics also noted that the play was not as well-received by the audience.

Youth Shakespeare

The Youth Shakespeare festival was held on March 30th, and it was a great success. The festival featured performances by several high schools, and it was attended by a large crowd of students and faculty members. The festival was organized by the college's drama department, and it was a wonderful opportunity for the students to showcase their talents.

Social Science

The Social Science department has announced a new course for the upcoming semester. The course, which is called "Sociology of Modern Society," will be taught by Dr. John Smith. The course will cover a wide range of topics, including social structure, social change, and social inequality.

Influence of World War on American Society

The influence of World War II on American society was significant. The war had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.

By Shirley Armstrong '45

The United States entered World War II on December 7, 1941, with the attack on Pearl Harbor. The war lasted for four years, and it had a profound impact on the American society. The war brought significant changes to the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country.

In the economic sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way goods were produced and distributed. The government took on a more active role in the economy, and it implemented a number of policies to support the war effort. The war also had a significant impact on employment, as many men and women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

In the political sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way the government was organized and operated. The government became more centralized, and it took on a more active role in the management of the economy and the military. The war also led to significant changes in the way the country was governed, as the government took on a more active role in the regulation of business and industry.

In the social sphere, the war had a significant impact on the way people thought about and behaved. The war led to significant changes in the way people thought about war and peace, and it led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of government in society. The war also led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of women in society, as many women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

Influence of Word War II on American Society was a significant event in American history. It had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.

Youth Shakespeare

The Youth Shakespeare festival was held on March 30th, and it was a great success. The festival featured performances by several high schools, and it was attended by a large crowd of students and faculty members. The festival was organized by the college's drama department, and it was a wonderful opportunity for the students to showcase their talents.

Social Science

The Social Science department has announced a new course for the upcoming semester. The course, which is called "Sociology of Modern Society," will be taught by Dr. John Smith. The course will cover a wide range of topics, including social structure, social change, and social inequality.

Influence of World War on American Society

The influence of World War II on American society was significant. The war had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.

By Shirley Armstrong '45

The United States entered World War II on December 7, 1941, with the attack on Pearl Harbor. The war lasted for four years, and it had a profound impact on the American society. The war brought significant changes to the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country.

In the economic sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way goods were produced and distributed. The government took on a more active role in the economy, and it implemented a number of policies to support the war effort. The war also had a significant impact on employment, as many men and women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

In the political sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way the government was organized and operated. The government became more centralized, and it took on a more active role in the management of the economy and the military. The war also led to significant changes in the way the country was governed, as the government took on a more active role in the regulation of business and industry.

In the social sphere, the war had a significant impact on the way people thought about and behaved. The war led to significant changes in the way people thought about war and peace, and it led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of government in society. The war also led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of women in society, as many women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

Influence of World War II on American Society was a significant event in American history. It had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.

Youth Shakespeare

The Youth Shakespeare festival was held on March 30th, and it was a great success. The festival featured performances by several high schools, and it was attended by a large crowd of students and faculty members. The festival was organized by the college's drama department, and it was a wonderful opportunity for the students to showcase their talents.

Social Science

The Social Science department has announced a new course for the upcoming semester. The course, which is called "Sociology of Modern Society," will be taught by Dr. John Smith. The course will cover a wide range of topics, including social structure, social change, and social inequality.

Influence of World War on American Society

The influence of World War II on American society was significant. The war had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.

By Shirley Armstrong '45

The United States entered World War II on December 7, 1941, with the attack on Pearl Harbor. The war lasted for four years, and it had a profound impact on the American society. The war brought significant changes to the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country.

In the economic sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way goods were produced and distributed. The government took on a more active role in the economy, and it implemented a number of policies to support the war effort. The war also had a significant impact on employment, as many men and women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

In the political sphere, the war led to significant changes in the way the government was organized and operated. The government became more centralized, and it took on a more active role in the management of the economy and the military. The war also led to significant changes in the way the country was governed, as the government took on a more active role in the regulation of business and industry.

In the social sphere, the war had a significant impact on the way people thought about and behaved. The war led to significant changes in the way people thought about war and peace, and it led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of government in society. The war also led to significant changes in the way people thought about the role of women in society, as many women entered the workforce to support the war effort.

Influence of World War II on American Society was a significant event in American history. It had a profound impact on the economy, the political landscape, and the social fabric of the country. It was a time of great change, and it had a lasting impact on the course of American history.
Sexual Training

The enthusiasm for the swimming has apparently died down in the boys, for the number of girls signing up to go to the pool on the basis of ‘In Tow’ is still dwindling at an alarmingly fast rate. There is the possibility that we have the pool now, so let’s use it! The boys are all being taught on the side as soon as the slip is posted.

Rotary Club Will Give
Lunch Thurs., Mar. 22

Sisters, daughters, and wives of Rotary men are invited to the Rotary Club of New London through the chairmen of its program committee, Mr. Neator Dreyn, to have lunch with the members at the Manchester
Hotel on Thursday, March 22.

Anyone who wishes to accept should sign up on the sign-up list which Mr. Arthur Fernandez has posted in the hall.

For further information see any Connecticut College choir member.

Opinion Reserved

Among the seniors questioned
May 30, 1945, Miss Mary Wiltsie felt well enough informed to state a definite opinion. At the moment she believes that it is a good idea but is reserving her final decision until she has Norman Thomas speak at a Peace Conference association meeting. She adds, “It should be education in such things as long programs in high schools) and scientific, whereby he asserted.

As the time in which the nation must live comes closer, France and China must be included in the controlling powers, she feels. In fact, in the determined egoism of the Nations League indicates conclusively that the sinner and sincere cooperation of the powers is basic to success, he emphasizes.

As Americans, he declared,
we should have the utmost
understanding which will characterize our attitude at the close of the last war, yet we must bear of excessive optimism that
the right formula is applied,
last war will result. We must also beware of Nazi cynicism,
which regards every man as a
tool to be used, he added.
We must not exalt to achieve immediate perfection, for the last war was overcome because
the powers is basic to success, he
emphasizes.

As Americans, he declared,
we should have the utmost
understanding which will
characterize our attitude at the close of the last war, yet we must
bear of excessive optimism that
the right formula is applied,
last war will result. We must
also beware of Nazi cynicism,
which regards every man as a
tool to be used, he added.
We must not exalt to achieve
immediate perfection, for the last war was overcome because
the powers is basic to success, he
emphasizes.

As Americans, he declared,
we should have the utmost
understanding which will
characterize our attitude at the close of the last war, yet we must
bear of excessive optimism that
the right formula is applied,
last war will result. We must
also beware of Nazi cynicism,
which regards every man as a
tool to be used, he added.
We must not exalt to achieve
immediate perfection, for the last war was overcome because
the powers is basic to success, he
emphasizes.

As Americans, he declared,
we should have the utmost
understanding which will
characterize our attitude at the close of the last war, yet we must
bear of excessive optimism that
the right formula is applied,
last war will result. We must
also beware of Nazi cynicism,
which regards every man as a
tool to be used, he added.
We must not exalt to achieve
immediate perfection, for the last war was overcome because
the powers is basic to success, he
emphasizes.

As Americans, he declared,
we should have the utmost
understanding which will
characterize our attitude at the close of the last war, yet we must
bear of excessive optimism that
the right formula is applied,
last war will result. We must
also beware of Nazi cynicism,
which regards every man as a
tool to be used, he added.
We must not exalt to achieve
immediate perfection, for the last war was overcome because
the powers is basic to success, he
emphasizes.
Connecticut College News

Student Tells Impressions of Summer Spent at U. of Mexico by Jane Logan '47

Anything rather odd that an American might do in Mexico is extremely amusing to a Mexican," says Jane Logan, who spent the summer of 1944 in Mexico. She is a top student at Connecticut College, where she majoring in music.

"I have met a great many people in my internment camp and found them always very kind and most generous," she said. "I have been impressed by the fact that the Mexican people are very friendly and they always welcome you with open arms."

Logan said that she was impressed by the beauty of the Mexican landscape and the people who live there. She also found the food to be excellent and the people to be very hospitable.

"I would recommend that anyone who has the opportunity to visit Mexico should do so," she said. "It is a wonderful country with a rich history and culture."

Flagpole Was Gift Of 43rd Division by Betty Reiffel '46

October 2, 1945 was an exciting and an important day for the students of Connecticut College, who received the gift of the 43rd division of the Connecticut National Guard. The gift was a flagpole, and the students were very excited to receive it.

"It's a great honor to have a flagpole representing our college," said one student. "We're excited to have it as a symbol of our school and our connections to the military."
Caught on Campus

The campus ice, snow, and water (repeat) of the last months has finally been left where broken bones have resulted, but bruised noses and happy situations have been acquired. Last Friday evening the weather still being bright, the campus started to grow, but the resulting frost was not as dramatic as the ice. As a solution to this problem, we have decided that you will not be caught on campus.

A general gripe around campus these days is that younger sisters seem to look older than their sisters at C.C. Sally Rudowsky ’47, Betty Redfield ’46, and Linda Vanz ’46 are all gasp with this trouble. Perhaps for the reason this can be found in the sisters here haven’t got any worries. Things like getting out of high school and dates, for instance. Thus look at Harp Marshall ’40 and her sister Lois ’46. Will some body explain why Harp still looks older even after a semester in college?

Your report can’t refrain from telling the weather situation. It seems a short time ago Liz Gilbert ’40 was at Skipper’s for dinner with the Greenie girls. The story goes that the car was parked, when the two went for the dinner. The couple met some friends at Skipper’s, who, undoubt- edly, finished dinner first. When last seen, the two girls were heading toward Skipper’s. If they found it crossing over the campus, their wheels in mid air.

While two weren’t as strong as the group had been so they could hold the little car on all the four,革命, Lila was safe, and so a trip to honor court.

WARMER BROOKS

WINTER WEAR, thru Sat.

Can’t Help Singing

DEANNA DURBIN
and

Enter Arsen Lupin

HOUSE OF FRANKENSTEIN
MILLS CLUB

Friday, Feb. 28 thru Thurs.
A. J. Coolidge

The Kent’s Kingdom
with the sensational new star
Saturday, Feb. 28
and

Enter Arsen Lupin

Riders of the Purple Sage

Sunday and Monday

Crash Dive

Cuban Diva

Dull Mountain

--- 110 ---

Cracky Knights

ViCTOrY

Wednesday, April 16 and Thursday
Gene Tunny and Duke Andrews

The Perfect Place

Friday and Saturday

Maga Henle and Jake Farno

Iceland

KOCHEK

Riders of the Purple Sage

Sunday and Monday

Crash Dive

Ice Diva

Celebrate!

F Lic

PORTRAIT

Saturday, April 16

National Bank of Commerce

Established 1852

New London, Connecticut

Ask for Special Check Book for College Students

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Regal Fur Shop

Remodeling, Relining, Repairs. New coats made to your measurements—Cleaning and Guarantee.

STORAGE

All Knitting Supplies

Home Arts Corner

3 Eunson St.

The Style Shop

128 State Street

College Sportswear

Furs

Military

YELLOW CAB

PHONE 4821

Thirfty Cut Rate Store

9 Main St.
New London, Conn.

Lowest prices on

Perfumes

Toiletries

Cosmetics

Patent Medicines

Charcoal Broiled Steaks

and Chops

Sea Food

Cocktails

Danny Doyle's Restaurant Annex

101 North Bank Street

New London

Any excuse you can give for not paying your savings will please Robert Ennels and puppet Musselchie.

Red Rose Restaurant

Chinese and American Cooking

The Eating Place of

14 Main St., New London

re people, we offer the sidewalks. Then you could visit the new home at your leisure.

JONES

(Continued from Page Three)

scene, the use of characters with- out a speaking part was very ex- pected and made one realize that this role is one that could be used to advantage much oftener than it commonly is. In the brief interlude just preced- ing the final scene, the good was the use of the dancing to bring and brighten the grace- matic quality of the work in the simplicity of the setting at this point. The final scene was short and meaningful of the action. And throughout the play, but more especially in the first scene, the use of appropriate costume, as it always can, to the advantage of expression of the emotional mood. In fact, the writing, and directing showed an im- mense ability of unusual character.

The action紧凑ed up to the very end. Especially good were Margaret Segal, and Barbara Wills, and the remaining members of the cast supported them well. The sophomore class has set up a standard which may reasonably be expected to keep them in the future.

The Lady Has Plans

Tyrone Power

A. J. Cronin's

Thursday

Betty Reiff, '46.

The creation and duration of the Th~ juniors named on the Honors list were Frances Farnam, Edith Low, Marriet M. Lown, Lucy M. Susan G. Rippey, Judith B. Roberts, Ann H. Shakes, a use- ful contrib-utor, as it always can, to the expression of the emotional mood. In fact, the writing, and directing showed an immense ability of unusual character.

The action紧凑ed up to the very end. Especially good were Margaret Segal, and Barbara Wills, and the remaining members of the cast supported them well. The sophomore class has set up a standard which may reasonably be expected to keep them in the future.

The Lady Has Plans

Tyrone Power

A. J. Cronin's

Thursday

Betty Reiff, '46.

The creation and duration of the Th~ juniors named on the Honors list were Frances Farnam, Edith Low, Marriet M. Lown, Lucy M. Susan G. Rippey, Judith B. Roberts, Ann H. Shakes, a useful contributor, as it always can, to the expression of the emotional mood. In fact, the writing, and directing showed an immense ability of unusual character.

The action紧凑ed up to the very end. Especially good were Margaret Segal, and Barbara Wills, and the remaining members of the cast supported them well. The sophomore class has set up a standard which may reasonably be expected to keep them in the future.

3rd Winter Graduation Ball

 figuring movement . . .
.. The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyly- ing movement . . ." The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyling movement . . ."

The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyling movement . . ."

The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyling movement . . ."

The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyling movement . . ."

The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite naturalness of its beautifully modeled drapery, and above all the graceful slyling movement . . ."

The statue, whose proper name is Nike of Samothrake, was probably a Rhodian sculptor, in keeping with the general style of the original. It came into the possession of Giuseppe Manzoni who placed it on the grounds of his summer home Bothe Farm Spring—In Lebanon, Conn. Mr. Lamb was very fond of Nike as the following excerpt from a letter to Miss Blunt, President of the Connecticut College, shows:

"The refined beauty of this figure of the Greek Goddess of Victory, blended with its impression of vivacity, the exquisite natu-