Serious Thought Devoted to Problems
Of Great Import Will Bring Solutions
If enough people start thinking about a problem, you could probably think of a lot of things. For instance, I’d say they could be used as fish bowls.

I provided you only the idea; small fish, and provided those small fish didn’t have too much light to go about their business, because I imagine the inside of a coffee can could be pretty dark even if you didn’t put the top back on.

Now if you sat down and tried to think of something to do with empty coffee cans, you could probably think of a lot of things. For instance, you could use them as fish bowls.

Mock Legislature Considers Bills on Proposed Amendments for Legislation

On March 6, the Connecticut Intercollegiate Student Legislature will convene in the Capitol Building in Hartford to consider some 25 bills proposed by Connecticut's eighteen colleges. Most of the legislation considered will be directed at fulfillment of the state's needs; others, some of them extremely interesting, are proposals for Constitutional amendments or new federal legislation to be referred to the central government through the state.

Connecticut College will be represented in the Senate by Frances Wilcox '33, and Margaret Bloch '36. Frances is also slated to run for the presidency of the Senate against Vincent Cicchelli of Dartmouth State Teachers' College. In the House will be: Susan Brown '33, chairman of the Agricultural Senate and House; and the Keeper's Lodge.

Harold Urey Talks On Meteorites for Thurs. Convocation
Meteorites, Their Origin, and Composition was the title of the Convocation lecture given by Professor Harold C. Urey on February 19 in Palmer Auditorium.

Mr. Urey, a professor of chemistry at the University of Chicago, devoted to the war research program on the atomic bomb, has earned many degrees in his field, was awarded the Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1938, and the distinguished service award of West Point, Kappa in 1950.

He began his lecture on stating that it was not until the early 19th century that people believed that meteorites fell from the sky. Since then scientists have chased them into two main groups: the stones and the irons.

As there are many more stones than iron meteorites, Mr. Urey concluded with more detail about this group. Two kinds of stones can be found in the meteorites: the chondrites or chondrules, and the achondrites or chondrites.

Mr. Urey discussed several tests which have been made to prove the composition of meteorites.

The Knights of Columbus and the Sigma Theta Alpha Sigmas from the University, along with the State College of Connecticut at New London, will honor Mr. Urey with a dinner in the course of his lecture.

Junior and Sophs Triumph in Games

Competitive basketball games got underway again last evening when the four class teams met for the second time. The fun began with the Junior class displaying a nice bit of team co-ordination while playing the class of 53. The next hour saw the Freshman class valiantly battling against relentless attacks of the Sophomore class.

The Junior team played an invading game, sparked by the exceptional playing of Joan Abbott ’54. At half time, things were not looking particularly bright for the Junior team which was trailing the Senior team by a score of 28-18. The juniors decided that they could not break the precedent that their class had started two years ago, and they made a fabulous comeback in the second half to top the seniors, 35-33.

The freshman and sophomore teams took their positions a few minutes after the joyful juniors made their noisy departure. From the first moment of play, the sophomores were out to destroy fraternities as loyal activities. Such charges are irresponsible and unfounded now.

Travel Editor of The Dallas News

Originally published in The Dallas Morning News on Sunday, November 11, 1951, this article is reprinted for the benefit of those who are going to Europe.

Mrs. Chris Thornhill Hammond of New York, a soft-spoken Texan, is a woman with ideas. Her latest brainchild is a compact little book called Shop With Confidence in Europe. It tells you where to buy everything from antiques to wood carvings—and in ten different countries.

You might even call Mrs. Hammond the European shopper's Duncan Hines, for her book has a history and a policy similar to the noted Mr. Hines' Adventures in Good Eating, and Lodging for a Night. Neither author takes money for listing places in the guides and no advertising appears in them; both authors started their lists as a convenience to friends, more or less as a hobby, but soon found that a wider circulation was in order.

Contents:

Shops, shops, craftsmen and services from the following countries are listed: Belgium, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Scotland, Sweden, Switzerland—plus a chapter devoted to each. The addresses of each shop or service appears beneath it.

Soon after the first of the year, the 1952 edition of the guide will be out with quite a few additions. At the present time, the 1951 edition can be ordered through the Marchbanks Press, 1114 East Thirteenth Street, New York 3, N. Y. A copy costs $2.50. The first printing was in January, 1950.
