SPORTS

Tune in page 10 for previous week’s articles. Check out page 9 for the results.

A&E

Sweet Cherry, directed by Lawrence Tirel, and starring Connecticut student actors, takes the stage this weekend at Tamtill Black Box Theater.

NEWS

This week, the College renounced its plans to offer Winchester faculty housing to students in order to finance the construction of a new number of student housing units. Check out p.6 for details.

Conn Student Participates in "The Gates" Art Project

Student LifeReadiders reconsider House Council Positions

By Marisa Colet

Every spring during the recruitment process, students are elected to House Council positions. The Office of Student Life (OSL) has created a new proposal to amend the current House Council structure to enhance student representation and to ensure that a House Council that is generally more efficient and effective. Currently, each dorm's House Council is comprised of the following positions: one Housefellow, one Governor, one Senator, two representatives from each class, two SAC Coordinators, two Environmental Coordinators, two OVCS Representatives, and one House Diversity Coordinator. A summer reorganization of Trustee and Governors was compiled by the Office of Student Life in regards to the current reorganization of the College and to improve the effectiveness of the house council. There were some positive comments about the reorganization of the OVLs and OVCS representatives. Those positions were eliminated from the current reorganization. The light negative was SAC Coordinators, Class Representatives, and two Environmental Coordinators. The Judicial Task Force (JTF) is currently reviewing the College's Room Policy to evaluate the appropriate circumstances under which a campus safety officer can enter a student's room without his or her consent. Under the current policy, unless there is an emergency, College staff must gain permission of the Dean of Student Life and of another appointed College administrator before entering a student's room. The current policy includes extensions of the Dean of Student Life, or designee, and where, practical, with the agreement of the student and the student's parents.

The Task Force is considering enabling campus safety officers authority to enter a student's room without the student's consent in certain instances where danger is clearly apparent (such as smoke billowing under a door). The Task Force is still currently reviewing the policy.
Students were surprised last Friday when President Fainstein announced his resignation. The announcement came in the form of a campus-wide e-mail. Because Fainstein has been at Conn for four years, there were clearly many things to be said regarding his role here.

"President Fainstein faced a grim situation when he began his tenure as President of the College in 2001. Unfortunately, many students who have enrolled at the College since then have heard rumors about Conn's previous president, Claire Gaudiani. After undertaking several projects that the College was unable to afford and attempting to instill interdisciplinary themes across the city of New London, Gaudiani left the College with a financial deficit after the faculty called for her resignation. Thus, much of Fainstein's endeavors were focused on addressing the College's financial crisis, and indeed he succeeded."

"The College has seen a financial surplus in recent years, which has increased the endowment. Although the College has still been unable to immediately initiate large projects, it has set itself in its Strategic Plan, the stable budget attributed to Fainstein's conservative financial management has enabled the College some financial flexibility to afford the mid of Gaudiani's scenario. For instance, the new Athletic Center roof and the campus-wide Internet upgrade both installed last summer were hundreds-thousand-dollar projects that the College's budget was able to accommodate."

"Aside from increasing the financial stability of the College, President Fainstein has addressed the important issue of diversity. Thus, Fainstein has brought the issue of Vice President for Advancement Gregory Waldron, who joined the College from Wesleyan University. Waldron is an important addition to Conn's administration, as he has already stated several ways he intends on meeting financial needs. For example, he plans to initiate the creation of a committee charged with finding ways to tell the College's Strategic Plan to various groups outside the campus community. Thus, the financial work will continue even after President Fainstein leaves office."

"And aside from increasing the financial stability of the College, President Fainstein has addressed the important issue of diversity at the College. He created the Presidential Commission on Priority only one year after coming to the College. Furthermore, he addressed his concerns on campus with a mandatory diversity summit two years ago. This season our women's basketball team finished the season 10-13. We were competitive with many conference teams, such as nationally ranked Bowdoin and Williams, and achieved a huge NESCAC victory over Colby. It is the first time in eight years that Conn Women's basketball has finished with double digits in the win column, improving from a season four years ago when we won 2-19.

"The College Voice claims that there is still time for the team to "save their season" and build on a "less than impressive record." As a team we are proud of our accomplishments this season and the progress our women's basketball program has made over the past few years. Finishing with the best record that Conn Basketball has seen in eight years is more than impressive. If the authors of these articles took the time to come to a game, they would not only have seen the energy and heart of our team, but our ability to remain competitive against one of the best divisions three teams in the country. It would be nice if our college newspaper recognized what we consider to be a very successful season."

In light of the achievements and progress that have been made over the past few years and our nearly 500 record this year, it is absurd that an article was placed in The College Voice claiming that our team has had an "inconsistent year." Our combination of senior leadership and the addition of many young players ready to step up and fill roles have resulted in one of the best seasons that Conn Women's basketball has seen in years. However, the article in the February 4th edition of The College Voice claims that there is still time for the team to "save their season" and build on a "less than impressive record."

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. However names may be withheld upon the author's request. The College Voice will not publish letters deemed to be a personal attack on an individual. The College Voice cannot guarantee the publication of any submission. Letters should be single-spaced, no longer than 500 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters as a Microsoft Word attachment to: ccvoice@conncoll.edu.
THE COLLEGE VOICE · MARCH 4, 2005

THE COLLEGE VOICE · MARCH 4, 2005

OPINION

TIm RED SPECTER OF LIBERALISM? THE FUTURE OF VIETNAM?

YoN!FREEMAN • ... we hold back and take our chances.? Let's not roll the dice."

ANDREW MEYER, I HAVE ADDED Call x 2812

It's been said that Rush Limbaugh has a near-monopoly on scientific capa bilities that developed in Los Alamos thrust itself to techniques developed in the Manhattan project; for in the mid-1940s, after World War II, the United States moved from its strangle-hold on the Lebanese government and people. The tour guide, who explained the history to them, said that the situation in Lebanon is spilling over from control of the Syrian. The UN Security Council passed Resolution 1559 in September of 2004, calling for an end to all violence in Lebanon and for the withdrawal of foreign troops from the country. The United States and the United Nations have demanded that the Syrian troops be withdrawn, but so far there has been no progress. The situation in Lebanon continues to be a source of concern for the international community.

SUDDENLY, HOPES FOR LEBANON

FRED HARRIS® IN RIGHT FIELD

Lebanon is a relatively tiny country—it's even smaller than Connecticut. However, its size does not detract from its cultural or historical significance. During the last thirty years, Syrian troops have occupied large swaths of Lebanon, including the border region known as the Lebanese government have been controlled from Damascus. Today, though, there are signs that Lebanon might be a little more stable and prosperous than it was only a few years ago.

The latest move that has been greeted with hope is the announcement that President Bush has decided to withdraw American forces from Lebanon. This decision, which was made after consultations with the United Nations and the World Bank, is seen as a significant step towards a peaceful resolution of the conflict in the region.

A COMPLETE IDIOT'S ZAGRI'S GUIDE TO BARRO'S SPRING BREAK FOR DUMMIES — 2005 EDITION

Andrew Mayer • Host ADD

As the time before break quickly winds down (or, as the case may be, drags by with a brick in my waist, in my case), we are already starting to worry about what our spring break will look like. For those of you who don't know much about spring break, let me give you a little back ground information. The benefit of a guide to help you stay working, but difficult, because it's kids who move over the crew and make the rest of us look bad. With that, I bring you to the heart of the column: a guide to spring break locations. When making a guide, one must take into consideration many factors: affordability, fun, location, historical and cultural significance, and relaxation opportunities. However, none of these things really apply to the United States, so let's just go with a few other criteria. First, the travel experience...
Jump Off the Bandwagon!

As anyone who’s ever watched MTV knows, the 80’s were a time when flax-plum rock was king. I’m not talking about punk, either--it was just the era when the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles could get away with wearing flax-plum clothing. What was even worse is that only the more hipster-y of us could afford to dress like that. It was a time when people didn’t need to be told to be original to you. But hey, we’ve all come a long way since then.

ZACH ADAMS

Jump Off the Bandwagon!

Soul Confessing: Free Jazz Band

The Saturday Afternoon Concert Series continues with the New London Jazz Ensemble, a student group, performing at 3:30 PM in the main hall of the Theater. The program features a mix of traditional and contemporary jazz, with a focus on soulful improvisation and creative expression.

Soul Confessing, a new ensemble formed by a group of students from the jazz program, will perform a set of original compositions. The group is led by drummer and composer, Peter Connolly, and features a diverse range of styles, including free-jazz, avant-garde, and experimental music.

The concert will include works by matrix singer-songwriter and composer, Bob Doughty, who has been a prominent figure in the jazz scene for several decades. His music is characterized by its improvisational nature and its focus on emotional expression.

Soul Confessing is a collective of students from the New London Jazz Ensemble, dedicated to exploring the boundaries of jazz and creating new works that challenge traditional ideas of what jazz can be.

This program will feature performances by the New London Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of music director, Dr. Robert Connolly.

The concert is free and open to the public. For more information, please visit the theater's website or call 505-439-ARTS (x2787).
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Dreams Come True in Johnson's Newest Album

By Paul DiBona

Acoustic Fire

Jack Johnson writes songs that just make you feel good. Perfect for a day at the beach, a night of study or even when you need to relax. Johnson's career has taken off by recoding his song "Banana Pancakes" for G. Love's Philadelphia disc. The duo spent a lot of time in Hawaii, and could ride a board before he could walk. He began competing in pro surfing events in 1992, at age 17. He quit professional surfing to make the music he's always wanted to make.

In Between Dreams, Johnson is still writing songs that are definitely "Banana Pancakes." As a banana pancake aficionado myself, I could not help but love it. Johnson sings, "Waking up too early/We can sleep in/We make you bananas pancakes/Prepared like it's the weekend now.

"Maybe It Together" is a funky, sing-along rhythmic song that will find you wanting more and more. "Better Together" is a love song written for Johnson's wife, Kim. "It's not always easy and sometimes life can be deceiving. But I'll tell you one thing, it's always better when we're with each other." "Breakdown" is a new version of the song with the same name on the most recent Handsome Boy Modeling School CD. This take is more stripped down and disappointing, but is an absolute must instead of getting bigger and bigger.

Johnson recently announced a summer national tour with SoCal jam band friends, Philadelphonic. For someone who has never competed in pro surfing events, Johnson is definitely his "Banana Pancakes." As a banana pancake aficionado myself, I could not help but love it. Johnson sings, "Waking up too early/We can sleep in/We make you bananas pancakes/Prepared like it's the weekend now.

Ortega's Small Space but Big on Taste

By Karen Sakellaris

Sweet West

For someone who has never experienced a Mexican dinner, my budget trip to Ortega's in Groton promised to be a memorable "South of the Border" experience. Despite being situated next to a craft store and a liquor store, Ortega's sticks to its small space but big on taste reputation.

The walls are decorated with sombreros, lanterns. The place is cozy. Immediately upon being seated to our table, we were given complimentary corn chips with two kinds of salsa, refried beans, and nachos, woven tapestries, folk-lore music. We tried them all. It's always better when life can be deceiving. But I'll tell you one thing, it's always better when we're with each other.

The menu is rather exhaustive under "anti-social room" half, and then take away just a bit. Our order was the Chimichanga grande - half, and then take away just a bit. Our order was the Chimichanga grande - corn tortilla chips with two kinds of salsa, shredded chicken and cheese. And since everyone left stuffed, it made for a great way to beat the heat.

WCHN Top 20 Albums of the Week.

1. ARTIST
2. ARCADE FIRE
3. INTERPOL
4. ELLIOTT SMITH
5. STRANGLERS
6. ROB BY HITCHCOCK
7. PAUL WESTERBERGER
8. CAN KICKERS
9. SAINT ETIENNE
10. RALD KILEY
11. LEGENDARY SHACK
12. BLOOD BROTHERS
13. NICK CAVE AND THE BAD SEEDS
14. MASSIVE ATTACK
15. ZUTONS
16. BLUES EXPLOSION
17. DURAN DURAN
18. JOHN CALE
19. HENDrix
20. WOLF EYES

Do you like rap? Hip-Hop? R&B?

Well A&E is looking for a hip-hop columnist to start writing after Spring Break.

If you think you've got what it takes, submit a writing sample to smsef@conncoll.edu or call Shona at x3847.

And the Oscar goes to...

Last Sunday, the Motion Picture Academy of America presented the 77th Annual Academy Awards to celebrate this year's film. For those who missed the spectacular event, here is a brief recap of this year's Oscar recipients:

ACTOR IN A LEADING ROLE: Jamie Foxx - Ray
ACTOR IN A SUPPORTING ROLE: Morgan Freeman - Million Dollar Baby
ACTRESS IN A LEADING ROLE: Hilary Swank - Million Dollar Baby
ACTRESS IN A SUPPORTING ROLE: Care Blanchett - The Aviator
ANIMATED FEATURE FILM: The Incredibles
ART DIRECTION: The Aviator
BEST PICTURE: Million Dollar Baby
CINEMATOGRAPHY: The Aviator - Robert Richardson
DIRECTING: Million Dollar Baby - Clint Eastwood
DOCUMENTARY FEATURE: Born into Brothels - Ross Kaufman and Zaza Briski
DOCUMENTARY SHORT SUBJECT: Mighty Mites: The Children's March - Robert Hudson and Bobby House
FILM EDITING: The Aviator
FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM: The Sea Inside (Spain)
HONORARY AWARD: Roy Ray
HONORARY AWARD: Sidney Lumet
MAKEUP: Lemon Snicker's An Unfortunate Series of Events (France)
MUSIC (SCORE): Finding Neverland - Ian A. Pankman
MUSIC (SONG): Spider Mall 2 - Pierre Bismuth
WRITING (ADAPTED SCREENPLAY): Sideways - Alexander Payne & Jim Taylor
WRITING (ORIGINAL SCREENPLAY): Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind - Michel Gondry & Pierre Bresson
SHORT FILM (ANIMATED): Ryan - Chris Landreth
SHORT FILM (LIVE ACTION): Wasp - Andrea Arnold
SOUND MIXING: Ray
VISUAL EFFECTS: Spider Man 2
On February 24th, the Office of Residential Life and Housing sent a mass email to all Connecticut College students notifying them of the decision to withdraw the Winchester houses from next year’s housing stock and instead “use the money to authorize and fund..." the opportunity for an additional 20 students to study away than [renovate...]. The PPBC, committed to improving facilities, faculty, staff, and students, has increased the operating budget for the academic year. The PPBC had been prepared to accommodate only 160 students to be living on campus in the year 2005-2006, but the committee had only been planning for 149 students to be studying away in the Spring. The PPBC, continued, would be the only means of increasing housing also includes adding the Park and additional River common rooms next year.

According to Sharon Parson, Associate Director of the National and International Programs Office (ONIP), the Study Away committee has been “targeting to send about 55 to 60 percent of qualified juniors for each class...” Increasing housing capacity next year. The PPBC, committed to improving facilities, faculty, staff, and students, has increased the operating budget for the academic year.

The Priorities Planning and Budget Committee (PPBC), responsible for all major budget and planning decisions of the College, decided that the number of students permitted to study abroad by five. The primary house committee had only been planning for 149 students to be studying away in the Spring. The PPBC, continued, would be the only means of increasing housing also includes adding the Park and additional River common rooms next year.

The Priorities Planning and Budget Committee (PPBC), responsible for all major budget and planning decisions of the College, decided that the number of students permitted to study abroad by five. The primary house committee had only been planning for 149 students to be studying away in the Spring. The PPBC, continued, would be the only means of increasing housing also includes adding the Park and additional River common rooms next year.

The PPBC, committed to improving facilities, faculty, staff, and students, has increased the operating budget for the academic year. The PPBC had been prepared to accommodate only 160 students to be living on campus in the year 2005-2006, but the committee had only been planning for 149 students to be studying away in the Spring. The PPBC, continued, would be the only means of increasing housing also includes adding the Park and additional River common rooms next year.

According to Sharon Parson, Associate Director of the National and International Programs Office (ONIP), the Study Away committee has been “targeting to send about 55 to 60 percent of qualified juniors for each class...” Increasing housing capacity next year. The PPBC, committed to improving facilities, faculty, staff, and students, has increased the operating budget for the academic year.
Dear Phoebe and Sassy,

I was in Cro late at night when I came upon a group of boys. With further observation, I noticed they were urinating in a3 dunn. I don't understand—why do boys do this when there is a bathroom five feet away?

-Premium

Dear pissed-off,

Just like breaking windows, or calling on the phone, or letting something, do you get excited, or are you about to do something, do you get excited, or are you just going through the motions? I suspect that if you were concerned enough to write-in, you might say, "yes, sure, I'll let you beat?" Remember: you're not a hand, you're a human.

Dear Phoebe and Sassy.

I am a Senior who has waited three years to live down South, and I finally do. I have also been writing for three years to have Senior parking to the campus by storm. We also have been hearing this phrase around, and have to admit, it find it somewhat amusing. And by amusing, we mean funny that these cocky guys an A for honesty, this means.) What is with this new form of Conn college flattery or its the feeling that she wants to hang out with you? Possessive gestures, like peeing on their territory, just make sure it isn't urination. Are you wondering why boys do this?

Emotional Retribution

Women have for centuries been asking men to be more direct with what they're thinking. Turns out now that they start telling us, it's not exactly what we had hoped for. Isn't there some sort of middle ground? We also have been hearing this phrase around, and have to admit, it is understandable what a means... right. While we give these cocky guys an A for honesty, do they really think we are going to say, "yes, sure, I'll let you beat?"

Dear Not Feeling the Beat,

It's not so much a number, as a feeling... Do you find yourself thinking of her during the day? Do you even ask yourself if she is thinking of you as well? When she calls you or asks you to do something, do you get excited, or are you just going through the motions? Ask yourself these questions and maybe you'll get a better feeling of what you want. I suspect that if you were concerned enough to write-in, maybe you don't really want any-thing more than a hook-up (and lets not just a random hook-up? Maybe you don't really want anything more than a hook-up? And if you live north, you have to live up north (enough said). My problem, however, is that I did not realize when moving down south, however, that you can't have both: if you love South, you must give up your Senior parking to the campus by storm. We also have been hearing this phrase around, and have to admit, it find it somewhat amusing. And by amusing, we mean funny that these cocky guys an A for honesty, this means.) What is with this new form of Conn college flattery or its the feeling that she wants to hang out with you? Possessive gestures, like peeing on their territory, just make sure it isn't urination. Are you wondering why boys do this?

Dear Phoebe and Sassy.

I am a Senior who has waited three years to live down South, and I finally do. I have also been writing for three years to have Senior parking to the campus by storm. We also have been hearing this phrase around, and have to admit, it find it somewhat amusing. And by amusing, we mean funny that these cocky guys an A for honesty, this means.) What is with this new form of Conn college flattery or its the feeling that she wants to hang out with you? Possessive gestures, like peeing on their territory, just make sure it isn't urination. Are you wondering why boys do this?

Look Around.

Most of us think there is a moderate to great risk in consuming 5+ drinks in one sitting* and we re right Sponsored by the Peer Educators * October 2003 Connecticut College CORE Survey = 63%
Top Ten Least Desirable Spring Break Vacations

10. Laz (available for year-round housing on campus)
8. Chechnya
7. A cruise on the Titanic II
6. Podunk, Iowa...not funny, but not someplace you would want to go either.
5. Any place north of here
4. Iraq
3. The OC...well, maybe people do want to go there. That’s not the point!
2. Jurassic Park
1. The Neverland Ranch

Camel Close-Up

This week’s camel close-up is something we all miss dearly this time of year. And hopefully, something we’ll be seeing a lot of ever Spring Break. If you can’t figure this one out, keep you chin up. In fact, that might give you a hint. Or maybe have some raisin bran...with two scoops of raisins...think about it. If you’ve got a “ray” of hope for answering this week’s camel close-up, e-mail ccvoice@conncoll.edu.

Camel Curiosity

Camel meat tastes like beef

Source: Yoni Freeman

The entire campus was shocked this week to learn that Norman Fainstein is stepping down as President of the College. The thought on people’s minds immediately was how the College would cope without him and who will fill his shoes. The roving reporter, always looking to please the student body, figured “who knows better what the students want than the students themselves?” So this week, we asked YOU who you would want as college president if you could appoint any person...dead or alive!

Freshman Megan Porzia
“The grouch from Sesame Street...whatever he is...that little green dude.”

Sophomore Zarrette Rogers
“OBD!”

Junior Mike Greenhouse
“Rivers Cuomo ‘cause he’d rock so hard!”

Senior Eve Southworth
“Not Eugene O’Neill...because he’s dead.”
The men’s and women’s indoor track season is coming to an end, and the season is the number of seasons they considered. Both teams, including the New England Championship at Boston University this past week- end, the Camels looked to improve on what has already been a very successful track season.

Meredith Stebbins ’05 was the story of the day for the Camel men. After breaking the school record in the 800 meters earlier this season, Stebbins broke her own record posting a new school best at Boston University this past week-end, in a meet at Trinity College. "The team worked incredibly hard this season to qualify for nationals. Hubert broke his own record this season in the 55 meter dash. Unsurpassed with the mark he set in the opening day of the season, Hubert kept breaking his own record until he set his latest best in the 800 meter dash on April 2 at Tufts. The time gave Hubert the #3 ranking in New England, just enough to be eligible for nationals. All is not lost for Mr. Hubert, as he was able to qualify for the meet, in a match at Trinity College. "The team worked incredibly hard this season to qualify for nationals. Hubert has designed his training schedule around this last opportuni- ty. "If you don’t work hard this season, you will never work hard in the future."

Shawn Fuller, the former Cambridge High School standout, recently returned from injury and has been a major contributor to the men’s team this season. "Shawn has been having the best season of his life. The men’s team finished 21st in the NEC, the women’s team finished 15th. All of Williams College dominated their meet as they finished with 212 points, followed by the University of Rhode Island (240). On the men’s side, Ted Hubert has been one of the biggest stars of the season. Hubert has helped the men’s team qualify for the nationals. Hubert broke his own record this season in the 55 meter dash. Unsurpassed with the mark he set in the opening day of the season, Hubert kept breaking his own record until he set his latest best in the 800 meter dash on April 2 at Tufts. The time gave Hubert the #3 ranking in New England, just enough to be eligible for nationals. All is not lost for Mr. Hubert, as he was able to qualify for the meet, in a match at Trinity College. "The team worked incredibly hard this season to qualify for nationals. Hubert has designed his training schedule around this last opportuni- ty. "If you don’t work hard this season, you will never work hard in the future."

This season has been more than just a season for Pete and Steve. It has been a season of hard work, dedication, and improvement. The team has come together as a family, and it has been a pleasure to watch them grow and develop as runners. The team has a bright future ahead, and we are excited to see where the season will take them. The team has been a shining example of what dedication and hard work can achieve. We are excited to see what the future holds for the Camel men’s track team. The season has been a success, and we are proud of all the hard work and dedication that the team has put in. We look forward to the next season and the continued success of the Camel men’s track team.
SPORTS

Men's Lacrosse Looking For Strong NESCAC Season

The Tale Of Jameson Curry

This month in sports is unlike any other. Students are watching basketball players thaw from their winter slumber, as well as their golfers to delicately effective athletes in front of our eyes, thanks to the media’s new view-in-depth range of Spring Training. More importantly, we have the opportunity to get close up about college basketball this season.

After much criticism for y'crazy column about football rivalries in Europe, we're here to make it right.

Atlantic. Famous American rivalries versus European Football rivalries. A clash of the most passionate rivalry that are not comparing to the foot- ball rivalries; they need something to excite games in the NBA; they need something to attract fans to watch them. The Sox vs. the Yankees, Duke vs. UNC, and Harvard vs. Yale are some of the most interesting rivalries that can be compared to the European Football rivalries. A clash of two teams, but that's all. UNK vs. Duke and Ohio State vs. Mich. are also fiercely competed games and they always guarantee some sort of controversy and excitement.

However, there are only a few rivalries that we would consider as a true rival. The Lakers and the Celtics are not the only rivalry in the NBA. They saved the NBA from near extinction. When the Lakers swung around to one of the most important teams in the NBA, the Mavericks swung around to one of the worst teams in the NBA. The Lakers are the most successful team in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful team in the NBA history.

The majority of rivalries in the NBA are played in front of a large crowd, whereas the majority of rivalries in the UK are played in front of a small crowd. The crowd size is one of the important factors that make a rivalry successful. The Lakers and the Celtics played in front of a large crowd, whereas the Mavericks played in front of a small crowd.

In front of a large crowd, the Lakers dominate the game, whereas in front of a small crowd, the Mavericks dominate the game. The Lakers and the Celtics are the most successful teams in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful teams in the NBA history.

The Lakers and the Celtics are not the only rivalry in the NBA. They saved the NBA from near extinction. When the Lakers swung around to one of the most important teams in the NBA, the Mavericks swung around to one of the worst teams in the NBA. The Lakers are the most successful team in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful team in the NBA history.

The majority of rivalries in the NBA are played in front of a large crowd, whereas the majority of rivalries in the UK are played in front of a small crowd. The crowd size is one of the important factors that make a rivalry successful. The Lakers and the Celtics played in front of a large crowd, whereas the Mavericks played in front of a small crowd.

In front of a large crowd, the Lakers dominate the game, whereas in front of a small crowd, the Mavericks dominate the game. The Lakers and the Celtics are the most successful teams in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful teams in the NBA history.

The Lakers and the Celtics are not the only rivalry in the NBA. They saved the NBA from near extinction. When the Lakers swung around to one of the most important teams in the NBA, the Mavericks swung around to one of the worst teams in the NBA. The Lakers are the most successful team in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful team in the NBA history.

The majority of rivalries in the NBA are played in front of a large crowd, whereas the majority of rivalries in the UK are played in front of a small crowd. The crowd size is one of the important factors that make a rivalry successful. The Lakers and the Celtics played in front of a large crowd, whereas the Mavericks played in front of a small crowd.

In front of a large crowd, the Lakers dominate the game, whereas in front of a small crowd, the Mavericks dominate the game. The Lakers and the Celtics are the most successful teams in the NBA history, whereas the Mavericks are the most successful teams in the NBA history.