Last Sunday, February 23rd a group of students gathered in K.B.'s Coffee Grounds to discuss prominent issues facing the College. Among the topics of discussion were faculty promotions, student activism against the government's policies in Iraq, and the college's budget for the upcoming fiscal year.

The Board of Trustees meets semi-annually to table matters in need of resolution. These meetings occur in February and May. Six faculty members were present from the faculty committee to discuss prominent issues facing the Board. Among these professors were John Ricci, a professor of American History, and the Provost, John Rice. Many other influential students on campus were also present here at Connecticut College, and the president, the President's Office, and the Student Government Association also participated.

The celebration of International Awareness Week was not without incident, as an overflow crowd caused a temporary evacuation of those present. The event was held at the Student Union, and a variety of speakers and performers were present. The event continued on page 10.

On Tuesday, February 24, from 3pm until a little after 9:30pm in the 1941 room, 5 unique presentations analyzing different positions of the current Iraqi situation were given by students. Intense and spirited debates among the presenters were a constant throughout the evening. The night concluded with thoughtful provoking questions from spectators in the audience.

The panel, organized by the Student Government Board with support from Professor William Rose of the Government Department, and the President's Office of the College. The panel was moderated by William Rose. Professor William Rose of the Government Department organized the event to encourage students to think critically about the situation in Iraq.

---continued on page 10---
Government Department to Be Applauded for Striking Balance Between Academic and Real

Too often a disconnect exists between the classroom and the world outside. Professors create syllabuses to follow and outside of a national tragedy, they will not alter the course outline to reflect or apply what is happening around us. While it is understandable that professors wish to teach all they set out to do at the beginning of the semester, education is most effective when it acknowledges and reflects the world outside the classroom as well as the experiences of students.

This discussion allowed students the opportunity to not only to reflect on classroom events but also to reflect on current events. A core value of Connecticut College is diversity. It is important to recognize that different people have different viewpoints on the same situation. This open forum was a great opportunity for students to share their ideas. We encourage all students to participate in this open forum and share their thoughts and ideas. This open forum will be held on a regular basis to ensure that students have a voice in decisions that affect their lives on campus.

Correction

In Coley Ward's column "Holes in the College" a custodial worker fired for spying on students in the shower was reported to have been assigned to a specific dorm. This is an error. The employee was assigned to multiple dorms.

Policies

Advertisements

The College Voice is an open forum. The opinions expressed by individual advertisers are their own. In no way does The College Voice College endorse the views expressed by individual advertisers. The College Voice will not accept advertising that is deemed to be libelous, an instrument of violence, or personally damaging. Ad rates are available on request. (Phone 382-1921; Fax 382-1923). Please refer all ad inquiries to the Business Manager, Jessica Vagabrandt. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any advertising. The Editor-in-Chief shall have final content approval.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. However names may be withheld upon the author's request. The College Voice will not publish letters deemed to be a personal attack on an individual. The College Voice cannot guarantee the publication of any submission. Letters should be single-spaced, no longer than 500 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters as a Microsoft Word attachment to cvoice@conncoll.edu.

President Clarifies 'Crime' Comments and Urges Students to Read Affirmative Action Brief

To the campus community:

At last week's open forums two matters were raised that I would like to discuss briefly.

First, there seemed to be some confusion about what affirmative action is and about the College's commitment to diversity. A core value of the Connecticut College community is diversity in every sense—the student body, the faculty and the administration. In order to ensure a diverse and representative official College policy for many decades. At the meeting last Saturday, the students reaffirmed their commitment to diversity. As part of our strategy for facilitating educational diversity at the College, the College has a long track record of supporting and maintaining a diversity-oriented policy.

Our policy has been that in our admissions and financial aid decisions, we strive to attract the broadest possible pool of students from all racial and ethnic groups. We have a strong commitment to diversity in every realm—the student body, the faculty and the administration. In order to ensure a diverse and representative official College policy for many decades. At the meeting last Saturday, the students reaffirmed their commitment to diversity. As part of our strategy for facilitating educational diversity at the College, the College has a long track record of supporting and maintaining a diversity-oriented policy. In this way we can ensure the College's commitment to diversity in every sense—the student body, the faculty and the administration. In order to ensure a diverse and representative official College policy for many decades. At the meeting last Saturday, the students reaffirmed their commitment to diversity. As part of our strategy for facilitating educational diversity at the College, the College has a long track record of supporting and maintaining a diversity-oriented policy.

In order to ensure a diverse and representative official College policy for many decades. At the meeting last Saturday, the students reaffirmed their commitment to diversity. As part of our strategy for facilitating educational diversity at the College, the College has a long track record of supporting and maintaining a diversity-oriented policy. In this way we can ensure the College's commitment to diversity in every sense—the student body, the faculty and the administration. In order to ensure a diverse and representative official College policy for many decades. At the meeting last Saturday, the students reaffirmed their commitment to diversity. As part of our strategy for facilitating educational diversity at the College, the College has a long track record of supporting and maintaining a diversity-oriented policy.

In order for this to continue it demands that the professors intertwine current events with classical academic theories. With the Government Department and its Advisory Board taking the lead they deserve credit and applause for not laying aptitude over simple tactics.

Victory Will Be Ours!

KIP DOLL • VERMONT

I cannot wait until Saddam Hussein is destroyed. They will no longer be able to trick Iraq and other people to buy peace. The end of the Iraq war will be a relief to many people. The only thing we ask is that the United States do its part to help in the reconstruction of Iraq. We must ensure that the United States provides the necessary support and assistance to the Iraqi people. Iraq is a very important country and we must do our part to help them.

Second, there was discussion at the forum about whether or not the events on campus were radical, external arts, and whether these events were involved in the events. Let me make it clear that the College Voice does not condone any violence or destructive behavior. We are a part of a diverse and inclusive community who believe in free expression and the right to disagree. We want to ensure that all voices are heard and that everyone has an opportunity to express their opinions and thoughts.

In order for this to continue it demands that the professors intertwine current events with classical academic theories. With the Government Department and its Advisory Board taking the lead they deserve credit and applause for not laying aptitude over simple tactics.
After the Debate...

Professor William Reis, Department of Government

As Paul Carter’s concern article appears, Jim Tuesday’s debate over war with Iraq rallied and information. It was referring to how our students, dealing rather than the primitive. The audience benefited from hearing a diverse range of opinions. As usually happens at debates, however, no agreement emerged on what US policy should be. For some participants (and roughly about the debate), the experience can be entertaining but frustrating. If one does not already have a strong opinion, one can find the debate quite helpful because it exposes you to the facts (as opposed to values) signal the need for people who know what to about. As someone who strongly supports undergraduate participation in debates, I must say that I am waiting for someone to explain why this is a bad thing.

The kids seem to have found what many adults can’t: Please keep this in mind.

And the world needs auto mechanics—as long as Jackson does not drive fast enough to distinguish a motor from a cabbage. God gave two hands to do the work, and one to use it when it comes to cars.

Excluding educators does not give that acknowledgement. Principals can’t create schools in which a child who loves cars can concentrate on learning to work on cars. They need to turn their students into math, science, and English requirements, which the students may or may not be good at. It is possible only that the students should think a little bit too much, so, to say, the setting of passions.

Does that make any sense? Who in their right mind would tell an adult to sOljUethingbe loved?

Around unable students, the sum of the square of the bypotenuse.

Percent of it well, and to attempt to get good grades in a set of subjects that they may stand standards more equally.

Does that make any sense? Who in their right mind would tell an adult to around unable students, the sum of the square of the bypotenuse.

Standards treat everyone equally; they just treat the students who like the 'No child behind, right?

same thing different.

Also, it is surprising to see that the UN Security Council has done very little with the inspections. At times, the UN has been more of a “buffer zone” than a real player in international affairs. The fact is that the UN has not done as much as it could have in preventing the current crisis.

For example, Yevgeniy Tsifrinovicb argued that the UN should be doing more to prevent Iraq from using its nuclear program. He argued that the UN should be more involved in the crisis because it is a threat to international security.

In conclusion, it is evident that the UN has not been as effective as it could have been in preventing the current crisis. It is time for the UN to step up and take a more active role in international affairs.

Do you care about anything?

"Voice" your opinions write a letter to the editor.

send to: ccvoice@comcoll.edu

Who is this United Nations Everyone Keeps Talking About?

Your Friend / Vermont

There are those among the anti-war on Iraq lobby who bring forward, among other sake catch phrases, statements talking about how the United States should go through the UN to present war, inspections, and the like. They argue that the United States should go through the UN to present war, inspections, and the like. They argue that the United States should go through the UN to present war, inspections, and the like.

The anti-war lobby does not seem to understand the importance of the UN's work and the UN's role in international affairs. They seem to think that any action that the United States takes without the UN's approval is illegitimate.

This is a dangerous stance to take, and it is one that has been proven wrong in the past. The United States has acted unilaterally in the past, and it has been a mistake.

The UN is an important institution that has played a vital role in international affairs. It has helped to prevent wars and conflicts, and it has helped to bring about peace and understanding.

If the anti-war lobby truly cares about peace and understanding, it should support the UN and its role in international affairs.
The Creamaster Cycle Evokes Confusion

Brian Dwyer

Bellows

The Creamaster Cycle is a film by American director and artist Doug Aitken. The cycle consists of ten short films, each shot in a different location, and explores themes of digital media, reality, and identity. The films are shown in a continuous loop, creating a sense of perpetual motion. The cycle is a response to the rapid pace of technological advancement and the blurring of boundaries between the physical and digital worlds.

The cycle was first exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2002. Since then, it has been shown in museums and galleries around the world. The films feature a range of visual styles, including footage shot on location, animation, and live-action sequences. The cycle is considered a significant work of contemporary art, and has been the subject of much critical acclaim.

The Creamaster Cycle Evokes Confusion is a film by American director and artist Doug Aitken. The cycle consists of ten short films, each shot in a different location, and explores themes of digital media, reality, and identity. The films are shown in a continuous loop, creating a sense of perpetual motion. The cycle is a response to the rapid pace of technological advancement and the blurring of boundaries between the physical and digital worlds.

The cycle was first exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2002. Since then, it has been shown in museums and galleries around the world. The films feature a range of visual styles, including footage shot on location, animation, and live-action sequences. The cycle is considered a significant work of contemporary art, and has been the subject of much critical acclaim.

The Creamaster Cycle Evokes Confusion is a film by American director and artist Doug Aitken. The cycle consists of ten short films, each shot in a different location, and explores themes of digital media, reality, and identity. The films are shown in a continuous loop, creating a sense of perpetual motion. The cycle is a response to the rapid pace of technological advancement and the blurring of boundaries between the physical and digital worlds.

The cycle was first exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2002. Since then, it has been shown in museums and galleries around the world. The films feature a range of visual styles, including footage shot on location, animation, and live-action sequences. The cycle is considered a significant work of contemporary art, and has been the subject of much critical acclaim.

The Creamaster Cycle Evokes Confusion is a film by American director and artist Doug Aitken. The cycle consists of ten short films, each shot in a different location, and explores themes of digital media, reality, and identity. The films are shown in a continuous loop, creating a sense of perpetual motion. The cycle is a response to the rapid pace of technological advancement and the blurring of boundaries between the physical and digital worlds.

The cycle was first exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2002. Since then, it has been shown in museums and galleries around the world. The films feature a range of visual styles, including footage shot on location, animation, and live-action sequences. The cycle is considered a significant work of contemporary art, and has been the subject of much critical acclaim.

The Creamaster Cycle Evokes Confusion is a film by American director and artist Doug Aitken. The cycle consists of ten short films, each shot in a different location, and explores themes of digital media, reality, and identity. The films are shown in a continuous loop, creating a sense of perpetual motion. The cycle is a response to the rapid pace of technological advancement and the blurring of boundaries between the physical and digital worlds.

The cycle was first exhibited at the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 2002. Since then, it has been shown in museums and galleries around the world. The films feature a range of visual styles, including footage shot on location, animation, and live-action sequences. The cycle is considered a significant work of contemporary art, and has been the subject of much critical acclaim.
conn dance club steps out in style

The Dance Club performance at the Martha Mason studio last night entitled "Advanced Walking" proved to be a new in the direction of broad based dance production here at Conn. Run, choreographed, and staged by students, the Dance Club maintained a proffesionalism for modern works, while facing some community issues of political tap and just at appropriate intervals.

On the balls of the Connecticut College Dance Ensemble, who performed two weeks ago, the talented young artists of the Dance Club were not just on tap but were on top. As an observed piece, the ensemble was a beautiful and harmonious work. Each of the eleven dance pieces were stylized and bold, following the market choreography and perfect withDEL ELI:

"Advanced Walking" kicked off with Kvothe's (Miles Sadler) understated piece that the pace never became stagnant and to pique audience interest. This piece was not only a demonstration of the ensemble's skill, but also a showcase for their ability to perform with fun and enthusiasm. "Safety in Numbers" led the second half of the show, featuring delightfully disheveled dancers performing to the bang of local Conn musicians. Sophomore Elizabeth Miller kept the momentum going in her self-choreographed solo "Contemplation" action-cancelled. The Dance Club fittingly incorporated an experiment yet classical hit into their production with the fiery ballet "Taiko." Set to "Rising Sun," the performance was grueling and fanastic feats of skill. Pirouettes and other pointe techniques were effortlessly executed with flair and ease.

The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Spy Games: ...And Then the Cable Went Out

By RICE COLEMAN-ADAI

After the Voice's lively layout editor showed me sf-d-3em, I came to the realization that I was the only one who had not yet seen it. We are sure, yeah. Mike, Michael Van is beautiful, but it is really necessary for our community to come together in a Michael Vartan shrine? I think not. And fan fiction - what could be better than a chocolate-covered banana split placed Ford Focus. You'd think with all of the resources at his disposal forced at detonator-point to drive badly made-up Sloane around in a productivity that will be remembered as a milestone in the near future. Marshall admits that he was the one who designed it. He is not alone, although that cable went out. Theoretically, I could have watched Michael and Janet Jackson. The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Dancers strike a dramatic pose in the modern piece "Impulse" choreographed by Rachel Seifert (める).

The Dance Club fittingly incorporated an experiment yet classical hit into their production with the fiery ballet "Taiko." Set to "Rising Sun," the performance was grueling and fantastic feats of skill. Pirouettes and other pointe techniques were effortlessly executed with flair and ease. "Safety in Numbers" led the second half of the show, featuring delightfully disheveled dancers performing to the bang of local Conn musicians. Sophomore Elizabeth Miller kept the momentum going in her self-choreographed solo "Contemplation" action-cancelled.

The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Myers

Dance

feisty

showcasing

Choreographed

Spy

interest.

never became stagnant and to pique audience interest. This piece was not only a demonstration of the ensemble's skill, but also a showcase for their ability to perform with fun and enthusiasm. "Safety in Numbers" led the second half of the show, featuring delightfully disheveled dancers performing to the bang of local Conn musicians. Sophomore Elizabeth Miller kept the momentum going in her self-choreographed solo "Contemplation" action-cancelled.

The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Dancers strike a dramatic pose in the modern piece "Impulse" choreographed by Rachel Seifert (める).

The Dance Club fittingly incorporated an experiment yet classical hit into their production with the fiery ballet "Taiko." Set to "Rising Sun," the performance was grueling and fantastic feats of skill. Pirouettes and other pointe techniques were effortlessly executed with flair and ease. "Safety in Numbers" led the second half of the show, featuring delightfully disheveled dancers performing to the bang of local Conn musicians. Sophomore Elizabeth Miller kept the momentum going in her self-choreographed solo "Contemplation" action-cancelled.

The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Myers

Dance

feisty

showcasing

Choreographed

Spy

interest.

never became stagnant and to pique audience interest. This piece was not only a demonstration of the ensemble's skill, but also a showcase for their ability to perform with fun and enthusiasm. "Safety in Numbers" led the second half of the show, featuring delightfully disheveled dancers performing to the bang of local Conn musicians. Sophomore Elizabeth Miller kept the momentum going in her self-choreographed solo "Contemplation" action-cancelled.

The Dance Club was true to its promise (as expressed in the CONNOLY of an affordable show with hot, talented dancers, Sobuh German up monastery, and a spandex overload. If the dancers aren't enough to enter you, the enthusiasm and the originality of this spectacular show surely will.

Dancers strike a dramatic pose in the modern piece "Impulse" choreographed by Rachel Seifert ( metavar).
continued from page 14

MEDICAL NEWS

Men's Squash Battles and Moves on to Nationals

continued from page 12

If ever you have had the misfortune to be involved in a war, you will understand my position. If you have not, you will never understand, and for that reason, I would suggest you read this article carefully and think about the issues it raises.

The men's squash team faced tough competition in the first round of the nationals, but managed to advance to the second round with a win over Yale. The team's performance was remarkable, given the pressure and expectations.

In the second round, the men's squash team faced a challenging opponent and managed to secure a win. The team's dedication and hard work paid off, and they advanced to the quarterfinals.

The quarterfinals were a tough test for the men's squash team, but they managed to overcome the competition and secure a win. The team's performance was impressive, and they advanced to the semifinals.

In the semifinals, the men's squash team faced a strong opponent and managed to secure a win. The team's performance was exceptional, and they advanced to the finals.

The finals were a tough test for the men's squash team, but they managed to overcome the competition and secure a win. The team's performance was outstanding, and they brought home the championship trophy.

The men's squash team's performance in the nationals was remarkable, and it is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the team. They have proven that they are one of the best teams in the country, and their success is a source of pride for the entire school.

The men's squash team's success in the nationals is a result of their hard work, dedication, and teamwork. They have set a high bar for themselves, and they have exceeded all expectations.

The men's squash team's success in the nationals is a testament to the quality of education and athletics at the school. The school's commitment to providing a well-rounded education and a strong athletics program is evident in the success of the men's squash team.

The men's squash team's success in the nationals is a source of pride for the entire school and community. It is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the team, and it is a reminder of the value of athletics in the education and development of young people.

continued from page 12

continued from page 4

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12

continued from page 12
The Guys on this campus should be a bit frightened, because the...

When she cheekily asked for furry...

When three fourths of the audience...

You were as hip as me back in 1994-95 (and let's...

The threads nervously, seeking purchase, a weak...

With a talented cast of perform...

This movie is...

Tuba Collee Voice• February 28, 2003 • 7

A Twist on the Classic Detective Tale

Evanescence Will Set Fire to your Heart with “Fallen”

BOOK REVIEW: Motherless Brooklyn

Evanescence's “Fallen” is a...

This movie is...

Evocative, “Humane” and “My Last Breath” each show ability both with the...

Reinforcement” is both spiritually...

The Guys on this campus should be a bit frightened, because the women of Eve...

When she cheekily asked for furry...

You were as hip as me back in 1994-95 (and let's...

Evanescence's “Fallen” is a...

With a talented cast of perform...

This movie is...

Evocative, “Humane” and “My Last Breath” each show ability both with the...

Reinforcement” is both spiritually...
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration on Thursday lowered the national terror alert from orange to yellow, saying the threat of an imminent terrorist attack on U.S. soil has diminished.

The move follows a five-day period in which security officials debated for days about the proper alert status to maintain. When the alert was raised to orange on Feb. 7, it was the first time since the Sept. 11 attacks that the national alert system had been changed.

The terror alert system is a five-step scale, Attorney General John Ashcroft said. He said that any decision to lower the alert level must be "morally and intellectually" sound.

A yellow alert may mean that there has been an accumulation of "informationally significant" intelligence, or that there is a "significant risk" of a terrorist attack. An orange alert means there is a high risk of a terrorist attack. The highest alert level is red.

"The level was raised to orange on Feb. 7, prompting the government and businesses to improve their security measures at buildings, airports and other sites and other infrastructure sites. But the Bush administration said eliminating the intelligence was incorrect or misinterpreted. It is also possible that enhanced security measures have deterred the terrorists from changing their plans.

But some experts say it is impossible to completely eliminate the intelligence was incorrect or misinterpreted. It is also possible that enhanced security measures have deterred the terrorists from changing their plans. The Pentagon said the number of American troops in Iraq has risen to 400,000, and that it will soon be escalated to 500,000, while a second major military offensive in northern Iraq is expected.

Bush said he was closely watching to see whether Saddam complies with an order to start destroying his chemical and biological weapons by Saturday. A panel of international experts determined earlier this month that the missiles were being used to produce anthrax and other lethal biological agents.

Sheik Safwat al-Hasson, confirmed Thursday that the B-2s had gotten moving toward Tikrit, moving toward Iraq's north for a possible thrust south toward Tikrit and the U.S. Army's 4th Infantry Division. Supported by elements of Iraq's Kurdish minority, the U.S. military presence, Karzai said, "brings a form of stability and security that Afghanistan needs right now."
Blake Team Seeks to Discredit Witness

By LAS VEGAS (AP) - Robert Blake's defense team sought to discredit a witness for the prosecution under oath Thursday.

Attorney Thomas Mesereau Jr. pressed the 69-year-old actor to recall his conversations with Robert Blake and his handyman, Earle Caldwell, about the fatal shooting of Blake's wife.

Mesereau pointed out that various witnesses have recanted their stories, sometimes in contradiction to one another, including one by Caldwell himself before his June 2001 arrest.

Blake was indicted on charges of conspiring in the slayings and kidnappings.

The defense asked the judge to rule the tape "inadmissible," but the judge said he would consider the matter during a break in the trial. Blake is scheduled to testify next week.

Blake was shot as she sat in their Lincoln Town Car on June 20, 2000.

"He said, 'We're going to hire a doctor, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl, we're going to kidnap this girl,' " said the witness.

Robert Blake said his wife's car was parked on the second day of the preliminary hearing in Los Angeles (AP/John Fredriksen).
What is the Definition of Hate Crime

By RACHEL CASADO-AulA in the first degree ... 761 FOR MO· IhlFOR TlON
Then it's time to start thinking about getting a Master's Degree at Sacred Heart University .

Kovenock was not the only Camel swimmer to break
camels break records; Kovenock moves on to NCAAs

Camels break records; Kovenock moves on to NCAAs

By CAROL GOLDBERG

Just Wait

"The Camels made a big splash at the NESCAC's swimming championships last week, held at Bates College this past weekend.
Camel's swimmers placed ninth out of 11 teams and topped 53 teams as they beat NESCAC rivals Bowdoin and Wesleyan. In fact, first place was Williams, who won the NESCAC championship for the second consecutive year.
Kate Kovenock '05 was the winning scorer for the Camels, winning all three of her individual events, including a record-breaking time of 1:19.14 in the 100-yard freestyle.
Kovenock was also victorious in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events with times of 23.06 and 30.00. With four out of six places on the podium certified, the Camel's women placed third at the NESCAC championships in Alanis, Georgia, which will serve as the site of March 15-17.
Kovenock was not only Camel swimmer to break records at the championships; as Melody Goettsche '06, Kate Derr '06, Kovenock, and Leslie Zukowski '06 combined to clinch a school record in the 200-yard medley relay with a time of 1:41.72.
"The relays were amazing," Zukowski commented.
"we placed in front of other really good NESCAC teams in the relay with some really big dominant.
While they did not officially advocate for the Coast Guard was for war, it is clear that the Coast Guard supports any decision made by the people. In this case, the people have been asked to vote on the war, and they have voted in favor of it. This means that the people have decided to go to war, and it is up to the government to carry out the war.

Panel Offers Many Opinions, Leaves Few Disappointed

continued from page 1

Panel Offers Many Opinions, Leaves Few Disappointed

continued from page 1

tol, on the idea involving stationing troops outside of Iraq, preventing any dangerous weapon and information from entering or leaving the country, might effectively neutralize Saddam Hussein.

Cory O'Brien took one of the more radical positions of the forum. O'Brien questioned US actions, claiming that the country's current enemies, Al-Qaeda, Osama Bin Laden and others were once looked towards for support in previous efforts by the US against communism. Only now in America destroying the enemies is built up. He went on to further explain that the invasion of Iraq is "playing lip service to the international community." As the war is going to be more about the invasion of Iraq, it will be more about the invasion of America's own country. "We're willing to kill for oil, we're willing to die for it as well."

The meeting concluded with suggestions addressed the line of the forum. Our student suggested earlier that they should all join Students Organizations Against Racism (SOAR), the on-campus coalition for promoting racial toler-

Graduating this spring?

Then it's time to start thinking about getting a Master's Degree at Sacred Heart University.

GRADUATE INFORMATION SESSION
SATURDAY, MARCH 15
8:00-10:00 AM REGISTRATION AND CAMPUS TOURS
10:00 AM WELCOME
10:50 AM GRADUATE PROGRAM INFORMATION SESSIONS
12:45-2:00 PM LUNCHEON AND RECEPTIONS WITH FACULTY

Www.sacredheart.edu/graduate or CALL (203) 365-7614 for more information.
You have options!

Everyone asking what your plans are after graduation?

Massachusetts School of Law graduates ACHIEVE!

Get the same edge that MSL graduates enjoy in almost every professional realm.

Law
Business
Government
Education
Healthcare
Law Enforcement

A Juris Doctor degree puts you ahead of the competition.

A Juris Doctor from MSL affords you the freedom of that competitive advantage without the worries others suffer behind a mountain of debt.

Interested? Check us out now.

Study film from both sides of the camera.

- Intensive Filmmaking Workshop
- Acting in Film
- Screenwriting
- Business of Film
- Film Noir and the American Cinema of the 1940s
- The Hollywood Novel and the Hollywood Movie
- Four Contemporary European Directors
- Introduction to Animation and Anime
- Race in American Film
- French Film and Fiction (offered abroad)

Yale Summer Programs 2003
www.yale.edu/summer
summer.programs@yale.edu
203-432-2430

Same Verities. More Lux.
The Camels were unable to contribute to the Camels' inability to notch more than their fair share of wins, so if we had been forced to write a political analysis, I would have done so.

I was going to leave the issue alone; I mean, what business do sports editors have with columns about the impending war in Iraq, a war I had just witnessed from my vantage point, on my own turf, and my own skin.

Now, I know some of you may be thinking, "What in the world is this guy talking about?". This story begins to appear like political analysis, with the writer making veiled threats, attacks, and other tactics that are usually associated with this genre. However, I believe the writer is using this as a platform to voice their concerns and express their viewpoints, which is a common practice in political analysis.

The writer expresses their desire to return to more traditional topics, such as sports and personal interests, and their frustration with the current political climate. They believe that the media is too focused on politics and that sports should be a refuge from the political noise.

Despite these apparent political undertones, the writer does not explicitly endorse any political views, and their focus remains on the athletic events and their personal experiences. The language used is generally informal and conversational, with occasional references to local news stories and current events.

Overall, this piece can be considered a political analysis, as the writer is using sports events and personal experiences to discuss political issues and express their views. However, it is important to note that the writer does not take a clear stance on any particular political issue, and their focus is primarily on expressing their personal opinions in a non-ideological manner.