Mascot Hunt—Junior’s Point of View

A certain Sophomore was found in a certain Junior’s room, frantically brushing what she called “snow” from her dress, but that “snow” looked very much like dust that might have been acquired from hiding under a certain Junior’s bed. Another Sophomore, less certain, was found prone upon the floor of a certain Junior’s room, frantically brushing what she found in a certain Junior’s room, an inch of dust which makes her a flashing personality of gold and bronze. She is dynamic, vibrant, the epitome of emerald parakeets. She is very tall, lithe, with a skin which makes her a flashing personality of gold and bronze. She is dynamic, vibrant, the epitome of the Indian philosophy of life. The Hindu mind must be cleansed. This is done by holding the mind on one great thought, letting it relax, rest, and be soothed, with the exception of one hour, with the exception of one hour, with the exception of one hour.

MODERN AGE FULLY AWARE OF RELIGIOUS ELEMENT IN LIFE, SAYS DEAN

Dean Sperry Discusses True Religion in Vespers

Dr. Willard L. Sperry, dean of the Harvard Biological Seminary, chose “The True Knowledge of Religion” as his topic in a recent lecture held in Knowlton. He said “man has a religious frame of reference. It is the religious frame of reference that gives the individual the reassurance that he can trust. It is the religious frame of reference that gives him the assurance that he can trust those around him. It is the religious frame of reference that gives him the assurance that he can trust those around him.”

ELECTIONS!

Compulsory Student Government Meetings, for the purpose of electing officers, will be held at 6:45 in the gym on the following nights. These meetings should not last more than half an hour, with the exception of the first one.

On Convocation

Dr. Lawrence Will Speak at First Meeting, March 6th

A new idea has been launched on campus—something of vital interest to all. Everyone hears vague reports of an impending war and a European Crisis. It is important to get away from dead, uninteresting, heart-breaking research and to investigate the practical topics of the day. This is one of the aims of the Junior Hoot and the Relations Group. The second aim is to create a favorable atmosphere on campus for a foreign student, for they must be much to be gained from close association with someone who has studied in another country.

Student Government is backing the groups, Forum is cooperating with it and various members of the faculty will lead the group discussions. Everyone is invited to come and take part in the first meeting which will be held on Tuesday, March 6 at 6:45 P. M. in Windham Living Room. Dr. Lawrence will be the speaker. Afterwards there will be an open discussion.

Mascot Hunt—Soph’s Point of View

People rushing hither and thither, smart Juniors carrying towel-wrapped objects to queer places, hurried Sophomores vainly chasing unsuspecting Juniors and interpreting every innocent conversation as a clue. It’s a bit crazy and chaotic with everyone going around in circles, getting nowhere in particular, but always hoping to get the incriminating bit of evidence.

The Sophomore class, as a whole, has shown unusual interest in the Mascot Hunt this year. The attendance at the basketball games has been nothing short of phenomenal. The cynical might credit it to Morgan’s Law of Archaic Phenomena, wherein artists have attained a complete mastery and are so sure of themselves that they play tricks with their art; and the archetype, a breaking down of the formal type, when artists find their tricks cheap and begin to develop a new art.

Since 1844, a number of main streams in painting have been visible in the works of American artists. With the appearance of photography and illustrated newspapers, America entered the age of realism. With this realist revolution in art, the older, more romantic styles of art were replaced by a more naturalistic approach to painting. The result was a decline in the popularity of portrait painting, as well as a decline in the popularity of landscape painting, which was replaced by a more naturalistic approach to painting.

It is interesting to note that the Mascot Hunt may be the first time that the Sophomore class has shown such unusual interest in the hunt. The Sophomore class is the most popular class on campus, and it is likely that the interest in the hunt is due to the popularity of the Sophomore class. The Sophomore class is known for its lively and energetic students, and it is likely that this energy and enthusiasm is what has led to the unusual interest in the hunt.

Whether or not the Sophomore class is the first time that the Mascot Hunt has been popular is unknown, but it is clear that the Sophomore class is playing a significant role in the hunt. Too often the so-called "grind" more or less a case of harmony. An Aesop fox mind? Are we the matter with us? Have we hands in an optional paper. What favorite expressions with crack a book for it," is one of to study we quickly hide the fact that the girl who studies is an is something to be ashamed of, Phi Beta Kappa privileges, and sons? Alack-a-day! No sooner of complacency than something of knowledge of "Xliltonic" America; armed with a picturesque India, her beauty dimmed with India, her beauty dimmed with west- ment to be ashamed of. In 1918 Dhan Mukerji came to America; armed with a picturesque knowledge of "Mittonic" English. He worked with the University of California, suffering many privations and hardships, and finally received his Ph. D. from Leopold Stanford in 1914, where he had spent his senior year. In 1918 he married an American girl, Ethel Ray Dugan. In 1921 he returned to his native land and found a politically discontented India, her beauty dimmed with western industrialism. He returned to America, and has been living in New Milford, Connecticut with his wife and one son, Dhan Gopal, junior. In 1929 Dhan Mukerji revisited India. He is a staunch supporter of his race, and has little in common with the tourists who write disparagingly of Indian life. Dhan Gopal Mukerji has written several books on his experiences in India and in America, "Face and Disillusioned India" are all as beautifully written as he speaks. Dhan Mukerji's books for children and their reading material, and his Gay Neek received the John Newbery medal in 1927 for "the most distinguished children's book."
ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES FOR Luckies

1. Luckies do not use the top leaves... because top leaves are under-developed... they are not ripe... They would give a harsh smoke.

2. Luckies use only the center leaves of the finest tobacco plants... because the center leaves are the mildest, tenderest, smoothest.

3. Luckies do not use the bottom leaves, because bottom leaves are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy.

This picture tells better than words the merit of your Lucky Strike. Luckies use only the center leaves. Not the top leaves, because those are under-developed—not ripe. Not the bottom leaves, because those are inferior in quality—they grow close to the ground and are tough, coarse and always sandy. The center leaves are the mildest leaves, the finest in quality. These center leaves are cut into long, even strands and are fully packed into each and every Lucky—giving you a cigarette that is always round, firm, completely filled—no loose ends. Is it any wonder that Luckies are so truly mild and smooth? And in addition, you know, "It's toasted" for throat protection, for finer taste.

Lucky Strike presents the Metropolitan Opera Company
Saturday at 6:15 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, over Red and Blue Networks of NBC. Lucky Strike will broadcast the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York in the complete Opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Gloria Hollister '24 Eludes Interview with C. C. Reporter (Concluded from page 1, column 2) that she has long beenuseful, for even in her early years she was something of an amateur naturalist. Before coming to Connecticut she studied Biology, with an eye on a career in Zoology. After graduation from C. C. she took her M. A. at the School of Pure Science at Columbia University. After two years as assistant to Dr. Alexus Carrell of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, she became Technical Associate to Dr. William Beebe. She is now Research Associate in the Department of Tropical Research and Fellow of the New York Zoological Society.

This is the firm foundation of knowledge beneath her aura of adventure and discovery. Miss Hollister has been identified from the beginning with the extra-ordinary flight which is being done by the Bermuda Oceanographic Expedition of the New York Zoological Society, headed by Mr. Beebe, the most in birthday present, several years ago, was a dive in the famous boat which went on. In 1933 she descended to a depth of a thousand feet, a diving record for women.

On a trip to Trinidad she succeeded in capturing for the first time alive a specimen of the guacharo, or oil bird, which she learned for supplying her for the bird and in which she discovered a choco fish in Miss Hollister's estimation.

One of the most interesting, as well as most significant of Miss Hollister's accomplishments, is her development of a red skeletal stain which allows study of the anatomical structure of a fish without dissection. This gives a more accurate structural knowledge of the fish and at the same time leaves it whole for further study. Her discovery has completely revolutionized the study of marine life.

A complex, yet simple and skillful cook, also, Miss Hollister is manager of the Macmillan Bookshop in New York City. Second Vice-President Dorothy Dayley (79) is a very successful free lance artist and illustrator. You have probably seen some of her magazine covers. She lives in Woodhaven, New York.

Treasurer Elizabeth Gallup Ryder was married last year, and now lives in North Adams, Mass. Editor of the New Jessie Copeland lives in New London and teaches Latin at the Robert Fitch High School in Groton.

Conceivably Agnes Leake holds the very important position of National Personnel Director of the Girl Scout organization, and lives in New York. So much for a girl from Norwich.

Conceivably Miriam Taylor Beadle (Mrs. Rockefeller) is a formerly a psychiatric social worker at the Institute of Human Relations at Yale. If one were to inquire of Mrs. Beadle, now, "To what do you attribute your happiness?" an important part of the answer would, no doubt, be a generous measure of cooings about a new daughter Barbara, born February 3.

Councillor Eleanor Huenken Torrey (Mrs. John J.) of Jamaica Estates, N. Y., was formerly one of the editors of Good Housekeeping Magazine. Lucky John J. Nominating Chairman Julia Warner, who probably knows the secret of being chosen as a nominee for these honors and success at C. C. has been doing social work at the Hudson Guild in New York.
