A&E

Voit Carroll and The Williams Story Milk Kinney Sicks in Bug Hall for.

INSIDE:

NEWS

Committee leaders clarified the protocol for dealing with board incucus on campus.

SPORTS

Connecticut Men's Lacrosse starts off season with a string of victories.

Tuition Increases Next Academic Year

By Brian Mosby

This February at its annual meeting, the Board of Trustees set the tuition at $37,900 for the 2003-2004 academic year. This marks a 6.4% increase from the present academic year. The decision to increase the tuition was influenced by many significant factors. In the past five years, the college's tuition has advanced at an accelerated rate. From 1999-2000, tuition increased by 4.5%, from 2000-2001, 4.5%, from 2001-2002, 5%, and from 2002-2003, 6%.

Despite these increases, the percentage increase in tuition from 1999-2000 was less than the average compar- ed to peer liberal arts colleges (Tulane, Boston College, Trinity, Middlebury, Harvard, Skidmore, Colby, Hamilton, Bates, Vassar, Colgate, and Bowdoin College). The corresponding statistics for this coming year are not yet available. However, for the current 2002-2003 academic year, only three of these twenty liberal arts schools had lower tuition increases than Connecticut College. It is estimated that the 2001-2004 increase will place the College in the middle of this list.

According to the administration, in order to provide a quality of education comparable to the College's com- pletions, an increase in tuition was necessary. There are other several reasons that account for this specific change, most of which are related to recent economic concerns and the conflict with Iraq.

The admitted class' demand for financial aid is greater than that of past years. This can be attributed largely to the increasing economy.

The comprehensive fee does not cover the cost of student's education; it covers less than eighty percent of this charge. Endowments, gifts and grants to the College are used to make up for the remaining percentage of the cost. These contributions have recently become less frequent due to the condition of the economy.

In addition Costs of fuel, technology implementation and employee health care have increased.

The tuition hike will make it harder for some current full-tuition students to cover the costs. The College already provides Financial Aid for many students on continued on page 10

Students Hold Vigil to Pray for Peace

By John Rosci

Every evening between 5:00 and 7:00 approximately ten students solemnly congregated outside of Harris. They gathered, glowing around each other in protest of Operation Iraqi Freedom with candle that illuminate their faces and wash their hands. "We're doing this to let people know that not everyone is giving up," said one girl.

The vigil began Tuesday, March 25 after Youth for Justice (YFJ), an activist coalition on campus, held an emergency meeting the night before. Members of YFJ and other students who called themselves "freelance operationaries" agreed to hold nightly vigils and to organize a fasting chain until the war comes to an end, if there are a list of twenty-five people, which includes staff members, who will fast in the coming weeks. "A lot of people seem willing," one "YFJer" noted.

Above the noise of United, said Andy Debargis '94, "There is a huge majority for this." Overall the protest filled that community support was strong, but that people had a hard time after the vigil, two weeks ago.

"Already people have lost inter- est in the peace movement," claimed Carolyn Patterson, a Undergraduates and College Chaplain. "We need to keep the voices of dissent alive in this country. That's one of the things we're fighting for..." continued on page 11

Other Colleges Consider Co-Ed Rooming

In the most widely publi- cized lecture of the semester, Peggy McIntosh, Associate Director of the Wellesley Center for Women, spoke to a large gathering of students and fac- ulty. The lecture was given on Monday in the 1945 Room, and its content revolved around "Unpack the Invisible Knapsack" of White Privilege.

The event was part of the Race Matters Lecture Series sponsored by the Multicultural and Diversity Committee to further the discussions the college has been engaged in. The Forum held on February 18th, "during the forum there was a lot of confusion expressed on White Privilege and what White Privilege is" said Len Williams, Associate Dean of Multicultural and Co-Chair of the Multicultural and Diversity Committee. "I wanted to bring in someone who delivers a talk in ways that our community can have a lot of ways."

Mcintosh began the lecture by putting out demanding members to di- cuss the benefits as well. But, "hard and scary things about looking at White Privilege." She gave those in attendance a minute to discuss their feelings with their partners. "It's an autocratic time for the demo- cracy of one," she said. The evening was about an equal chance to speak.

She then continued to explain how she sees race in the concept of White Privilege in the 1980s when she founded the National Society of Educational Equity and Diversity Project (EEDP) during experiments on women into college curricula.

She discovered that male profes- sors were refusing to incorporate women's perspectives into introduc- tory courses. They said, "the syllabus is full," the troubling. The exploration of gender inequality then became an exploration of racial inequality.

From there she began noting subtle privileges that White have over Blacks in daily interactions, cit- ing instances where Black women at a restaurant are served later than White women, and even that the National Institute of Health used to conduct all labs on White rabbits, if they were to conduct an experiment. "These instances," she said are not about racism or violence. "They're about the up-side of inequality. We're not doing the down-side but the exemption from the down-side."

In 1986 McIntosh published "White Privilege: Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack," in an article that lists 26 everyday privileges that White experience. "I think Whites are carefully taught not to recognize White Privilege," she wrote in the article, seeing White Privilege as "something with which you can count on cashing in each day."certainly White Privilege to colon- ize. McIntosh suggests, is the best way to solve the problem. "White privilege is like a bank account, you can spend it to help people..." she said. She recognizes the need for Whites to understand how to claim this "invisible knapsack" and how to improve the situation.}

At the meeting, she expanded on her concept. "I'm not saying to not do what you're doing, I'm saying your voice once you're gone..." she continued.

McIntosh packs '41 Room, Unpacks Knapsack of White Privilege in Lecture

By John Rosci

In one of the most widely publi- cized lectures of the semester, Peggy McIntosh, Associate Director of the Wellesley Center for Women, spoke to a large gathering of students and fac- ulty. The lecture was given on Monday in the 1945 Room, and its content revolved around "Unpack the Invisible Knapsack" of White Privilege.

The event was part of the Race Matters Lecture Series sponsored by the Multicultural and Diversity Committee to further the discussions the college has been engaged in. The Forum held on February 18th, "during the forum there was a lot of confusion expressed on White Privilege and what White Privilege is" said Len Williams, Associate Dean of Multicultural and Co-Chair of the Multicultural and Diversity Committee. "I wanted to bring in someone who delivers a talk in ways that our community can have a lot of ways."

Mcintosh began the lecture by putting out demanding members to di- cuss the benefits as well. But, "hard and scary things about looking at White Privilege." She gave those in attendance a minute to discuss their feelings with their partners. "It's an autocratic time for the demo- cracy of one," she said. The evening was about an equal chance to speak.

She then continued to explain how she sees race in the concept of White Privilege in the 1980s when she founded the National Society of Educational Equity and Diversity Project (EEDP) during experiments on women into college curricula.

She discovered that male profes- sors were refusing to incorporate women's perspectives into introduc- tory courses. They said, "the syllabus is full," the troubling. The exploration of gender inequality then became an exploration of racial inequality.

From there she began noting subtle privileges that White have over Blacks in daily interactions, cit- ing instances where Black women at a restaurant are served later than White women, and even that the National Institute of Health used to conduct all labs on White rabbits, if they were to conduct an experiment. "These instances," she said are not about racism or violence. "They're about the up-side of inequality. We're not doing the down-side but the exemption from the down-side."

In 1986 McIntosh published "White Privilege: Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack," in an article that lists 26 everyday privileges that White experience. "I think Whites are carefully taught not to recognize White Privilege," she wrote in the article, seeing White Privilege as "something with which you can count on cashing in each day."certainly White Privilege to colon- ize. McIntosh suggests, is the best way to solve the problem. "White privilege is like a bank account, you can spend it to help people..." she said. She recognizes the need for Whites to understand how to claim this "invisible knapsack" and how to improve the situation.}
Don't forget to voice your opinions

Since the war began Americans have been inundated with graphic coverage precisely detailing the horrors of war in a way that a civilian populace has never experienced before. Undeniably, journalism and 21st century technology beam images of blood, death, courage and heroism halfway around the world to living rooms across this country. People can turn the war on and off at any time or skip entire conflicts of this war has even been confirmed to TV scheduling. Morning shows usually feature interviews from the command center in Doha or Washington, afternoon and evenings feature the exciting sweepstakes from the command center in Doha or Washington.

The media liberation and glut of public exposure to the war is both good and bad. The constant presence of journalists on the front line has probably caused many human rights violations, and given the American public a view of the war from the safety of their television screens. But it has trivialized war, making it no more real than the "reality" television shows of the past.

During the Vietnam War these images provoked protest and civil discord that rocked the nation and created a generation of bitterness between baby boomers and their Roosevelt-era parents. Some argue that the Peace movement brought about the end of the Vietnam War, thereby saving the country and its armed forces from the warfare mentality that the Vietnam War fostered. But it has trivialized war, making it no more real than the "reality" television shows of the past.

Since the war began Americans have been inundated with graphic coverage precisely detailing the horrors of war in a way that a civilian populace has never experienced before. Undeniably, journalism and 21st century technology beam images of blood, death, courage and heroism halfway around the world to living rooms across this country. People can turn the war on and off at any time or skip entire conflicts of this war has even been confirmed to TV scheduling. Morning shows usually feature interviews from the command center in Doha or Washington, afternoon and evenings feature the exciting sweepstakes from the command center in Doha or Washington.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned anonymous letters will be published. Howards are not edited, unless requested by the author. All letters are limited to 300 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters as a Microsoft Word attachment to cvoice@conncoll.edu.
OPINION
A FIRST SPRING'S WALK: RELEARNING TO SEE THE STUPIDITIES OF WAR

The stiffness in my neck, the chill I feel in my hand, and the weight in my legs all hint at the possibility of unremitting change. The stiffness in my neck, the chill I feel in my hand, and the weight in my legs all hint at the possibility of unremitting change. The stiffness in my neck, the chill I feel in my hand, and the weight in my legs all hint at the possibility of unremitting change. The stiffness in my neck, the chill I feel in my hand, and the weight in my legs all hint at the possibility of unremitting change.

A, First Spring's Walk: Relearning to See the Stupidities of War

Now, then, there is a war happening.

In this world, where a recent past of global wars and holocausts have left a lasting impact, the question of war becomes a pressing concern. The United States, having engaged in various conflicts, finds itself once again at the center of international disputes. The ongoing war in Iraq, in particular, has sparked widespread discussions and debates around the world. The question of whether affirmative action is discrimination and whether it benefits or harms the society is also a part of these discussions.

Imagine growing up in a school in the United States where your classroom is filled with stories of war and famine. You learn about the battles and conflicts that have shaped the world, but you are not taught how to think critically about them. You are taught to hate the enemy and to love your country. You are taught to be gullible international community—that is the claim they are under Israeli occupation. They would not teach the children it rules to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including Saddam's Iraq that is now being liberated. I believe that peace with a Palestinian Arab side which is teaching and inciting violence will never reign in this world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.

The first question you should ask is what exactly is this occupation they are talking about? Occupation is a term used to describe the current state of affairs in the Palestinian territories. It has been used to describe France in World War II when it was occupied by Germany. The use of this term by the current media and politicians is quite intentional. It is used to control the narrative, spread propaganda, showing its "governance," controlling the educational systems and telling children to hate and insult Jews and Arabs. And it is used to control the media and to manipulate the audience.

I have no doubt that turning a blind eye to the terror-filled culture would not teach the children to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.

Imagine growing up in a school in the United States where your classroom is filled with stories of war and famine. You learn about the battles and conflicts that have shaped the world, but you are not taught how to think critically about them. You are taught to hate the enemy and to love your country. You are taught to be gullible international community—that is the claim they are under Israeli occupation. They would not teach the children it rules to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including Saddam's Iraq that is now being liberated. I believe that peace with a Palestinian Arab side which is teaching and inciting violence will never reign in this world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.

The first question you should ask is what exactly is this occupation they are talking about? Occupation is a term used to describe the current state of affairs in the Palestinian territories. It has been used to describe France in World War II when it was occupied by Germany. The use of this term by the current media and politicians is quite intentional. It is used to control the narrative, spread propaganda, showing its "governance," controlling the educational systems and telling children to hate and insult Jews and Arabs. And it is used to control the media and to manipulate the audience.

I have no doubt that turning a blind eye to the terror-filled culture would not teach the children to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.

The first question you should ask is what exactly is this occupation they are talking about? Occupation is a term used to describe the current state of affairs in the Palestinian territories. It has been used to describe France in World War II when it was occupied by Germany. The use of this term by the current media and politicians is quite intentional. It is used to control the narrative, spread propaganda, showing its "governance," controlling the educational systems and telling children to hate and insult Jews and Arabs. And it is used to control the media and to manipulate the audience.

I have no doubt that turning a blind eye to the terror-filled culture would not teach the children to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.

The first question you should ask is what exactly is this occupation they are talking about? Occupation is a term used to describe the current state of affairs in the Palestinian territories. It has been used to describe France in World War II when it was occupied by Germany. The use of this term by the current media and politicians is quite intentional. It is used to control the narrative, spread propaganda, showing its "governance," controlling the educational systems and telling children to hate and insult Jews and Arabs. And it is used to control the media and to manipulate the audience.

I have no doubt that turning a blind eye to the terror-filled culture would not teach the children to hate the occupation. A true occupier does not exist in our federal republic; however, it does exist in much of the world, including the United States. You were taught to hate Mexicans. You trained in terrorist groups that commit this generation are fighting for their lives in the United States. You were taught to hate Jews, Israel, and peace.
More Fun Than Salmonella Dragapella:
By ... Voice’s layout staff.

For one night only, in came the Willow Street Mix with its version of the Buggles’ “Video Killed the Radio Star,” K.D. Lang’s “Summer Fling” and “(Your Love) Has Lifted Me Off The Ground,” and in came back to us Robert DeNiro’s quote-matching game (where Drobnjak quotes a DeNiro line, and receives some serious applause. Trixie, when performing “Be There,” had a better voice than most of the famous drag artists and punched out some impressive lines. With the Kinsey kids’ version of “Fool’s Gold” being played, I don’t have to worry if you lose your head. People on the river are happy to get a line in.

Robert DeNiro quote-matching game (where Drobnjak quotes a DeNiro line, and receives some serious applause. Trixie, when performing “Be There,” had a better voice than most of the famous drag artists and punched out some impressive lines. With the Kinsey kids’ version of “Fool’s Gold” being played, I don’t have to worry if you lose your head. People on the river are happy to get a line in.

Jump Off the Bandwagon:

In My Heart You’ll Always Stay
Forever Young

Dozens music today really finds a balance between creatively powerful and financially successful. Now, in between those two standards for rock, there is an easily tolerated midrange where the pop is not too alternative and the alternative is not too pop.

The Internet: to many college students, it is a house full of hidden gem websites. For example, one caption advises, “I’m sure many of you have wondered at some point, ‘You know, I really want to learn about (something).’” http://www.sman-blonde.net/ready/ready.htm

Of all the European basketball players that have invaded the National Basketball Association over the past few years, none has a better website than Portland’s center Brandon Dobbs, originally of the Yugoslavia. While Dobbs has been somewhat under the radar during his two-year NBA career (as (the team’s 8.1 points and 3.7 rebounds per game), he has gained a solid following in Seattle, and this website no doubt adds to why.

Dobbs’ website is a great example of what college basketball players can do to establish themselves in the post-NBA era. For example, Dobbs’ website includes a links page, which includes sites from various colleges and universities.

VirtualStaple.com
http://www.virtualstaple.com/

I’m sure many of you have wondered at some point, “You know, I really want to learn about (something).” Dobbs’ website is a great example of what college basketball players can do to establish themselves in the post-NBA era. For example, Dobbs’ website includes a links page, which includes sites from various colleges and universities.

VirtualStaple.com
http://www.virtualstaple.com/
Murder of Crows Prepares To Take Flight

By DAN O'TOOLE

Prepares To Take Flight

Fans of Connecticut College theater productions are human civilization. Written by playwright Max

Wealthy aunt and uncle’s farm. Susannah comes to hate boring into meaningful change to the lives of her mother and

Wellman more than a decade ago in the wake of the first

Jordan Geary

famous of Connecticut College theater productions are

In order to bring about a change in the weather, Susannah's

This play was a little difficult to put together

Jordan O'Toole '03 (bottom middle) finds himself surrounded by birds as he prepares for Murder of Crows, opening next Thursday, April 10 and Jake Sherlock ‘07, playing her first role in a Connecticut College pro-

"This play was a little difficult to put together

"I want to make a good first as in this impressive exhibit.

This exhibit is an excuse to showcase impressionists, the big money maker in the muse-in order to drive home the message of the performance.

Working the lead of Susannah is Megan Sherlock

James O'Reilly ‘07 (top middle) struck himself surrounded by birds as he prepared for the opening of his first Connecticut college directing effort, Murder of Crows, opening next Thursday, April 10, at 10 p.m. and in the play invites its audience to question what truly is the Murder of Crows is described as "a darkly comic, harda play to challenge the audience to come to their own conclusions about what is right or

Jordan Geary

Dr. Noel Murphy

"There are parts of (the script) that are rather difficult to

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

New Image for Women, Birds with Brain Death

Ghali is still unable to An amazing story of Susannah, a young girl who, following the or the department." She also pointed to the necessity to drive

So says Sherlock, who has previously together.

Les Femmes d’Argenson," one of the show’s paintings, exhibits

Picasso’s fascination with African masks, which he saw as a beautiful rep-

Picasso, whose work includes the following title: "Six Women with Brain Death" is the

The Museum of Modern Art (MOMA) is hosting a show entitled

If Ghali is still unable to

The Museum of Modern Art (MOMA) is hosting a show entitled

But O’Toole says that these exercises help their Arts Council. It will not take place this Alternative activity next weekend, Alex Geary will be at hand to substitute for her.

The cast includes: James O’Reilly ‘07, Megan Sherlock, Alex Geary, Jordan O’Toole ‘03 and

He is particularly

Dorn Life

Mexico/Caribbean only $250 round trip! Europe $189 oneway!

Hey Kids!

June 9, 2007

Kanamori and guests would have learned just

Now I gotta go to the art store, meet with a project, write a draft, work on

The call of the wild

Hey! I have to update my website.

Call us! 212-219-7000

Book online www.airtech.com or (212)-219-7000.

Atlantic Artwork

Book online www.airtech.com or (212)-219-7000.

The call of the wild
Debut Album Falls Just Short of Solid Gold

By: Alex Katz

The orchestra sounds very much like original version of Charlie Kaufman, who writes a letter to an adaptation of the book. The book, "The Orchard Thief," written by Donald, who is a pen name for Clive Linley, composer and co-researcher of the movie. Although the writing behind the film is the same, there are other features that contribute to the excellence of this movie.

What makes the movie so original is that it literally works like a Russian Doll. It has multiple concrete layers that reveal themselves as the movie progresses. The movie is about Charlie Kaufman, Adaptation's (a) true screenwriter, as he tries to adapt the book "The Orchard Thief" into a movie. What this process does is that it tells the story of how the movie was actually written. Furthermore, the movie whose script is the same version of Charlie Kaufman tries to write is an adaptation of the book "The Orchard Thief." Based on the book "The Orchard Thief," the book "The Orchard Thief" was adapted from an article of the same name that appeared in The New Yorker. This was so obviously called but this is the very class that forces the audience to see the scene sequence and seeing less of the story that people wrote the movie. It is for this reason that Adaptation succeeds in making its audience see a part of the character that Donald seems to be the instrument in the history of cinema. "This film is a social structure, the presence of Charlie's brother Donald plays a big role in the story of a writer's frustration. Contributing to his inability to adapt Adaptation into a movie that will appeal to the audience of Charlie's brother Donald. Donald who is a psychic effect of his presence on Charlie. When Donald first appears with Charlie, the former's psychic experience with the process of screenwriting has apparently greater impact on Charlie. Even more amusingly, Donald is an integral part of who Charlie is and the brilliant result that his intellectual effort ultimately yields. Perhaps one of the funniest moments of the movie is Donald playing the profusely exaggerated Charlie with the same "Happy Together." There is a cautionary story in this movie that contributes to the movie's final and most significant revelation. Also known in the psychic world of the orchidists Charlie Kaufman is Susan Orlean, the writer of The Orchard Thief who is played by Meryl Streep and Lane, a connoisseur of orchids who helps Susan write her article and book. It is for this reason that Adaptation succeeds in finding the extraordinary in transformations that are seemingly mundane or goanesly superficial.

To be really cliché, Adaptation is a modern classic. It's going to be if you want to "pop up" and be entertained reading a movie that is a pushforward experience.

McEwan's Latest Novel: Hopeful but Confusing

By: IAN McEwan

McEwan's Amsterdam is an interesting work of fiction. The decision that friends must make in the wake of their lover's death. Composer Clive Linley and newspaper editor Vernon Halliday attend the funeral of Molly Lane, the editor for French Vogue. Molly Linley, an editor for French Vogue, Mcdowell attracts powerful men of every form (including Foreign Minister and her lover, Molly Lane). But you never get a clear picture of who the woman in the descriptions of Clive and Vernon's friendship. The book must make involving

Listen to what our customers tell us...

"...such a nice shop...

"...what beautiful clothes...

"...I love consignment shopping..."

Tell them Lisa sent you!

"...unbelievable prices...

The New to You Shop is Waterford's premiere consignment store, specializing in women's clothing and accessories. Beautiful clothes at beautiful prices, with beautiful purses and jewelry to match. You'll have an experience like no other when you shop New To You.

What will you say when you visit us?

The New to You Shop

106 Boston Post Rd.
Waterford CT 06385
Visa/MC/Debit/Welcome

Tell them Lisa sent you!

delicious incentives - immense whole world!

866-444-1411
Wed - Sat 11:00-5:30
Late Nite Tuesdays 11:00-9:00
The Voice Congratulates Next Year's Housefellows:

Michelle Gorham, Maggie Gentz, Usman Khosa, Jamie Rogers, Laura Pollak, Carrie Foster, Ryan “Woody” Woodward,

Alex Larrimore, Margaret Maher, Andrew Musoke, Megan DeMers, Stephanie Morgan, Dan Griffin, Megan Dobyns,

Lizzie Pollock, Craig Carreau, Emily Whitaker, Chris Percy, Sharlene Jeanty, Tim Walker, Mandy Hildenbrand
NATIONAL NEWS

U.S. Marines Advance North to Baghdad

By KEVIN R. COX

Former Marine General John R. Singlaub, retired, who served as top military commander in Operation Desert Storm, said Sunday that U.S. forces have made significant progress in Iraq.

"There is no question that we are making a significant breakthrough," Singlaub said in an interview with CNN. "We have made significant progress in the last few days."

Singlaub said that the U.S. military has been able to secure a number of key sites, including a major oil refinery and a key bridge over the Euphrates River.

"The situation on the ground is improving," Singlaub said. "We have made significant progress in the last few days."

Singlaub said that the U.S. military has been able to secure a number of key sites, including a major oil refinery and a key bridge over the Euphrates River.
Study: Drug Slows Alzheimer's Memory Loss

By Dave McGinley

WASHINGTON (AP) — A historic home run by Alex Rodriguez wasn't enough for the Texas Rangers. Rodriguez became the youngest player to hit 300 career home runs, but the Anaheim Angels beat the Rangers 15-7 Wednesday behind home runs from Troy Glaus, Brad Fullmer and Darin Erstad.

Rodriguez, 27, became the 11th member of the 300 home run club when he hit his second of the season, the fastest to 300 behind the six-time All-Star.

Glaus, bothered by tendinitis in his right wrist since July 7-8, 2001, at Colorado, hit his second homer in two days, a two-run shot in the fourth. Fullmer's second homer in two days, a two-run shot in the fifth off A-Rod, his second of the season. The fastball to Glaus came off David Eckstein's sacrifice fly to center, Fullmer's second homer in two days, a two-run shot in the fifth off A-Rod, his second of the season.

Sierra ended up at second on Garcia. Rodriguez, who doesn't have any major league wins during the regular season, went 5-1 in his AL debut. He went 9-14 with a 4.71 ERA in 30 starts last season with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Rodriguez led the majors last season with 57 home runs and 142 RBIs, both career highs for the six-time All-Star. Bergin Molina added four RBIs and two runs and hit his first AL home run.

The World Series champions added three more runs in the fifth on an RBI single by Scott Sierra's shallow fly. Sierra ended up at second on Garcia.

Rodriguez, who doesn't have any major league wins during the regular season, went 5-1 in the postseason last fall, a key to the Angels' first World Series title.

John Thomson (11) allowed six runs and 10 hits in 4 1/3 innings in his AL debut. He went 9-14 with a 3.11 ERA in 30 starts last season with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Colorado Rockies.

Bergin Molina added four RBIs and two runs and hit his first AL home run.

The Angels beat the Rangers 15-7 Wednesday behind home runs from Troy Glaus, Brad Fullmer and Darin Erstad.

Rodriguez, 27, became the 11th member of the 300 home run club when he hit his second of the season, the fastest to 300 behind the six-time All-Star.

Glaus, bothered by tendinitis in his right wrist since July 7-8, 2001, at Colorado, hit his second homer in two days, a two-run shot in the fourth. Fullmer's second homer in two days, a two-run shot in the fifth off A-Rod, his second of the season.

Sierra ended up at second on Garcia. Rodriguez, who doesn't have any major league wins during the regular season, went 5-1 in the postseason last fall, a key to the Angels' first World Series title.

John Thomson (11) allowed six runs and 10 hits in 4 1/3 innings in his AL debut. He went 9-14 with a 3.11 ERA in 30 starts last season with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Colorado Rockies.

Bergin Molina added four RBIs and two runs and hit his first AL home run.

The World Series champions added three more runs in the fifth on an RBI single by Scott Sierra's shallow fly. Sierra ended up at second on Garcia.
MTV Follows Life of Student

By Deborah Block

When MTV or any college student's dreams, Rick Gropper must be on cloud nine. The acclaimed television show hosted by the famous TV host, Rick Gropper, was in its second year and a half and was being watched by millions of people across the country. The show was about a student who had a disability and was doing something about it. The show was successful in getting a realistic portrayal of Gropper's life.

The goal is to show them a balanced day in my life," explained Gropper. "It's been going great, I am not doing anything different than there. There is no reason to go outside of my way to impress anyone.

While Gropper may not be doing anything different than normal, his classmates are trying to work up the nerve to lighten up. Upon hearing that Gropper was having a leg kicked in March and then having high fives, telling him "happy birthday." Why do these people think it's my birthday?" Gropper replied.

Gropper and classmates had given him high fives, telling him "happy birthday." The show was about a student who had a disability and was doing something about it.

After the keg was kicked and Campus Safety received the report on the infradiction of campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee wanted to make clear to the campus community that issues wanted to make clear to the campus community that issues.

At both lectures the administration stressed the importance of being receptive to McIntosh's suggestions.

The American Red Cross has asked for donations of red blood cells and fresh frozen plasma. The American Red Cross and other organizations established agreements with the Armed Services Blood Program for blood's components are usually separated into platelets, plasma, and red blood cells.

The Red Cross says donors of the safety and importance of donating blood. As stated, "The need is one that isn't where it's needed."

The American Red Cross follows off of 1.2 million

Conn to Host Blood Drive During Crisis

By Abigail Knopf

The Department of Armed Services Blood Program (ASBP) informed the American Red Cross of a dire need for additional blood sources to assist the military with the ongoing conflict in Iraq. The Red Cross is working with the New London Community Foundation, the entire community donations. It supplies the greatest amount of blood to more than 1,000 hospitals nationwide and community blood centers.

The American Red Cross has generated pamphlets about the need for blood and is sending them to other locations to donate blood or volunteer time to help the troops in the country's troops who are being sent to Iraq. The Red Cross is working with the New London Community Foundation, the entire community donations.

The American Red Cross has generated pamphlets about the need for blood and is sending them to other locations to donate blood or volunteer time to help the troops in Iraq.

Tuition Increases Next Academic Year

continued from page 1

Institute, and will continue to do so. According to the Financial Aid office "It is not our intent to reward a student's performance, but rather their performance through the institutional resources available to them. It is important to understand however there are many obstacles as well as problems that stand in the way of raising the offender and then punishing him or her. Among these the most crucial is the testimonial of the victim. Simplified, put, if there is no witness, then there is no case. Also if evidence is removed from the scene of the crime, either to test the victim or the offender, thus making a case is very difficult. Should the victim come forward, then the severity of the incident must be determined. At this point, the investigation is turned over to the Student Life Office. If it is determined that criminal activity is involved, then the New London Police are contacted. What follows is Discussion on Bias at CC

Discussion on Bias at CC

discussing the procedures for handling bias and racist incidents with concerned students. (Faries). Among those present were

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College of the Holy Cross facilitated a discussion about the dynamics of blood.

The Red Cross says donors of the safety and importance of donating blood. As stated, "The need is one that isn't where it's needed."

Institute, and will continue to do so. According to the Financial Aid office "It is not our intent to reward a student's performance, but rather their performance through the institutional resources available to them. It is important to understand however there are many obstacles as well as problems that stand in the way of raising the offender and then punishing him or her. Among these the most crucial is the testimonial of the victim. Simplified, put, if there is no witness, then there is no case. Also if evidence is removed from the scene of the crime, either to test the victim or the offender, thus making a case is very difficult. Should the victim come forward, then the severity of the incident must be determined. At this point, the investigation is turned over to the Student Life Office. If it is determined that criminal activity is involved, then the New London Police are contacted. What follows is Discussion on Bias at CC

Discussion on Bias at CC

discussing the procedures for handling bias and racist incidents with concerned students. (Faries). Among those present were

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of

Do you love grammer (for instance, did you notice that “grammer” was spelled wrong there)?

call x2812 and tell me something about it

McIntosh Unpacks White Privilege

By Paul Carter

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of

Do you love grammer (for instance, did you notice that “grammer” was spelled wrong there)?

call x2812 and tell me something about it

McIntosh Unpacks White Privilege

By Paul Carter

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of

Do you love grammer (for instance, did you notice that “grammer” was spelled wrong there)?

call x2812 and tell me something about it

McIntosh Unpacks White Privilege

By Paul Carter

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of

Do you love grammer (for instance, did you notice that “grammer” was spelled wrong there)?

call x2812 and tell me something about it

McIntosh Unpacks White Privilege

By Paul Carter

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of

Do you love grammer (for instance, did you notice that “grammer” was spelled wrong there)?

call x2812 and tell me something about it

McIntosh Unpacks White Privilege

By Paul Carter

Nearly a month and a half after the first roundtable met to discuss bias incidents on campus, the SGA Cultural Diversity Committee sponsored a meeting concerning the college's response to bias incidents. Among those in attendance from the hate bias task force were Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of the College for Multicultural Affairs, Thalia Ammirati, Dean of Students, and Leslie Williams, Assistant Dean of
Colleges Consider Co-ed Rooms

continued from page 1

"I think a lot of colleges are doing it right by giving girls and women the chance to live together in family units," says Susan Kamen, Dean of College Counseling at the Westtown School, which is located both at Westminster and Haverford.

Students at Swarthmore living in coed suites appear to feel more comfortable living environment for homosexual men and women. This is one of the major reasons why Swarthmore introduced the coed living option.

"It feels a lot easier to live with a boy," says Jacqueline Steward-Winter, a graduate of Swarthmore College, "and having a boy here, kind of levels things. I feel like girls, just on the average, have a little bit of a harder time to extend this ideology to rooming with a boy, especially when living together." Nevertheless, Anne Borrego states, "The colleges offering coed group housing are saying they aren't trying to encourage romance.

The bottom line in the issue of coed living is simply a matter of students wanting to live with their closest friends, according to Anne Borrego. Most students have been accustomed to living with someone of the opposite sex in various functions. Caitlin Lockwood, a Haverford School student, observes that many students avoid living in the same hall as someone who is dating, "Romantic involvement with high spirits is discouraged by student culture."
SPORTS

The Meaning of Sports

About two weeks ago, a great controversy arose within the NCAA when President Bush delivered his 41st birthday address to sodium Hussein. The nation held its breath, and the NCAA was not sure what they should do about the men’s and women’s college basketball tournaments. To further complicate matters, Saddam did not turn himself in, and the game broke out. Ridiculous League Basketball also drew with a similar result in regards to the season opening series between the Seattle Sounders and Oakland Athletics, which was to be played in Japan. March 25 and 26. Should the games have been played, not only for the sake of our country, but also out of respect for our troops abroad? Ultimately, the NCAA went ahead with the games, and they were played. Madness as we knew it had been explained in the MBL conference that it was all too real, and it gave the Pacific for two games. The issue at the heart of the matter, though, is the importance of sports in the world today. Do they mean anything? Is there some real importance to children’s games that are held in order to entertain us? Is there any value in trying to determine the greater meaning of this world, and existence? Few people say that sports are not important, they are simply saying that sports are not very important on this world level. There are even those who will say that sports, especially those on television, are distracting from the real world, and the greater issues we face. They help people who might other- wise never give a damn about another country come together and embrace it, finally, watching our teams on the field, and not the news. This is the price of war, and we have to accept it.

In case you haven’t heard, by now, there is a great issue in regards to the use of performance enhancing drugs, and sports is no exception. This is the reason for this topic of discussion. It is one of the hot topics in sports today, and it is a very real issue. A soldier who had recently returned from this very war stated that he had faced many challenges, but the most difficult was the transition back home and having the ability to, in essence, enjoy himself again. The transition was not an easy one for him, but he was able to overcome it. The training and experience he had gained in his military service enabled him to understand that this was a very important issue, and that the use of performance enhancing drugs was not the answer.

If you have been following this issue, you know that the NFL and the NBA have both taken steps to address this issue. The NFL has implemented stricter drug testing for its players, and the NBA has increased penalties for those who violate the league’s drug policy. However, there are still many questions that need to be answered. For example, how much should athletes be punished for using performance enhancing drugs? Is it appropriate for an athlete to use performance enhancing drugs to improve his or her performance? These questions have yet to be answered.

But this is not the only issue facing sports today. Sports bring us together in a way that nothing else can. They provide a forum for people to come together, to support each other, and to enjoy themselves. They provide a sense of unity and belonging. They are important to our society, and they will continue to be important in the future.

The Cambridge are off to a strong start this year, with victories over Drew University, Colby College and Trinity College.

Men’s Lacrosse Continues to Improve

In this article, we discuss the continuing success of the men’s lacrosse team at Connecticut College. The team has been improving throughout the season, and this trend is expected to continue in the future.

The team has been able to win games against some of the top teams in the NESCAC, and this success is expected to continue.

The team has also been able to improve its record from last season, and this is a positive sign for the future.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its on-field performance, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its record from last season, and this is a positive sign for the future.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its on-field performance, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its record from last season, and this is a positive sign for the future.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its on-field performance, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its record from last season, and this is a positive sign for the future.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its on-field performance, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its record from last season, and this is a positive sign for the future.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has also been able to improve its on-field performance, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.

The team has been able to attract new players, and this is expected to contribute to the team’s success.