Dr. E. Linn to Speak Sunday At Special Weekend Service

On Sunday evening at 3:00 o'clock, Dr. E. H. Linn will speak in the Anheuser-Busch Chapel for a special weekend service. Dr. Linn is a member of the Department of Government, Mr. Centeno, who will introduce him, will preside. Dr. Linn is a member of the Department of Government and has written several books on the subject of government. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa and has been a member of the Department of Government for many years. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has received many awards for his work in government.

Dr. R. Goodwin To Aid Group With Project

Dr. Richard Goodwin, Department of Biology, will give an account of his project to the Science and Mathematics Society. Dr. Goodwin is a graduate of the University of Iowa and has written several books on the subject of biology. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has received many awards for his work in biology.

Melinda Vail Leads Juniors As Prom Festivities Unfold

Melinda “Vail Melinda Vail, Social Chairman of the Junior Prom committee, has arranged the event for the entire weekend. Under Milkwood evening, the WIG and Candle presentation of Dylan Thomas’ Under Milkwood will be held in the Auditorium at 8:00 Saturday evening. The performers, both male and female, will have ample opportunity to let off steam—Juniors and their dates from Franklin, Willard, and Jane Adams will assist Laurore, Grace Smith, and East in the presentation of this exciting out of school soft game. The theme for this year’s Under Milkwood celebration is for those who wish to take advantage of the event.

Professor’s Endowment Yields New Diversified Publications

Announcement has been made of the publication of many new books written by the faculty of the Connecticut College. This most festivities of the academic year are an indication of the spirit of academic endeavor that is being fostered at the College and the aim of a college atmosphere.

Professor Katherine Finney of the Economics Department is the author of a new book titled “The Purposes and Effects of Domestic Policies.” This book is published by the Columbia University Press and has been received with much praise by the scholarly community. Professor Finney has been a member of the College faculty for many years and has written several books on the subject of economics.

Dr. E. H. Linn

Presiding!" was published in The Yale University Quarterly, October, 1951.

Chapel Service

A student string quartet will present a chamber music program in place of the usual organ concert at the weekly chapel service on Thursday, May 23 at 3:30 p.m. The program will feature string quartets by Mozart, Beethoven, and Haydn.

Students Compete For Reading Prize In Annual Contest

The contest for the Daily Prize in reading will be held in the Faculty Lounge, Presentation House, on Tuesday, April 18, 1959 at 6:30 p.m. The winner of the contest will be awarded a $25 prize.

Each contestant for the prize will be expected to read three books, two chosen by the contestant himself, and one chosen by the judges. The judges’ choice may be read in the time of the contest. Any book shall occupy the place of any book and shall be read in the time of the contest. Any book shall occupy the place of any book.

Students intending to compete must sign their names on the register on the day of the contest. The Editor of the radio Bulletin Board on the first floor will announce the results of the contest.

Contestants must assemble inFiling 423 at 6:30 when drawings for places will occur.

II

III

IV

V

VI

VII

VIII

IX

X

XI

XII

XIII

XIV

XV

XVI

XVII

XVIII

XIX

XX

XXI

XXII

XXIII

XXIV

XXV

XXVI

XXVII

XXVIII

XXIX

XXX

XXXI

XXXII

XXXIII

XXXIV

XXXV

XXXVI

XXXVII

XXXVIII

XXXIX

XL
The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

Editors Note:

ConnnCensus has received the following notification from The Dial Press concerning publication of Dial Magazines. It should be noted that some of our readers may be interested in this revival publication.

After a lapse of thirty years, The Dial will reawaken to life as a magazine of fiction. It will appear on the streets around the beginning of October, 1959.

The Dial, founded in Chicago, November 3, 1929, was at first a fortnightly of social comment. It was written for the people, as an emphasis. Among its editors were Robert Mara, Vincent Starrett, and the late Wyck Brooks. In 1930, The Dial was rechristened as a non-political magazine of arts and letters. In the nine years of its literary significance, under the editorship of some of the most distinguished authors of the period, it published some of the most interesting and valuable works which received their first publication in The Dial: Thomas Mann's Death in Venice, T. S. Eliot's The Waste Land, and Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio. Farewell, Law and Order, was a frequent contributor, and other authors who supplied their works to The Dial included Gertrude Stein, John Dos Passos, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells, Carl Sandburg, Joseph Conrad, and James Joyce.

The revival of The Dial will be in the tradition of a literary magazine which has maintained a high level of literary significance since its first publication. It will be accompanied by a new magazine of fiction, which will be automatically suspended, the Dial Press, and the publishers will not be connected with any previous publishers in any way. The Dial will be published by The Dial Press, New York, New York. All manuscripts should be addressed to The Editor, The Dial Press, New York, New York.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

Mademoiselle Opens Contest

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

Mademoiselle's Open Contest

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

Mademoiselle's Open Contest

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

Editors Note:

ConnnCensus has received the following notification from The Dial Press concerning publication of Dial Magazines. It should be noted that some of our readers may be interested in this revival publication.

After a lapse of thirty years, The Dial will reawaken to life as a magazine of fiction. It will appear on the streets around the beginning of October, 1959.

The Dial, founded in Chicago, November 3, 1929, was at first a fortnightly of social comment. It was written for the people, as an emphasis. Among its editors were Robert Mara, Vincent Starrett, and the late Wyck Brooks. In 1930, The Dial was rechristened as a non-political magazine of arts and letters. In the nine years of its literary significance, under the editorship of some of the most distinguished authors of the period, it published some of the most interesting and valuable works which received their first publication in The Dial: Thomas Mann's Death in Venice, T. S. Eliot's The Waste Land, and Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio. Farewell, Law and Order, was a frequent contributor, and other authors who supplied their works to The Dial included Gertrude Stein, John Dos Passos, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells, Carl Sandburg, Joseph Conrad, and James Joyce.

The revival of The Dial will be in the tradition of a literary magazine which has maintained a high level of literary significance since its first publication. It will be accompanied by a new magazine of fiction, which will be automatically suspended, the Dial Press, and the publishers will not be connected with any previous publishers in any way. The Dial will be published by The Dial Press, New York, New York. All manuscripts should be addressed to The Editor, The Dial Press, New York, New York.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

Editors Note:

ConnnCensus has received the following notification from The Dial Press concerning publication of Dial Magazines. It should be noted that some of our readers may be interested in this revival publication.

After a lapse of thirty years, The Dial will reawaken to life as a magazine of fiction. It will appear on the streets around the beginning of October, 1959.

The Dial, founded in Chicago, November 3, 1929, was at first a fortnightly of social comment. It was written for the people, as an emphasis. Among its editors were Robert Mara, Vincent Starrett, and the late Wyck Brooks. In 1930, The Dial was rechristened as a non-political magazine of arts and letters. In the nine years of its literary significance, under the editorship of some of the most distinguished authors of the period, it published some of the most interesting and valuable works which received their first publication in The Dial: Thomas Mann's Death in Venice, T. S. Eliot's The Waste Land, and Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio. Farewell, Law and Order, was a frequent contributor, and other authors who supplied their works to The Dial included Gertrude Stein, John Dos Passos, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells, Carl Sandburg, Joseph Conrad, and James Joyce.

The revival of The Dial will be in the tradition of a literary magazine which has maintained a high level of literary significance since its first publication. It will be accompanied by a new magazine of fiction, which will be automatically suspended, the Dial Press, and the publishers will not be connected with any previous publishers in any way. The Dial will be published by The Dial Press, New York, New York. All manuscripts should be addressed to The Editor, The Dial Press, New York, New York.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

Editors Note:

ConnnCensus has received the following notification from The Dial Press concerning publication of Dial Magazines. It should be noted that some of our readers may be interested in this revival publication.

After a lapse of thirty years, The Dial will reawaken to life as a magazine of fiction. It will appear on the streets around the beginning of October, 1959.

The Dial, founded in Chicago, November 3, 1929, was at first a fortnightly of social comment. It was written for the people, as an emphasis. Among its editors were Robert Mara, Vincent Starrett, and the late Wyck Brooks. In 1930, The Dial was rechristened as a non-political magazine of arts and letters. In the nine years of its literary significance, under the editorship of some of the most distinguished authors of the period, it published some of the most interesting and valuable works which received their first publication in The Dial: Thomas Mann's Death in Venice, T. S. Eliot's The Waste Land, and Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio. Farewell, Law and Order, was a frequent contributor, and other authors who supplied their works to The Dial included Gertrude Stein, John Dos Passos, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells, Carl Sandburg, Joseph Conrad, and James Joyce.

The revival of The Dial will be in the tradition of a literary magazine which has maintained a high level of literary significance since its first publication. It will be accompanied by a new magazine of fiction, which will be automatically suspended, the Dial Press, and the publishers will not be connected with any previous publishers in any way. The Dial will be published by The Dial Press, New York, New York. All manuscripts should be addressed to The Editor, The Dial Press, New York, New York.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

Editors Note:

ConnnCensus has received the following notification from The Dial Press concerning publication of Dial Magazines. It should be noted that some of our readers may be interested in this revival publication.

After a lapse of thirty years, The Dial will reawaken to life as a magazine of fiction. It will appear on the streets around the beginning of October, 1959.

The Dial, founded in Chicago, November 3, 1929, was at first a fortnightly of social comment. It was written for the people, as an emphasis. Among its editors were Robert Mara, Vincent Starrett, and the late Wyck Brooks. In 1930, The Dial was rechristened as a non-political magazine of arts and letters. In the nine years of its literary significance, under the editorship of some of the most distinguished authors of the period, it published some of the most interesting and valuable works which received their first publication in The Dial: Thomas Mann's Death in Venice, T. S. Eliot's The Waste Land, and Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio. Farewell, Law and Order, was a frequent contributor, and other authors who supplied their works to The Dial included Gertrude Stein, John Dos Passos, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells, Carl Sandburg, Joseph Conrad, and James Joyce.

The revival of The Dial will be in the tradition of a literary magazine which has maintained a high level of literary significance since its first publication. It will be accompanied by a new magazine of fiction, which will be automatically suspended, the Dial Press, and the publishers will not be connected with any previous publishers in any way. The Dial will be published by The Dial Press, New York, New York. All manuscripts should be addressed to The Editor, The Dial Press, New York, New York.

The Dial to Publish in October, Revival of Literary Tabloid

For Likely Literary Talent

by Barbara Drake '50

"How's your imagination? Do you like to be creative? The Magazine of Young Women is looking for you! Yes, YOU, the one who can create a magazine. It's called Mademoiselle's Open Contest for Likely Literary Talent.
Conn. Visits Colgate

by Barbara Livingstone '60

work is an important factor in obtaining these positions. During the question period we discussed the various opportunities offered to Russian speaking Americans at the American Trade Exhibition being held in Moscow this summer.

At dinner we sang Russian folk songs and a few American ones such as John Brown's Body and there was a Tarsus in a Town which Dr. Perry had translated into Russian. During intermission at a dance following the dinner, the Connecticut Russian Club danced and sang of the Colgate Club danced. During the informal dancing members of both clubs had opportunities to talk with each other and attempt Russian.

In the afternoon the head of the Colgate Russian Department, Dr. Perry, spoke to us about careers which involve the Russian language. He quickly dispelled any thoughts we had about becoming women spies, but pointed out the many opportunities open to women in the fields of teaching and government work with the Department of State or with the United Nations. Graduates which has been definitely proved to make the smoke of a cigarette milder and smoother.

NEW DUAL FILTER

MALLOVE'S

"Eastern Connecticut's Largest Jewelers"
Expert Watch and Jewelry Repair
MALLOVE'S
74 State Street
GI 2-4391

MALLOVE'S
190 Broad St.
Rooms
3.50 & up per person
GI 3-9741

L. Lewis & Co.

CHINA -- GLASS
SILVERWARE
BRIDAL REGISTRY
GIFTS
GI 3-4270 142 State St.

COUNSELLORS

(General & Specialty)

College Juniors or Higher

Large, well established co-ed camp with fine cultural program. 80 miles from N.Y.C.

Good salaries, pleasant working conditions, mature staff associations.

Write

CEJWIN CAMPS

71 W. 47 St., N.Y. 36, N.Y.

HOW THAT RING GETS AROUND!

The Tareyton Ring Marks the Real Thing!

Hope for college students! They’re making new Dual Filter Tareyton the big smoke on American campuses! Are you part of this movement? If so, thanks. If not, try ‘em!

Tareyton

NEW DUAL FILTER

The Tareyton

ring marks the real thing!

The Tareyton

ring marks the real thing!
Science Meeting Held

The Connecticut Valley Student Science Conference was held on campus Saturday, April 11, for the purpose of sharing scientific knowledge among students, was attended by about thirty girls from Connecticut College. Three faculty members, Miss Johnston, Miss Jones, and Miss Hambell accompanied the group. Transportation was provided in the form of a bus which left the campus at 8 a.m. and returned in the evening.

The program began at 11 a.m. with an address on the timely topic of “Space Medicine” by Captain Henry Willis, an air force physician. After lunch students and faculty had the opportunity to attend their choice of various twenty-minute speeches given by students from the nine participating colleges and universities: University of Connecticut, Connecticut College, Mount Holyoke, University of Connecticut, Saint Joseph’s College, Albertus Magnus, American International College, Wesleyan, and Trinity.

Those from this college who presented papers and set up demonstrations are as follows: Mary Marshall ’60, Marion Sheldon ’61, and Amelia Rechel ’62, Marilyn Hinkes ’60 and Edwina Czajkowski ’60, Gail Turner ’60 and Barbara Levine ’62, Margaret Goodman ’62.

Reports from those who attended the conference indicate that they considered the trip to be enlightening, stimulating, and certainly worthwhile.

Radio

Connecticut College Conversations and Concerts will be heard every Tuesday, WNIC, Norwich, at 9:30 p.m. Friday, April 17 and starting WJJ, New London, at 9:15 p.m. Sunday, April 19. The guest speaker will be Dr. Henry I. Guernsey, Cartner of the Department of Government from Smith College. She will be introduced by Jean Leblon of the Department of French. The Rising Nationalism in West Africa will be the topic.

The College Student Hour will be broadcast at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, April 22 over station WNLC. The program features Music for the Home by Barlow and Chepko, with Marcia Corbett ’59 as pianist. Beadie Whitman ’61 is chairman of the program.

Campus Radio from the campus radio station, WCNI, (620 on your dial), will be broadcast on Monday through Thursday, April 20-23, at 5:15 p.m. On Monday from 5:15-5:30, The Gilbert High Program will be presented.

When in the Mood for Delicious Food

The Puritan Tearoom and Restaurant

226 State Street

Fountains — Tables — Booths

Gibbs girls get top jobs

Special Course for College Women. Residence. Write College Dean for GЈIBBS GIRLS AT WORK.

Katharine Gibbs

SECRETARY

EDITOR IN MASSACHUSETTS, 31 Northborough St., NEW YORK 17, NEW YORK —122 E. 42nd St., MONTCLAIR, NEW JERSEY — 21 Pembroke St., PROVIDENCE 6, RHODE ISLAND

Special Course for College Women. Residence. Write College Dean for GIBBS GIRLS AT WORK.

Katharine Gibbs

SECRETARY

EDITOR IN MASSACHUSETTS, 31 Northborough St., NEW YORK 17, NEW YORK —122 E. 42nd St., MONTCLAIR, NEW JERSEY — 21 Pembroke St., PROVIDENCE 6, RHODE ISLAND

Esso Research works wonders with oil

Oil helps preserve today for tomorrow