Former CT Assistant Attorney General Appointed Secretary of College

By LUKE JOHNSON
assistant city editor

Aaron S. Burer, Deputy Attorney General, has been appointed as secretary of the college by President Gaudiani. According to Presi dent Gaudiani, Burer brings to the college a wealth of knowledge and experience in the field of college, faculty and staff alike.

Burer was active in community service prior to his current role. He completed a major in political science at Harvard Law. He has worked as a community relations officer and has been involved in several community affairs as well as holding numerous positions in both the polit cal and private sector.

After working extensively with legal and political organizations and public policy, Burer said, "I look forward to the opportunity to hold my interest and allow me to capitalize on all of the experiences I have had as deputy general attorney, and I look forward to the college seeming like the perfect place because it is very different from anything else I have done."

In what Gaudiani calls a "reor ganization," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently tioned the idea of creating a "revention of the remaining plex dor torium renovation of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.

In what Gaudiani calls a "refor
gation," has already come up with several new ideas. For instance, he recently
tioned the idea of creating a "re-
vention of the remaining plex dormitories. The project will be led by Steve George, if the College chooses to proceed with the renovation. According to Director Steve George, the renovation of the dormitories will be a perfect time to make improvements because the students are not in residence and the College has the opportunity to take care of the long-planned renovation of the dormitories. The renovation is expected to take place over the summer months and will include the replacement of windows, doors, and lighting fixtures. The renovation is expected to cost around $2 million and is expected to be completed by the fall of 2000.
24-Hour Health Services too Vital for Shutdown

In an attempt to reign in College finances, President Claire Gaudiani has proposed a plan to limit health services to daytime only. This plan would mean that sick students would need to go to area hospitals. While this plan would certainly achieve the College’s goal of saving money, it would create more dangerous problems throughout the campus community.

Another problem with President Gaudiani’s proposed plan is that she may be tactfully ignoring one of the major uses of our Health Center; to care for those who have had too much to drink. While the administration may not wish to admit it, Health Services are actually to your benefit. They save the administration from having to pay for one-day stays in area hospitals. Often students who end up in the Health Center after consuming too much alcohol are not placed in the dangerous situation of having no one to take them home.

If Health Services were to close at 5 o’clock every day and have no overnight service, sick students would need to go to area hospitals. While this plan would be directed to area hospitals, it would create more dangerous problems throughout the campus community. These problems can not be expected to get in a car and drive their ill friend straight to a hospital. While the possibility of limiting the Wurzbach Health Center to daytime service may seem to be a good way for the College to cut costs, the dangers this proposal poses for the College community far outweigh any amount of money the College might save.

There are many reasons why you should fight President Gaudiani’s proposed plan. If you want to see a College that you can be proud of, if you want to see a College that is concerned about student safety, if you want to see a College that listens to the students, you must fight this proposal.

May 6

Brenda J. Johnstone
Class of 2000

WoodBrooks Says Students Responsible for Preventing Alcohol or Drug Tragedies

Every dean’s nightmare - a student dies. Every college’s nightmare - a student dies related to drugs or alcohol. Every health care provider’s nightmare - a student dies related to drugs or alcohol.

The incident at Trinity could have occurred just as easily at any other school. Despite what the media may have thought had been tenured years before) had been denied tenure, that professor’s classes were brightening the campus. People were engaging in healthy debate and discussion and demanded that their opinions mattered. Also, more recently, it was the students who raised the issue of the ad- ministration would look into “reviewing” each department course. We serve on steering and search committees. We provide input on departmental issues. We have the ability to affect change and do so. We also have different opinions about the administration plans. You may be asked to serve on committees or task forces. If your price is simply that you do not get paid for late night health services? Do you like the idea of having less time to absorb the heat for taking a strong stance against alcohol and drug use? You may be wondering why there is this rush to make the changes? Do you think things are going to get better economically? As facility and faculty in Denvs-

Wright Senator Claims Shared Governance A Myth

Do you believe everything the administration tells you? Are you skeptical that the recent proposed cuts are to your benefit? If you are, then you may be in the minority. That’s what President Gaudiani said when she came to the College. She said that the College administration is trying to do the best thing for the College. That’s what President Gaudiani said when she came to the College. She said that the College administration is trying to do the best thing for the College.

Theoretically, students contribute to tenure hearings (although no such thing has yet come to pass). Theoretically, students have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 P.M. the Wednesday preceding publication. Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 P.M. on the Wednesday preceding publication. Letters must be no more than 430 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Letters to the Editor are due by 5:00 P.M. on the Wednesday preceding publication. Letters must be no more than 430 words, and must include a phone number for verification.

WoodBrooks Says Students Responsible for Preventing Alcohol or Drug Tragedies

WoodBrooks Says Students Responsible for Preventing Alcohol or Drug Tragedies

WoodBrooks Says Students Responsible for Preventing Alcohol or Drug Tragedies
Showdown 2000: East Coast Style

Laurie Butler

HOW TO DISPOSE OF YOUR WASTE PROPERLY

1. Go to class naked. Many major points on this issue will be made in this presentation - make sure you are not wearing any clothes. Demand popcorn.
2. During any class discussion, make sure you bring up the concept of dreams in which you are naked. Demand popcorn.
3. If you look out over one of the busy campus freeways, invent a street gang and a gun. Leave.
4. Labor Day, relax with rightwing media and learn from the highly outdated campus mail.
5. If you are standing in line at the post office, tell them that you have been having that coveted neon camel.

Dear-campus reader,

If there is anything that I can do to help you, please let me know. I am available to help you with your writing, proofreading, or any other academic-related tasks. I am always happy to help and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Laurie Butler

Letters to the Editor, Continued

Students Object to Avorn's Recent Attack On Feminist Majority Leadership

The problem is that some people believe that the legalization of drugs would bring an end to the drug trade. The evidence for this can be found simply by looking at the prohibition era in the United States. During this time, seizures of drugs were legal, their sale and content would be regulated by the FDA. This would make drugs purer and make it more difficult for drug dealers to cut the drugs with other substances. The idea is that by making drugs legal, we would be able to control the drug trade and reduce the harm associated with it. However, the idea is flawed because it doesn't take into account the fact that there are many other factors involved in the drug trade. For example, the price of drugs is determined by supply and demand, and the availability of drugs is determined by the amount of drugs that are being produced. The idea that by making drugs legal, we would be able to control the drug trade is simply not true.
State Street Diner: New London at Its Best

By MAUREEN MIESMER
staff writer

Most New London residents would agree that certain aspects of the city could use improvement. For instance, a stroll downtown on a “Saturday morning” necessitated by the deplorable costs. “There’s something about the turkey club we were both satis factory, but then it was seasoned with sauces that didn’t anymore, were undoubtedly the favorite. The only drawback to the meal was the sizzle in the food, which had an unfortunate effect. As for consistency, there should be more schools. Would be at available in all areas.

The amount of patios lingering on Friday afternoon was a clear indication of the diner’s popularity with New Londoners of all ages and professions. Several restaurant goers commented on the availability at new locations, while others praised the seating options. Among diners, the comfort was simply outstanding. The only drawback to the meal was the cooking, which had an unfortunate effect. As for consistency, there should be more schools. Would be at available in all areas.

An exceptionally moving experience

By DAWN HOPKINS
staff writer

Blogging brains and publishing books, the Yale University Asian Student Association launched their Film Series on Thursday, April 6th. This opportunity arrived on the heels of a presentation by turers that this program is one of the most interesting and rewarding. The students that I saw at the event were very excited to be a part of it. It was a wonderful experience.

Knights in Shining Armor Visit Garde for Camelot Performance

By MAUREEN MIESMER
staff writer

The play opens with a regal scene by DH. White, with lyrics by TH. White, and music by S.ondheim. The musical begins to cheat sodeeply inlove with him at the end of the first act. The young man doubting noaspect of his character, Davenport and Delaney offer asuch a beautiful song. The young man doubting noaspect of his character, the musical begins to cheat so deeply in love with him at the end of the first act. The young man doubting noaspect of his character, the musical begins to cheat so deeply in love with him at the end of the first act. The young man doubting noaspect of his character, the musical begins to cheat so deeply in love with him at the end of the first act.
Dance/Unplugged Invigorates Myros Studio

BETH YOCAM
staff writer

Dance/Unplugged (Works-In-Progress) Concerts, March and April, feature choreographed, directed and produced performances of the millenium, taking place in Myros Dance Studio on March 31 and April 1. All performances made a powerful statement about what dance can be and what dance can do.

In the growth of modern dance, contemporary dance is often realized as a modern dance. A dance performance presented at the beginning of the performance, Len Ward, chair of the dance department, introduced his students, who choreographed a beautiful piece entitiled "Go Boring or Go to the Valley." Wong explained that the students were inspired and that the lighting presented a few difficulties. Two hours before the doors opened, the use of lighting had presented a few difficulties.

The performance consisted of a few different pieces that were choreographed by the departments. Each piece was unique and showed the growth of the students.

The Skulls: TV Teenyboppers Make Bonehead Thriller

The Skulls are a TV Teenyboppers based group that consists of the characters from the television series, Dawson's Creek. The characters include Pacey Witter, Joey Potter, Dawson Leery, and Pacey Witter.

The Skulls are a group of friends who are based on the characters from the television show, Dawson's Creek. The group consists of the characters Pacey Witter, Joey Potter, Dawson Leery, and Pacey Witter.

The Skulls is a band of New Orleans. An ensemble that was especially entertaining was Wendell Double, playing the banjo and trombonist Trish, who looked like a child in her dark suit and bright red and white. The group was consistently maintained, especially entertaining were Wendell Double, who took to the stage with a smile and a tap of the foot. He was accompanied by his band, the Skulls.

The performance was a success, with the Skulls playing a variety of songs from their album. The audience was captivated by their energy and enthusiasm. The group ended the performance with a encore, which was met with enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The Skulls: TV Teenyboppers Make Bonehead Thriller

The Skulls are a band of New Orleans. An ensemble that was especially entertaining was Wendell Double, playing the banjo and trombonist Trish, who looked like a child in her dark suit and bright red and white. The group was consistently maintained, especially entertaining were Wendell Double, who took to the stage with a smile and a tap of the foot. He was accompanied by his band, the Skulls.

The performance was a success, with the Skulls playing a variety of songs from their album. The audience was captivated by their energy and enthusiasm. The group ended the performance with a encore, which was met with enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The Skulls: TV Teenyboppers Make Bonehead Thriller

The Skulls are a band of New Orleans. An ensemble that was especially entertaining was Wendell Double, playing the banjo and trombonist Trish, who looked like a child in her dark suit and bright red and white. The group was consistently maintained, especially entertaining were Wendell Double, who took to the stage with a smile and a tap of the foot. He was accompanied by his band, the Skulls.

The performance was a success, with the Skulls playing a variety of songs from their album. The audience was captivated by their energy and enthusiasm. The group ended the performance with a encore, which was met with enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The Skulls: TV Teenyboppers Make Bonehead Thriller

The Skulls are a band of New Orleans. An ensemble that was especially entertaining was Wendell Double, playing the banjo and trombonist Trish, who looked like a child in her dark suit and bright red and white. The group was consistently maintained, especially entertaining were Wendell Double, who took to the stage with a smile and a tap of the foot. He was accompanied by his band, the Skulls.

The performance was a success, with the Skulls playing a variety of songs from their album. The audience was captivated by their energy and enthusiasm. The group ended the performance with a encore, which was met with enthusiastic applause from the audience.
Continued from page 1

Dr. Enrique Daz (President, Peru-

vian Social Security Insur-

ce) met with the private secor to discuss the issue of health care, the government, and the private sector. The meeting was held in Lima and was attended by representatives from the private sector and the government. The meeting was aimed at finding ways to improve the healthcare system in Peru.

Dr. Alberto Pasco Font

Mr. Elio Sanchez

Dionisio Romero Seminario

Raffo

search and Planning, Private Pensions, Merrill Lynch),

company in communications).

Peruvian President Alberto Fujimori.

Cecilia Bakula

their way back from a day trip to Montreal. Their vehicle crossed into Canada and was struck by an oncoming vehicle, killing the driver and passenger.

By BRIAN BIELUCH

Friday, April 14, 2008

In Memory of Hillary Fein

Tree Planting and Dedication
at 1:00 pm on K.B. Green

Refreshments to be served afterwards in Larema Dining Room

And Friday Night...

“Forever Young” Benefit Dance

When was your collection of garbage? Pile kid cards pushed aside to make room for your “little black book?”

Harken back to the old days when datting was almost as important as gummy bracelets and...

...getting your groove on...

with Junior High Style

April 14th 11pm - 2pm in the Cro’s Nest

$2 admission.

Additional donations will benefit the Hillary Fein Scholarship Fund.
ON FRIDAY, MARCH 31, Mr. Rapoport started his speech with a reflection on his political philosophy. He began by discussing his own career and the role of political organization in Connecticut. He cited his involvement in the state legislature and his work in promoting democratic principles in government.

He noted the exclusion of certain segments of the population from political life, and the need for campaigns and elections to be reformed. He pointed to the importance of citizen participation in the political process, and the need for candidates to be accountable to the people they represent.

Mr. Rapoport emphasized the importance of public funding for campaigns, and the need to prevent the influence of money in politics. He cited examples of how the current system of campaign finance has led to corruption and a lack of transparency in electoral processes.

He concluded his speech by calling for the audience's support for the Campaign Slate. "I am a pro-policy crusader," he declared proudly. "I believe that you can polish the political process and get elected to the Connecticut General Assembly."

Meanwhile, Professor Mary Daly works as a political science professor at the University of Connecticut. She is a member of the Connecticut State Senate and has been a candidate for higher office. She is a vocal proponent of campaign finance reform and has been involved in several political campaigns.

Professor Daly believes that women should be equally represented in political life. She explained, "I started talking about biochemistry and genetically engineered chickens, primarily used to make eggs. She calls them, "I was going to talk about human rights and gender violence, but I decided to talk about the political process instead."

She concluded her talk by asking the audience to vote and to make a difference in the political process.

The College Voice is a student-run newspaper at Connecticut College. It provides coverage of local and national news, as well as events and activities on campus. The College Voice is published weekly and is available online and in print.

The College Voice is a student-run newspaper at Connecticut College. It provides coverage of local and national news, as well as events and activities on campus. The College Voice is published weekly and is available online and in print.
Tennis Team Opens Some Eyes With Impressive Early Season Victories

By CHARLES HASSELL

The nucleus of Connecticut College's men's tennis team is made up of sophomore three-seed Cam Clark and associate sports editor Matthew Kessler. The tip of the iceberg. The team is working really hard, and some new guys have come up big for us. We're getting a little bit better. If we can do well in the next two matches next week, we have the potential to finish very well.

Tatun and Ayers Recognized

By NED SKEADAS

Associate Sports Editor

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Brendan Boyle Makes Conn College History

By MATT SKEADAS

Associate Sports Editor

Conn College has a men's lacrosse team for the first time in the history of the program. Boyle was given honorable mention All-America honors. Connecticut College was the second school (NESCAC) to win an NCAA Division III Swimming & Diving Championship at the NCAA Women's Swimming & Diving Championship.

Men's Lacrosse Team Battles Inexperience, Tough Schedule

By MATT SKEADAS

Associate Sports Editor

Conn College has a men's lacrosse team for the first time in the history of the program. Boyle was given honorable mention All-America honors. Connecticut College was the second school (NESCAC) to win an NCAA Division III Swimming & Diving Championship at the NCAA Women's Swimming & Diving Championship.

Impressive Early Season Victories

Senior captain Richard Bole services up a winner for 2002 tennis. After one of their better starts, the team looks to make an impact this year.