New Traditions
To Be Started
After Vacation

President Roscoe Perky has announced the formation of two new traditions on campus. At the time of the first full moon after Spring Vacation, freshmen residing in Soph Quad will be allowed to paint the steps of the Quad, form in twos, and march to the flag pole, where they will be met by juniors on probation living in Jane Addams. Retraining will be served.

At the next new moon, approximately two weeks later, the song will be sung under the moon. All plans all seniors who have never been to the Snack Shop will meet and eat and the seniors. The time, the last quarter of the moon, will be the best time for the combined Botany and Zoology departments to supervise the employment of a staff of gamekeepers. Mrs. Constance Chatterton, corresponding secretary of the local Ladies’ Garden Club, has promised a beautiful sumer house as a permanent residence for some one hundred and six of these competent and highly specialized craftsmen. On Tuesday, the 25th, the Service League will sponsor an introductory mixer between all interested students and faculty and the visiting gamekeepers.

Wardens Employed
To Guard Wildlife

Dr. J. F. Spelunk, a retired Professor of Geology at Yale University, recently disclosed some vital information pertaining to our campus wildlife. For instance, one might have to look closely to find these visitors to our campus. They are the Wardens Employed To Guard Wildlife. The Botany and Zoology departments have announced their intention of employing a staff of gamekeepers.

Fires, Flies, and Fossils

Dr. Spelunk predicted that once the rocks are saturated to a certain point (Zuryr time) they will not be able to support the building and it will begin to sink into the earth. Several attempts to block the drainage have been tried. It was first thought that an adequate supply of all four plants classified in strategic positions around the base of the Rec Hall would help to alleviate the problem, but the Gym Department was not notified. Full time in the earth and the piece of blotting paper was picked up by the B.307 bulldozer. After this fracas, the amount of water under the building was not great for more batters, so the Chinese wall was made. The Rec Hall designers had to revert to the original plan. The Chinese wall designer suggested that large blotters be placed under the floor, but they would dry the water, but they were all dead. It was then decided to find a way to compress it.

The Chinese wall designers were most disappointed, and the Chairman was forced to resign from his high post. Last week a highly trained group of experts was called in to examine the situation. Yesterday, at a closed meeting of the B.H.T. (which had moved to the Soph Quad) these men reported their findings. They were trying to establish a plan to start evacuation of the Rec Hall entirely. This plan was based on the prediction that zero hour would come on March 31 at 3:29 p.m. The Gym Department has advised all students to empty lockers and basements before they leave and to wait lightly when in the vicinity of the building.

In a short interview to Dr. Spelunk, the architect of the Rec Hall would not be as great as a misfortune as expected. He said, "As long as he can leave, someone is reported to have heard him mutter under his breath, "I never liked that building anyway!"

NOTICE

The infirmary has announced that all students planning to participate in the school's annual finals report immediately for their apothecaries, dispensary, dispensaires, maladies, and African Jungle Rot. It is also an announcement that they are required to have one final all-college dance. The last one will be held at the Rec Hall Station.

In case of inclement weather, please be prepared at all times. Through the cooperation of the Connecticut College Dance, the Rec Hall Station will be open for all students on campus and dispel student apathy.

Dr. Paul Tiller of Nazareth, To Speak Here Sunday Night

Dr. Paul Tiller of Nazareth, prominent Pennsylvania speaker, will conclude the series of Sunday evening lectures. He is stated to speak briefly on his personal convictions on the subject, "From Nazareth to Bethlehem on the Pennsylvania Railroad."

Dr. Tiller was a student at a leading New England College where he was a member of Hanover College. He also sang in the Whiffenpoofs. He was a student at the Berry Schools in Rome (Georgia). Following this he was awarded a Rotary Fellowship grant to study with John Pilot at the Berry Schools in Rome. He has been a fellow at the Institute of Advanced Study, where he did a sociological study which has become closely linked with the work of the CCDOTYSBAC. He has written several articles on the subject.

His best known work was published in 1966 in an association magazine of the same name. The book was published by the Valley Press and is concerned with instruction in parishes. The book bears the title, "The Art of Christian Ding Pappy Parties for Fun and Profit."

One long, two shorts, means needed for the underground railroad for your life. Connecticut College, always aware of and adaptable to the changing world situation, has finished the problem of how to survive in case of atomic attack. Cooperation of all, however, is required. It is the responsibility of each student to be prepared at all times. Through careful thought and planning, a list of essentials has been devised which each student should carry at all times in case of either a drill or a list. The list is as follows:

1. Essential for Survival to be Contacted
   - Any musical instrument, the telephone number of a man to be contacted by short-wave radio in case a date must be broken, one wool dress (in case the date does not have to be broken), ample supply of textbooks so that we do survive we won’t have to catch up on, one stuffed animal (preferably a teddy bear or something to keep alive the memory of the "good old days"), a portable scale, (no telling how many characters in the poem provided in the dictionary), one comb, and a tooth brush. Every student is to keep a list of the names of his music sessions. Those on the list as it is obvious that survival without those "essentials" would be impossible.

The shelters have been especially designed by a foremost architect for the convenience and well-being of the students. For this we are grateful. Air drill will take place on an average of three times a week, unless of course, some unforeseen event occurs. This is not to say that we don’t want the air drill. We do, and they are six. It is part of the drill. We hope this won’t happen, but you will be pleased to know that for those not well equipped underground tunnels have been built which lead to the Sundin (in the basement), and to all points of the campus, which will enable it to be open three until five o’clock daily.

Storage Innovation

It has been called to our attention that there is a new innovation on campus which is not receiving the whole-hearted support of the student body. This addition is the result of many hard hours of laborious planning on the part of various departments here, and we feel that time spent in thinking up decisions on important students should not go unrecognized—(besides which we have been asked to give a little recognition in the borders, for instance). We, at all events, wish to be recognized—and, especially, when the energy expended is so usefully completed. Essentially what these forward thinking people, Human and Animal, will have done is to provide an individual addition to each student's room. There is, however, an obvious attempt to break away from all previous institutional and regimented, and what more clever a way to do so than to supply each closet door with a small black box, suitable for lock and key—at a nominal charge.

The concept is indeed novel. The boxes were carefully concealed to blend with the individual decor of each student room: pink, ivory, blue, or lavender, which just about completes the plane of our extensively trained interior decorators. They blend as readily with the brown, green, fuchsia, or orange appointments which may be found in these pink, ivory, blue, or lavender rooms—creating an overall harmonious penthouse appearance which under prolonged scrutiny disintegrates into the epitome of MACABRE.

Not only are these carefully individualized, but they are useful too. Where else can one so easily store tennis balls, candy bars, hand pencils, and chewing gum wrappers? We have even heard of people who have added to their storage space for personal items. Among those things which are suggested are their tooth paste, deodorant, washcloths, baby powder, lipstick, hand cream, rouge, powder, and shaving cream. Recommended also, but with extreme care is MANTAN; the producers of Mantan recommend however that the top be tightly secured, as it tends to corrode steel on contact. You dealt. What is your opening bid?

Although the bidding of these items is quite obvious, we would like to ask those who profess to be the experts. for those who are beginners to learn the hand and would like to know your opening bid?

Dear Connie:

I'm struggling between the thought of going to London this summer or playing Bridge. Please tell me what you would do if you were in my position.

Dear Connie:

I'm having problems, no kidding around—l'm serious. Well, anyway, I've been having trouble with my boy friend—we're not really my boy friend, it's my roommate's boy friend, but I still think of him as mine. Is he a real snowman? You should see this book! Wow! What I want to ask you, Connie, is should I ask him down here for the weekend three weeks after he broke off his engagement with my roommate—or should I wait four weeks? Please reply soon-like I haven't had a date since Christmas, and like nervous kid.

New Work Schedule Slated
To Commence in Early Fall

Dear Editor:

Because I am one of those broad-minded students who feel that our erstwhile school paper, the ConnCensus, could embrace a wider field of coverage than news from this and other camps, I would like to discuss one of the more or less current issues which has been on the front pages of such renowned papers as the Bridgeport Daily Herald, the Baltimore Gazette, and others of that ilk, namely Payola. Now, I think that it is all very well and good for moralists to condemn this practice, but after all, let's face it, how many people are really facing this thing and seeing it in its true light? Not to cast any aspersions on you, dear editor, but aren't you too guilty of this aspect of all crimes when you agree, in return for money, to print the name of some store, or even some hotel, in some compilation? I am sure that our erstwhile school paper, the ConnCensus, could do away with this.

Dear Editor,

I have been doing a lot of thinking, and I do not think that as students here should get to take two years of English, before I came to college I knew how to speak the language. Also, I think that something could be done about an examination exam for English 34? I have been in English 12 for three years now, and am getting a little tired of repeating my papers each year. I think that I could pass an examination exam for English 34 if I got the chance.

Dear Editor,

Mongolene Moleworth

Like, I been digging this show of yours every gig it makes, now, I'd just like to say that you're really swinging. But there's one goof, which is that you never give a chorus to us avantgarde cats. Man, may-be you could make it like once every full moon with something by Ira Gitler, Frankie Avalon, or that coolest of the cool, Alfred Bonnoco. Coming on like that, man, you'd even cut the Ladies' Home Journal.

FOREIGN FILMS

Miss Molesworth
Find In Library
Mrs. Hilden, Gold, a member of the Library Staff, recently announced the discovery of a book that contains a description of the village in which she was born.

"Typically," Miss Hundef, the producer, said, "we were able to secure a copy of the book, which was written in the language of the native people."

Foreign Films were greater attractions than ever past displayed in their natural environment. The picture showed to millions of innocent moviegoers the strategy of Cruizer Synchronized Swimming Maneuvers.

Three domestic movies, however, have been nominated for the top award, and it's sure to be a stiff race between them. Cash and the Tower Bar, in the starring role, shocked the nation by how their college tuition is spent on solid-dole for their students. A Winter Thing, certainly the year's most enjoyable picture of the coming (and possibly the end) of New London fog and rain display displays in their environment; the last and probably the top nominations of the year's only outstanding musical comedy—the Billy Hill, Roxie Park, and Gorden Well.

POET'S CORNER

I think that I shall never see
A poem so lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is press
Against the earth's sweet breast.

A tree that looks to God all day,
And bends its boughs to pray.

A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.

Juvenile delinquency was prevalent in every major studio. Even Al Jazzy's independent production, Dr. Warrannya Goes to the Moon, was a major cause of concern. The story, which follows the adventures of New London fog and rain display displays in their environment; the last and probably the top nominations of the year's only outstanding musical comedy—the Billy Hill, Roxie Park, and Gorden Well.

TREES

And bends its boughs to pray.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

the past six and one half years, lights have had to be turned out by 9 p.m. This is all right for students in the first two years of college, but seniors are required to take a complete examination during the May vacation. This calls for a little extra concentrated study. Since the black-out curtains have been removed, locate the students who have devised the Pinkerton plan. Studying in the hallways is okay for an hour exam, but when it comes to classes and lots of material, the hallways gets to be a pretty cramped area. Besides, one drop of water may blur out seven years worth of notes. There- fore, I propose that seniors be permitted to keep their lights on until 11 p.m. The student of this privilege will not be abused.
