Humphrey wins poll by narrow margin:
27% refuse to vote for major candidates

by Barbara Slodnik

The California grape boycott spread to cities all over the east early this month, while Cesar Chavez, head of the striking United Farm Workers, called on labor leaders in Canada and the Common Market countries to join in active support of the boycott.

The boycott of California table grapes climaxed the 44-month strike, an effort to force the industry's recognition of the United Farm Workers, organized the United Farm Workers, and the union struck 24 of the largest growers, including the Point Product Association.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, migrant worker Cesar Chavez organized the United Farm Workers Union, which now claims a membership of 17,000 grape workers. When the industry refused to recognize the union, the union struck 24 of the state's largest growers.

As a result, some growers have made contracts with the union. But the largest growers, including United Grape Growers of America, have refused to recognize the union. The union strike 24 of the state's largest growers.

By the end of the strike, the union demands are met. These include a minimum wage standard, sanitary facilities, and the establishment of a boycott fund.

Humphrey takes over lead
Although Nixon led his major opponent in the primaries, the Gallup Pol

CONN CENSUS POLITICAL SURVEY

Final Vote for President

Candidate Political Party

% of Students % of Faculty % of Admin. % of Total

Nixon Republican 27 15 18 25
Humphrey Democratic 36 17 25 32
Wallace Independent 7 4 3 4
Other 10 5 4 10

"Abstinent" Vote 2 2 2 2
"Abstinent" Vote For President 2 2 2 2
Vote For Local And State Candidiates 15 14 17 19
Total students voting 78 46 32 35
Total faculty voting 26 12 17 20
Total votes cast 105 31 49 60

The Gallup Pol

Chavez affirms, "The revolution is not coming."

The community fund, however, is not to allocate all the money to Black scholarships, contending that this policy was too limiting.

The boycott of California table grapes was an individual rather than a collective effort of labor. The student could choose to support the boycott by refusing to eat the grapes when they were served in the dining halls.

At the rate the grapes reach the dining halls, the grocer has made his profit already deeply in debt to a company store. Lack of Education

Each year more than one million migrant workers travel over the United States, following the harvests. And with them, exposed to the poverty and the dirt, travel 140,000 of their children.

The older child labor along side their parents in the hot, dusty fields. Many of them will never complete their grade school education.

In the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.

During the last harvest season, Governor Reagan allowed children to stay out of school until the harvest was completed. Since the migrant child must be allowed back because of poor attendance, he can reach adulthood long before he can reach the eighth grade.

In 1965, in Delano, California, the boycott was launched. Chavez and his followers have been demanding strong support of the boycott. At that time, Mr. Shain indicated that he was to be absent from the college for a short time and would present President Humphrey with a petition signed by approximately 100 concerned students, urging a statement of college policy in support of the boycott.
Indian Summer 1968

Although Vice President Hubert Humphrey did win the primary, with 58% of the vote, it is significant that twenty-seven percent of the student body chose not to vote for any of the three major candidates. Considering the involvement of at least 2000 students, to eliminate "liberal" candidates at the two major parties' conventions, and considering the unrest—especially within our system—final decisions were made, this twenty-seven percent is hardly surprising.

The argument has been raised that someday will be our next president, and it would be irresponsible to vote for one's preordained choice. There are, however, many "responsible" arguments for registering a protest vote—that is, a vote for a write-in candidate or a registered abstention.

There is a matter of conscience involved here. Should we allow ourselves to be forced into compromising our ideals by a not-very-democratic convention system? Can we really consider the many similarities between our ideals and those who tend to be Democrats? In other words, there is more dissatisfaction with Hubert Humphrey than with Richard Nixon as a candidate or a registered abstention.

There are, however, many "responsible" arguments for registering a protest vote—that is, a vote for a write-in candidate. The register is finished, this twenty-seven percent is hardly surprising.

The argument has been raised that someday will be our next president, and it would be irresponsible to vote for one's preordained choice. There are, however, many "responsible" arguments for registering a protest vote—that is, a vote for a write-in candidate or a registered abstention.

There is a matter of conscience involved here. Should we allow ourselves to be forced into compromising our ideals by a not-very-democratic convention system? Can we really consider the many similarities between our ideals and those who tend to be Democrats? In other words, there is more dissatisfaction with Hubert Humphrey than with Richard Nixon as a candidate or a registered abstention.

Most of the protest vote on campus was registered by those who tend to be Democrats. In other words, those who没 thought the outcome of the vote would make any difference were more concerned with registering a protest vote—therefore, with Richard Nixon than any other candidate. This, of course, was made very obvious during the Chicago Fiasco.

Bak

We must also consider that a vote against any two candidates must nevertheless be counted as a vote for the third. And we will be judged—by ourselves and by the rest of the world—on how we voted, not why.

Most of the protest vote on campus was registered by those who tend to be Democrats. In other words, those who没 thought the outcome of the vote would make any difference were more concerned with registering a protest vote—therefore, with Richard Nixon than any other candidate. This, of course, was made very obvious during the Chicago Fiasco.

Bak

We must also consider that a vote against any two candidates must nevertheless be counted as a vote for the third. And we will be judged—by ourselves and by the rest of the world—on how we voted, not why.

Most of the protest vote on campus was registered by those who tend to be Democrats. In other words, those who没 thought the outcome of the vote would make any difference were more concerned with registering a protest vote—therefore, with Richard Nixon than any other candidate. This, of course, was made very obvious during the Chicago Fiasco.

Bak

We must also consider that a vote against any two candidates must nevertheless be counted as a vote for the third. And we will be judged—by ourselves and by the rest of the world—on how we voted, not why.

Most of the protest vote on campus was registered by those who tend to be Democrats. In other words, those who没 thought the outcome of the vote would make any difference were more concerned with registering a protest vote—therefore, with Richard Nixon than any other candidate. This, of course, was made very obvious during the Chicago Fiasco.
more than Democrats were willing to in order to vote for Nixon. Nevertheless, more were motivated to support their party nominee than Democrats, which indicates a higher degree of unity within the Republican Party.

Faculty Democratic Although a majority of the faculty statistics do indicate that the leadership is overwhelmingly Democratic (90%) while Republicans and Independents tie at 15%, "abstention" vote was also noted. Fifty-four out of 150 staff members polled, 40% claimed to be Republicans while the Democrats and Independents were in balance.

Democrats More Dissatisfied Results of the second section of the poll, which measured the attitudes of Democrats and Republicans toward their respective candidates, indicated that the Democrats are both more dissatisfied with their presidential nominee and more willing to actively express their discontent than the Republican Party.

Over three-quarters (79%) of the Democrats favored a change in their party leadership and the results of the poll such as those by McCarthy, McGovern and the late Robert Kennedy. This is compared to less than 80% of the Independents who were more than 50% and more willing to actively express their discontent.

Democrats Favor Protesting A higher percentage of Republicans toward their respective candidates received their support "McCarthy-type" local or slate candidate (89% of the time) than a vote for their respective candidates (94% of the time) in order to "liberalize" the party. Specifically, over 90% of the Nixon Republicans expressed a greater confidence in Nixon to attain their political goals (94% of the time) than Democrats expressed in Humphrey.

The last three main Presidential limousines - a 1939 Lincoln, a 1956 Cadillac, and a 1964 Lincoln (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)
ConnCen.usrap Four
Tuesday, October 22, 1968
Planning Committee Report Covers Various Fields;
Co-education Would Mean ... State St. 443-7792
ON CAMPUS
EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
lROY ~~

""...Co-education TEMPLATE para..."

The Committee recommended that a small portion of the student body be admitted as residents students the first year and that the same be revised. This number would be increased each year until full parity is reached.

The Planning Committee recommended that Connecticut College be coeducational. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses.

Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

While its overwhelming endorsement of coeducation, the Planning Committee stated that the addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The report stated that, "students...". This may be true for male students, but that the sexes should probably increase the natural environment of the college.

The Planning Committee recommended that the student body be divided into two or more coeducational departments, as New York or Boston.

More Black Students Wanted
Grad Dept To Be Expanded

The College will also find employment opportunities for all of its students. The Planning Committee recommended that the College...". The number of students who...". The Planning Committee...". This number would be increased each year until full parity is reached. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met...". Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The Planning Committee recommended that Connecticut College be coeducational. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The report stated that, "students...". This may be true for male students, but that the sexes should probably increase the natural environment of the college.

The Planning Committee recommended that the student body be divided into two or more coeducational departments, as New York or Boston.

More Black Students Wanted
Grad Dept To Be Expanded

The College will also find employment opportunities for all of its students. The Planning Committee recommended that the College...". The number of students who...". The Planning Committee...". This number would be increased each year until full parity is reached. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The Planning Committee recommended that Connecticut College be coeducational. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The report stated that, "students...". This may be true for male students, but that the sexes should probably increase the natural environment of the college.

The Planning Committee recommended that the student body be divided into two or more coeducational departments, as New York or Boston.

More Black Students Wanted
Grad Dept To Be Expanded

The College will also find employment opportunities for all of its students. The Planning Committee recommended that the College...". The number of students who...". The Planning Committee...". This number would be increased each year until full parity is reached. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The Planning Committee recommended that Connecticut College be coeducational. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The report stated that, "students...". This may be true for male students, but that the sexes should probably increase the natural environment of the college.

The Planning Committee recommended that the student body be divided into two or more coeducational departments, as New York or Boston.

More Black Students Wanted
Grad Dept To Be Expanded

The College will also find employment opportunities for all of its students. The Planning Committee recommended that the College...". The number of students who...". The Planning Committee...". This number would be increased each year until full parity is reached. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The Planning Committee recommended that Connecticut College be coeducational. In addition, the theory behind coeducation was that it met the natural environment of many campuses. Another practical argument in favor of coeducation was the difficulty which women's colleges experience in attracting grants and financial gifts to their colleges. The addition of men would heighten the interest of business and professional organizations in the College, thereby attracting much financial support.

The report stated that, "students...". This may be true for male students, but that the sexes should probably increase the natural environment of the college.

The Planning Committee recommended that the student body be divided into two or more coeducational departments, as New York or Boston.
More Co-operation
And Involvement

The report also considered cooperation with other colleges in the area such as Trinity, Brown, the Coast Guard Academy and the University of Bridgeport.
Inquiries have also begun into the area of cooperation with such non-academic institutions as the Electric Boat Company, Charles Pfizer, and the Underwater Sound Laboratory. Such connections could encourage the development of a limited work-study program at the College.

However, it would appear that co-operation may be sidetracked at least temporarily as the College considers a significant alteration in its own structure, the formation of a co-educational institution.
If this co-operation is initiated within the coming year, as outlined by the Summer Planning Group, the efforts of students, faculty and administration must be directed to the success of this undertaking before large-scale coopration can be put into

Conn and New London
The last segment of the report is devoted to the role of Connel1ttee College in the New London community.

The College is presently committed to the community through such programs as the CLOUT project, the Summer Humanities Program.

It is proposed that the College establish an Office of Community Affairs to serve a clearing house for volunteer activities.
Its director, acting with representatives of the College and community, could arrange for forums or conferences on matters of local concern, such as redevelopment and urban planning, values and technology, freedom and responsibility, or the polit-cal and social process.
The committee also advocated free seminars or short lectures which would be held at local request. The programs would be held off campus, with members of the faculty, administration or students as leaders.
Finally, Mr. Jordan urged the committee members "to consider even the schemes which seemed most wild-fuey could materialize their idea.

The lack of direct verbal communication between the actor and the audience is more than

Emotional Involvement And Pure Beauty Is The NTD

by Pauline Schwede

"The Tale of Kuanze," the stylized staging of the Japanese drama is more suited to the abilities of the deaf actors and the slapstick stylization of Richard Sheriden's satire, The Critic, Sheridan's play depends on literal as well as slapstick; although Bernard Brago, James Ross and John Velker kept the audience amused with their interpretation, readers William Blows and Corrine Haugett with the assistance of Louis Furt seemed to have some drama-cyclus keeping up with the fast-paced sign-sights.
The choreograrchy in The Cric was

ACTRESS APPLYING MAKEUP
in preparation for NTD perfomance. photo by mills

In the description of blueprints, Louis Fast and Bernard Brago both people their meditations perhaps understanding, and sharing ends in profit.
I think everyone is satisfied with the understanding shared by the actors, and I only wish we could expand to the whole company of the National Theatre of the Deaf, thank you, thank you for giving me

CONCEPTION FROM
(Continued from Page 3, Col. 5)
expanded in that of joint non-credit seminars, similar to the seminar on New Left Politics, which will begin soon.
Student campus clubs could also be enriched through cooperation. Wesleyan does not have C.U.R.A., so Wenmen could participate in Conn discussion and confrontation groups.
The joint committee also recommended cooperation between the two African-American societies and cooperation between Wesleyan SDS and interested Conn students has already begun.
Co-operation in theater is also being enjoyed.
Mr. Jordan emphasized that the cooperative venture can only succeed within a "climate of cooperation," where free, easy transportation would be available for any purpose.
Other details must also be arranged to facilitate cooperation, such as meals and use of the library for the visiting student.

Visiting Days
To make enrollment easier, and vice versa, a series of "Visiting days" will be arranged prior to Semester Registration.
Under this plan, students may visit the other campus to investigate the academic offerings by speaking to students and professors about the nature of courses, the reading or such things as independent study.
Students interested in programing students with happenings on the other campus would be to inte-grade campus weekly calendars.
The members of the Conn par-count the punchline of the Joe Nacon Fatt, president of Student Government, Randy Freed, vice-president of Student Government, Lynn Landa, social chairman, Roseb Natchen, Congress representative, and Linda Rosenevaugh, Conn Cempe-representative.
Finally, Mr. Jordan urged the committee members "to consider
even the schemes which seemed most wild-they could materialize!"
You could see them on the streets of New York.

Men, women—even children.

It was the height of fashion in the garment industry in those days to carry home huge bundles of work.

And that was after a full day of work!

A day off? There was no such thing. At that time.

Work pursued employees around the clock—at home or in the shop.

Happily, times have changed.

Garment workers can now enjoy their homes, paid holidays and vacations, their families and friends.

Seems like a million years ago—the era of the seven-day week and the $5 weekly paycheck.

Today, we 450,000 members of the ILGWU—80% of us women—have achieved security, fair wages, decent working conditions, the dignity of a voice in our conditions of employment and a position of respect in our communities.

This progress has helped raise standards of working and living throughout the entire community as well as the nation itself.

The ILGWU label, sewn into ladies' and children's garments, is our signature. Look for it the next time you shop.

It is your guarantee that the clothing you buy was made by skilled craftsmen in a shop reflecting the best American standards and traditions.

If you'd like some interesting (and brief) reading plus many fascinating historic pictures, send for our 64-page publication entitled "Signature of 450,000." GPO, Box 1491, N.Y., N.Y. 10001, Dept. CD-7

DANCE PROGRAM RENewed; Individualism Is The Key

San Francisco (CPS) - Super-

ically it looked like most other peace marches. There were the disorganized throngs gathering at a park, monkeys with bell bongs trying to get order, and people selling peace literature.

But there was a diversion. It was not led by draft resisters or pacifists or radicals but by soldiers.

The division showed in movements made, without the singing and chanting of slogans, usual in most such affairs. There were no white wings, neckties for whom could call these peace marchers such.

There were about 20,000 who either marched or attended the rally afterward-halves of those were service-men, reservists and veterans of Vietnam and previous wars. The placards of San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, led by about 300 active duty servicemen, a few in uniforms.

There might have been more active duty service men-marchers in the next move is at least three groups. Many of the participants in the program and consider their participation in it as an exciting and rewarding experience. The dance group will be appearing at the Saturday Matinee and plan on performances at Wesleyan, Trinity, Yale and other colleges, with a Workshop performance here Dec. 10.

Kryp Unmixes Campus Life

Connecticut College students who are looking for atmosphere or an alternative to the schedule commoners on Friday nights now have a place to go. The "dance" that has occurred on the Campus in the form of the "Kryp," a dance club that opened its doors from 9:30 until 1:00 every Friday night, is the result of spontaneous and planned entertainments. At Kryp II, the group decided to have a paintpot party. At the entrance it was possible to see several hundred balloons and the group had a good time. Later, about 500 inflated balloons were deposited in the room of the finished chairman of the chapel board. She recalls with the memory of a stepmother on slept and awoke for a week.

One of the proclaimed activities sponsored by the chapel board, was the "Dance of the African Thing," which featured a local musical group.

Carol Marchant and Rev. J. Barrie Shebold both stressed that the Kryp features a combination of planned and spontaneous entertainment. Students may bring their own guitars, poetry or anything appropriate to a coffee house atmosphere.

(Continued from Page 2, Col. 5)
HUUAC Looks For "Subversive Activities;"
This Time Witnesses Are Willing To Speak

(CPS) — In a speech several weeks ago, Maryland Governor Spiro Agnew called for a "greater national sense of honor." Two weeks ago the House Committee on un-American Activities (HUAC) and its subdivision witnesses responded to the call: HUAC by taking itself seriously, and the witnesses by refusing to.

The committee was looking for evidence of "subversive activities" in the last half of August in Chicago. It brought to Washington leaders and anti-leaders of the political and cultural peace movement — most prominently Dave Dellinger, Tom Hayden and Ronnie Davis of the National Mobilization and Richard M. Nixon and Albie Hoffman of the Youth International Party (YIPPs).

This was the first formal meeting of radical leaders and "system" politicians since Chicago. If what happened at any indication of meetings to come, it is apparent that politicians will sidestep the New Leftists rather than attack them as they have in the past.

General HUAC hearing, a case against subversive witnesses is built by the Committee staff; then amidst the usual public discussion, witnesses refuse to say anything under the protection of the First, Fourth and Fifth Amendments. This time it was different.

The first witness, Bob Greenblatt of the National Mobilization, spoke at length on his activities in anti-war work. (He was the first of what HUAC called the "hostile" witnesses. Earlier the "friendly" witnesses had presented a summary of Mayor Daley's report on the week's activities.) Dr. Quentin Young, of the Medical Committee for Human Rights, successfully managed to monopolize his time on the stand with well-planned propaganda on the medical needs of demonstrators everywhere.

Comic Relief
Periodically one of the other witnesses would interrupt the testimony with comic relief. After Jerry Rubin stood up once to make an announcement, Committee chairman Richard Ichord (D-Mo.) proclaimed, "The chair is not conducting a circus here today." Earlier, while one of Daley's police informants was testifying, Albie Hoffman asked to be excused to go to the bathroom. His request was granted.

Plagued by interruption and witnesses who didn't see things his way, Chairman Ichord constantly repeated the intent of the hearings: "We want to find out," he said, "if communists in this country inspired and took part in the riots in Chicago . . . and if certain organizations in the United States have connections with foreign communist powers."

Trip to Hanoi
Ichord found his main trouble with Dr. Young. The Committee was trying to establish that Young leased Roni Davis $1000 to lease office space for the Mobilization in Chicago. Davis had traveled to Hanoi last spring, and this was enough to link him in the Committee's minds with all sorts of anti-U.S. activities. Young pointed out that he does not ask for travel dosis from people to whom he loans money.

After more haggling over the legitimacy of some evidence with the ranking Republican on the Committee, John Ashbrook of Ohio, Young explained why Medical Committee for Human Rights staffers are present at street demonstrations. "ICHR was born out of things we didn't believe happened in this country," he said.

After Dr. Young spoke on the third day of hearings, the Committee brought Greenblatt back for an hour or so, then adjourned the hearings until Dec. 5.

The Committee hearings were most noteworthy for what didn't occur, rather than what did. The most articulate and colorful anti-war leaders were not called to testify; the questions of free speech and suppression were not raised. Most strikingly, the Committee failed to put the Movement in the slightest bit of disrepute.

LETTERS FROM
(Continued from Page 7, Col. 3)

criticism of his absence from the campus, she demonstrates a lack of appreciation for and understanding of his duties as chief fund-raiser and public relations man for the College. (It is interesting, by the way, that there is no such student listed in the Dean's directory; if the staff of Conn Census is so proud of their convictions, the least they can do is sign their own names to published articles.)

Why not register student support or disapproval for the new policy of "subjectivity" with a campus-wide survey?

Anne Bensel '69
Laura Davenport '69
Chris Matteson '69
Mary Saunders '69
Ellen Robinson '69
Barbara Earle '69
Linda Main '69
Dorothy Mason '71
Janet Wyman '71

FUND
(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3)

that the money would be coming from parents, rather than from the students themselves.

Next, the Community Fund, which is sponsored by Service League, considered levying a tax on the food in Center-Wil- liams, but ruled this out as unfeasible.

The final proposal would have requested each campus organization to donate 20% of its operating budget to the Black Scholar- ship Fund. This proposal was rejected because clubs have difficulty operating within their present budgets.

PENNELLA'S

RESTAURANT AND BAKERY

Decorated Cakes for Birthday Parties and Other Festivities

Stationery, Greeting Cards, Party Goods, Wedding Invitations

THE HOUSE, 2465
50 State Street
New London, Connecticut
442-9893

Mr. G's RESTAURANT

FRETTYING HELICONS

452 Williams Street
New London, Conn.
Telephone 447-0400

ED. NOTE:
In the past CONN CENSUS has printed columns under a pseudonym, "Michael" and "Georgia Eliot" among others. However, considering our new policy—to honestly state our opinions—we have decided to discontinue this option. In the future columns of opinion will be signed.

For little evenings in town or country . . . a spirited suit with the great young look and accomplished tailoring of John Meyer. In Step Glen wool plaid with a contour back belt and an easy A-line skirt $46. The comfortable pullover is softly tied and baby-buttoned and comes in fine-gauge lamb's wool $16. Both, in up-beat colors. At discerning stores.