Senior Class Presidential Candidates

Laurie Heiss

The candidacy for class reps does not involve any particular issues except perhaps communication which is a function of the ambitions of the dorm reps. The position itself does not involve a martyrdom of work done by one person or an executive board. Rather, the efforts of all the president are dependent on the willingness and energy of the reps and the support of the dorm. I think for other better or different activities (except graduation) until the support of the reps is there because I will not run a one, two or three-man show. ’d like to coordinate this effort though and have enduring interests in SGA affairs. I know what ’m getting into and have abundant vigor, but mine alone is useless. Be energy conscious and elect good council members in your dorm. Thanks.

Steven James

I believe that the Senior Year is an important time for the individual and for the college community. As Class President, I must contribute to the framework for a rewarding senior year. This framework will arise through the responsiveness of our government to the desires of our class. My emphasis will be on fund-raising for I feel that by having the necessary financial support, we will be able to have diversified events and thus move closer towards a stronger class unity. This framework will also emerge through the utilization of the talents and personalities of our entire class. I deeply hold the conviction that we have the potential within our class to create both a successful and an enriching senior year.

Through my involvement over the past three years, I have gained enough experience to make me confident in my ability to institute the necessary programs and policies to create this framework. I believe that we can create a successful senior year and thus I ask for your vote for Senior Class President.

Carolyn Nalbandian

I, Carolyn Nalbandian, am running for the office of Senior Class president.

As a candidate for this position, I am willing to take your apathy and turn it into something which will benefit our class. I realize the task involved in stating this, but I believe that in our Senior year, we can become a cohesive force which the other classes will want to model themselves after. Our class should be the powerhouse for which high times and fruitful activities flow.

In the experience which I have attained as class representative for two years, social chairman of J.A., and Advertising editor of "Pundit and Koihe", I feel that it is time to be the initiating force behind a successful year for everyone.

Richard McLellan

My name is Richard McLellan and I am running for President of the Class of 1976. I am a Government and American History double-major, and an also somewhat active in the Music and Political Deeps. Last semester I served as Social Chairman to Branford. This, of course, gave me a seat on House Council and Social Board. In this capacity I won a unanimous vote of confidence from my dorm. I know what kind of hard work will be necessary to fulfill my duties, and have already planned on lightening up on my course load, should I be elected.

As seniors next year we will all, in some ways, be expectant of what lies ahead in the real world. It won’t be long before these days of exams and parties turn into memories of good times and good friends. I will try in every way possible next, to make these good times for you to remember later on. It’s too late to be apathetic, so come on out and vote.

P.S. There is still time to contribute to the Junior Class Talent Show.

Senior Candidates for Judiciary Board Chairman

Mary Barrett

My name is Mary Barrett and I am running for the position of senior class Judiciary Board representative. Although I have not previously served on the Judiciary Board, I do feel I am qualified in seeking this job. Three years as a member of the Connecticut College community have given me ample exposure to the Honor Code and the problems and benefits that arise from such an Honor system. I value highly the assumption made by such a system — that I am a person of honor, living among other persons of honor. I feel that this assumption is based on enough fact to be applicable to this community, and therefore that the Honor Code deserves our support. When actively supported and enforced, the Honor Code is meaningful and effective. I would like to take part in that active support as a member of the Judiciary Board where I feel I can make a direct contribution towards maintaining a viable Honor system.

Donald Capelin

My name is Don Capelin and I am running for Senior class Representative to the Judiciary Board. As for my experience in student activities, so as not to bore you to death, let it suffice for me to say that I have been quite active on campus. I’ll be happy to

Michael Colnes

After much thought, I am running for reelection to the Judiciary Board. After serving three years, I have had to seriously consider what more I could offer in a fourth; I came up with the following: First and foremost as a member of the Conn. College community I have a personal interest in the direction of J.B. policy. I have had the opportunity to develop a clear and concise image of what that direction should be. As long as I am convinced that my views reflect those of some substantial portion of our community, then they deserve representation on the Board.

Secondly, the board has been steadily progressing towards several major policy decisions over the last several years which may well be settled during the next term. My role on next year’s board could well be to speak for some of previous board’s reasoning in these matters, so that they may be balanced against the views of new board members.

My view of the role of the Judiciary Board was also a consideration. I feel that the board should serve as a communication bridge between the abstract honor code and the students, faculty, and administration which comprise our community. Its job is to interpret the honor code, and to weigh any interpretation against the realities of living and studying at Connecticut College. The board is the instrument through which the honor code may be molded to meet our needs.

These considerations, as well as a look at what I have or have not accomplished in what I set out to do on the board have led me to run again. I ask for your support and your help, that next year’s board may be as productive as possible.

Jay Krasner

Fairness, impartiality and justice to all.

Senior Social Board

Jonathan Graham

My name is Jonathan Graham, and I am a candidate for the position of Senior Class Social Board representative. My reason for nominating myself is a desire to have a well rounded schedule of activities and events, both for the Senior Class and the student body as a whole, throughout the year. Advice and criticism are important in maintaining the proper perspective in any position, and if elected, I intend to seek the opinion of people, to keep the Social Board an open, flexible institution. The social events on campus should be reflective of the desires of a diverse student community, in order to be successful. There are enough people on campus dedicated to having a good time, that there should be no lack of interest or participation in a wide range of activities. I plan on devoting time energy to the job, so support me with your vote.

Secretary-Treasurer will be appointed
Jr. Presidents

Matt Newman

As a sophomore I have gained much insight from our college community in the time I have been here. I have come to the conclusion that just wanting to be unified is not enough for any class, organization, or interest group. To be realistic, we are the class of 1979 must look ahead not only to next year but also at the next two years. How can the Junior Council organize itself effectively enough to influence positive and necessary changes in our school government and community? In this vein, I announce my candidacy for the presidency of the Junior Class.

The only way to bring a class together is to have more class functions that will not only allow us to serve the class, and the only way I can be truly beneficial to our class is to organize many more social and academic functions. Thank you.

Diana Ridgway

Eric Schoenberg

At the time of the Student Government elections, there was much talk about the problem of 'student power.' I believe this is the major problem. Students become apathetic when they have no way to speak out and be heard. Why should people not have the right to be heard? We as the students of Connecticut College can do as much as possible for itself and its community. Here, "unity" is the key word; it is the focal point toward which the Class President must direct his energies. Only an unified, cohesive class can act intelligently and responsibly. The Class President can, in conjunction with the other government officials, not only help provide for the general welfare of the college, but also for the specific desires of the Sophomore Class. This much needed unity as well as the organizational function of the office of Class President is what I will strive to fulfill as Sophomore President if elected.

Candiates for Sophomore President

Michael Litchman

I would like very much to be President of the Sophomore Class. I wish to devote my time and ample energy to the revitalization of Student Government, and to ensure that we have a Student Government that listens, not only to its own officers, but to the Student Body, from whom the power of Student Government is derived. Student Government is at a crossroads, a part of its evaluation, a committee of College Council is deciding the future of that body, which is the only mode of communication between students and faculty on the Campus. Student Government needs to be represented on that committee.

Larry Menna

President is that he must, along with the other class and student government officers, obtain a consensus of class needs and wants. Each of us must represent our class to the college as a whole. This requires that we gain experience and insight into the workings of the college. Unfortunately, it seems to lack the unity that the Dorm Councils maintain, and the credit that they receive. The Class President should set the unification and solidification of the Class. The Class President needs the maintenance of interest among the Class members, as to the functioning of their government. More specifically, the Class Council should work as a team. — the President should realize that the role that the Representatives play is equally as important as his. Also, the President must be patient, for they reflect the views of the students.

My name is Jared Greenspan and I am running for my second term as a member of the Judiciary Board. I have been involved from the start of my first on J.B. The actual cases and proceedings have proven interesting and I have obtained some degree of fulfillment from helping to promote and continue the Honor system. But as far as a new campaign strategy, my first term has come up short. I do not propose any drastic changes in J.B. policy, and I cannot find any repairable faults in J.B. actions. The major difficulty in the actions of the Honor system as cited by its critics, is that not enough students take it seriously. I believe this to be true, although admittedly existent, has been exaggerated by the pessimists on campus. But even so, this problem deals with the students' integrity, which can be little affected by J.B. policies.

The Honor system is the result of some very idealistic views. J.B. acts as a tying force between this idealism and reality. I emphatically support controlled idealism on campus, and I appreciate the rewards that this idealism affords.

I seek the position on J.B. to help myself to get into a graduate school, or enhance my social life, for it shall do neither. I seek the position because I feel that I can practically apply input into determining J.B. actions. And although I can support the Honor Code as a member of the Connecticut College Community, I can do more in this area as a member of the body that defends it, the Judiciary Board.

My name is Diana Ridgway and I am running for the Treasurer of the Junior Class 77-78. This is the first year that this position will be an elected one, which I am very enthusiastic about campus government and student power. After attending the all-campus forums on student government problems, held on April 6, I became more personally interested in student government. My discussion was a good start, but a very limited one, and now it's time for the action. I then decided I would be seriously involved and run for a student government office.

Canditates for Sophomore Social Board

Celayne Hill

My name is Celayne Hill, and I live in Larrabee. I am not going to bore you with a long list of my credentials. I am running for Sophomore Representative on the Social Board. I believe that it is a great opportunity to improve the social situations on campus. If I were elected, I would work to make the Social Board as friendly and welcoming as possible. I am the outgoing Junior Representative on the Social Board, and I have spent a lot of time working to improve the social life on campus. I believe that the Social Board is a great opportunity to make a difference on campus, and I would be grateful for your support.

Laura Novick

A little excitement on the weekends, and maybe even on the weekdays! If elected, I will work to make sure that there are always fun and exciting events happening on campus. I believe that the Social Board is a great opportunity to improve the social life on campus, and I would be grateful for your support.

Food Day, April 21

Food Day is an opportunity to come together and celebrate the importance of good food. It is a day to reflect on the role of food in our lives and to appreciate the work that goes into producing and preparing food. Food Day is an opportunity to learn more about the food we eat and to make informed choices about our diets. Food Day is a chance to support local farmers and to enjoy delicious and healthy food. Food Day is an opportunity to come together and to celebrate the importance of good food.

In conclusion, Food Day is an important event that brings people together to celebrate the importance of good food. It is an opportunity to reflect on the role of food in our lives and to appreciate the work that goes into producing and preparing food. Food Day is a chance to support local farmers and to enjoy delicious and healthy food. Food Day is an opportunity to come together and to celebrate the importance of good food.

Chamber music plays a new note
by Lawrence Walters
On Sunday, April 17, at 2:30 p.m. in the College House living room, the premier of a totally new type of student recital will take place.

The INFORMAL STUDENT CHAMBER MUSIC RECITAL WORKSHOP consisting totally of original student compositions will be the first recital in Conn's history in which the audience can take an active part. The recital will be more an educational experience than a concert performance.

Two part pieces composed by John Bromley, Mitte Pine, Lisa Quinon, Connie Smith, Jack Wade, and Larry Walters will be played and then the audience and the composer will briefly discuss how the work was composed, what the piece's themes are, how the different parts of the piece are present in relation to each other, the composition's texture and mood, and any other questions anyone may have related to the composer's work.

This workshop will be an invaluable experience for anyone interested in learning how a composer writes different styles of music and what is contained in each of these musical forms.

Anyone wishing to attend is strongly encouraged to do so, whether you have a limited or extensive knowledge of music.

Professor Wiles revisits Conn

The Rev. Gordon P. Wiles, professor emeritus of religion at Connecticut College, will deliver the second "De Litteris" series lecture Thursday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m. in room 113, New London Hall.

Prof. Wiles holds a seminary diploma from Westminster Theological College, Cambridge, England, and has done additional graduate study at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Yale University appointed him an M.A. in religious studies and conferred on him a Ph.B. degree for his research in Pauline Studies, the New Testament area for which he is well known.

He received the B.A. and M.A. in classics from Rhodes University, South Africa and a B.A. and M.A. in theology from Cambridge, England.

The topic of his paper will be "South Africa: Grounds for Hope?" Prof. Wiles has provided the following background for the lecture, which is sponsored by the Connecticut College Committee on Lectures and Discussion, is open to the public at no charge.

I was born in South Africa in 1909 and lived there until 1951, except for a few years in England for study at Cambridge University, 1931-33.

As a Presbyterian minister in South Africa I was a vocal opponent of racial segregation and was associated with such liberal leaders as Jan Hofmeyr (liberal Cabinet minister), Alan Paton (champion of the blacks), Professor Z.K. Matthews (black leader and for some time an official of the World Council of Churches), and others.

I left South Africa permanently, because of my opposition to the mass of repressive legislation introduced at that time by the newly empowered National Government under Dr. Malan— from 1948 on. I said goodbye to my South African life and breathed a freer air in America, where I became naturalized.

My recent return to visit South Africa, after a lapse of twenty-five years, reconfirmed to me the tragedy of apartheid and its inevitable disaster that would follow—all this lies behind my paper, "South Africa: Is There Any Hope?"

Shakespearean actor Morris Carnovsky entertains

All are invited to attend tonight at 8:00 when Morris Carnovsky, the Shakespearean actor, will entertain with a series of dramatic readings in Dana Hall. The excerpts will be from "The Merchant of Venice," "The Tempest," and "King Lear."

Shakespearean acting teacher at the University of Bridgeport.

From 1966-1975 he played at the Shakespeare Festival Theater in Stratford concentrating on the three characters whose portrayal he is acclaimed for; Prospero, Shylock and King Lear.

Prior to this he spent six years in Hollywood making films which included Emile Zola, Edge of Night and Rhapsody in Blue.

Carnovsky was a founding member of the group Theater in the 30's which produced "Awake and Sing" and "Golden Boy."

His career began in 1923 in New York at the Garrick Theater when he premiered in Shaw's "St Joan."

This will be the final event in the weeklong Shakespeare Festival sponsored by the English Department under the Ida Preston Gibson Fund established in 1964 to further the study of English literature.

Theologian in residence

The Harkness Chapel Board is pleased to announce it has invited Richard L. Rubenstein to be in residence at Connecticut College during the week of April 17-24 under the auspices of the Theologian in Residence program, and with the co-sponsorship of the Departments of Government, Sociology, and Religious Studies. His presence is made possible by grants from Harkens Chapel & The Bernstein Fund for Political Science.

Professor Rubenstein, a National Humanities Institute Fellow at Yale university for the academic year 1976-77, is Professor of Religion at Florida State University. He received his A.B. degree from the University of Cincinnati, a Masters degree and Rabbinical Ordination from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and a Ph.D degree from Harvard University. His dissertation topic was "Psychological and the Image of Evil in Rabbinic Literature."

While in residence at Connecticut College, Professor Rubenstein will be making guest appearances in various classes, be available for informal conversation with groups, and will make several formal presentations open without charge to the college community and public.

The schedule of Professor Rubenstein's public presentations are as follows:

- Guest preacher: Morning Worship Lecture Presentation: "From the Sacred to the Profane After Auschwitz."
- Faculty Forum: "The Bureaucratic Imperative: Moral Dilemmas of Organization"
- Two Films with Commentary
- Faculty Forum: "The National Significance of Southern Religion"

Pundit is publishing this issue as a supplement to our regular set of weekly editions. It is simply a result of the SGA’s need for a forum to publish the platforms of its various candidates; this supplement does not attempt to include all of the week’s news, features, fine-arts, and sports.

Next Thursday, April 21, Pundit will publish an expanded edition for Parent’s Weekend. Featured will be a study (in both photos and words) of the best rooms on campus, the lottery process, and the new Housefellows.

ATTENTION SENIORS
Friday, April 15, (tomorrow) is the last day to sign up to run for Alumni-Trustee. If you are interested, send your name, Box, and dorm to Steve Levy, Box 811.

Glick superb in defeat to Harkness Field

by John Rottschid

The Connecticut College Men's Lacrosse team challenged Notre Dame for four quarters here Friday afternoon. The outcome was a 5-5 defeat. C.C. gave a hundred per cent effort and proved they have a highly talented, but also able to compete with powerful opponents.

Undergrad. Glick was unseasonably chilly. The estimated three-hundred plus crowd braved the cold to urge the lacrosse team to victory. The entire squad was uncontrollably psyched after six weeks of diligent practice. Initially Conn. was down 4-1. Davenport Scott, after consuming two pounds of raw meat, scored our first goal. The battle had begun. The infamous Beaver (Stallone) Merrin, energized after drinking fives slightly undercooked eggs, scored our second tally. Connecticut's bid for victory fell short. However, Bear (Worm) Kobiak, Peter Stokes, and Bob Dalea also contributed goals. Special compliments must go to Jim "masochist" Glick who performed admirably. Speaking of Moore, his absence was felt and we are all awaiting his comeback, which would certainly strengthen the team. The vicious rumor that he is holding out for more money is presently unsubstantiated. There are a few other false rumors that must be rectified. The Conn. College lacrosse team did not rent rooms in Lawrence and Memorial prior to the game.

The vast improvement over last year's team is not due to recruiting an entire team of Coast Guard Cadet athletes. Much of the team's improvement is due to an excellent coaching staff and their lacrosse tips. Coach Courtney had much trouble with Patsy Munson. Courtney brilliantly painted the names of twenty-five freshman girls on each lacrosse ball. Now Peter can chase them and pick them up, which will hopefully enables him to shoot and score.

On the serious side, I hope the Connecticut College community is proud of our second year lacrosse team. (I hesitate to use the word "club"). The Captains, Bear, John Moore and Beaver, have done admirable jobs as team leaders. Our goalie, Jim Glick, has always worked with dedication, drive and talent. (He stopped seventeen shots against Notre Dame!) We are constantly getting better due to our three undercarded coaches, Jim Courtney, Larry Roberts, and Pete Guille. I wish to extend special thanks to the crowd and their sincere participation. The lacrosse team has finally accomplished a commendable reputation. Now, I believe we may be lucky that we do not play them again this year.

An Apology to Sharon Mceltyre

"Just another course on hard academic studies, relaxation is the key to survival." (Dwight Stone, 109) Here at Conn., Dorm Hoon is one source of relaxation for the athletically inclined. Due to student interest, we were asked to write amusing articles to keep the Pudl readers abreast of the league results. Obviously, we did not always amuse. Therefore, we would like to take this opportunity to apologize to Sharon Mceltyre, who complained about our April 7 column. We would also like to thank all the rest of you who have taken our humor in the spirit in which it was intended.

Signed.

Quad I, Ham-Wind picked as favorite

by Eagle Crow and Charley Tuna

(Monday) Just as the Red Sox are seeing their play-off hopes fading, our esteemed Commissioner Lazrus and his Lambdin-club saw their slim play-off hopes go up in smoke Monday afternoon by the Morrisson Catholics 53-41. Although Quad placed their clincher being a turn around win, the team then teamed up with Saul Rubin and Gradner and Ricky Siegel. They have lost six games by a tough 2-1-2 record, which seems to have been reffing which seems to have been handled by the "two blind mice." That game was played for pride as both teams continued on by greasing their oilhopes against Harkness, Gator outshot the Berg 24-20. The Ham-Wind has also produced many quick baskets. The tough 2-1-2 of the Quad has shut itself out of the Palten Memorial Division.
