WORLD GOVERNMENT IS TOPIC OF CLUB MEETING

Talent Needed For Dad's Day Variety Show
by Carol Jaffe

By this time you've probably heard about the variety show to be given for our dads on Father's Day. The committee in charge of planning the show is coordinating it. The acts must be yours, and you must be original. When you have an original act you will have a chance to show them off at the tryouts or any other time in the gym. If you have a singing group, such as the boys out of Berhardt, or out of Pons Pond, why not be your own group? (And just think how proud Dad will be). Anyways, you now have the day and the date of the tryouts, so go to it, and good luck.

Since the main reason why Dad will be trekking up to CC will be to see you, his pride and joy, the variety show won’t be held until 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. Therefore, even if you are in the show, you will be able to have dinner with him, and still be back in plenty of time to be ready, grease paint all, and when the curtain goes up.

Campus in Newspaper Writing Offers $25 Prize

The Bodkowin prize of $25 is to be given for the best piece of writing in the field of newspaper articles. The article may be an editorial, feature article, column, or any sort of copy suitable for newspaper publishing.

All students may enter. The contest must be presented to Professor Berthomme in person before noon on April 25. The contest is open to all regular students of Connecticut college and each contestant may submit as many pieces as she wishes. If the piece has been printed, the newspaper clipping should be entered pasted on a sheet of paper of typewriter size, and should be marked with the name of the paper, the date, and the name of the writer. The object of this prize is to encourage undergraduate individual effort in the field of newspaper writing.

Enjoyment of Chamber Music Aided by New Music Ensemble
by Shirley Nicholson

The average music listeners are not readily given a chance to get to know and love chamber music through an ensemble group recently organized on campus. In its early months, all whom are also in the Connecticut college orchestra, includes stringers: Marian Walker, Helen Mae Knafel, and Mary Jane Coons; woodwinds—Hein Crumrine and Shirley Correlli; pianists—Helen Pope with Rita Hursh as substitute.

The group has already been heard at churches in New London, at the Connecticut college church concert at Old Lyme, and in the orchestra concert, given a month ago. The string section of the ensemble, with Rita Hursh at the piano, will present a program on WNLc, April 17 at 7:00. Their selections will include the Sonata No. 9 in G minor by Johann Sebastian Bach and Sonata No. 15 in C minor by Mozart.

New Musical Experience
These events should mark the beginning of a new musical experience for many members of the college community. As much as music lovers try to blend themselves to the fact that chamber music does not exist, it should be enriching the lives of more people. It offers a great challenge to the performer who must have patience and finish, who must, because the ensemble is small, play part with individuality, and yet must blend in smoothly with the rest of the group. This is doubly hard for the composer.

Chamber Music Challenge
It is time for this situation to be rectified and it is hoped that these concerts will help do just that. Chamber music, as one of the most polished forms of art, should be enriching the lives of more people. It offers a great challenge to the performer who must have patience and finish, who must, because the ensemble is small, play part with individuality, and yet must blend in smoothly with the rest of the group. This is doubly hard for the composer.

World Government Forum Demands Student Interest

An Editorial

The open forum on world government being conducted in Palmer auditorium today is not simply a model of democratic and attendance of every student—and faculty member, too. The subject requires us, as informed citizens, to be of vital concern to everyone, since it is believed by many leaders that worldwide government lies man's only hope for preservation. "On the surface of this familiar phrase is the idea of a vast number of thoughtful and active citizens who believe that unless we make this One World a definite, definite plan, we will not save the world.

Such beliefs and plans as the above should be of paramount importance to all of us, since on their success or failure in no small measure hangs the future of each and every one of us. It is, therefore, imperative that all of us, individually and collectively, work to gain a thorough understanding of the problem. If we do not make an effort to understand these problems, then that best man, kind, how can we possibly consider ourselves to be worthy citizens—or even worthy students?

Free Speech

Dear Editor:

Last week the Shakespeare class made a trip to New Haven to see Maurice Evans’ presentation of Hamlet, and we wish that everyone could see such things could be done more often. However, the trip was planned rather late so that other students were unable to take advantage of the opportunity.

It is important to light a problem which we feel is of vital importance to the college. We feel that the Student-Faculty forum could be presented at a decided disadvantage in that we do not have the facilities in art, music, and drama which are within easy reach of colleges and universities. It is true that many of us can make use of these opportunities offered by Boston or New York. Then certainly aids tremendously in bringing great music, painting, and drama on campus. Let’s be practical. We can’t demand that all members of Hamlet be awesomely good. However, the United States has worked long and hard to prepare this organization of college and high school students who wanted to go were unable to take the trip was planned rather late so that other students could apply far enough in advance. If necessary, special privileges should be extended for such educational opportunities as was done for the Students at Harvard. Perhaps Student-Faculty forum could be responsible for making the announcements of events.

What new courses do you think should be added to the majors now offered in college?

Cynthia Ross

If you have a good idea for the University of Connecticut, a group from the Student Federalist chapter composed of a large majority of the students. Student Federalist is a national organization of college and high school students studying to further the cause of world government. It has accomplished many important things, among them the arousal of interest in the movement within communities adjacent to the colleges in which it functions.

Perhaps the Student-Faculty forum will create enough interest to warrant organization of a Student Federalist chapter on campus. We hope that it will.

Polish Delegate To U. N. Asks Review of Spanish Question

by Julia Cooper

On February 9, Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate to the Security Council of the U.N., took a step toward ending the political and economic situation, which everyone’s eyes are by formally requesting the Council to investigate the situation arising from the existence and extension of a fascist regime in Spain for consideration and action. The Polish delegate, who is one of the few who, for example, confest that they have never seen or even heard of a Spanish operar or a Shakespearean play. Certainly these things are part of a liberal arts education. The problem is one which can never be completely solved by the college. Yet we feel that something can be done to force real contact with the arts. Our suggestion is that any outstanding dramatic productions or concerts which are being held in the United States should be announced from the Boston or New York. Then certainly aids tremendously in bringing great music, painting, and drama within easy reach of college students who wish to get tickets. It they could then apply far enough in advance. If necessary, special privileges should be extended for such educational opportunities as was done for the Students at Harvard. Bogie, Skip, Fletch To Be Congratulated
As New Class Presidents For Coming Year

by Francine Cooper

Choosing a class president is always difficult; there seem to be a handful of girls almost equally capable of performing presidential tasks with ease, tact, and efficiency. In the case of the recent elections, however, the college could hardly have done better in its choice of Elizabeth Bogert as President of next year’s senior class. Mary Cohan as President of the class of ’48, and Alice Fletch as President of next year’s sophomore class.

Evidently universally as Bogie, Elizabeth Bogert comes from East Greenwoods, New Jersey and has four sisters — information supplied simultaneously by two friends in her dorm, Jane Adams and Margot Steen. From these same two sources, we learned that the keynotes of Bogie’s personality are versatility, vigor and victory. In this instance, the victory is in the senior class presidency, although there have been others in her career as a physically, major. The versatility comes in when we learn a few facts, such as that Bogie is a member of C.C.O.C., and is a member of the Swifts. The vigor is obvious to anyone who knows her; she has it. The plaintive cry, “Where’s Joanie?” — Joanie Albrecht, her roommate, could hardly have a better excuse than her Bogie’s put in an appearance. It seems that most of the time Bogie is usually at meetings or on hikes to Lantern Hill with C.C.O.C., and is virtually never in the dorm except at meal times. But her bound to appear then. For she reputation for consuming prodigious quantities of food is famous, and yet she remains enviably slender. Fund of almost everything including modern novels, (good ones) and movies, Bogie, with her many talents and inimitable personality, has our best wishes for a successful presidency next year.

Relativity will be the subject of a lecture to be given by Dr. Gara-

Relativity, Dr. Daghlian feels, is one of the most important pres-

The News takes great pleasure in announcing the marriage of Miss Lillian Mattson of New London to Mr. Leonard G. Lowry '46 this evening at the First Congregational Church. Miss Mattson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Quimby of our faculty. The groom has been stationed at Port Said, Egypt. Mr. and Mrs. Quimby told a newsman that Conrad expects to attend Connecticut after he is discharged from the Navy.

Speaking of weddings, there seems to be a round of showers lately for the future CC brides. One of the super-duper ones was given by the juniors in Harkness on Monday night. The guests of honor were Mary Wood and Midge Brown. The girls have a lot in common also they are both mar- rying Coast Guard cadets and their weddings are on June 6.
