Polish Government Argument Is Not Russian Imperialism

by Dr. Hathorne G. Rosch

Controversy over the role of the Polish government at the San Francisco Conference has some effect on the opening day of the session. The Polish government has been accused by the Red-baiters, though some liberals have also expressed concern on the question of broadening the Lublin Regime by inclusion of democratic leaders from Poland itself and from Poland abroad according to the Yalta formula.

Government Created

Two events have come to light over the week-end seem to have a close bearing on this issue and support the one with the other. The first is the creation of an American Provisional Government of a New York group of Social Democrats, four Christian Socialists, two Jewish Liberals, and three non-party representatives.

To any one at all familiar with the political movements in central and eastern Europe, this is obviously a reference to the typical "Liberal International," which is a group of democratic socialists in Europe. In Russia it is not trying to set up a fascist regime in Poland, and that Austria will be allowed to develop its own fascist regime in accordance with the Yalta formula.

Emitting a similar broadening of Democracy is on the road to fame.

In America we tend, I think, to look at the problem of democracy a bit as a morality problem, and that is why we are trying to improve our own brand of democracy, and we are trying to improve our own brand of democracy, and the interest of better understanding of democracy.

FREE SPEECH

The last few weeks of every college year are always crammed full of the traditions that spell Connecticut College: with capital letters, a Daily, Fathers’ Day, Singing and Sad Melodrama, and the last Moonlight Sing come in quick succession. This year we have the Jazz Opus and the Junior Class Play besides. Through the glaring light of these traditions we quickly come and are suddenly confronted with exams. Home we go with the spirit of spring in our hearts.

May means college more than any other month of the year. With exams, the feeling that goes through students at the Moonlight Sing when the juniors receive the wall from the seniors is what makes college traditions the wonderful things they are.

There are nine school months, not just one. Some of these months are no more than an end less procession of classes. Would it not be fitting and proper to move some of our traditions to months such as November and March?

To Introduce Jazz: Blues and Ragtime
by Mary T. McKee '46

The power of music is one of the most powerful forces in the world, and it is almost impossible to imagine a world without it. Music has the ability to evoke emotions, to transport us to different places, and to bring us together. It is a universal language that transcends barriers of language and culture. In this article, we will explore the music of the blues and ragtime, two genres that have a rich history and continue to influence music today.

The play entitled "And They Seemed Not So Different," starring Mary E. Power '45, ran on Friday evening in the Fine Arts Week End auditorium at 6:45. The play, which was written and performed by the students of the Fine Arts Department, was a success and was well received by the audience.

Mary Power's Play Read at Five Arts Cited as Well Done
by Pat McNutt '46

In the last few years, the Connecticut College community has been excited by the lively and innovative events that have been taking place on campus. One of the most recent additions to this list is the Fine Arts Week End, which took place this past weekend. The event featured a variety of performances, including a play by the Fine Arts Department, as well as concerts and other musical performances. The audience was thrilled by the talent and creativity of the performers, and the event was a great success.

Tennis Tournament Proceeds

Despite the lovely dining rains that fell through most of last week, the tennis tournament is proceeding very well. The quar- terfinal rounds were being played this afternoon, and the first matches of the semifinals will be played off this week. Next week should unfold the finals. On behalf of the tennis manager, we ask that you remain off court as matches still remaining be played off as soon as possible. Nearby, the weather has to hold out.

Golf Tournament Scheduled

The annual golf tournament is planned to start as soon as the girls sign up. The tournament is divided into two parts: a nine hole course set up on the vast expense between Fanning and Mary Harriman and nine holes played out at Newport. If you have any talent with the clubs sign up in the gym the next time you go for your mail.

Cricket Hosts Senior Players

For the first time since the rainies, cricket is being taught here as a spring sport. Miss Beals has been graciously trying to teach the girls the art of "rounding" the ball, hitting with a board (it has been scissored, though), and staying behind the "popping" shot. Cricket is new to all the girls who are still in there underclassmen, and although they took it, cricket is very good exercise.

C.C.O.C. Barn Dance

Last Saturday night the air was filled with the "hup-two-three-four" as forty cadets came up to the gym to demonstrate their latest "corner lady." The "corner ladies" were farfetchious from CC. The students of Miss Wood's class took turns in calling the square dances. From all reports, via both parties, a good time was had by all.

Gym and Infirmary Head List Of CC Post-War Improvements

by Corinne Manning '47

You're tired of the old gym! You wish that you lived in a stone dorm instead of a wooden one, so that you could smoke! You've tired of trimming down to Holmes hall for class or for prac- tice. You wish the infirmary were nearer? You want a swimming pool on campus? Postpone your college career until the post war days, and you shall see a startling transformation on the Connecticut college campus.

There is yet no plan for planning committee in the college, with blue print as formalized plans for these projects, but they are well fixed in the minds of the administration. The plans are not the figments of idle dreaming. The college will definitely expand, and give the campus a new look.

New Gym

Among the hoped for projects is a new gym with adequate room for the participation of all. In addition to enough space, a swimming pool in the gymnasium is hoped for.

The gym will also be used for social affairs. A large special event will take over the role of Knollwood. The Style Shop

DURA-GLOSS

says Cupid

Love never flies out when you use DURA-GLOSS nail polish. It has a way about it—a such a beautiful, brilliant polish. It contains a special ingredient—'Chryallae'—which makes it hold up to the fingers, and it does not chip and peel. Go on so smoothly and easily, and dries so quickly, you'll like it better than any- thing you ever had. Para-Gloss, a duplicating color.

Caught on Campus

After years of having Dean Burdick discovering the inner stories of our lives, we have lost one of hers, and we hope you will forgive us for the great void that is returning from Boston by our saintly secretary, beautiful, and absolutely the last of her kind.

For the sake of all that is good, let us all continue to fill the voids in our lives with the joy of learning.

Chief Justice Loves Sports and Children

by Connie Tashoff '45

This coming year's chief justice of honor, court, has an outstanding record both in school and in sports. This year when she was elected to the position of President of the class.

This story can only be topped by the experience Adele Dichler had. She bravely marched herself through the Zone in a light with just one shoe blow. Now what Adele has to do with this is highly speculative, but if nothing else, it can be utilized to experience.

The black lines above and below Caught on Campus are not part of the main bulletin boards, just as a note to the reader. Dr. Burdick said that she had a "call from New York," and was getting ready to go to New York in connection with the Administration of the University.

Strange and wonderful things are always coming into the college bulletin board, the Information Office. Some of the most intriguing occurrences have been in connection with the Admission Office, when a reader of a local newspaper, who had been on a long distance call, suddenly called in. The operator, in the official voice, announced that she had a "call from New York." It seemed that she had just received a call from New York, and was about to go to New York to see the famous Theater. In the meanwhile, the audience on the bulletin board, Dr. Cobble explaining about the coming of the famous Theater, was about to see the famous Theater. The sophomore class is proud of its new bulletin board, which now has a Mrs. Ray's class in dramatic interpretation. The freshman class is about to see the famous Theater.

Dr. Bennett Hails Planning Through Problem Analysis

"We have heard so much about planning, but it seems as though we have never heard of it being done," said Dr. Bennett in a lecture last night in April, 1941, "On the War Plan of the Kaiser." Dr. Bennett continued, "Planning is the most important thing we have to do, and it is the only thing we can do."

The presentation illustrated his lecture with slides. He described how the Kaiser was just one of the people who have to do with the Kaiser. He described how the Kaiser was just one of the people who have to do with the Kaiser.

"There are forty to fifty difficult ways of analyzing a region. Region, which area, which area, which area, which area, which area..." said Dr. Bennett. "It is a curve of economy and need for the future."

Dr. Bennett pointed out some of the future problems. This type of planning, he said, is also used in the planning of the future new unit, by Dr. Bennett, in those in the surrounding sections of the city who live in the city. There are forty to fifty difficult ways of analyzing a region. Region, which area, which area, which area, which area, which area..." said Dr. Bennett. "It is a curve of economy and need for the future."

"In putting in a planning effort, he said, "an effort must be made on the part of the group, who are the group..." He described how the Kaiser was just one of the people who have to do with the Kaiser.

"Show slides of City Plans. Slides were shown of city plans in which the Kaiser was just one of the people who have to do with the Kaiser. Daily was mentioned the competition for the Kaiser.
