Japanese Floral Design (See Inside Cover)
Jane Kessler Morgan '43 found her true path, Ka-do, "the flower path," a little over a dozen years ago. She had been a writer and editor for The Saturday Evening Post and Holiday, as well as an interior decorator, had married happily and raised two sons, and had even spent 15 years creating and judging Western-style flower arrangements before a friend pointed her down the path. "There's more to flower arranging than winning blue ribbons," her friend said, for Morgan had been "hooked" on Western arranging after taking "best of show" her first year in the Philadelphia Flower Show.

Morgan's friend suggested that she try ikebana, Japan's 1400-year-old art of floral arrangement. After taking a few lessons through the Philadelphia chapter of Ikebana International, Morgan was won over, not only by the elegant restraint of the simpler, asymmetrical, Japanese arrangements, but also by the "peace of the soul" she felt when practicing ikebana. "The Japanese call it "wa,"" she says. "I honestly feel that if all the world studied ikebana, there would be little need for drugs."

For two years, she experimented with the three leading schools of ikebana: Ikenobo, Ohara and Sogetsu. "Finally, I succumbed to the oldest and classical Ikenobo school," Morgan recalls. For 8 years, she took weekly classes in Ikenobo, attended the semiannual seminars of visiting Japanese and American masters, and, in 1977 and 1981, went on month-long study tours to Japan with other qualified students of the Ikenobo Ikenobo Society of the U.S. at the invitation of Headmaster Sen'ei Ikenobo. In 1987, she received her degree as a professor of the Ikenobo School, which is headquartered at Rokkakudo Temple in Kyoto.

Today, Morgan gives private and group lessons in her workshops in Rydal, PA, and Captiva, FL. She conducts workshops for garden clubs around the country, using a teaching method she created which combines step-by-step slide coverage of the arrangement process and hands-on work. Morgan continues her studies too, with visiting senior professors and a senior professor in Hendersonville, NC. She contemplates another study tour in 1992.

Ikebana's history is closely linked to the rise of Buddhism in Japan. One of the Chinese customs brought to the country by Buddhist monks in the sixth century was the decoration of temple altars with floral sacrifices. As Buddhism flourished in Japan, the tradition developed into an art form which eventually spread to the nobility. The rules of ikebana were formalized in the 15th century when Shogun Yoshimasa Ashikaga called artists and connoisseurs of the principal Japanese art forms to his Silver Pavilion in Kyoto. In the succeeding centuries, interest in flower arranging spread throughout society, and formal schools and styles were born.

According to the Kodansha Encyclopedia of Japan, there are as many as 3000 established ikebana schools in Japan today. After WWII, wives of Allied servicemen stationed in Japan helped to popularize the art form in the West. Ikebana International, founded in 1956, has 100 chapters and the Ikenobo Ikebana Society of America counts approximately 5000 dues-paying members.

Although there are dozens of variations, Ikenobo students practice four basic, classical styles: rikka, a nine-part upright style depicting nature in its entirety; shoka or "living flowers," a three-part arrangement symbolizing man's influence by heaven and earth; moribana or "piled-up flowers" in a shallow dish representing scenic landscapes; and nageire or "thrown-in flowers," a simplified style in a tall vase developed from tea-ceremony arrangements.

"The philosophy and subtle symbolism embodied...in ikebana is a study in itself," Morgan says. Certain plants represent characteristics or seasons and, like Western artwork, arrangements often illustrate themes or moods. Yet unlike many Western art forms, the creative process, and not the finished piece, is of primary importance. Like Morgan, ikebana students seek an internal transformation, a sense of harmony, the attainment of what the Japanese call "the flower heart."

Alumni Association Executive Board
Helen Reynolds ’68, President; Laurie Norton Moffatt ’78, Vice President; Sonia Cohn Gleason ’85, Secretary; Leslie Margolin ’77, Treasurer; Helene Zimmer-Lorow ’57, Warren T. Erickson ’74, and Elizabeth McLean McKinney ’82, Alumni Trustees. Directors: Virginia Bergquist Landry ’70, Gregg M. Breen ’85, Susan Cohn Doran ’67, David H. Gleason ’83, Prudence Regan Hallaman ’78 and Jane Silverstein Root ’60. Committee Chairman: Virginia Bergquist Landry ’70 (Classes and Reunions), Samuel E. Bottum ’89 (Undergraduate/Young Alumni), Gregg M. Breen ’85 (Chubs), Susan Cohn Doran ’67 (Alumni Giving), Keven Copeland ’76 (Minority Alumni), Danielle Duna Strickman ’66 (Accessibility), David H. Gleason ’83 (Programs), Leslie Margolin ’77 (Finance), Laurie Norton Moffatt ’78 (Magazine), Prudence Regan Hallaman ’78 (Admissions), and Jane Silverstein Root ’60 (Sykes Society) and Louise Stevenson Andersen ’41 (Nominating; Career Services). Ex Officio: Bridget M. Bernard, Director/Alumni Administration; Martha Clampitt Merrill ’84, Director/Alumni Programs; and Kristin Stahlschmidt Lambert ’69, Executive Director.

Alumni Office Staff
Bridget M. Bernard, Director/Alumni Administration; Anne A. Chappell, Administrative Assistant to Director/Alumni Administration; Martha Clampitt Merrill ’84, Director/Alumni Programs; Carol Geluso, Administrative Assistant to Director/Alumni Programs and Headline Writer; Lori Ann Craska, Administrative Assistant to Executive Director; Mary Jackson, Records Keeper and Eleanor Poulos, Office Assistant.

One of the aims of the Connecticut College Alumni Magazine is to publish thought-provoking articles, even though they may be controversial. Ideas expressed in the magazine are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the official position of the Alumni Association or the college. Your thoughts and comments are welcomed, as are your unsolicited manuscripts, although we cannot guarantee publication and reserve the right to edit all copy. Communications to any of the above may be addressed in care of the Alumni Office, Connecticut College, 270 Mohegan Avenue, New London, CT 06320. (203) 439-2300.

Production by Laser Graphics, New Haven, CT. Printing by Wm. J. Mack Printing Company, North Haven, CT.
THE SIMON OF CYRENE SOCIETY

STRETCHING A HELPING HAND THROUGH PRISON BARS

BY ELIZABETH COOMBS

MONROE, WASHINGTON. A woman walks slowly up the hill toward the Washington State Reformatory. Her husband, a new Reformatory inmate, asked her to come visit. On the phone it seemed such a small request, but the closer she gets to the prison’s towering brick wall, the more forbidding it looks. As she pauses to gather her courage, her eye catches a slate-blue house with a red door across the street. “The Matthew 25:36 House, Family HOSPITALITY Center,” a sign on the house reads. Under a picture of the rising sun is painted the biblical verse, “I was in prison and you visited me.”

The woman knocks on the door and is greeted by the Hospitality House’s director, Mary-Stuart Parker Cosby ’51. “I was on my way to visit my husband, you know at the Reformatory,” the woman stammers, “but now I’m too scared to go in there.”

“It’s really not so bad,” Cosby says as she invites her inside. “Let me tell you what to expect ....” In a few minutes, Cosby sees the woman off with a smile and a hug and tells her, “Please stop by afterwards and tell me how it went.”

When the woman returns to report a successful visit, she learns that she can get a lot of help from the Simon of Cyrene Society, which runs Matthew 25:36 House. She can take the Society’s free bus service the 35 miles from Seattle to Monroe, and leave her two boys in the free daycare center at Matthew 25:36 House while she visits the Reformatory. While at the Hospitality House, the boys can eat lunch, and all three of them can enjoy the company and support of other prison families. The woman selects some warm winter items from Matthew House’s clothing shed and makes plans to return to Monroe in a few weeks.

Mary-Stuart Parker Cosby ’51

Photo by Frank Varga. The Herald, Everett, WA

This is often how family and friends of inmates in Monroe’s four correctional facilities learn of Matthew 25:36 House and become “regulars.” For 10 years, the nonprofit Simon of Cyrene Society has been extending hospitality and support services to loved ones of inmates from the little blue house on 177th Avenue, SE. The Society, which is named for the man who helped the prisoner Jesus Christ carry the cross up Calvary, was founded in 1979 by Father Richard Stohr, former chaplain of the Washington State Reformatory. In the late 1970s, Stohr learned of a hospitality house run by the Roman Catholic Church outside the gates of the California State Prison at San Quentin, and became interested in starting a similar, but ecumenical organization in Monroe. When he discovered an available building a hundred yards from the Reformatory, the Society and Matthew 25:36 House were born.

Today, the Simon of Cyrene Society owns the little blue house. Mary-Stuart Cosby has been the Society’s energetic leader since 1983, and Father Stohr, who still serves on the Society’s Board of Directors, knows the organization is in good hands. In addition to hospitality, drop-in child care, and secondhand clothing, the Society offers a variety of services to family and friends of prisoners: supportive counseling; advocacy with prison officials over issues related to visitation; emergency food supplies; a free monthly bus service from the Seattle area to Washington Department of Corrections facilities in Clallam Bay, McNeil Island, Shelton, Walla Walla and Monroe; and an upstairs apartment where people traveling over 200 miles to visit prisoners in Monroe can stay overnight. In 1989, the Society served 3,646 lunches and snacks, provided clothing to 1,103 women and children, provided free, overnight accommodations to 170 people, conducted 670 counseling and referral sessions, and made 56 bus trips. All this was done with just $52,000 in cash, five part-time staff members and lots of volunteers.

“Behind what we do, we know that almost every person who goes to prison will come out,” Cosby says. “How can Cosby believes that visiting the prisons has helped her to lose her prejudices about inmates. When she began visiting the Reformatory with Father Stohr seven years ago, she began to understand what Matthew 25:36 House clients told her about their visiting experiences. “Every stereotype I had

Mary-Stuart Parker Cosby ’51: A Real Doer’s Profile

Name: Mary-Stuart Parker Cosby ’51
Position: Executive Director of the Simon of Cyrene Society, Monroe, WA.
Education: B.A., child development, Connecticut College; M.S.S.W., Columbia University School of Social Work, 1954; post-graduate courses at Assumption, Smith and Wheelock Colleges, and the Episcopal Divinity School, Cambridge Husband: John C. Cosby, free-lance consultant in church camps, conference centers and fundraising Children: J. Stuart, 34; Williams, 32, Connecticut College Class of ’81; Ellen, 31 and Laura, 27
Home: Everett, WA
Previous Work: School social worker; social worker with a community mental health clinic and a private psychiatrist; co-director with husband of church conference center; active volunteer

Cosby first became interested in working with the Simon of Cyrene Society when she and her husband, John, then a lay administrator with the Episcopal church, moved to the Seattle area. She heard of the Society through the Catholic Detention Ministries volunteer agency in nearby Everett, but the first two times she approached the Society for volunteer work, they found they didn’t need extra help. Yet she was ready a few months later when the Society advertised the position of Matthew 25:36 House coordinator in a Seattle Catholic newspaper. “I applied and was happily accepted,” Cosby says. She became interim director of the Society in 1985 and executive director of the Society in 1989.

Cosby runs Matthew 25:36 House of Hospitality three days a week. Two days a week, she administers the Simon of Cyrene Society: She tells the Society’s story to other community groups, raises funds and works with other communities that host correctional facilities and are looking for ways to serve the needs of the incarcerated and their dependents. At press time, a group in Shelton, the site of the Washington Corrections Center, was nearing completion of Washington’s second hospitality house for prison visitors.

During Cosby’s “free” time, she has enough projects going to fill the average person’s work week. She is a member and past president of the Snohomish County Mental Health Advisory Board, a volunteer mental health planning group, and president of the newly-formed North Sound Regional Support Network Advisory Board. The Support Network, Cosby says, will provide certain services on a regional level to individuals with severe psychiatric disabilities in the five-county North Sound area.

Cosby and her husband are also active in the Episcopal church. They are members of the Trinity Parish Church of Seattle, and John Cosby serves as a lay chaplain at the Washington State Reformatory. Mary-Stuart Cosby is a lay reader, chalice bearer and member of the parish’s Worship Committee. She is head of a diocesan-level group formed to bring together Episcopalians active in prison ministry. She participates in the worship programs at all of the correctional facilities that the Simon of Cyrene Society serves, and joins members of the Catholic Detention Ministries to attend worship services at the Washington State Reformatory chapel every Friday night. After services, Cosby serves coffee and cookies and talks to inmates who come to worship, or to talk about their families, or simply to meet people from the local community.

Cosby believes that visiting the prisons has helped her to lose her prejudices about inmates. When she began visiting the Reformatory with Father Stohr seven years ago, she began to understand what Matthew 25:36 House clients told her about their visiting experiences. “Every stereotype I had... productive citizens be made after the period of incarceration?” According to Cosby and others who work with inmates, the problem of preventing, or at least reducing the rate of repeat offense among convicted criminals requires a holistic solution: You must keep the prisoner’s support network intact in order to help him heal and grow. According to Jim Mustin, executive director of the Family and Corrections Network, a North American organization headquartered in Batesville, VA, “Studies over the last 50 years have shown that prisoners that maintain family ties through regular visits and/or mail... have better release rates than those that don’t.” Mustin cites what he calls a “very conservative finding” from a California study which showed the arrest rate in the first year following release of men who maintained family ties during incarceration to be 20 percent lower than that of prisoners who did not. “A graduate of your college is doing something we consider very important for public safety,” Mustin says.

All of the Society’s programs are designed with this research in mind because maintaining contact with a loved one in prison, Cosby explains, “is something that needs some help and support.” Family members and people close to prisoners, particularly wives and girlfriends, suffer many hardships. First, Cosby says, “They continually run up against the feeling that if they are visiting a prisoner, they are guilty in some way too. They are denied jobs and housing. Their kids are teased. They suffer economic stresses.” Many of these families are what Cosby terms “multiple-problem families”: They belong to lower-income groups, they experience repeated broken relationships, the adults often have no employable skills, and most have always lived on the fringe. These pressures, combined with the fact that prisoners are often assigned to institutions several hours from home, can make regular visiting next to impossible. Family members often lack a vehicle of their own, or the funds for long bus trips, or enough pocket money to buy a meal while traveling, or even friends who will watch the children.

Inmates, their families and the Monroe community are quick to show their gratitude. In the fall of 1988, the Society launched a capital campaign to purchase the blue house on 177th Street SE from the original owners. Within nine months, the Society met its fundraising goal. More than a hundred individuals donated to the house fund, as did Seattle-area civic organizations, foundations, and churches and church organizations of all denominations. Perhaps the most meaningful contribution, though, came from the inmates of the Washington State Reformatory who voted to donate $5000 from the Inmate Welfare Fund toward the purchase of the house.

The men at the Reformatory also make a smaller contribution to the Simon of Cyrene Society from the fund each year. Crews of Monroe inmates occasionally do work on Matthew 25:36 House too, like the seven Reformatory Honor Farm residents who dubbed themselves “the Chain Gang”... they painted the building and installed new window and roof trims last summer. In-kind donations from Monroe citizens keep Matthew 25:36 House well furnished and the pantry, emergency food bank, and clothing shed well stocked. Clients keep the upstairs apartment clean and tidy and join neighborhood people in performing other tasks. Community organizations lend a hand too, like the men of the First Baptist Church, who put a new roof on the house in the summer of 1990.

As Cosby told Simon of Cyrene Society supporters in a recent newsletter, surviving a loved one’s incarceration is “a long, lonely walk, beset with too many problems if you are alone.” But with the support of Society staff and volunteers, hundreds of prison families don’t have to make that journey by themselves.
A Widow’s Sphere in Early Pennsylvania

BY LISA WILSON

At holiday time, and during the solitude of the post-holiday period, it is not unusual to think about loved ones who have passed away. Widows comprise a sizable segment of our alumni population. For them, and for all of our readers who have recently lost a partner, we offer this excerpt from a forthcoming book by Assistant Professor of History Lisa Wilson tentatively titled United to Each Other: Widowhood and Family in Early Pennsylvania, 1750-1850 (Temple University Press, fall 1991).

Through the experiences of Elizabeth Powel, who lost her husband in 1793, Professor Wilson examines some struggles common to widows in early 19th-century America. Although gender roles have changed dramatically since the early 1800s, some of the challenges of widowhood have not. Then, as now, accepting new responsibilities, or learning to carry out old ones without a partner’s support, was as important a part of the adjustment process as was grieving. We hope that, in reading Elizabeth Powel’s story, some of our readers may find the strength needed by a newly-single person of the 20th century to face the changes brought by a spouse’s death.

Writing in the early 19th century, Elizabeth Willing Powel, widow of the former mayor of Philadelphia, Samuel Powel, offered advice to her niece on the occasion of her marriage. To fix the variable Heart of Man to fan & keep alive that Affection by w, alone, a woman can hope to preserve her Empire with a Man of Sense & Sensibility requires many sacrifices great Dignity of Conduct without assuming, greater condesention in Trifles, a scrupulous Adherence to the Principles of Virtue & Integrity, a Chastity of Manners the nicest Delicacy of Conversation & Behavior even in the most private Hours, & an unbounded Confidence in the Honor & conjugal Fidelity of the Man on whose supreme Will you must eventually rest all your hopes of Happiness in this World. Sweetness of Temper, Patience, an accurate Degree of personal Neatness, with a proper Attention to domestic Comforts have more fascinating Charms in the Eyes of Men than the most brilliant & showy Talents unaccompanied by these engaging Paintings of  Mrs. Samuel Powel, c. 1770, by Matthew Pratt (American) feminine Qualities ... Nature & Custom seems to have destined us for the more endearing & private & the Men for the more active & busy Walks of Life.

Expressing thoughts undoubtedly gleaned from various advice books and from her own sense of a woman’s proper place, the Widow Powel echoed familiar cultural tenets of early American womanhood. While a man’s world was “active & busy,” a woman’s sphere was domestic and “private,” her happiness depending on her proper use of her “feminine Qualities” within the constraints determined by the “supreme Will” of a man.

Paradoxically, as the Widow Powel counseled her niece on the virtues of femininity, her own behavior departed significantly from these ideas. She ventured outside the proper domain of women by carefully attending to the land she owned and by precisely instructing the tenants she hired to work it. She also used her extensive knowledge of stock and land investments to augment her own fortune as well as that of her favorite nephew and adopted son, John Powel Hare. In an 1809 letter to her surrogate son, she discussed the value of her homestead in relation to a parcel he was considering purchasing and the problems of finding good tenants to work the land.

The land and situation of Powelton renders it at least three times more as valuable, both as a Farm or as an object of revenue by letting lots on the various Roads by which the estate is bounded. Even the publick Road now contemplated will greatly enhance the value of my purchase of Guier — which I now call Westland.

She well understood that the value of her land would be increased through judicious exploitation. Replacing the hapless Andrew McConnel, who “paid the Rent with punctuality” and was “a very honest civil industrious Man; — but devoid of the necessary knowledge to apply his industry beneficially,” she offered the position at “a very low rent to a Man of good character said to be an excellent Farmer Gardener, and Fruiterer” provided he “put on the Land One Hundred loads of Manure per Annum.”

Also a shrewd investor, Elizabeth Powel shed all her United States Bank stock before the Congress failed to renew its charter in 1811. Beyond demonstrating that she clearly understood and functioned well in the male sphere of business, the Widow Powel’s financial maneuvering showed little deference to male authority, again in direct contradiction to the advice extended to her niece. She informed her nephew that “although my present communication may appear to you ungracious. Yet candour and a sense of propriety impels me to make it. I have contrary to your advice; but in conformity with my own judgement and wishes after having reflected seriously on the subject sold all my United States Bank Stock.” She went on to inform him that her lawyer’s advice “was very similar to that you gave.”

The rhetoric regarding female conduct bears little resemblance to the actual behavior of this widowed woman in early Southeastern Pennsylvania. That is not to say, however, that Elizabeth Powel, and widows more generally, unwittingly or hypocritically violate cultural prescriptions. When proper femininity stood in the way of providing for herself and her family, cultural prescription was put aside. Using her less-than-feminine skills in the public world of men allowed a widow to meet family obligations if not the standards of womanhood. Her conduct reflects a necessary and sometimes seemingly contradictory layering of gender roles and family needs — the result being a whole larger than the parts, complex and yet completely compatible within the confines of an individual woman’s life.
I don’t think much about college. I went to one reunion, my 11th, and felt as if I were sleeping in a bed that was too short in a room that was too small in a place that was too narrow to encompass me. I’d grown up, and could no longer find a place for myself in academe.

Some years later I went back again, to get an award, and this time I marched in the academic procession and sat on the platform with all the robes. True scholarship had eluded me, in that I loved English literature and medieval history and slept through everything else.

Even so, I was Harriet Vane in Dorothy Sayers’s Gaudy Night when she donned her robes for the Shrewsbury Gaudy. “They can’t take this away, at any rate,” Harriet mused. “Whatever I may have done since, this remains. Scholar; Master of Arts; Domina; Senior Member of this University; a place achieved; inalienable; worthy of reverence.”

I wished that a colored hood were dangling down my back, and that instead of a mortarboard I were wearing a doctoral cap from some British university. Several of them turn out a rather nifty cap, one that sits like a pillow on the head.

Photo courtesy of Connecticut College Archives
last week, I made a third return, by tuning into a television rerun of Wendy Wasserstein's Uncommon Women and Others. I was in college before Wasserstein's group, and it was the Weavers and Kisses Sweeter Than Wine, not James Taylor and Fire and Rain, that was my background music. Never mind. To watch Rita and Leila and Kate and the others singing about saving themselves for Yale was to see myself singing about how a man without a woman is like a ship without a sail. I have never been so feminine, so downright girlish, as I was when I was attending a women's college. Nor so happy.

The only time I have ever been truly drunk was at that school. A classmate had married and was giving a cocktail party just before a dance. The novelty of it all — her being married already and living off campus and serving martinis besides — went to my head.

Back in the dormitory, I changed into my evening dress, put on my lipstick, then slumped against the bathroom door. There I sat for hours, unable to get up, chatting pleasantly while downstairs the boy I was to marry walked about. But there were no baritones, so on we talked, as unafraid of sounding stupid as we were unafraid of sounding smart, and determined to be heard in either case. There's nothing wrong in asking a dumb question, only in not having the guts to do so.

I seldom see my old college classmates now. But I know that some of them are all still talking. Loudly.
Loomis, associate professor of zoology; Bob Proctor, professor of French and Italian; and Steve Culbertson, vice president of development — alerted alumni to campus developments and gave suggestions on how the volunteers could make a difference to their alma mater. David Gleason '83, chairman of alumni programs, orchestrated the Friday evening panel and served as moderator. An awards dinner honoring class agent chairs who achieved distinguished results during the 1989-90 fund year immediately preceded the panel.

The 80 executive board members and other volunteers who attended Alumni Council ’90 demonstrated a spirit of dedication and support of the college that echoed President Gaudiani’s address. — M.F.

On board the Charles W. Morgan, alumni learn about New England’s days of whaling.
College Celebrates New Elie Wiesel Chair in Judaic Studies

Connecticut College formally celebrated the establishment of its third fully endowed chair and first chair in Judaic studies on Saturday, Sept. 15 with a ceremony in Palmer Auditorium. Nobel Peace Prize winner Elie Wiesel, for whom the chair is named, accepted an honorary doctorate in humane letters from President Claire Gaudiani ’66, Provost Dorothy James and Jean Handley ’48, chairman of the Board of Trustees. After a performance of Randall Thompson’s Alleluia by the Connecticut College Chamber Choir, the personable Wiesel gave a stirring lecture, “The Urgency of Learning,” to a full auditorium on the value of studying Jewish texts and history.

The college currently offers courses in Judaic studies through its Religious Studies Department. A $1.4 million gift from Jo Ann Hess Myers ’67 has enabled the college to search for a scholar-teacher working in the area of modern Judaic studies to teach two courses per semester and develop Judaic studies within a liberal arts framework. The college hopes to fill the professorship, which will be a senior appointment in the Religious Studies Department, by the 1991-92 academic year.

President Emeritus Oakes Ames, Dean Emeritus R. Francis Johnson and other faculty members began searching for ways to establish a Judaic Studies chair in 1987. When Gaudiani assumed the presidency, she made the chair a high priority. Plans for a professorship honoring Wiesel began in the spring of 1989 with a breakfast conversation between Gaudiani and Sigmund Strochlitz, a New London Jewish leader and friend of Wiesel, and were realized in the spring of 1990 when Myers agreed to endow the chair through the private, philanthropic Fig Tree Foundation.

Myers told The New York Times (“Chronicle,” July 31, 1990) that the goal of the Wiesel chair is to promote positive human relations and eliminate fear and ignorance. One of her previous donations enabled Shain Library to acquire the Aryeh Motzkin Collection which features strong holdings in Middle Eastern, Judaic, Arabic and classical studies.

Myers is director of the Birmingham, AL Jewish Day School and a board member of the Birmingham Jewish Foundation. She earned a B.A. in studio art from Connecticut College, an M.A. in education from the University of New Hampshire (1983) and completed courses in Jewish studies at Hebrew University. Myers has served as a Connecticut College admissions representative since 1970; she was also Class of ’67 vice president and reunion chair from 1977 to 1982. The college presented Myers with a miniature golden chair at the September 15th celebration.

The Romanian-born Wiesel is a survivor of Auschwitz and Buchenwald. He teaches humanities at Boston University and has published more than 30 fiction and non-fiction books on the Holocaust and other aspects of the modern Jewish experience, as well as Jewish oral and literary tradition. Wiesel has served as a spokesman for victims of war and human rights abuses around the world, including Soviet Jews, Cambodian refugees and famine victims in Ethiopia. Shortly after receiving the 1986 Nobel Peace Prize, he established the Elie Wiesel Foundation for Humanity which seeks to advance the causes of human rights and peace by providing forums for the discussion of urgent ethical and moral issues. Wiesel will lecture once a year at Connecticut College in commemoration of the chair. — E.C.
Homecoming '90

Despite early morning thundershowers, Saturday, September 15 was a warm, sunny day, and more than 400 alumni, faculty and students turned out for Homecoming '90. Exciting sports contests and special celebrations filled the day.

In sports, the women’s soccer team beat Amherst 1-0 in a dramatic double overtime. The men’s soccer team lost a heartbreaking double overtime to Tufts, 1-2. The men’s cross country team finished third in a tri-meet (64 points) against Wesleyan (30) and Coast Guard (35) while the women’s team finished third among six teams with 81 points — ahead of Simmons (87) and Wellesley (91), and behind Coast Guard (30) and Wesleyan (69). The women’s volleyball team hosted the Connecticut College Volleyball Invitational, and came away with a win (2-1 vs. St. Joseph’s) and two losses (0-2 vs. Hamilton, 0-2 vs. Amherst). In an away game, the women’s field hockey team beat Wesleyan 1-0.

At 4:30 p.m., in the faculty lounge in Blaustein Humanities Center, the college inducted two new members of the Connecticut College Athletic Hall of Fame: Catherine “Bambi” Flickinger Schweitzer ’75, a tennis champion, and David Litoff ’83, an All-American distance runner.

President Claire Gaudiani ’66 and Alumni Association President Helen Reynolds ’68 presented Schweitzer and Litoff with signed, limited editions of the bronze sculpture, Ad Astra II by Professor of Art David Smalley.

The Hall of Fame award is based on Smalley’s sculpture Ad Astra which stands outside the college athletic center and illustrates the Latin proverb, “Through adversity, then to the stars.” According to President Gaudiani, the Ad Astra sculptures have become “the symbol of excellence at Connecticut College.” The Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 1989 to honor those alumni who have made significant contributions to the college’s athletic program and who have excelled in post-collegiate life.

Schweitzer, an American studies and art history major, and classmate Josephine Curran ’75 won the state doubles titles in tennis in 1971 and 1972, and represented Connecticut College at the National Intercollegiate Championships the same years. Schweitzer still holds the college’s record for career matches (103). Since graduation, she has coached squash and tennis at the Nichols School in Buffalo, NY, and has competed in both sports. Most recently, Schweitzer won the 1990 district tennis championship in first doubles in the 4.0 Volvo League. In 1986, Schweitzer, her husband and father made a gift to Connecticut College that funded the Flickinger Tennis Courts, where the men’s and women’s teams now play home matches. Schweitzer earned a B.A. in American studies and art history.

While at Connecticut College, Litoff earned All-American status in cross country and track and set the school records in the 5,000- and 10,000-meter runs, both of which remain unbroken. Litoff, a biochemistry and zoology major, was named a Winthrop Scholar in 1982 and won the college’s Dorothy Richardson Prize for excellence in zoology in 1983. He also received the National Collegiate Athletic Association post-graduate scholarship in 1985. Litoff received his M.D. from the University of Connecticut in 1987 and is now an ophthalmologist in his first year of resi-and coaches returned to campus for a scrimmage with the men’s varsity team, Friday, Sept. 14, a reception and awards ceremony at Coach Bill Lessig’s home on Friday evening, an Alumni vs. Alumni match Saturday at 10:00 a.m. on Williams Field, and a “roast and toast” dinner Saturday evening in Hood Dining Room. The Connecticut College men’s rugby club also challenged returning alumni ruggers (“The Conn Old Boys”) to a game on Freeman Field Saturday at 11 a.m.

The Connecticut College Club of Hartford, CT, sponsored the annual Homecoming dorm banner contest. This year’s theme was “The Conn Film Festival.” Plant House won first prize, a VCR, with their banner, “Little Dorm of Horrors.” The Hartford Club awarded second prizes, $50.00 checks, to Lazrus for “A View Without a Room” and Larrabee for “The Attack of the Killer Larra-Bees.”

At 7:30 p.m., the college hosted a reception for Nobel Peace Prize winner Elie Wiesel and Jo Ann Hess Myers ’67, donor of the college’s Elie Wiesel Chair in Judaic Studies. Homecoming Day concluded with a 9 p.m. ceremony in Palmer Auditorium at which Wiesel accepted an honorary doctorate in humane letters and addressed the college community on “The Urgency of Learning.” — E.C.

Letters
To the Editors of the Connecticut College Alumni Magazine:

In the St. Louise Post-Dispatch, the announcement was made of the gift from the Fig Tree Foundation by Jo Ann Hess Myers ’67 for the professorship in Judaic Studies. I was thrilled to know that someone cared so much and that she exemplified such wisdom as to the true meaning of philanthropy, and to know that to name it the Elie Wiesel [Chair] would exemplify the true meaning of Judaism and “tzedakah” (charity).

I know that when Jo Ann was a student she was a leader in student activities. How gratifying it is to know she is continuing her leadership capabilities and role-modeling for future leadership.

Mathilde Kayser Cohen ’42
Due to space limitations, the Alumni Magazine is printing only those winter-season games played after this issue’s publication. For scores of winter-season games played in November or December 1990, or information on spring sports schedules not finalized at press time (men’s and women’s crew, men’s and women’s sailing, men’s and women’s track and field), please call Marcy Dubroff, sports information director, at (203) 439-2501 or the Athletic Department at (203) 439-2550. All dates and times are subject to change.

BASKETBALL — MEN’S VARSITY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 1/18 &amp;</td>
<td>Liberty Bank Classic at 6 &amp; 8</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/19/91</td>
<td>Wesleyan vs. Wesleyan, Trinity &amp;</td>
<td>away</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Eastern CT State</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/22</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 1/24</td>
<td>Roger Williams</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/26</td>
<td>Middlebury</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/29</td>
<td>Coast Guard</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/2</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 2/7</td>
<td>MIT</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/9</td>
<td>Williams</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/12</td>
<td>Western New England</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 2/15</td>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/16</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/19</td>
<td>Albertus Magnus</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 2/22</td>
<td>Wheaton</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/23</td>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/26</td>
<td>Coast Guard</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

BASKETBALL — WOMEN’S VARSITY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 1/17/91</td>
<td>Wellesley</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/19</td>
<td>Tufts</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/22</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/26</td>
<td>Elms</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 1/30</td>
<td>Coast Guard</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/2</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/5</td>
<td>Clark</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/9 &amp;</td>
<td>Subway Classic vs. Union.</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>5 &amp; 7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sun. 2/10</td>
<td>Emmanuel &amp; Middlebury</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1 &amp; 3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/12</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 2/15</td>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/16</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 2/21</td>
<td>Nichols</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/23</td>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ICE HOCKEY — MEN’S VARSITY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 1/17/91</td>
<td>Suffolk at Boston Univ.</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/19</td>
<td>Holy Cross</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/22</td>
<td>UConn</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 1/24</td>
<td>Assumption</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sun. 1/27</td>
<td>St. Michael’s</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/29</td>
<td>Bentley</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/2</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>8:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/5</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 2/7</td>
<td>Roger Williams</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sun. 2/10</td>
<td>Quinnipiac</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 2/13</td>
<td>Iona</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>7:45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 2/15</td>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/16</td>
<td>Tufts</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 2/19</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/23</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SQUASH — MEN’S

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 1/23/91</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 1/25 &amp;</td>
<td>Wesleyan Tourney vs. Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/26</td>
<td>Bates, Bowdoin, Colby, George</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Washington, Stony Brook &amp;</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Johns Hopkins</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Stony Brook</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>5:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Fordham</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Babson</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>MIT</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Bard</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Nationals at Dartmouth</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SQUASH — WOMEN’S

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>home 1:30</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>home 4:00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>away 11:00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mount Holyoke</td>
<td>away 2:30</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vassar</td>
<td>home 7:00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Howe Cup at Yale</td>
<td>away TBA</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Smith</td>
<td>home 1:00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Round Robin w/ Bates &amp; Middlebury at Wesleyan</td>
<td>away 10:00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SWIMMING
(Men's and Women's Unless Marked)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/19/91</td>
<td>Clark</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 1/26</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 1/29</td>
<td>Mount Holyoke (W only)</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>7:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/2</td>
<td>Brandeis</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 2/9</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 2/22 &amp; Sat. 2/23</td>
<td>Women's New Englands</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 3/1 &amp; Sat. 3/2</td>
<td>Men's New Englands</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

TENNIS — MEN'S

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 3/27/91</td>
<td>Wheaton</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/2</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 4/5</td>
<td>Fairfield</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sun. 4/7</td>
<td>MIT</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/9</td>
<td>Clark</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/13</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>11:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/16</td>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/18</td>
<td>Univ. of RI</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/23</td>
<td>Brandeis</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/25</td>
<td>Holy Cross</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 4/26</td>
<td>New England Small Coll. Athletic Conf. Championships at Middlebury</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 5/1</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fri. 5/3</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

LACROSSE — MEN'S

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 3/30/91</td>
<td>Middlebury</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 4/3</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/6</td>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/9</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/13</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/16</td>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/18</td>
<td>Tufts</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/20</td>
<td>Babson</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 4/24</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/27</td>
<td>Univ. of Hartford</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 5/1</td>
<td>Univ. of New Haven</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 5/4</td>
<td>Alumni</td>
<td>TBA</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mon. 5/6</td>
<td>Williams</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

LACROSSE — WOMEN'S VARSITY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DATE</th>
<th>OPPONENT</th>
<th>PLACE</th>
<th>TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 3/28/91</td>
<td>Wesley</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 3/30</td>
<td>Wheaton</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/2</td>
<td>Tufts</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/4</td>
<td>Trinity</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/6</td>
<td>Amherst</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 4/10</td>
<td>Holy Cross</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/13</td>
<td>Colby</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>11:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wed. 4/17</td>
<td>Bates</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 4/20</td>
<td>Mount Holyoke</td>
<td>home</td>
<td>1:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thu. 4/25</td>
<td>Smith</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>4:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tue. 4/30</td>
<td>Wesleyan</td>
<td>away</td>
<td>3:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sat. 5/4 &amp; Sun. 5/5</td>
<td>New England Intercollegiate</td>
<td>Athletic Conf. Championships</td>
<td>TBA</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This first edition of Chemistry was written for freshman science majors. It has sold so well that Navidi and Radel are already at work on a second edition.

After graduating with a B.A. in chemistry, Navidi says she did “a lot of this and a little of that” and “finally returned to chemistry via a job at Rockefeller Institute.” In 1953, she received a Ph.D. in chemistry from the Polytechnic University of New York, and in 1954, she joined the chemistry faculty of Queens College and, in 1988, she became emerita. Navidi likes to travel, hike, climb mountains and canoe and is secretary of the board of the Youth Activities Council in her hometown of Plainview, NY.

After graduating with a B.A. in chemistry, Van Curen has sold so well for freshman science majors. It has sold so well that Navidi and Radel are already at work on a second edition.

After graduating with a B.A. in chemistry, Navidi says she did “a lot of this and a little of that” and “finally returned to chemistry via a job at Rockefeller Institute.” In 1953, she received a Ph.D. in chemistry from the Polytechnic University of New York, and in 1954, she joined the chemistry faculty of Queens College and, in 1988, she became emerita. Navidi likes to travel, hike, climb mountains and canoe and is secretary of the board of the Youth Activities Council in her hometown of Plainview, NY.

Western Drawings From the Sketchbooks of Margaret Boyd Bush 1883-1887, compiled and published by Katharine Bard Wollman ’41, introduction by Joanna Bard Newton, 1986, 67 pages, pen-and-ink and watercolor illustrations with captions.

A century ago, a young widow named Margaret Boyd Bush traveled from Albany, NY, to Santa Barbara, CA. From Santa Barbara she traveled through the mountains to the Santa Ynez Valley and along the Southern California coast with her brother, Alden, who was looking for a ranch to buy. Bush recorded all of her travels in a sketchbook. In publishing 60 of her works, Wollman, her granddaughter, has given us an intimate look at a bygone period in California’s history.

Wollman says her research into her great-aunt's drawings: “the identification of places and buildings sent me on a thrilling journey...” It’s an entertaining journey for the reader too: by train through Indian settlements in the desert Southwest, to the quiet adobe homes of the Montecito gentry and the restorative waters of Santa Barbara Hot Sulphur Springs, over the San Marcos Pass by stagecoach, through the wilderness now part of the Los Padres National Forest, to Mission San Luis Obispo and, finally, back to breezy Santa Barbara harbor.

After graduating with a B.A. in art, Wollman worked at the Naval Construction Battalion Corps in Port Huenena, CA and then at the Naval Intelligence Office in Oxnard. She married John Wollman in 1944, raised four children, volunteered, and attended art classes. In 1971 she began working in fund-raising at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art, where she eventually became assistant manager of sales. While working at the museum, she got her first glimpse of her great-aunt’s sketchbook and began her decade-long project. In 1986 she resigned from the museum and published Western Drawings. Wollman and her husband now live in the abandoned lumber town of Caspar, CA (four miles north of Mendocino), where they are renovating a cottage and spending time with their children and grandchildren. Wollman volunteers at the local historical society, takes pastel classes and hopes “to get back into serious art work.”

The Willow family is forced to leave a commune in Vermont and settle on the Maine coast. Nell’s parents have trouble living on their own, letting most of the responsibilities fall on Nell’s shoulders. When both parents leave for business appointments, Nell and her baby sister, Abigail, face a winter storm in a house with no heat or water. Uncertain as to how a family should act, Nell calls the commune for help and the girls return to the safety of The Farm. The Willow family changes as a result of this crisis.

Doren’s first book, the juvenile novel Borrowed Summer (Harper and Row, 1986), won a Christopher Award and was named to the Mark Twain Award list. Doren has also published short stories in newspapers and magazines including Discovery magazine. In 1989, she won second place in the South Carolina National League of American Pen Women contest. Doren writes full time at her home in Mt. Pleasant, SC. She earned a B. A. in English from Connecticut College and did graduate work at Central and Southern Connecticut State Universities and Framingham State University, MA. She is a former elementary school teacher.

A beautiful young woman on Governor Justin Lambert’s campaign staff dies under mysterious circumstances at a party at the governor’s beach house. The governor and six of his aides quickly design a cover-up. Ten years later, Rachel Warshowsky, one of the governor’s aides as well as his former mistress, threatens to reveal the secrets of the beach party incident if he insists on running for president. The tale is narrated by Rachel, who, along with three other women involved in the cover-up, decides to accept the consequences of revealing the truth about the fateful party at Lighthouse Point.

Gasner graduated from Connecticut College with a B.A. in English and worked in journalism and advertising before writing her first novel, Nina Upstairs (Knopf), in 1964. Her second novel, Girls Rules, was published by Knopf in 1968. Gasner is a resident of Bethesda, MD.

Gasner used details from the 1969 accident at Chappaquiddick involving U.S. Senator Ted Kennedy (D-Mass.) in this novel because she believes that “questions about Chappaquiddick linger with me and many Americans.” In the case of scandals like Chappaquiddick, Gasner says her concern is always “the women who get lost in the story.”

On a rainy morning, an imaginative child searches for something to do and decides to invite seven zebras and a donkey named Jenny for lunch. Both children and adults enjoy discussing the many possible reasons why Jenny never arrives.

Van Curen, a resident of Middleburg, VA, has four children and six grandchildren. She taught nursery school and kindergarten for several years and junior high school mathematics for nine years. Van Curen has a B.A. in mathematics from Connecticut College.

Rossi considers Theocritus' 'Idyll XVII,' an epic poem in praise of Ptolemy Philadelphia, within the framework of epic diction, and examines the poet's reflections and variations of Homeric usage.

Rossi, a classicist, is honorary research scholar at the Women's Studies Research Center of the University of Wisconsin, where she is studying the status of women in ancient Greek religion and society. She is also collaborating with her husband, Bruce Brackenridge, on a translation, commentary and guide to the first three books of Sir Isaac Newton's Principia. On June 6, Rossi presented the paper, "Were There Women Priests in Early Christianity?" at the Fourth International Congress on Women at CUNY/Hunter College. The paper was the result of seven years of research and led to an interview with National Catholic Reporter ("Priests Were Women, Historian Says," June 29, 1990) and coverage by Milwaukee- and Madison-area newspapers and radio stations.

Rossi holds a B.A. in classics from Connecticut College, a master's from Brown University (1957) and a doctorate in classics completed at the University of London (1972). She has taught classics, classical civilization and humanities at Lawrence University, the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and Ball State University.

A cross-section of America's female fiction writers talk to Usher and Pearlman about everything from the role of money and space in their work to race relations. This book includes essay/interviews with well-known authors such as Gloria Naylor, Gail Godwin and Joyce Carol Oates as well as newly-discovered writers like Amy Tan.

In addition to InterlView, Henderson is the author of Joan Didion (Frederick Ungar Publishing Company, 1981). She also co-wrote Half Humankind: Contexts and Texts of the Controversy About Women in England, 1540-1640 (with Barbara F. McManus, University of Illinois Press, 1985), and co-edited Meanings of the Medium: Perspectives on the Art of Television (with Joseph A. Mazzzeo, Praeger Press, 1990). Henderson is currently professor of English and vice president for academic affairs at Dominican College in California. She spent 21 years at the College of New Rochelle, where she taught English and held several administrative posts.

The study of international politics, Enloe believes, is often a dry, faceless one. If there are personalities to focus upon, it most often becomes a study of interactions between elite males. Yet she says, "If we listened to women more carefully ... and we would abandon our curiosity about arms dealers, presidents' men and concepts such as 'covert operations.' Rather we would no longer find them sufficient to understand how the international political system works."

Policies, military strategies and global power relationships, Enloe says, depend upon women's willingness to cooperate with the men in charge: from the third-world woman who finds a way to stretch her family's resources further when the government cuts social programs in order to pay off foreign debt, to the Brazilian dancer who helps sell the Chiquita Bananas of the United Fruit Company, to the Pentagon secretary who helps her boss shred incriminating documents. The title of Enloe's first chapter, "Gender Makes the World Go Round," sums up her central idea: We need first to dissect our notions of masculinity and femininity and to learn how men and women interact before we can begin to understand how nations interact.

Enloe is chairman of the Department of Government at Clark University, where she has taught since 1972. She served as associate professor of political science at Miami University, OH, from 1968 to 1972 and as an instructor at the University of California-Berkeley from 1966 to 1967. Enloe is the recipient of many grants, awards and fellowships, including a Peace Fellowship from the Australian National University (1990), a Fulbright lectureship at the University of Guayaquil (1971-72) and outstanding teaching awards from both Clark and Miami Universities. She is the author of five other books and more than 40 articles, serves as a manuscript referee for a variety of publishers and political journals, and lectures widely.

Enloe holds a B.A. in government from Connecticut, and completed her masters (1963) and doctorate (1967) in political science at the University of California-Berkeley. Although she teaches a wide range of political subjects, Enloe's academic specialties are women and militarization, and racism in the armed forces.

Gross and Ito supply breast cancer patients with everything they need to know to take charge of their own treatment. They interview 25 women who have experienced breast surgery and supplement their stories with medical explanations of procedures and therapies. The authors give the inside story on biopsies, lumpectomy, mastectomy, radiation and chemotherapy, hormonal treatment, reconstructive plastic surgery, insurance plans and breast health centers.

Gross, now an editor at Mirabella, has more than 25 years of experience in journalism. She has held editorial positions at Glamour, Mademoiselle and Vogue and has written for magazines on a free-lance basis. Women Talk About Breast Surgery is her first book. Gross earned a B.A. in zoology from Connecticut College.

Andrasick, a 15-year teacher of literature and composition, offers a flexible, practical model for engaging secondary school and college students in critical examination of literature.

Andrasick heads the English department at Iolani School, Honolulu, where she has taught literature, expository writing, creative writing and advanced-placement English since 1981. She has also served as co-director of the Hawaii Writing Project since 1982. She earned a B.A. in English from Connecticut College. Andrasick and her husband have two teenagers as well as three foster children in college.

The Good Child manuscript won the Still Waters Press Poetry Chapbook Competition in 1989. Its 25 poems examine the struggle and conflicts within the child as he tries to define himself as "good" in relation to his parents, as he deals with the same issues as a parent, and again as he copes with the aging and death of his own parents.

Although The Good Child is deCourcy's first published chapbook, her pieces have appeared in Prairie Schooner, The Quarterly, Three

16 Connecticut College Alumni Magazine
Rivers Poetry Journal and many other publications. The Ohio Arts Council and the Kentucky Foundation for Women both recognized her work with grants, and she was nominated for a 1990 Pushcart Prize. This year Ampersand Press will publish The Time Change, a full-length collection of deCourcy’s poetry amplifying the themes of the chapbook.

deCourcy earned a B.A. in psychology from Connecticut College and completed her graduate work at Miami University, OH, in 1974. She lives in Oxford, OH, where she also practices psychotherapy.

From Paragraph to Term Paper: A Reading and Writing Text for Advanced Students by Ellen Lipp ’74, 1990, Maxwell Macmillan International Publishing Group, textbook.

Lipp designed Paragraph to Term Paper to prepare advanced, pre-university, university and institute-level students of English as a Second Language (ESL) for further academic study in English. Students read topical articles and then compose paragraphs on the same subject; the desired results are more effective reading strategies and improved English writing skills. Students also learn how to edit their prose, write summaries and critique reading material.

Since 1985, Lipp has worked at California State University-Fresno where she is associate professor of linguistics and director of the American English Institute. In 1990, she won the CSU School of Arts and Humanities Award for Meritorious Performance and Professional Promise. Before joining CSU, Lipp taught ESL and American culture and coordinated language laboratory programs at Emporia State University, American University, Catholic University of America and the Institute of Cultural Exchange in Greenwich, CT. She holds a B.A. in sociology and anthropology from Connecticut College, an M.A. in anthropology (1977) and a Ph.D. in anthropology with a concentration in applied linguistics (1981) from American University.

Lipp did extensive research and writing on child language acquisition of Estonian through Connecticut College’s Undergraduate Research Program and the Thomas J. Watson Foundation Fellowship she received upon graduation. She says that these opportunities gave her a good foundation in her field.

Maria, an archaeologist working in Peru, leaves her husband and partner and returns to her hometown, the fictional Hatoquitit, CT (based on Old Lyme, CT where Rice spent summers as a child.) Maria hopes to find tranquility there, but instead, finds her family in a state of high tension. Her sister Sophie exhibits extreme mood swings, and she lies and steals. Her mother and other siblings look the other way. Maria, trained to search for answers about past civilizations, is now forced to explore the dark side of her own family.

Rice left Connecticut College after her sophomore year because she wanted to write. For the first few years she supported herself with a variety of other jobs: She taught skiing, worked as a yacht broker and cooked for a Newport family. She found an agent in 1980 and now writes full-time. Rice has recently returned to Paris, where she lived with her former husband, and is living on Old Black Point in Niantic, CT.

Rice’s first two novels, Angels All Over Town (Atheneum, 1985) and Crazy In Love (Viking Press, 1988) were also set in fictional New England towns reminiscent of Old Lyme.

Stone Heart

LUANNE RICE

These publications consist of the proceedings of international symposia held at the University of Connecticut-Avery Point in October, 1988. The first volume includes findings from the world’s few researchers in bubble-mediated sea processes. The second presents the latest advances in marine plant aquaculture.

Van Patten is communications coordinator for the University of Connecticut Sea Grant College Program, a component of the Marine Sciences Institute at UConn-Avery Point. She edits Connecticut Currents, a newsletter published by the Sea Grant Marine Advisory Service and writes and edits for Nor’easter, Sea Grant’s regional magazine. Since 1988 she has served as Connecticut’s state coordinator for the Clean Ocean Campaign National Beach Clean-Up and for Coast Weeks, a national celebration of coastal and marine environments. Van Patten says that her latest pet cause is educating the public on the impact of plastic debris on marine life, and on the international law (MARPOL Annex V) which prohibits the dumping of plastic at sea. Van Patten earned her B.A. in human ecology at Connecticut College. In her spare time she researches brown kelp reproduction for a master’s in oceanography at UConn.

ALSO PUBLISHED:

“Alsace on a Bike: A Joy that Knows No Age” by Marcia Wiley ’41, Country Living, April 1990, travel article.

Wiley writes an enthusiastic review of a nine-day bicycle tour of the Alsation wine region along the Franco-German border. She also provides the addresses and phone numbers of North American travel agencies offering bicycle tours in the United States and abroad.

Wiley retired as executive editor from Yachting magazine in 1986 after a “very satisfying” 40-year career. She still writes book reviews and articles under contract for Yachting, and travels, bikes and sails. Wiley earned a B.A. in Romance languages from Connecticut College.

In the distant future, humans are divided into two groups: immortal “lifers” and “mules” who are “metabolically unsuited to life extension.” History professor Aaron Tenniel, a lifer, becomes romantically involved with one of his students, the daredevil Cate. The relationship evokes emotions Tenniel hasn’t felt in centuries and forces him to confront the issue of life’s meaning.

Robins earned a B.A. in theater from Connecticut College. She had a baby in May 1990, works two days a week for Tor Books, NYC, and is a freelance editor and writer. Robins has published five novels: Althea (Fawcett, 1977), My Dear Jenny (Fawcett Coventry, 1980), Heiress Companion (Fawcett, 1981; reissued 1989), Lady John (1982) and The Spanish Marriage (Ballantine Books, 1984).
Receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree from Smith College in 1921, and pursuing her major field in physical education at the Poise Nisson School of Physical Education, Ruth Wood joined the Physical Education Department at Connecticut College in 1924 as one of the first three members. She received her master of arts degree from New York University in 1944. She retired as assistant professor in 1964, but returned the following year to teach part-time.

Though proficient in a number of individual sports, it seemed that folk and square dance were her special interest. During her tenure at Connecticut College, she established a local square dance group that remained active for many years.

Ruth's all-encompassing interests centered on the individual, and appropriate recreational programs became her pioneering influence through her teaching and college community endeavors. Staff-faculty groups in tennis, badminton, swimming and folk and square dance were continually supported by Ruth. In 1941 her "Syllabus, Sources and Suggestions for a Course in Recreation Leadership" was published and used as a basis for the recreation leadership course offered at Connecticut College. Ruth reviewed and selected the course and had a major influence in the growth of the program.

In 1948 she served as a member of the Public Recreation Survey committee that examined community recreation in New London, Groton and Waterford. Always super-tactful, she nevertheless freely expressed the courage of her emotions as community programs were developed.

Ruth also expressed her interests and abilities with a certain free spirit through her paintings, in which she preferred the medium of watercolor. She participated in classes at the Lyman Allyn Museum and exhibited her work in a number of juried shows.

In addition, Ruth, or as many of us knew her, "Woody," preceded her time in the current emphasis of interest in the environment and physical fitness. Woody walked or rode her bicycle from our campus to New London, Groton and Waterford. She never owned a car!

In the days preceding the 10-speed, she frequently rode her bicycle to Ocean Beach, Harkness and other areas to make her preliminary sketches of people, especially children, and landscapes, which would be transformed into subtle hues or sharply contrasting color in her actual paintings.

Ruth exemplified a gentle but strong personality, combining her professional interests and recreational talents. Those of us who knew her feel especially privileged.

— Marilyn J. Conklin, Associate Professor of Physical Education and Coordinator of Recreation

"Memorial Minute" read at a meeting of the faculty

Dr. Glen L. Kolb, professor emeritus of Hispanic studies, is dead. I present to you my eulogy of Dr. Kolb, and I feel pain as I recall for you the happy times, and I find myself gripped by deep sorrow. I paraphrase Dante: Nessun maggior dolore/che ricordarsi dal tempo felice/nella miseria... ("There is no greater pain than to recall the happy time while in misery..." Inferno, "Canto V").

My first memory of the happy times was in November of 1967 at Union Station, when Glen Kolb gave me a warm handshake, a real, Midwestern handshake, coupled with his broad and sincere Midwestern smile.

"Hola, Rafael, yo soy Glen!" Later, he received me in his home, and we remember the warmth of his hearth, and his table, his wife, Esther, their boys, Kenny and Terry, and we sat around the dinner table, and we held each other's hands in a circle as one of the children blessed the meal — the roast lamb which Glen had prepared for us, with so much care and love — a devotion which, I would learn later, he would pour into all of his vocation with his beloved Department of Spanish.

For me, Dr. Kolb was the Chairman, ever the Chairman, and his strong, creative chairmanship marks the period of maximum creativity and positive development, for what was then the Department of Spanish of the Connecticut College for Women is now Hispanic Studies of Connecticut College. That time period was also one of glory for the college: the American Dance Festival, Humanities Upward Bound, the sharing of our resources with the Minority population of this republic, the Spirit of "It can be done, it will be done!"

You, Doctora Gaudiani, recognize the Spirit, as you foster its return to the halls and the fields that comprise our campus, for you went away with the kindling in 1966 (when you graduated) and you return, now, to relight the torch.

Glen gave. He met with us frequently, as we planned our activities and always respected our opinions. Never did he snipe. Never did he mock nor cut us down. Always did he encourage, build and advise. Glen was the Chairman.

He created our master's program, which was launched with Barbara Marotte Troade: RTC '70 and Nancy Stewart Roberts '75 as student assistants, Dr. Kolb, Dr. Argyll Pryor Rice, Antonio Morillo and me. Over the years the program produced graduates who teach Spanish throughout the region: Virginia Saltzer M.A. '88 of NFA, Josie Zemko M.A. '89 and Ermitt Vega M.A. '79 of New London High School, Nancy Roberts of Connecticut College and St. Bernard High School, Raquel Nasser RTC '80/M.A. '82, Ellen DeLeon M.A. '88 of the Williams School, and many others, too many to mention, who have benefited from our master's program, which continues to prepare people today, now in conjunction with the Office of Continuing Education and the dynamic auspices of Director Lee Kneerim.

Glen Kolb made all of this possible, and so Connecticut College directs, in a way, the teaching of Spanish in our region, as most of the department heads and teachers are prepared by us.

Another major contribution was Glen's development of his advanced composition course, which year after year received the highest evaluations from students. To the end he gave: He left us his yearly Glen L. Kolb Prize for Outstanding Composition. Glen gave, never was absent, since he arrived in 1949: 34 years of loving devotion to Connecticut College. Yes, he published — two important works in Hispanic studies and many, many reviews and articles that gave our college much prestige and he came to us from the University of Michigan, where he received B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees, and he loved to teach Don Quixote, but for me he isthe Chairman, el Jefe Supremo del Departamento de Español.

Adios, Glen, adios, amigo mio, que vayes con Dios la Gloria!

— Dr. Rafael Ramirez-de-Arellano, Associate Professor of Hispanic Studies

"Memorial Minute" read at a meeting of the faculty Class Notes

In Memoriam
Lucy McDaniel '22
Margaret Kendall Yarnell '24
Evelyn Avery Lawson '25
Isabel Bullis Montague '25
Helen Farrowsnich Schneidewind '26
Lois Penny Stephenson '27
Mary Ferris LaPorte '28
Marian Geer '30
Helen Oakley Rockhold '30
Loois Penny Stephenson '30
Helen Farnsworth Schneidewind '26
Evelyn Avery Lawson '25
Margaret Kendall Yammell '24
Elizabeth Smith Shoemaker '50
Sarah (Sally) Deisroth Williams '52
Vivian Sauvage Vargas '51
Bilezikian. has published his first book, A Visit to...
Wilhelmina Brown Seyfried was named "Person of the Year" by the Nazareth (PA) Chamber of Commerce. Two grandchildren worked for Dow Chemical this summer; one future engineer, they are attending VA Tech. Their sister was valedictorian of her high school class. Billie is still knitting sweaters, and says she'll do a 1,200 to date and now adding crib blankets, baby jumpers, etc.

Anita Cochrane-Guida lives at Whitney Center in New Haven where there are five CC graduates, including our classmate, Isabel Colby. Anita attended her granddaughter's graduation from Syracuse in May and her granddaughter's high school graduation in June. Their mother is a '51 CC graduate.

Alta (Jimmie) Calburn Stege and her husband had a quiet 60th wedding anniversary due to the untimely death of their son Dick's wife. However they were able to get together with all the members of their family at the wedding of their granddaughter in Williamstown, MA. In Aug, they visited Jimmie's sister in Glens Falls, NY. Jimmie enjoys living in Carolina Meadows where they have many friends but wishes they were nearer to her family.

Viviana Fusco-Riopa has been staying close to home because of her husband's ill health.

Constance Ganoe Jones celebrated her 80th birthday in March with all her family present. In June, Connie's granddaughter was married in northern NH, just two days before she and her husband graduated with honors from MIT. In addition to all the family being there to celebrate the occasion, they were honored by the presence, at that busy time, of the president of MIT.

Mary K. Green's family has a granddaughter who is an American Airlines flight attendant and another who manages a sports and beachwear store. Kay worries about her nephews and young in-laws who are in the military and could be called up to a National Guard unit.

Dorothy Gould keeps in touch with CC via the bookstore, concert series and the Shin Library as well as a bridge "tiresome" of retired faculty and alumnae.

Alice Hangen writes most entertainingly of trips with the local historical society to Saint Louis, Boston, etc. Most recently they went to Cleveland and Akron, OH. Alice's nephew, Bruce, is conductor and music director of the Omaha Symphony, and has a lovely garden.

Elizabeth Hendrickson Matlock had cancer surgery in Oct. '89 and her husband, Bob, died in Jan. '90. Betty takes courage and support from her many friends and family of three sons, their wives and nine grandchildren. Betty is in a continuing-care residential community but is completely independent with her own condominium and car. In May she took a trip aboard the Sea Lion in the Pacific Northwest, and in Aug. spent three weeks in Miami.

Josephine Lincoln Morris has been married for 57 years and has four children and nine grandchildren. The church has led her to a longtime interest in displaced people and housing for homeless families. She has seen her daughter, Kathryn Bowman Thompson and Jane King Buss.

The class of 1931 regrets to announce the deaths of Louise Burzelle Meyer on 8/19/89 and Dorothy Johnson Iines on 6/30/89. Mrs. Stephen "Denny" Iines, '31, has sent sympathy to the families of both.

Correspondents: Mrs. Edward DeWitt Cook (Gertrude Smith), '09, 109 Village Park Dr., Williamsville, NY 14221, (716) 631-4542; and Mrs. Ernest A. Neysiferd (Wilhelmina Brown), '37, South Main St., Nazareth, PA 18064

Ruth Ferrer Wessels and Wally enjoyed another reunion at Lake George in June at Card Garcia's, '69, and now adding to their list of trips the September trip to Burnham, England, to renew friendships and play golf at Stoke-Poges Course. "We enjoyed a visit to Harrods to lay in Sitten cheese and buy wedding gifts for French friends. A grand family get-together to celebrate a niece's wedding, with all the Armenian goodies I could manage, was a bright spot this summer."

Our deepest sympathy goes to the families of Kathryn (Kay) Cartwright Burks, who died 7/25/90, Madelyn Hughes Wastey, who died 9/14/90, and Irene Larson Gearing, who died 9/9/90.

Charlotte (Chin) Caldwell Stiones continues with her art and sculpture and paints with a group at her home each week. Chin, an active member of FANA, is attending a seminar in Vancouver this year. She also gives lectures on preparing gardens for the benefits of wildlife. She has recently returned from a trip to Denver to visit her daughter.

Correspondent: Mrs. Frank Eufemia (Ruth Chittim), 7 North's Lane Nor., Northwell, VT 06851, (203) 847-2813

Rebecca Harris Treat appreciates having her two sons and grandchildren (3-7) living within three miles. She still struggles with circulation problems that prevented her attendance at our 55th reunion, but acknowledges the overall good her life has brought.

Barbara Hervey Reussow and Charlie have just finished a 3,000-mile trip to upper NY and Ontario, visiting old friends. They are settled in at Ormond Beach, FL, enjoying home and pool. She has just passed the 500-hour mark of volunteer work at OB Memorial Hospital, where she works two days a week. At our 55th reunion she enjoyed being with classmates, especially Audrey La Course Parsons, whom she hopes to visit in FL.

Charlotte (Chim) Calwell Stokes continues with her antique and new, and looms. Occasionally she teaches spinning. Her daughter, Ranie, has moved to Boston — so is a great distance for visits.

Constance Campbell Collins, because of her poor health, keeps pretty much at home. She keeps up with the world affairs via telephone conversations with her friends and through television and reading. Her niece takes her to the markets.

Margaret Gillin Wilson has just returned from a trip to the West Coast. While there she and her sister, Betty (CC '30), spent a week at the Shakespeare Festival in Oregon. Her granddaughter is a UCLA senior, and her grandson, a Sr. at Stanford. She is a water polo player and will be in the Hawaiian National Competition. The youngest grandson is in the eighth grade.

Katharine Griswold Spellman is living in a life-time health care complex where she has a one-bedroom apartment with a complete kitchen. Several of her neighbors are CC'ers. Her family of two sons and wives and five grandchildren are scattered.

Fay Irving Squibb reports that her 16th grandchild was born in May. The family all gets together in July at a summer cottage in Nequettson, MI. Fay enjoys seeing Frances Walls Sandford in Naples, FL.

Pearl Myland Kaufman took a trip to Belgium and Amsterdam in August, and has a large collection of spinning wheels, antique and new, and looms. Occasionally she teaches spinning. Her daughter, Ranie, has moved to Boston — so is a great distance for visits.

Audrey La Course Parsons visited the late Catherine (Kay) Cartwright Burks in the hospital where she found her in a coma. Doctors were baffled by Kaye's illness, but doubted Alzheimer's Disease. And kept busy this summer with home managing and fixing flowers — great exercises, since none of her friends would go swimming in the ocean. She is considering taking up golf in FL in self defense. Her daughter and family visited from Chapel Hill, NC, for a few Day, which Iven and Kaye both enjoyed very much. Sabina Barr Sanders and Harry took their annual trip to Burnham, England, to renew friendships and play golf at Stote-Poges Course. "We enjoyed a visit to Harrods to lay in Sitten cheese and buy wedding gifts for French friends. A grand family get-together to celebrate a niece's wedding, with all the Armenian goodies I could manage, was a bright spot this summer."
Madeline Shepard Howard and her husband, Brewster, still plays tennis daily. They have just returned from a two-week cruise of the Danube River. They moved back to FL after Sept 15th. Elizabeth (Betty) Patton Warner had a "grandchild June"—two graduations, and a tour of five colleges in five days in VA and NC.

Virginia (Ginny) Walton Magee is all right. Catherine (Cay) Warner Gregges's news arrived too late for the spring bulletin. You may remember her husband, Hugh, was governor of NH. Now their son, Jud, is governor! They took trips with Conrad Adult U. last year to Antarctica and the South Seas. She has an MSW from the U. of Houston and is fully recovered from her slight stroke. She misses her church and threats to try her grandson's skateboard. (Not that!) Elisabeth (Sue) Sawyer Hutchinson has some more trouble with her hip, in and out of the hospital two or three times, but everything is okay now. She is traveling around again and threatens to try her grandson's skateboard. (Not that!) Elisabeth (Betty) Patton Warner's doctor performed the surgery. "Thanks for all your news of others, Kat." Madeline (Sadie) Sawyer Hutchinson has had some more trouble with her hip, in and out of the hospital two or three times, but everything is okay now. She is traveling around again and threatens to try her grandson's skateboard. (Not that!)

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Virginia (Ginny) Taber McCamie was visiting all the way from Dawsonville, GA, to PA, NY, MA, ME, NH and CT. She likes country living and preserving her fruits and vegetables. Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Jane Merritt Bentley took her granddaughters on a Hawaiian Island cruise. She swims a lot and golfs. Jane took an exciting flight on a friend's twin-engine Comanche to lunch over the Sierras and Lake Tahoe at 9,500 feet.

Kathleen Brown Wilhelm and Jack had a hip replacement but was back playing golf in June and Sept.

Jean Ellis Blumlein has kept busy with family since Joe died. She has an MSW from the U. of Houston and is fully recovered from her slight stroke. She misses her church and threats to try her grandson's skateboard. (Not that!)

Barbara (Bobbie) Currie-Rutherford's husband, Bud, wrote your correspondent a nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Barbara (Bobbie) Currie-Rutherford's husband, Bud, wrote your correspondent a nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Kathryn (Kat) Ekirch was visiting around. She is fully recovered from her slight stroke. She misses her church and threatens to try her grandson's skateboard. (Not that!)

Virginia (Ginny) Taber McCamie was visiting all the way from Dawsonville, GA, to PA, NY, MA, ME, NH and CT. She likes country living and preserving her fruits and vegetables. Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Virginia (Ginny) Taber McCamie was visiting all the way from Dawsonville, GA, to PA, NY, MA, ME, NH and CT. She likes country living and preserving her fruits and vegetables. Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Virginia (Ginny) Taber McCamie was visiting all the way from Dawsonville, GA, to PA, NY, MA, ME, NH and CT. She likes country living and preserving her fruits and vegetables. Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Virginia (Ginny) Taber McCamie was visiting all the way from Dawsonville, GA, to PA, NY, MA, ME, NH and CT. She likes country living and preserving her fruits and vegetables. Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"

Margaret (Mogs) Robison Loehr says, "When you wrote your correspondent an nice note. He had to put Bobbe back on golf. He is fully recovering from his surgery. Since their trip around Cape Horn last winter. "Still playing lots of golf and tennis, lucky!"
Elizabeth McNulty Bussell and her retired husband are loving all their traveling and time together. (He is her fiancée of his class column in the Marine Academy alumni magazine.)

Priscilla Duxbury Westcott is busy at home tending her ailing husband. She talked to Susan Shaw Speight who had a recent lung operation and Lake Louise.

Leone Stevenson Anderson is back at the Alumni Association’s Executive Board. She and Henry visited CA for their granddaughter’s graduation. After so many years of traveling and working outside the US, they are more than content to stay in Nouk, CT, despite the dizzy pace she keeps: The Historical Society, Lyman Allyn Museum, Red Cross Blood Banks, College Archives. Flowers for the church and the Connecticut College directory.

Jane Kennedy Newman and John ventured north of FL, this summer to see friends and family, “and hope to see all soon!” The class extends sympathy to the families of Alfred Reinhardt Greenleaf, who died on 5/22/90, Sylvia Friberg Stewart, who died 9/15/89, and Jane Rogers Dennett, who died 2/11/90.

Correspondent: Mrs. John Newman, Jr. (Jane Kennedy), 4960 St. Rd. 24, Unit 159, Punta Gorda, FL 33982.

Barbara Antras Collins has retired from editing the College Directory of Cooperative Education. She and Stewart are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins). Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Jane Audrey Bakken Beetz and her husband, Paul, are dividing their time between Naples, FL, and New England. When I phoned in Aug., they were packing to move from Watertown, CT, to a condo near their daughter in Newburyport, MA. Their son lives in NE.

Mary Bove Kelly continued her education with a nursing degree from SJU in 1990. She resides at Hartford Hospital and later was manager of nursing services at CIGNA. She and her husband, Michael, live in Vernon, CT.

Barbara Boyd Benson is a broker with Coldwell Banker. She’s been in the business for more than 25 years, starting as an independent and is on the Northwest Bergen, NJ, Board of Realtors. Her two daughters live nearby and between them she has four girls and two boys ranging from “brand new” to a college freshman. The two youngest grandchildren, siblings boy, keep even a peepee, athletic grandma going!

Betsey Clarendon Hartnett and I lunched at Valley Hospital (Ridgewood, NJ) in June. She is still managing it’s great expanded gift shop. Her Elderhostel trip in Sept. to Newfoundland awed Betsey. The two, “are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins).” Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Correspondent: Mrs. Paul R. Peck Jr. (Jane Worley), Vision Hall, Apt. 502, Old Dominion Dr., MClean, VA 22101, (301) 771-2555.

Barbara Antras Collins has retired from editing the College Directory of Cooperative Education. She and Stewart are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins). Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Correspondent: Mrs. Paul R. Peck Jr. (Jane Worley), Vision Hall, Apt. 502, Old Dominion Dr., MClean, VA 22101, (301) 771-2555.

Barbara Antras Collins has retired from editing the College Directory of Cooperative Education. She and Stewart are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins). Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Correspondent: Mrs. Paul R. Peck Jr. (Jane Worley), Vision Hall, Apt. 502, Old Dominion Dr., MClean, VA 22101, (301) 771-2555.

Barbara Antras Collins has retired from editing the College Directory of Cooperative Education. She and Stewart are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins). Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Correspondent: Mrs. Paul R. Peck Jr. (Jane Worley), Vision Hall, Apt. 502, Old Dominion Dr., MClean, VA 22101, (301) 771-2555.

Barbara Antras Collins has retired from editing the College Directory of Cooperative Education. She and Stewart are enjoying a more relaxed lifestyle in Trappe, PA. They have more time to spend with their nine grandchildren (including Brazilian twins). Barb does part-time work for a law firm.

Correspondent: Mrs. Paul R. Peck Jr. (Jane Worley), Vision Hall, Apt. 502, Old Dominion Dr., MClean, VA 22101, (301) 771-2555.
eratic she had in Jan. — replacement of both knees. She can now walk miles with no pain.

Charlotte Kavanagh Duvaly was glad to have seen the late Kathryn Gander Rutter shortly before she died. The Barrys attended an all-day seminar on Monet at the Boston Museum.

Gladyes Murray Hall missed reunion and is now retired from teaching business education in Binghamton, NY. Golf, tennis, travel and garden are her main interests. She feels that “a recent trip through the Soviet Union was most timely as we have watched the fascinating events unfold in the Eastern Bloc countries.”

Marjorie Lawrence Weidig left teaching after 20 years to move to the Cape where she was advertising manager of Cape Codder for 10 years. When Dave was not well she took four months off, but decided she wanted to do something more and is back at The Cape Codder part-time as receptionist and theater reviewer. The Weidigs’ daughter, Jane, was also a Congregational minister in New Hampshire Congregational Church in Jan. and now has her own church in Copiague, NY. Son, Blair, has a gourmet deli called Entree, in Boston. Breakfast, lunch and catering is available. Marie says, “Ma and Pa are happy puttering around, on the Cape.”

Jane Oberg Rodgers can occasionally drag Don away from his volunteer work. They hosted a family reunion in their home in Boca Grande, FL, and spent two weeks at a European vacation home. Helen Savacool Underhill and Francis visit DC annually to cover the art scene. This past spring it was a postcard to a unique wedding for their daughter, Sarah, in London. She wore her best friend and Laura’s dress from an antique shop. Most impressively, Savie did all the catering for the reception. Savie also corrects a misstatement. It was not she who translated Shakespeare (“into what — Swahili?”), but Helen’s friend, Gladys Murray Hall, who translated Shakespeare into Portuguese, keeping rhyme and rhythm. Helen and Francis were in England for a month this year. They both take elderhostel trips and sometimes Francs flies the courses.

Elsie Schall Gooch and Warren, another pair hard to track down, took a notable trip this spring to Milano where their daughter, Diane, lives with an Italian husband in an overlaid, large home. We have enjoyed their presence in Essex of late. They spent their time between their homes on Cape Cod and Stratton Mountain, VT, where many of us learned to ski.

Hannah Till Williams retired from being a school librarian years ago and now her telephone in Wilmington, DE, rings all the time with people suggesting things to do, and she does them — for example hospice work.

Joanne Viall Davis and Kelso have become legal volunteers. Their home in Saugatuck, MI, was sorry to miss reunion. Her daughter was married in the spring in Surrey, England, so Jane and Don visited for more than a week and saw a movie. On Sunday they helicoptered to the White House lawn, had a complete tour with dinner in the family quarters and slept in the Lincoln bed.

Catherine (Cappy) Cole Peek and Bill live in Hammondston, NY, “a beautiful, serene place with our lovely view of Keuka Lake.” Bill had a mild heart attack in Jan., and slowing down is a priority. A new Beegue puppy encourages taking lots of “rehab” walks. Cappy is hoping to find replacements for the 43-44 Koons lost in an 80’ housefire, but she is very interested in getting more girls involved in the Coast Guard Academy this fall at Mary King Urban, hounded by Nora King Reed. The Peaks have five children and six grandchildren.

Mabel Brennan Fisher and husband, Jim, retired this year and are now enjoying traveling and skiing.

Joan Underwood Watts writes that she and her husband spend summers at the beach in Stone Harbor, NJ, and spend winters in Sarasota, FL, where they get together with Barbara Mead Timm and Al. They also visit their son in Omaha, NE, and his brother, an architect, in Las Vegas.

Nancy Noyes Copeland writes from FL that she is still teaching the physically handicapped in Venice, FL, and active in her church; she has one married son and an unmarried daughter who works as a first mate on a private 140-foot yacht. She enjoys traveling and is “getting old, but not too creepy, yet.”

Lois (Lucky) Siller Victory spends her time between a townhouse in Mayfield Heights, OH, and a new home in Salem, SC, on Lake Kewanoe; her husband, Tim, retired in Jan. She details the activities of her six children: son Pat and his family, daughter, and sisters who live near her in NC and southern TN, as well as John’s family, who live near her in NC and southern TN. She enjoys traveling and is “getting old, but not too creepy, yet.”

Judith Askins Baron and Nate are both enjoying retirement, watching their three grandchildren grow up, traveling, and keeping up with classmates and friends. The Barrows attended all day seminar on Monday at the Boston Museum. of Fine Arts last spring.

Joan Andrew White and her husband, Henry, boast two new grandchildren: Andrew Thomas Drbal, born 5/29/90, and his daughter, Claire Irene Crosby. The Frenchs' daughter, Pam C '85, visited them at their new lakefront condominium in Indianapolis to celebrate her birthday in April. All five Hutchinson children, their spouses, and 10 grandchildren came for the celebration. The crowd was so big that Kris and Jim escaped to a hotel for the night! Their May trip to Kenya was equally fabulous.

Harry MacGregor is settling into a new home in New Gloucester in rural ME which his husband, Bob, built, working with a local carpenter. The MacGregors are not far from Walter and Joan Campbell Phillips. Last fall Hattie traveled to the Dominican Republic where she volunteered in a home for malnourished children. "It was inspiring to work with the Missionaries of Charity. This experience fulfilled the need, typical of former Peace Corps volunteers, to return to the Third World. In Nov., '90, I'll go there again and Bob will join the group."

Nancy Carter McKay retired in June after 20 years teaching junior high and middle school math. She and Doug expect to do some traveling in the fall. Nancy reported that Brent and Vivian Johnson Harries had come in at their little yacht club in Mystic, with their power boat a couple of times during the summer.

Cynthia Dench Hamilton sent kind regards to the class from her home in Jamestown, NC. She "embarked on an enduring Southern odyssey" with her Trinity graduate, Irving, after being married in Harkness Chapel in Sept. '50.

Mercedes Ernst Robbins has lived in Thompson, CT, for the past 40 years. Mrs. Robbins has been town treasurer for at least 12 years, and has been a judge of probate, making it possible for them to travel the USA and Europe. The Robins have three children and four grandchildren.

Pamela Farnsworth French and Jack welcomed a new grandson, John Charles French IV, born in Aug., to their son, Chip, and his wife, Gloria. The new baby has a two-year-old sister, Diana. The Frenchs' daughter, Pam C '85, completed her master's degree in '88 and works in on education.

Marcia Langley '23

Miss Langley's bequest was for unrestricted purposes.

John Ruettinger (husband of alumna '34)

The proceeds from Mr. Ruettinger's estate were added to the Edith Stockman Ruettinger '34 Scholarship Fund, which was established in 1983.

Ethel Kane Fielding '23

This trust distribution was for unrestricted purposes.

Elizabeth Douglass Manross '28

Elizabeth Douglass Manross's unrestricted bequest to the Alumni Association will be used for the new Alumni Building.

Ann Barnard Wilson '48

These proceeds will be added to the Rita H. Barnard Return to College Student Loan Fund, established in 1985 by Ann Barnard Wilson in memory of her sister.

Marion Lowell Jenkins '25

Funds from this estate will be used to establish the Marion L. Jenkins Scholarship Fund.
churches as a demonstration of their belief in ecumenism and Christian unity. For Marianne the trip was a pilgrimage ... Jeff left Hartford after four years and returned to Carnegie Mellon, from which he received his Martha (Marty) Harris Raymond and Bill live. The Amory, (Gettysburg College '83) works for Hudson Printing, NY; and Tony (Washington and Lee U. '86) left the Amy after three years as a lst Lt. in 82nd Airborne Infantry at Stanford on a NSF Grant. working on a Ph.D. in math. Her daughter, Allison, is a sophomore at Bowdoin and was a Bowdoin Scholar his many she has had over the years. She is on the Mayor's Council for Aids and is listed in "Who's Who of American Women." She asks us all to mark our calendars for our 40th reunion in '93. She recently attended her 40th high school reunion in Danbury, NY, and finally housebreaking a new dog and working on her golf game.

Sarah (Sally) Wing continues an independent practice of psychology, specializing in sex offenders and survivors of abuse. She recently completed 13 years on the Board of the American Psychological Society and was re-elected to the Board of the Church Council for Greater Seattle.

Correspondents: Mrs. Frank Frauerfelter (Janel Bragg), 33505 Bluejay Dr., Golden, CO 80440

Correspondent: Mrs. Leslie S. Lerdal (Les Keating), 10 Lawrence St., Greenspoon, NY 11740, (516) 261-5928

Dorothy Curitl Hartwell travels often with her husband, Hugh, who retired about two years ago. They often entertain their two grandchildren who live with their daughter in New Orleans. Another daughter lives not far from them in Denver, and their son lives in Chicago.

Ann Fishman Bennett didn't attend the reunion in June because her son Michael's wedding was the weekend before and her mother and other out-of-town guests were still visiting them. Ann still works at home as a tutor for children learning disabilities. She also works in the adult schedule.

Jane Gosnold Smith has been a guidance counselor in a high school for 14 years. She serves on committees and task forces dealing with a financial aid for students entering college. She has a part in a video that will be distributed nationally to high schools about repayment of student loans. She used a teleprompter for the first time and found it wonderful to have to memorize lines.

Charmarie Jenkins Bissel received the "Excellence in Teaching Award" at Northeastern U.'s 90th commencement.

Jane Lennon Caesteker manages to do some traveling, play bridge, and volunteer for disabled persons in spite of some medical problems. She works as a bookkeeper for a market research company.

Dorothy Bollinger didn't have a correspondent, had shoulder surgery in Aug. "Although the surgery was successful, it will be a long time until the next golf game!"

The class sends its condolences to the family and friends of Nancy Donogh Langley, who died 11/28/89.

Correspondent: Jocelyn Andrews Mitchell, 16701 Cutlass Dr., Rockville, MD 20853, (301) 774-4146

REUNION 5/31-6/2/91

Correspondents: Mrs. Robert B. Whitney Jr. (Helen Cary), 1736 Fairview Dr. S., Tacoma, WA 98465, (206) 564-4345; and Mrs. Albert L. Patrick (Laura J. Ellison), 120 Circle Rd., Staten Island, NY 10304, (718) 987-1651

56

56

57

57 undergraduate degree, to study for an MBA in industrial management. Steven has a doctoral grant in bio-mechanical engineering at Harvard following graduation from Columbia. The Bowmans were scheduled for an Aug. reunion with Dorothy (Dottie) Egan and Al and Judith Hartt Acker at Beverly Yacht Club and Bill’s summer home in Groton, Common, VT.

Judith Hartt Acker’s older son, Bruce, married fellow Clarence Center teacher, Elaine Zehr, in Buffalo, NY. on 6/30/90. Son Jeff continues to run his property management business in the White River Junction, VT area.

Rachel Adams Lloyd and Jim drove west this past fall during a sabbatical from Colgate. Previously, they enjoyed a Lake Placid-area reunion with both daughters and husbands. Daughter Elaine and her husband both teach in a Seattle independent school; daughter Rebecca and her husband are lawyers with the Department of Justice in DC.

Ada (Dusty) Heinrich Logan continues as a textile conservator at Boston’s Isabelle Stewart Gardner Museum, teaches at Pine Manor College, and has recently been asked to serve on the Board of Trustees of Old Sturbridge Village. Norm, recently retired, had opened a management consulting firm. Dusty and Norm traveled extensively this year; one trip was to Amsterdam where daughter, Debbie, is employed.

Lorraine Haeffner Gormley continues to work at the U. of DE. Her present research involved affinity labels of protein coenzyme sites. Lorraine and Jim enjoyed a visit to New Orleans where she presented a poster at a recent biochemistry meeting.

Sarah Grant Kennington and Bill live on the Severn River in Annapolis, MD, where they built a home four years ago. Sabra, who works as a speech-language pathologist, took a watercolor workshop on Monhegan Island, ME last summer and took a painting course in Baltimore recently.

Joan Baumgarten Furman runs a tutoring service that prepares students for the SAT and English Achievement exams. Frank’s international work for Citibank has provided funding with visiting runs to Europe and the Orient. The Furman’s son practices law in NYC; he graduated from Cornell Law School. Joyce is a graduate of Tufts and Nancy is a Yale st.

Ann Henry Crow and Hart live near Hanover, NH, and frequently see Sarah Greene Burger and Ed when they come to Chelsea, VT. The Crow’s older son works in Anchorage and their younger son, Peter, attends Columbia Medical School. Daughter, Kate (CC ’85), lives in Brooklyn with her two children, Charlotte and Henry.

Lucie Hoblitzelle Iannotti and Larry have moved to Birmingham, AL, where Larry teaches trial advocacy and legal professions at Samford U. School of Law.

Judith Allen Summershy has switched from teaching to paralegal work now that her youngest child has entered college. Judy, who lives in Cambridge, MA, is studying Spanish to help with her solidarity work with Central Americans.

Jeri Fuelgeman Josephson and Buddy’s daughter practiced real estate law for several years, but is now employed with Lifetime TV. Son, Steven, started his three-year legal professions at Samford U. School of Law.

Faye Gruen and Jarek’s daughter, Laura, graduated from Lowell Tech, worked in a biological laboratory in Lexington, MA, and then went to Pace University in Pleasantville, NY, where she graduated with a B.A. in psychology.

Elias Mark

Dusti Heimbach Logan continues as a textile conservator at Boston’s Isabelle Stewart Gardner Museum, teaches at Pine Manor College, and has recently been asked to serve on the Board of Trustees of Old Sturbridge Village. Norm, recently retired, has opened a management consulting firm. Dusty and Norm traveled extensively this year; one trip was to Amsterdam where daughter, Debbie, is employed.

Lynne Langlois

Elias Mark

William Mulligan

Gillian Schar

Christian Schulz

Justine Setnik

Mark Slidell

Robert Sumner

Sarah Sutro

Serena Woodall

LEGACY LIST, CLASS OF 1994

Student

Amy Bodiker

Alison Flynn

Jennifer Fox

John Gould

Stephen Gregg

Allison Hanes

Kristin Hansen

Suzanne Klotz

Lynne Langlois

Elias Mark

William Mulligan

Gillian Schar

Christian Schulz

Justine Setnik

Mark Slidell

Robert Sumner

Sarah Sutro

Serena Woodall

Relative

Constance Aldrich Bodiker ’58 (mother)

Barbara Quinn Flynn ’59 (mother)

Mary Lutz Fox RTC ’87 (mother)

Cynthia Sacknoff Gould ’62 (mother)

Florence McConnell Knudson ’38 (grandmother)

Ann Guliiver Hanes ’66 (mother)

Elizabeth Stephenson Hansen ’65 (mother)

Deborah Goodwin Klotz ’65 (mother)

Lynne Moriarity Langlois MA ’72 (mother)

Seny Lake Bynum ’66 (mother)

Susan Abendroth Mulligan ’66 (mother)

Carla D. Marcus ’68 (mother)

James P. Hanes ’66 (mother)

Carole Dahl Schulz MA ’84 (mother)

Susan Palay Setnik ’70 (mother)

Mary MacFarlane Slidell ’66 (mother)

Helen Peale Sumner ’22 (grandmother)

Louie Hyde Sutro ’57 (mother)

Susan Kirshnit Woodall ’66 (mother)
Katherine (Kathy) Gray Pearson and her husband, Jeff, live in Hohokus, NJ. The Pearson's oldest son, Tom, is studying computer science at Boston University. Their son, Jonathan, CC '86, is a graphic artist in NYC and his art education at MT State U.; another son works for the Travelers Insurance Company in Atlanta, GA. Four of their five children are out of college, and one started at the University of Sheffield, England. Son Mike attends Harvard Business School and his wife Bill is trying to start a theater in Houston.

Margaret (Peggy) Brown Gunnis is finishing her work at Trinity Church Boston and looking for another position as a receptionist. In the meantime, Peggy will be working in Dorchestern School with urban problems. One son finished his art education at MIT State U.; another son works for the Peace Corp in the Dominican Republic. Her daughter teaches at Albuquerque Academy. Peggy's oldest granddaughter is fine health after her heart attack.

Ann Burdick Hartman had dinner in DC when Diane Miller Bessell visited with Judith Eichelberger Gruner in the area. Sandra Sidman Larson remains executive director of MAP, which provides management services to non-profit organizations in the Twin Cities. She celebrated her 50th smoking in St John and rafting in Costa Rica.

Sandra Silversiva McCarty translated for Barbara Bush and Mrs. James Baker. She will celebrate her 30th wedding anniversary this April in Paris. Son, Robert, took command of his first port in Angeles, CA, and husband, Jack, looks through traffic service for main US ports in cooperation with the UN.

Jane Barrett Stweits spent May in China (hamid and cloudy) and Oct. in Israel. Son Mike attends Harvard Business School and son Bill is trying to start a theater in Houston.

Deborah Toman Holiday's children excel with daughter Emily receiving her Ph.D. from Stanford in molecular biology, and daughter Catherine receiving her BA from UC in 1990.

Anne Warner Webb left Winchester City Hospital after 24 years and now works at The Lutheran Hospital. Son, Mark, begins graduate studies at the U. of MI in computer engineering, while daughter Sarah is finishing Yale School of Law.

Constance Wharton Nason and husband, early retirees, have moved from NV to VA to grow Christmas trees and grapes on the Chesapeake Bay.

Dale Weilert's son, Michael, and her husband, Ted, are among the guests at the wedding of Margaret Welford Tabor's son, Owen.

Emily (Emy Lou) Zahniser Badlidge's paper publishing business took off with a flair. Son, Jeff, married in June and is doing his psychology internship in the Air Force. Daughter, Kim, works as an assistant to the vice president of marketing at Elle magazine.

Virginia (Ginger) Reed Levin is giving trainings and workshops with doctors and physical therapists on the body-mind connection and healing along with her private practice. Daughter Carolee finishes up her studies at U. of CA and does research on parasites and other biological phenomenon. Daughter Debbie, 21, spent her last year at St. Vincent's School for the Developmentally Disabled. Hopefully, she will pass her final test for a high school equivalency certificate—no small task. Debbie also helps set up exhibits at a children's museum. Son, Reed, attends Football Jr. College and works for a software company in CA. Ginger and Doug are very involved in setting up an adult facility for the handicapped in Santa Barbara, CA.

Correspondents: Virginia Reed Levine, 10 Sargent Lane, Ashton, CT 06495; (415) 854-8429; and Jane Barrett Swett, 920 Kye Valley Dr., Meadowbrook, PA 19064, (215) 947-5161.

Linda McCormick Forrestal is working for the Travelers Insurance Company in Atlanta, GA. Four of her five children are out of college, and one started at Presbyterian College in the fall. Linda has been enjoying "grandmotherhood" since Sept. '88. Her daughter, Jessica, is a sixth grader in Mansfield Center, CT, where Jan lives.

The class extends sympathies to the families of Naudin Larsen Luce, who died on 8/5/90, and Anne Reed MacKinnon, who died on 11/28/90.

Correspondents: Mrs. Allan Martin (Sally Foote), 412 Older House Rd., Cape Elizabeth, ME 04107, (207) 767-5332.

62

Anne MacMichael Ilson's husband, Howard, died on 8/5/90.

63

Sue Bernstein Mercy and Gene spent a week in Vail, CO, cycling, biking and looking at the wild flowers. They were the center of the summer at their home on the Jersey Shore. Sue finally talked to Belinda Breese Bull at the gym where they caught up on 25 years of gossip.

Sarah Bullock Dejugnais of Westport, MA, is a part-time post office worker, and moved to Oct. Jon, 21; Sharron, 15; and Rachel and Simon, 11. Sue was one of many alums who attended a CC "summer celebration" in Westport, MA.

Theodore Dracopoulous Argue is working on her second book, which she visited with Agnes Cochran Underwood when she was in DC.

Tirzah (Quinta) Dunn Scott is working on her third book, Elevator, Church and Mill. She received a fellowship from the NEA in the fall of 1990.

Jane Engel Francois and her husband, Phillip, climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro in Dee. They are now renovating an old house on the water. Their daughter and Sue Bernstein Mercy's son will graduate from CC this May.

Seann Faile Furgary of Barrington, RI, heads the science department at Lincoln School in Providence. She has three children: Jay, Dartmouth '88; Sarah, Duke '89; and Laura, Colby '95. Sarah's recent travel included Greece, France, and Russia. She attended the CC "summer celebration" in Westport, MA.

Susan Schiffman Baus is in charge of a geriatric program in Palo Alto, CA.

Correspondent: Mrs. Eugene Mercy Jr. (Sue Bernstein), 1111 Park Ave., New York, NY 10028, (212) 348-0503.

64

Correspondent: Sandra Bannister Dole, 301 Cliff Ave., Pelham, NY 10803, (914) 758-0458.

65

Judith Abbott Rafferty of West Redding, CT, writes that after a year of transition working in the special education resource room of a local high school, she's hoping to open a small local conference center, but "may need a partner to pull it off." She'd love to hear from anyone interested in such a joint venture in Fairfield County, CT. She spent last summer on Block Island, NY, living in a house she had designed.

June Adler Vail lives in ME with her husband and two sons and teaches at Bowdoin College. She took a sabbatical leave in Stockholm last year to work on a research project. She was back in Sweden this past June for a month which conflicted with her coming to our class reunion.

Jane Anderson Morse was ordained as an Episcopal priest in '87 and is now a Ph.D. candidate in Old Testament at Yale. She took a medical leave to be treated for lymphoma via a bone marrow transplant, but planned on returning to work at Yale. Sarah and Benjamin are at Mount Holyoke and Vassar, respectively. Husband, Clay, retired from the Navy in '84, is now president of his own consulting firm, Jell Andreas Miller and husband, Richard, run Miller Microcomputer Services. She won the "Best New Volunteer" of '89 award from the US Fish and Wildlife Service at the Great Meadows Wildlife Refuge for her work to bring bluebirds back to Eastern MA. She's also gotten seriously into the genealogical research of her family.

Anne Backus, MD, DDS, lives in Durango, CO, with her two daughters: Barbara, 11, and Rebekah, 7. She teaches environmental science at the LEE School and Pueblo Community College and has a part-time dental practice serving the disabled and elderly at their homes. She encourages us to call her if we're in the area—she's near Mesa Verde National Park.

Genevieve Bartlett Frick of Nashville, TN, and her son, Alexander, got together this summer with her former CC roommate, Carole McNamara Malcolmson and her family, in Mollie, MA.

Ann Brauer Giguannas of Sausalito, CA, vacationed in HI this summer with her family. Son, George, 14, spent six weeks in Greece as part of a cultural studies program. Daughter, Amy, 15, was in a summer musical theater workshop. This fall, Ann will continue to reside at her local school board. Her husband, John, does law and real estate development locally.

Correll and Roxanne Lake Johnson.

Son, Matt, is at Syracuse and daughter, Lillian, is at Bali this summer with her two daughters. Imber, 22, and alcoholism counselor in a youth-at-risk for substance abuse program; and taking care of her two children, Samuel, 11; and Vanessa, 8. Husband, Nigel, runs an international shipping company in NYC.

Barbara Chase McManus lives on Cape Cod where she is in her 23rd year of teaching sixth grade and reports that she is "not burned out, yet." She is also immersed in astronomy and computer technology. She volunteers at the Cape Cod Astronomy Society giving lectures and informal guidance at star parties.

Joanne Boscio is the headmaster of the school. She received an MA in special education at the Middle School in Mamaroneck and a B.S. in special education at the College of///.

She reports that meeting the pope.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

MARRIED: Wendy Thompson to James Noyes, 1/1/90.

Judith Anderson Miller has lived, since June ’86, in Dover, where the School of Command, Hal, is the "passor of the only church in town." They have two sons: Todd, who attends the U. of Northern CO, and Jason, who recently entered high school. Judy describes herself as a "Full-time mom, part-time secretary, and very active volunteer." Many of her energies have been directed toward working on a documentary of a venerable 60-year-old local theater group. She has acted, directed, produced, directed, served as secretary and accepted children’s plays for her high school performances. Still, her favorite part of her involvement is the "adoring reception" of her two sons.

Ruth Berkoff Ciaricka of Madison, WI, writes that it is "always a pleasure to read about the accomplishments of fellow classmates." She has a few of her own: She earned her second master’s degree in social work last spring and is now coordinator for the gifted and talented program; and taking care of her two children during our five-year stint as your class correspondents.

EVERY STUDENT ATTENDING CONNECTICUT COLLEGE RECEIVES HELP

EVERY YEAR

Every student depends on gifts to the Annual Fund to help meet the total cost of a Connecticut College education. More than 43% receive additional direct financial aid.

Unrestricted giving supports academic programs, state-of-the-art facilities, student services and a superb faculty.

More than 39% of our alumni demonstrate their commitment to Connecticut College each year by participating in the Annual Fund.
CONNECTICUT COLLEGE CLUBS: A RENEWED VISION

BY KRISTIN STAHLSCHEMIDT LAMBERT ’69, Executive Director of the Alumni Association vision wizhinn n. 1. an unusual discernment or foresight 2. what the founders of Connecticut College had 3. a word heard frequently at Connecticut College in 1990

We hope that Noah Webster forgives our corruption of his standard. Our point is that, like Connecticut College’s early leaders, we still have the vision to place Connecticut at the forefront of liberal arts education and to prepare students for an increasingly interdependent world. But how does this all relate to clubs? And what do we mean by “renewed vision?”

Haven’t we always had clubs for alumni?

Indeed we have had clubs, or chapters as they were formally known, since the early 1920s. The Alumni Association minutes of March 1923 discuss eligibility requirements for chapters, and by 1926, there were clubs in Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston. In 1935, 15 chapters existed, and by 1942, 19 clubs dotted the nation from Connecticut to California. The number appears to have peaked in 1969 when there were 45 clubs. Today we count only 13 active clubs. This figure may be the most accurate reflection of the fact that our alumni body has changed significantly since 1969 — the most obvious change being the entry of men into the alumni ranks.

Additionally, the sheer number of alumni has increased dramatically: 53 percent have graduated since 1969, the year Connecticut College became coed. From this fact we can deduce that the average alumna or alumnus is not yet 50 years old, is busy balancing career and family, and has a finite amount of time to give to outside activities.

And so back to the “renewed vision” — how does it relate to all the above? As Connecticut College faces the opportunities and challenges of the ’90s, it needs continued and increased support from all its constituents across the country and even overseas. We are responding by taking an old program and breathing new energy into it.

Today’s clubs, in the words of an authority on club activity, “are centers of an extended university community.” We see clubs as the vehicle to connect alumni, parents, and friends to the exciting new programs and initiatives of the college and to support activities that bring all these groups together. By organizing educational and social events, assisting with student recruitment, developing alumni career networks, sponsoring student internships, and seeking innovative ways to increase the visibility of the college, clubs can spread the vision of Connecticut College far beyond the boundaries of New London.

To accommodate the needs of alumni volunteers whose time is limited, we will encourage streamlined leadership structures, perhaps with co-presidents and a treasurer as the key leaders. We will provide updated handbooks and concise information for organizing events. And we will request that leaders include other key volunteers such as admissions reps or career-network reps on the club board in order to share programming responsibilities and ensure communication. In addition, the Alumni Office will provide increased support through development of a club-focused newsletter, annual staff visits and enhanced computer support.

If we are to realize any of this renewed vision, we NEED YOU. If a club exists in your area, contact the president (see box) to get involved. If not, start a new club. Gather a core of alumni friends and call Kris Lambert, executive director, at (203) 439-2300. Who knows — by 1999 we could have 45 clubs again!

Wendy Thompson Noyes is in the medical supplies field as a vendor to nursing homes, hospitals, and laundries. She recently remarried and her new husband, Jim, is vice president of the international division of Hyde Athletic Industries. Wendy’s daughter Christy, is a sophomore in high school and has Paul Karofsky, Lisa Stonberg Karofsky’s husband, as an advisor in her human relations class. Craig Heim, son of Lynn Buchanan Heim, is working in Boston and is often a dinner guest at the Noyes’ house.

Betty Crowley Gurnham passed away on 12/17/89 after a short illness. The class extends its heartfelt sympathies to her husband, Jeffrey, her family and her friends. Betty was a lawyer and president of South Freeport Marine in South Freeport, ME, a business she and her husband owned together. Betty leaves three children: Bettie, 21; Clifford, 19; and Katherine, 17. Martha Kidd Cyr writes that she and Betty lived near each other in ME for the last eight years and greatly enjoyed their time together.

Correspondent: Joyce Todd Wilson, 155 Bosfield Dr., Upper St. Clair, PA 15241, (412) 851-2939

Janet Bouchard Pletsch and husband, Gerald, a veterinarian, live in South Dartmouth, MA, with children: Greg, 17; Paul, 14; Kate, 11; and Grace, 8. Janet writes, “My career is my family and a compulsion to teach — nature, animal care, crafts and cooking — to anyone who’ll stand still. I’m a Girl Scout leader, 4-H leader, town meeting member and involved in local school and environmental issues.” Janet was one of many who attended a CC “summer celebration” in Westport, MA.

Elizabeth Bretenon Smith lives in Newtonville, MA, with her husband and family. In Dec., she was appointed executive director of the Hyams Foundation in Boston where she has worked since 1985. She finds it an exciting and demanding opportunity.

Elaine Davey Topogas teaches dance at Westminster School in Simsbury, CT. This summer she began courses at Wesleyan for a master’s in dance and movement studies. Elaine and husband Jonathan, an attorney, live in Simsbury with their children, Michael, Westminster ’91; Dean, Westminster ’94; and Leya, 11. She sees Athena Demos Economou, Daggy Hultgreen Griswold, Carol Robinson and Bonnie Daniels.

Suzette d’Vogeleare lives in Mill Valley, CA, with husband, Bob Flynn. Her research business continues to
is alive and well and still knows how to rock 'n roll. Time is on our side and so was the weather. We gal sunburned ...

is director of land protection at the Nature Conservancy. She lives in Philadelphia and sees is alive and well and still knows how to rock 'n roll. Time is on our side and so was the weather. We gal sunburned at is director of admissions of the Poconoae School.

is the president of Electronic Sales of

is the director of the executive office of trans-

is the director of admissions of the Poconoae School.

is the director of the executive office of trans-

is the director of admissions of the Poconoae School.

is the president of Electronic Sales of

is the director of admissions of the Poconoae School.
Attention Coco Beaux Alumni

We are trying to put together a mailing list for a semi-annual newsletter. Please send your current address to be part of this free, innovative service. Also, our latest recording, Standing Room Only, is now available for $7 (checks to “CoCo Beaux”). Please send all correspondence to: Scott Cave ’91, Box 3154, Connecticut College, 270 Mohegan Avenue, New London, CT 06320.

Melinda Goding, 30 Morningdale Dr., Wilminton, MA 01687, (508) 657-9057

76 REUNION 5/31-6/2/91

Correspondent: Jonathan Kromer, 436 Ridgeway Road NE, Atlanta, GA 30307

77 REUNION 5/31-6/2/91

Correspondents: Amy Friedlander Gorin, 2 Beaver St., Wellesley Hills, MA 02181, (617) 239-3517, and Sheila Saunders, 425 S. Carrillo Road, Ojai, CA 93023, (805) 640-8714

78 REUNION 5/31-6/2/91

Correspondents: Marcy Connelly Goodkin, 2725 Oak Hill Dr., Affton Park, PA 15110, (412) 456-5424, and Leigh Seminon Palmer, 42 Main Ave., Portland, ME 04103, (207) 797-2472

3154, Connecticut College, 270 Mohegan Avenue, New London, CT 06320.

MARRIED: Lucy Sloman to Stephen Antupit, 7/18/90.

BORN: to Victoria Chesler and Matt Krouer, Kelsey Samara Cheser 4/26/89; to Jody Paskow Gold and Barry Gold, David Michael 1/24/90; to Steve Gutman and Sally Rydell, Jacobson 3/3/90; to Holly Williams Luce and James Luce, Megan Elizabeth 8/12/90; to David Stewart and Katherine McNair Stewart ’81, Daniel Exall 9/18/89.

Audrey Cutler came from a tour of the Florida Keys and the Everglades last spring to her job as the attorney in charge of labor relations for the Boston Police Department. She is busy, challenged and living in Brooklyn, MA, with her cat, Gabriella. Audrey stays in touch with Carolyn (Lynn) McKevel and family, who live in Santa Fe: Jay Greenspan and Malcolm (Eric) Schoenberg in Philadelphia; and Joshua Stern in NYC.

Victoria Chesler reported the birth of a daughter, Kelsey, who joins sister Melissa. Victoria and family make their home in Olivebridge, NY.

James Dicker writes from Monaco (his new European base) and says, “I am enjoying scuba diving. I have also been volunteering for the Center for Nutritional Research in Brookline, MA. My son, David, has a great time visiting the Rosts in June.

Steven Marks is the publisher and editor of Tyger Press in New London which publishes the weekly news (at WCIU) and the political commentary as well as art, poems and short stories. Miamir Josephson Whitehouse, class correspondent, says, “Do not despair if you don’t see your news in this issue. An avalanche of postcards is pouring into my mailbox and we have barely scrawled the surface of the pile. We will have news to print for many issues to come. Thank you all for your fantastic response.”

Correspondents: Miamir Josephson Whitehouse, P.O. Box 68, Cape Porpoise, ME 04041, (207) 967-4379, and Applications Available for 1991 Phi Beta Kappa Scholarships

Connecticut College’s Delta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa announces that applications are now available for two scholarships of $1,000 each for Conn alumni or graduating seniors. Applicants must be planning to pursue full-time graduate study in 1991-92, leading to an advanced degree. Awards are made on the basis of academic record and promise; a short description of graduate study and career plans is part of the application. For an application, write to Professor Elinor M. Despalatovic, Vice President, Delta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, Box 5548, Connecticut College, New London, CT 06320. Deadline for submission of applications is April 1, 1991.

The 1990 scholarship winners were Linda B. Garant ‘82 and Colleen J. Matan ‘84.

Roehrli Reilly, Joseph 8/24/89; to Concetta Maria (Tina) Catania McDermott and Michael, Timanimare 6/19/90; to Wayne (Zee) Roth and Naomi, Avraham Salamon, 6/25/90.

Laura Allen’s wedding to Ken Lewis in Columbus, OH, was attended by many notable Conn alums: Richard Vaneil ‘82, Patty Green Vaneil ‘82, James Robinson ‘82, Beth Schelling Robinson ‘82, Paul Esscol, Thomas Meyers ‘82, Margaret (McNeil) Trew ‘82, Jeffrey (Scott) Hilde, David Geller, David Elliott ‘82 and Norman Livingston.

Class of ’81 President Paul Escoll provided impromptu entertainment for a party of out-of-town guests.

Florence Callaway Holmes and husband, Tom, recently moved to San Francisco where Florence attends the San Francisco Art Institute.

Kimberly Carlson Stevens; husband, Jeff, and June-month-old, Myla; have a house in the historic district of East Greenwich, RI. Kim is a genetic researcher in the biochemistry department of Brown U.; Jeff is a quality engineer for Peterson Parian, packagers of personal care and household products. They enjoy sailing.

Allison Fraser is still with the USO but has relocated to the French Riviera where she works with Navy ships. Allison sees Costanza (Coco) Stein several times a year, whenever Coco escapes Paris for the sunny coast.

Janine Frazee Garvey and husband, James Garvey ‘80, have been living in Doylestown, PA, for three years. They now have two daughters. Janine is manager of the telemarketing group for McNeil Consumer & Animal Health, and is a regional manager for Portion Packaging.

Katherine Gould is a graphic artist living in Wescosville County. She works for General Reinsurance Corp. Katherine sees Lusette and Scot Keyes several times a month.

Katherine (Kati) Roessner and husband, Bill Thomsdike, own a home in Mystic, CT. They have a year-old son. Kati has co-founded a graphic design firm, R & B Graphics, after working as a staff artist at Mystic Maritime Aquarium for three years.

Peter Simpson will earn his master’s in international management this month from the American Graduate School of International Management in Phoenix, AZ. He hopes to work in the field of environmental protection/conservation, but in the meantime, is planning a five-month trip through Australia and southeast Asia with friends, including Christopher Galanto.

Vanessa Stock Bristow feels very settled in the bush and loves Melbourne, where she and her husband, Todd, moved from Harford in 1990. "I love Australia and I feel at home, and I love Melbourne," she said. "It’s such a cosmopolitan city, and there’s so much to do here." She and Todd have three month-old, Myles: have a house in the historic district of Westchester County. She works for General Reinsurance Corp. as an entering analyst for Pechiney Corporation in Greenwich, CT.

Melanie Labinger Cotenoff and husband, Jay, have a house in Westford, MA. They have a year-old daughter, Kari has co-founded a graphic design firm, R & B Graphics, after working as an associate with Marine Health Care in Mystic, CT.
Virginia VanClay to Jerry Calvin Wilkins, 6/28/90; Gina Sykes to Wayne Eley '86, 8/11/90; Amy Walther to Stephen LaMarche '85, 6/30/90; Deborah Lawler to Richard Sharp, 4/27/90; Kathryne McDonough to Noel Comment, 7/9/88; Andrea Saltzberg to Victor Emcnid, 4/21/90.

BORN: To Dawn Ellingboe Carleton and Steven, 3/2/90; Peter Bakkala and Jennifer Kahn Bakkala bought a house in West Hartford in June and were surprised to find that Linda Christensen had just purchased a house one street over! Peter is an audit officer at Fleet Bank in Hartford, and Jennifer is the editor of the New London News and The Cartoon News, two suburban weekly newspapers owned by Imprint of West Hartford. The couple celebrated their third wedding anniversary in Sept.

Thomas Blaik has been spending a lot of time traveling between NY and GA for his job as a customer engineer for IBM. During his spare time he works on the vinden streetcar and he is building with his brother.

Elizabeth Carter Johnson and Douglas Kneeland '86 were married last spring in Williamsburg, VA, and now reside in Essex, CT. Doug works for Youngblood Music Workshop in nearby Guilford and Carter works for the Department of Consumer Protection in Hartford.

Tiffy Kohl works in the publications department of the Museum of Fine Art in Boston.

Bradley DINerMAN is doing research for NASA in Hampton, VA. The research concerns finding materials out of which laser lenses are made.

John Edwards is living in Paris pursuing a master's degree with Middletown College. She lives with Sara Metzer '88, whom she met at Middletown Summer School. Joon has two new roommates in the area, but they strongly urge (in fact, beg), their long lost friends to write. They accept all visitors as long as they bring food.

Dawn and husband, Steven, attended Commencement '90 at Conn with their new baby, Alexander. Dawn mentioned that it was a little different (but fun) to be on campus with a child.

Charles ESL was a trip of a lifetime in Europe this summer and has started graduate studies at the Yale School of Forestry and Environmental Studies.

Lisa FALCONES works as an assistant account executive in the in-house advertising department at Zoos International in Darien, CT. She is living in a house on the beach in nearby Stamford.

Cecilia FERNANDEZ-CAROL recently moved to DC to attend American U. for a Ph.D. in clinical psychology. Before starting school she lived in Sommerville, MA, a block away from Matthew Chandler.

Eric GARDNER BRADLEY is an export manager at an Asian import/export firm based in MA.

Lawrence (Larry) GHETTO recently started a Ph.D. program in economics at the U. of WI in Sept. Previously he studied math at Yale U. in preparation for graduate school.

Susan LANDAU is assistant field hockey and lacrosse coach at Holy Cross. She recently got her master's degree in sports psychology at Boston U. and is also working in the exercise physiology unit at UMass Medical Center in Worcester.

Deborah Lawler Sharp lives in NYC where she works as an account executive at RSH & Co.

Miranda LEVENSTEIN is abandoning her work in entertainment publicity to begin a master's program in social work at NYU.

Katherine LISTRO is a sr. programmer/analyst at Aerina Reality where she sits right next to Michael Prouts. In her spare time Katie is singing with the city singers of Hartford with Erik Haslum '86. She also is a member of the chorus of the CT Opera.

Jillene LOCHER just moved to Tempe, AZ, where she is a behavioral counselor at a weightloss center. She is at AZ State U. studying for her master's in counseling psychology.

Katheryn MCGUINNESS is a graduate student in San Francisco and works for Hal Riney & Partners, Inc. as a media planner. She loves being back out in CA though she misses her college friends.

Kathryne McDonough Comment and Noel Comm- Berton are both teaching: Kate in Groton and Noel in Branford.

Margaret (Margs) McGarry is getting her master's in teaching young children with special needs at Wheelock College in Boston, MA.

Marc Hope MQUiston has moved to San Francisco from Boston and loves it.

Lisa MENEGON is alive and well in Old Greenwich, CT. She is finishing her last, hefty year at the NY School of Interior Design.

Eva MILLER is finishing up her last year of graduate study in modern dance. She lives loving in Salt Lake City, UT, where she rock climbs, hikes and plays volleyball.

Paula McGarr and Michael (Mitch) Hayes have been visiting.

Adam Mintz is working with troubled kids in Seattle.

Karen Mounikas works at Boston U. as a computer programmer. She just came back from vacation in England, the Netherlands and Germany.

Helen Murdoch has completed half of her master's degree in history (in the Nazi years) at UC Santa Barbara.

Christine Owens-Jones graduated this past May from the U. of CT School of Law. She will begin working as an attorney at the law firm of Wiggin and Dana in New Haven, CT.

Jill Perlmutter lives in West Hartford, CT, and works for the CT Labor Department. She also works part time at the Mark Twain House. Jill sees Elaine Brenner, Lisa Pirezio Utz, Mary Fitzgerald, and Ruth Taylor '88.

Robert Plisy received her master's in medical science at Boston U. and is in her second year of medical school there. Keep an eye out for him in Boston where he is playing piano at various local establishments!

David (Chris) Philipps just started a new position as a sales representative with Univar Corporation selling food and pharmaceutical accounts. He played in two college/semi-professional summer basketball leagues. Chris saw Thomas Reiling at the James Taylor concert at Great Woods and often sees Mark Stepper, Dave Stepper '88 and Christopher Boyd '86.

Lisa Pirezuthe Utz just received her master's in teaching and will be teaching first grade in Chappaqua, NY. She and Bill are buying a house in Pleasantville, NY.

Cheryl Quick is moving to Bloomington, IN, to begin her master's in finance and organizational development at IU. She is a member of full-time grad- uate work at Springfield College for a master's degree in occupational therapy beginning this fall. She and her husband have just bought a house in Springfield, MA. She will continue her work at Baystate Medical Center.

Andrea Saltzberg Emodi completed her master's degree from U. of Chicago.

Stephanie Schuster has been working for a law firm in Manhattan as a personnel assistant for the past year. She is also working on her master's in organizational psychology at Columbia.

Robert Sklans finished his master's in organizational psychology at Columba in Jan. '89. He now works for JFK Health Systems in NY as the management education coordinator. Jennifer McGarvey and Michael Comment are both teaching: Kate in Groton and Noel in Branford.

Heidi Sweeney is in the midst of getting her second degree, HSN-2R. She is also working in the Yale-New Haven Hospital emergency room.

Tracy Thompson is sking in CO, but is planning to return to the world of publishing this spring. Joseph Tropasso just graduated from the U. of PA School of Law and works for the DC law firm, Patton, Briggs and Blow. He worked as the deputy press secretary for a gubernatorial campaign.

Gregor Tullio is the coordinator of multicultural affairs at Wesleyan U. in Middletown, CT. He is also finishing up his liberal studies graduate program at Wesleyan.

Debrah Tullio and Jessica Laxman '88 spent time traveling in Europe this summer. They particularly enjoyed Paris and Italy.

Steven Tunnell is working in Atlanta, GA, for the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra as media assistant. Steve sees Daryl Smith and Sarah Brady '86, who just moved to Atlanta.

Anne Valenti worked on Diane Feinstein's race for governor. She is living in San Francisco.

Christine Venturale is doing an internship with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in Rockville, MD, which will complete her work toward her master's in forensics science at the U. of New Haven. She is still at Pfizer in the department of metabolic disease. Her work may be in a few publications.

Greg Walko, having passed his Ph.D. comprehensive examinations in political science, is currently engaged in dissertation research at Syracuse U.

Amy Walther LaMarche works at Harvard U. Katherine (Katie) Ward is pursuing a master's in maternal/child public health NY medical college. She sees Ellen Martinsson and Susan Slavin often in NY and Boston. They both are doing well.

William (Bill) Warren has been traveling around the US for the past month after almost three years of working for Young & Rubicam in NYC. He began studying for his MBA in Sept. in CT. Bill lives in Brooklyn.

Amy Wurtzinger Hopkins is living and working in Milwaukee as a manufacturers representative for Mair Hill and Associates. During her free time, she has been doing volunteer work for Children's Hospital of Milwaukee.

Correspondents: Micheile M. Austin, 47 Dameses Road, Branford, CT 06405, (203) 488-5496, and Martha Deniel, 39 Pleasant St., Boston, MA 02129, (617) 782-8818

Correspondents: Burke LaClair, P.O.Box 818, Soors, CT 06268, (203) 427-7727, and Kimberly Sawyer, P.O.Box 1408, Vineyard Haven, MA 02568, (508) 693-6999.

MARRIED: Sarah Young to Joel Jackson, 8/16/90; Alexandra Maccoil to Geoffrey Buckley '87, 6/29/00; Carl (Andy) Beckhard returned to England for three weeks in Sept, and will be traveling extensively in Australia.

Darrell Clark is in his first year of law school at Washington U. in St. Louis.

Paul Claus works for an 80-attorney law firm in Newington, CT. He plans to attend law school in the fall. Paul reports that there are some "bizarre" people out in CA.

Julie Denney took a month off from her job at Nato Remote Control: The TV Set. The exhibition, which ran from Sept. 14 through Nov. 25, involved two other Conn alumni, Marcia Tucker '66, director of The New Museum, and Matthew Geller '76, guest curator. Beth Rosovsky loved the past year she spent living and working in the Boston area. Beth is off to NYC to start graduate school at Columbia U. School of Social Work. Daniel Ruff lives in the DC area with Robert Briskman, Samuel Burem, and Mari Rusty. Mario Susacca has two more semesters to complete her master's in museum studies at NYU, and she also works at Japan Society Gallery as a project assistant. Deborah Schachter lives south of San Francisco and started a job as a social worker for Big Brothers/Big Sisters and loves it.

Volker Schmitz works for a German steel company in Venezuela, heading their steel trading office in Canacas. Anne Seaton is home from Italy, where she spent last year. She is excited about her job at an art conservation company which began in Oct.

Jonathan Small spent the year teaching English to Japanese students in Mobara-Chi near Tokyo as part of the JET program. He traveled in Japan, as well as to Thailand, Singapore, Bali and Jakarta, and returns to NY in Sept. Jill Stakely is employed by Croxall and Associates advertising agency in Chattanooga, TN. She is drowning in paperwork and looking for a new job.

Frank Suher sells T-shirts full time with his brother's company, Croxall and Associates. Himself a Dutch native!

Margaret (Peg) Van Patten '87 co-edited two recent publications in the field of marine biology from the fall '88 symposium of The Connecticut Sea Grant College Program, UConn/Avery Point. Jeffrey (Jeri) Wilson Van Rcut '80 received a M.Div. from Yale Divinity School. He works per diem as an RN at Hospice in Branford, CT, and is enjoying his first grandchild who was born in Oct. '89. Correspondent: Marilyn Dunphy/RCT '88, 502 Stannington Road, Old Lyme, CT 06371. (203) 444-5866

Miles Ladin works in NYC at the Manhattan Cooper. He's in charge of photography at the newspaper. The executive editor of the publication is Victoria (Vicki) Chelsey '79.

We are seeking a class correspondent for your class. If you are interested, please contact the Alumni Office.

RTC — Return to College

Marilyn Dunphy RCT '86 was appointed in Aug. as an acting assistant director for Career Services at Conn. for a year. Marjorie Battista Perry RCT '77 and husband, Bill, welcomed granddaughter, Olivia, born 5/25/90 to son Scott and wife, Heide, and grandson, Anthony, born 6/24/90 to son Jeffrey and wife, Georgette. Youngest son, Paul, just returned from a concert tour of Russia and Scandinavia. Paul is a member of the Brown-U. Chorus. Marjorie and Bill entertain guests from West Berlin and Milan in Aug. "We’re retired but busy, and we love it!"

Carol Hunsinger RCT '88 was elected vice pres. of the Connecticut College Club of Southeastern CT. Deborah Saunders RCT '89 returned from a Fulbright Fellowship in Germany in July. In Aug, she was appointed as acting counselor/librarian for Career Services at Conn. for a year.

Barbara Strosher RCT '87 was elected pres. of the Connecticut College Club of Southeastern CT.

Margaret (Peg) Van Patten '87 co-edited two recent publications in the field of marine biology from the fall '88 symposium of The Connecticut Sea Grant College Program, UConn/Avery Point.

Jeremy (Jeri) Wilson Van Rcut '80 received a M.Div. from Yale Divinity School. He works per diem as an RN at Hospice in Branford, CT, and is enjoying his first grandchild who was born in Oct. '89.

Correspondent: Marilyn Dunphy/RCT '88, 502 Stannington Road, Old Lyme, CT 06371. (203) 444-5866

Goodbye and Thanks

After publishing 10 issues of the Connecticut College Alumni Magazine, I'm off to try my hand at another editing venture, this time in New York City. It has been a wonderful few years, and I want to send a special note of thanks to all alumni contributors, whose volunteer work makes the magazine what it is, as well as to Designers Bill Van Saun, College Librarian Brian Rogers and to the dedicated Editorial Board members. They all provided valuable insight, advice and support during my editorship. Thank you and goodbye!

Caroline Crosson '82
Editor of Alumni Publications
Dear Alumni,

This past year was a marvelous introduction to Connecticut College and the powerful changes that can occur when an institution clarifies its mission and focuses its resources to achieve excellence. With direction from the Board of Trustees and leadership from our president, we set unusually ambitious goals in five major areas on the academic side. Each item is a significant accomplishment in its own right. Together they demonstrate a college that has the will not merely to survive, but to thrive:

- add further strength to our faculty: 13 new tenure-track faculty members were hired, each of whom demonstrated exceptional potential as a teacher and scholar or creative artist;

- improve the quality of support for the faculty: in order to retain and attract able people, salary levels and the number of courses each faculty member teaches were brought closer to our reference group schools; support for sabbatical leaves was changed from 50 to 80 percent of annual salary; new health, dental and educational benefits were developed;

- enhance faculty accountability: a new system was developed for more focused work and greater accountability for sabbatical leaves and travel/research grants;

- improve the quality of our curriculum: all modern language departments are working to incorporate oral proficiency into their language instruction; all science departments have revised their introductory courses; the Economics Computer Laboratory opened; the Theater Department initiated Thursday Night at the Theater (TNT); and the Chemistry Department opened the NMR Laboratory which features a nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer;

- strengthen the intellectual life of the campus: the Intellectual Venture Capital Fund began by funding 23 projects from all areas of the college; the Center for International Studies and the Liberal Arts enrolled its first class.

None of these changes could have been achieved through fiat. Each took a great deal of time, effort, and energy from a lot of people. Our community has risen to the challenge in a truly impressive manner.

As we look at this year’s goals, we see a challenge that is even more ambitious. We are asking of ourselves nothing less than a total reassessment of every aspect of our curriculum, including the details of course numbering, revision of every single department’s offerings, and development of a plan for general education. Special attention will be given throughout the process to creating a curriculum that provides exceptional preparation for students who will have to function in the pluralistic, interdependent world of the 21st century. The process of curricular review is well underway at the department level and will move to college-wide committees in the spring semester.

In addition, we are undertaking a total reassessment and clarification of the way we evaluate faculty performance in teaching, scholarship or creativity, and service. A blue-ribbon Task Force on Faculty Evaluation has been working long and hard on this process and is about to involve the community in open discussions to refine its proposals.

In short, we have chosen to climb the academic equivalent of Mount Everest. There’s still a lot of mountain ahead, but we are well advanced in the process of forging a production team out of all the individuals whose talents and efforts will be necessary for success. We’ve accomplished enough to be out of the foothills and truly launched on the ascent. The view is already fine and whets our appetite for the next plateau.

Best wishes,

Dorothy B. James
Provost and Dean of the Faculty
Alumni enjoyed lectures, tours and each other's company at Alumni College '90. Above: Executive Director Kristin S. Lambert '69 (center, in red-and-white shirt) and Professor Gerald Visgilio (front row, second from right) and enthusiastic Alumni College participants on the deck of the restored whaling ship, Charles W. Morgan.