Camel President’s Reign Starts Off On The Right Hoof

By GODDE EREDEN

President Higdon may be seen juggling around campus almost every morning, as well as at open games and even in the dining halls. Recently, many students were pleasantly surprised to see him in Harris, chatting with students as he walked in line for something to drink. Later that evening, he attended an SGA meeting to gain a better understanding of how the organization works. President Higdon, who was also a member of the Presidential Search Committee and had the opportunity to interact with him extensively, greatly impressed him by saying, “President Higdon has done a fantastic job meeting people, learning about the issues on campus, and collaborating work to make Connecticut College a better place. He has been a visible presence on campus, meeting with student leaders, attending sports games, visiting dorms; and taking advantage of our residential liberal arts community. He enjoys interacting with students, which further enhances our college experience.”

It is not only the students who are pleased with what the President has done so far; he has made a very positive impression that the staff members he has recently met with, among them Beverly Kowal, Assistant Dean of Student and Dean of International Students. President Higdon is certainly a very sociable person. During our meeting, he was very open and sincere and actually invited us to his house to see his art collection. I think many of us were very impressed by this gesture,” she said. President Higdon is also made very clear that he likes walking around campus and stopping in various offices to visit and learn more about the school. Said a surprised faculty member, “President Higdon’s presence is felt from President Higdon in his Framing of effort. He has a two releases his but I think it is really nice that he is taking the time to go, to know people.”

President Higdon is currently

Knocking on New London’s Door

Conn Students Involved in Political Canvassing

By HALLEY A. HOFMANN

... From soapboxes to television commercials and everything in between, political tactics are more than just a spark interest, provide information, and allow citizens to vote. The Connecticut College Democrats did exactly that, while canvassing New London neighborhoods Saturday.

Conn students visited New London residents to provide campaign information for Joe Courtney, a local Democrat running for Congress. This major task included knocking on doors, discussing the candidates, and providing appropriate information. While this was one of many campaigns for some, such as junior CC Democrats, senior president Fred Kemper and sophomore Randie Pletchen, for others it was a first taste of campaign tactics.

Most residents were gracious about this weekend interruption (i.e., canvassing, door-knocking, or inappropriate middle fingers); however, as overall attitude of annoyance was obvious. “Breakfast, lunch and dinner, political parties!“ stated a clearly agitated woman.

Oliveri, a supervisor at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital in New London, claims she is upset as she canvassing goes on and that it is near her job. Another resident simply said, “It is a good idea.”

Though many claimed to be busy, this did not stop canvassers from knocking on doors. In fact, many people, though they said they were busy or disinterested, were pleased that the youth involved,” stated Fred Kemper.

... political canvassing, still thought it was a great idea. “It’s great to see the youth involved,” stated Fred.

See New London’s Door

Continued on page 32

FDA Approves Vaccine For HPV

By SOPHIE MATHEWSON

Earlier this summer, the Food and Drug Administration approved a vaccine for the human papilloma virus, or HPV. Experts say the vaccine, approved for young women aged 9 to 26, can prevent cervical cancer and also hopes that it will help prevent other forms of the virus.

There are more than 120 known types of HPV, a virus which is, in many cases, transmitted through sexual contact. The vaccine prevents 13 of these types. Experts say the HPV vaccine proves to be harmless, producing no symptoms and going away without consequence. However, certain “high risk” HPV types can linger in the body, which can cause cervical cancer as well as cancer of the throat and genital area. According to the American Cancer Society, cervical cancer is reported to be the cause of 99% of cervical cancer, the second most common cancer in women.

The vaccine is only preventable during the early stages of sexual activity, many people may have been exposed to strains of the virus and the vaccine will not protect against those strains," said Cancer Channel's Anne Aron, and director of Student Health Services.

It should be also be emphasized that the vaccine “does not take the place of protection from other risks,” stated Cancer Channel's Anne Aron, and director of Student Health Services.

Despite in breakthrough in cancer research, the emergence of the vaccine is proving to be controversial for some people, among them certain conservative religious groups who believe that the vaccine might send a subtle message concerning sexual morality.

The vaccine has given to a series of three reactions over a six-month period, is not currently being ordered by Connecticut College but can, according to the vaccine, is in the body for ten additional months. The vaccine can be found in 11,000 worldwide nations and is said to be highly effective.

Said Moffit, “I anticipate that this vaccine will prevent millions of infections and save many lives from being prevented.”

Continued on page 36

See more

Bengochea Named Conn’s First Dean Of The College Community

By GREGORY SOWA

On May 18, 2006 Armando Bengochea was named to become Connecticut College’s first Dean of the College Community. The change in Harvard’s admissions system and that they are not currently being offered any financial aid packages offered by other colleges. The new president has already made many public appearances and seems committed to getting to know the students and the faculty. He grew up in “a traditional first-generation family. He bachelors degree from Penn, he is known for his “walkabouts”; he is highly immunogenic and effective. The change in Harvard’s admissions system and that they are not currently being offered any financial aid packages offered by other colleges. The new president has already made many public appearances and seems committed to getting to know the students and the faculty. He grew up in “a traditional first-generation family. He bachelors degree from Penn, he is known for his “walkabouts”; he is highly immunogenic and effective. The change in Harvard’s admissions system and that they are not currently being offered any financial aid packages offered by other colleges. The new president has already made many public appearances and seems committed to getting to know the students and the faculty.
Out of the Red with Leo Higdon

By hiring Leo Higdon as its tenth president, Connecticut College has made a strong statement regarding the state of affairs at both the school and in the world surrounding it. As our nation’s political leadership has called for an “ownership society,” it has become clear that markets and the all important balance sheets have permeated every facet of our society. Unfortunately, this trend has also excluded the sometimes isolated world of academia. Concurrently, a budget turnaround at Conn has come at the expense of the school’s formerly high rank among liberal arts colleges. By employing Leo Higdon to run its institution, the Presidential Search Committee made it clear that Conn would no longer fight the proverbial tide. In America today, an institution like Connecticut College cannot afford (no pun intended) to be governed by an administrator with no financial background.

Leo Higdon brings to Conn an extraordinary financial resume. Higdon has held top jobs in board rooms of some of the nation’s largest financial firms. Still, finance alone does not a president make. Higdon also presided, very successfully, over the College of Charleston, a school not unlike Conn. In short, Higdon perfectly fits the bill (again, no pun intended) for our school’s highest post. The Presidential Search Committee would have had to search high and low to find a leader more fit for Conn’s dual goals of restoring its top-level standing among similar schools, and maintaining budget momentum.

While having a lifelong academic at the helm of a college might seem natural, unfortunate realities of our world necessitate the leadership of a board-room type. Peace Corps will be on campus on Monday, September 18. Come learn more and meet recruiter and former Peace Corps volunteer. Connecticut College President Higdon and his wife served as Peace Corps Volunteers in Malawi.

Advertisements
The College Voice is an open forum. The opinions expressed by individual advertisers are their own. In no way does The College Voice endorse the views expressed by individual advertisers. The College Voice will not accept ads it deems to be libelous, an incitement to violence, or personally damaging. Ad rates are available on request by calling (860) 439-2813; please refer all ad inquiries to the Business Manager, Allison Glassman.
The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editor-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Letters to the Editor
Letters to the Editor are due strictly by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. However, names may be withheld upon the author’s request. The College Voice will not publish letters deemed to be a personal attack on an individual. The College Voice cannot guarantee the publication of any submission. Letters should be single-spaced, no longer than 300 words, and must include a phone number for verification. Please send all letters as a Microsoft Word attachment to ccvoice@conncoll.edu

Questions? Comments? Concerns?
Write a letter to the editors! We would love to hear what you have to say.

The College Voice
Box 4970 • Office (860) 439-2812
E-mail: ccvoice@conncoll.edu

Editor-in-Chief
Steve Sieracki
Peter Sterling

Business Manager
Allison Glassman

Photo Editors
Elizabeth Mitchell
Elizabeth Oram

Assistant News Editors
Sophie Matheson
Geoff Eisen

Advertising Manager
Allison Glassman

Assistant Sports Editor
George Weil

Letters to the Editor

A Note:
Editorials are the viewpoints of student editors, and are not to be confused with the official opinions of Connecticut College. The Opinion and Editorial section is comprised of independent student opinions, which are also not to be confused with the Connecticut College or the College Voice. All content and editorial decisions are made by student staff members.

Four Day Forecast
Saturday: Rain, High of 70
Sunday: Mostly Sunny, High of 75
Monday: Sunny, High of 79
Tuesday: Mostly Sunny, High of 71
Ah, Fall. That magical time of year when the birds start chirping, the leaves turn brown, and it’s too cold to splash around in the pool. We Need Columnists.

...Send a letter to our editor at: CCVoice@conncoll.edu
Sunshine: The Little Movie That Could

TO TELL HARRIS! TAKE OUT!

PERSPECTIVES
IN CULTURE

TOP TEN FALL PICKS!

Belly (October 27) - An American tourist couple struggling to survive, two Mennonite boys desperate to score tickets to the world's most popular rock concert, and an Irish-Canadian nun are the unlikely heroes in the story of a small-town, county hospital that needs to raise $100,000 to keep the doors open. As for Italian cuisine, Conn students tend to favor the classic "LIVE ROCK!" BY CLARIE DOWD

BY STEVEN BLOOM

BY CLAIRE DOWD

BY SOPHIE FITZGERALD

BY TAYLOR SPERRY

BY BRISTAN DOWELL

BY CLAIRE DOWD

BY SOPHIE FITZGERALD

BY TAYLOR SPERRY

MY CHEMICAL ROMANCE GIVES THREE CHEERS FOR SWEET, SECRET SUCCESS:

Sunshine of the Spotless Mind...

Invisible is everything you would want in a movie: a heart-wrenching story, a golden lead actress, great pop-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a speci-ific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

Invisible offers another option. We can walk out only uplifted knowing that it is based on the dreams of Philadelphia Eagles player Vince Papale. Okay, so some of the scenes were rather unlikely, embellished such as the pick-up game in the driving rain and thick mud of Philadelphia. But the film is a real dream come true; and not just another Hollywood fantasy plot.

Mark Wahlberg plays Vince Papale, who in the first half hour introduces his teaching job, and then through the last game (an embarrassing loss) of the Philadelphia Eagles and the dream of being a real football player.

Maddie Whitaker plays Papale's wife, (and in the last part is a bit specified). With the traditional guitar, bass, and punk-symphonic hipster scenes. The last bit is a specific to the Sports Film Genre, but perhaps these moments should be included in all movies.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Jacobs Flashes “Light, Kindness, Peace, and Generosity” in New Collection

BY ARTEX SAKELLARIES

New York City, Armony, September 11: “Light, kindness, peace, and generosity,” is the designer’s mantra this year. Spring 2007 will be the 20th anniversary of the designer’s first fashion show, held in Los Angeles. Jacobs is also known for his minimalist approach to design, using clean lines and simple shapes to create garments that are both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

In this collection, Jacobs has focused on using light and color to create a sense of warmth and positivity. The color palette is dominated by shades of beige, cream, and white, which are relieved by occasional bursts of bold red and blue. The designs themselves are simple, with clean lines and minimal embellishments. Jacobs has also paid attention to the details, such as the placement of buttons and the stitching of seams, to create a sense of precision and craftsmanship.

Jacobs has also continued his commitment to sustainability, using materials that are both eco-friendly and long-lasting. This includes using organic cotton, linen, and wool, as well as recycled fabrics and fibers. He has also introduced a new line of knitwear that is made from a blend of recycled materials.

Overall, this collection is a testament to Jacobs’ ability to create garments that are both beautiful and practical. It is a collection that is sure to be well-received by fashion lovers around the world.

I AM FESTIVAL WELCOMES ROCKERS RAINER MARIA

BY PAUL DRYDEN

Festival welcomes rockers Rainer Maria.

Rainer Maria (www.myspace.comjrainer-maria) are a Chicago-based punk rock band that has been active since 1992. The band’s sound is a mix of punk and post-punk, with elements of new wave and industrial music. They have released six albums to date, with their latest, “The Longest Fur,” released in 2005.

Rainer Maria have been praised for their passionate live performances and their ability to create a sense of community among their fans. They are known for their energetic stage presence and their use of visual elements, such as projections and lights, to enhance their performances.

In addition to their music, Rainer Maria have also been involved in various community projects. They have collaborated with other artists, such as the visual collective 3rd World, to create multimedia performances. They have also participated in benefit concerts and have used their platform to raise awareness for various causes.

Rainer Maria are an的重要乐队 in the Chicago music scene and are considered an important part of the punk rock movement. They continue to tour extensively and to release new music, with their latest album, “The Longest Fur,” being well-received by fans and critics alike.

THE HIPS DON’T LIE, BUT THEY SURE DON’T MEAN MUCH

By ANDREAS JUAN MARGENOT

And we’re on tonight
And I’m starting to feel it’s right

This is probably the billionth time you’ve heard (or read) this line. Yes, we all know that Shakira’s hips don’t lie, especially after the controversy surrounding her “Hips Don’t Lie” video. The line has been a cultural phenomenon, with people纷纷引用 it in conversations and even in the media.

But what about the line “I’m starting to feel it’s right”? This line has been a staple of Jacobs’ recent shows, and it has been praised for its inclusion of diverse and inclusive models.

In a world where fashion is often seen as a way to promote beauty standards, Jacobs’ inclusion of models of all sizes and shapes is a refreshing change. It is a reminder that beauty is not just about being thin, but about being true to oneself.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a call to action, to let ourselves feel confident and beautiful. It is a reminder that we are all worthy of love and respect, and that we should not let society’s beauty standards dictate our self-image.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a celebration of diversity and inclusivity. It is a reminder that we should embrace our differences and celebrate our uniqueness.

In a world where beauty is often seen as a competition, Jacobs’ inclusion of models of all sizes and shapes is a reminder that beauty is not just about being thin, but about being true to oneself.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a call to action, to let ourselves feel confident and beautiful. It is a reminder that we are all worthy of love and respect, and that we should not let society’s beauty standards dictate our self-image.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a celebration of diversity and inclusivity. It is a reminder that we should embrace our differences and celebrate our uniqueness.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a call to action, to let ourselves feel confident and beautiful. It is a reminder that we are all worthy of love and respect, and that we should not let society’s beauty standards dictate our self-image.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a celebration of diversity and inclusivity. It is a reminder that we should embrace our differences and celebrate our uniqueness.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a call to action, to let ourselves feel confident and beautiful. It is a reminder that we are all worthy of love and respect, and that we should not let society’s beauty standards dictate our self-image.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a celebration of diversity and inclusivity. It is a reminder that we should embrace our differences and celebrate our uniqueness.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a call to action, to let ourselves feel confident and beautiful. It is a reminder that we are all worthy of love and respect, and that we should not let society’s beauty standards dictate our self-image.

The line “I’m starting to feel it’s right” is a celebration of diversity and inclusivity. It is a reminder that we should embrace our differences and celebrate our uniqueness.
Underwater Pioneer to Address '07 Higdon
By GEOFFREY S. WONG

In Room 21, up stairs at 10 PM This Sunday Night. Your new friends are waiting...

Robert Duane Ballard, marine geologist, underwater explorer, Commander of the Naval Reserve, and discoverer of the "unsinkable" sunken Titanic, will come to Con snay this May to give the Commencement speech of 2007. Having joined the Navy at the age of 23, Dr. Ballard spent much of his life out in the big blue. Featured in National Geographic magazine, he has been caught mapping the ocean floor, dodging deep water volcanoes, observing huge Riftia undersea worms, and of course, uncovering historical ruins from the deep sea. Ballard has truly seen many of the wonders of Mother Nature. Ballard also contributed much to underwater exploration with the invention of "telepresence", remote-controlled cameras attached to search robots that can transmit information through fiber optic wires. Through the use of this technology in his JASON project, thousands of students are able to tag along with Ballard as he explores slowly across the mystical ocean floor.

Aside from the Titanic expeditions, Dr. Ballard also discovered the Bismarck (a German battleship sunken during World War II) and two Victorian ships, which are the oldest shipswrecks ever found to date. Ballard has also been involved in locating the Black Sea to uncover evidence of the biblical Great Flood. In a recent press release, President Higgins said of Ballard, "I am thrilled to have someone of his caliber address the Class of '07."

Harvard

continued from page 1

According to Derek Bob, Harvard's interim president, "the existing process has been shown to advantage those who are already advantaged." Mr. Bob believes that it will improve the climate in high school, so that students are more focused on their studies than on their college admissions while still in their junior years, and so that students do not make rash decisions just to be part of an early applicant pool where admissions rates are higher. Early admission is in the midst of becoming a huge area of debate amongst top-ranked institutions. The president of Yale, another elite Ivy League institution, is skeptical of how much of an effect eliminating admissions would have for low-income students. Another opposing argument claims that only large, prestigious universities like Harvard can afford to get rid of early admissions. Although many other colleges and universities applaud Harvard's choice, it does not seem as though they will follow suit. These institutions are searching for alternative ways to broaden the applicant pool through meritocracy, outreach, and offering substantial financial aid.

New London's Door

continued from page 1

Stedman, a local who has been canvassing "every election year.

However, out of everyone interviewed, only one admitted that the information provided by political canvassing could make a difference. Sometimes, as in the case of Ned Lamont versus Senator Joseph Lieberman, a win can be determined by an even smaller number of votes. Supreme Jeff O'Neill, who worked on the Lieberman campaign over the summer, said that the primary was decided by just two votes: 826 for Lamont and 824 for Lieberman. "Anyone who looks at those numbers and says every vote doesn't count is kidding themselves."

With winning margins as slight as 96 votes, in the case of New London's budget, it's clear that every vote counts. It takes everyone's voice, and politicians will use a number of methods to get those voices in their favor. If passed, residents would no longer have to pay for trash and snow removal, and the annual funding for police and fire would be improved. This would mean faster response times for police and fire would be improved.

Newcomers to the city included 86 votes, as in the case of New London's budget, it's clear that every vote counts. It takes everyone's voice, and politicians will use a number of methods to get those voices in their favor. If passed, residents would no longer have to pay for trash and snow removal, and the annual funding for police and fire would be improved. This would mean faster response times for police and fire would be improved.

Evaluating how much of an effect eliminating admissions would have for low-income students. Another opposing argument claims that only large, prestigious universities like Harvard can afford to get rid of early admissions. Although many other colleges and universities applaud Harvard's choice, it does not seem as though they will follow suit. These institutions are searching for alternative ways to broaden the applicant pool through meritocracy, outreach, and offering substantial financial aid.

Harvard is ending its early admissions program. Like many campuses, it accepts a larger share of students who apply early. Below are some colleges with selective early admissions programs.

Colleges with nonbinding early admission

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COLLEGE/UNIVERSITY</th>
<th>EARLY ADMISSIONS</th>
<th>REGULAR ADMISSIONS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>M.I.T.</td>
<td>2,796</td>
<td>7,644</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harvard</td>
<td>4,214</td>
<td>16,582</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Georgetown</td>
<td>3,863</td>
<td>11,422</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>3,048</td>
<td>4,338</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Coast Guard Academy</td>
<td>581</td>
<td>1,016</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bloomfield (N.J.)</td>
<td>809</td>
<td>1,728</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston College</td>
<td>5,510</td>
<td>18,310</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sterling (Kan.)</td>
<td>100</td>
<td>441</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adelphi</td>
<td>1,086</td>
<td>4,111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bard</td>
<td>345</td>
<td>3,797</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Colleges with binding early admission

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>COLLEGE</th>
<th>EARLY ADMISSIONS</th>
<th>REGULAR ADMISSIONS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cooper Union</td>
<td>450</td>
<td>1,851</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chalmont McKenna</td>
<td>276</td>
<td>3,458</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brown</td>
<td>2,046</td>
<td>14,865</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pomona</td>
<td>402</td>
<td>4,652</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Princeton</td>
<td>2,039</td>
<td>14,490</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bowdoin</td>
<td>621</td>
<td>4,405</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duke</td>
<td>1,482</td>
<td>16,606</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rice</td>
<td>504</td>
<td>4,538</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dartmouth</td>
<td>1,180</td>
<td>11,576</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Columbia</td>
<td>1,299</td>
<td>14,945</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: Data are for fall 2005 freshmen and includes only schools that reported to the College Board.

Source: The College Board
DO YOU HAVE ANY OF THE FOLLOWING SKILLS?

-LITERACY

...You should consider writing for the College Voice.

GIVE US A CALL.

Parents:

Subscribe to The College Voice!

The College Voice can help you stay informed. For only $50.00, you will receive 22 issues of the newspaper covering each week of the academic year. Campus news, sports, arts, entertainment, and opinion, will arrive at your mailbox each week.

Imagine calling your son or daughter, and knowing more than he or she about the opening game about Colby. Picture the surprised look on your child's face when you quiz them about vocation.

We urge you to consider subscribing to the Voice. Not only will you be supporting an entirely dedicated, student-run organization, you will grow intimately involved each week with the workings of the Connecticut College community.

---

Yes! Please sign me up for a one-year subscription to The College Voice. I have enclosed a $50 check or money order for twenty-two issues of the newspaper.

Mailing Address
Name:
Address: __________________________________________
City: __________________________ State: _______ Zip: _______

MAIL AT ONCE TO:
The College Voice
Box 4870 Connecticut College
270 Mohegan Ave
New London, CT 06320

Please make checks payable to The College Voice.
Top Ten Things First Year Students (and First Year Presidents) Needs to Know About Connecticut College

10. Pop your collar or no one will want to be your friend.

9. If a TNE starts at 11, it “starts” at 1.

8. The club soccer calendar is the single best book in the college bookstore.

7. If you don’t have an Audi, get one...quick.

5. We don’t remember what Floralia, but judging from pictures it seems pretty cool.

4. Don’t lose track of that purple pill you get in your mailbox. We’re still in the danger zone.

3. “Fishbowl” run is for seniors only. No cameras please.

2. Tent dance. Period.

1. Some people will pay more than a year’s tuition for a lobster night coupon.

Can you figure out who this famous TV personality is in our weekly distorted celebrity photo? (Hint: Make it work)

Word Jumble:

HINT: CROSSWORD GENIUS

MNAI ETIDAMRA
Men's Soccer
continued from page 70
in solid efforts on the pitch ... world of ... Can nath letics. :
• •• •• •• ••••• ••• ••• •••••••••• •• ••••••• ••• ••• •• •• ••••• ••••

Fantasy Football
continued from page 70
made, that get the 7 points alone! Or maybe it's the other way around. Why on earth did I start Corey Dillon to fail. With this belief comes emotional attachment. To be reassured that our team has what it takes to come the very next second ... fans seldom do. With the buzzer sounded, the Panthers will beat the Pats for various reasons. The bot-

Field Hockey Eyes Tourney Return
continued from page 15

fantasy sports writer

only a game...
Who Needs A Life Anyway?

Is there anything better than wasting away a Sunday afternoon in the park playing a casual game of catch with your best friends? Of course not! And I bet you have a favorite recipe for the afternoon snack.

Before I get ahead of myself on this great football babysitter trip that is in the offing for me and several other sites, I also understand that you may be similar to two Advil for the season.

But the draft process is just the beginning of things, and this is what it means to me. I was introduced to fantasy football when I was young, and I fell in love with it.

The best one available is the third-year coach Bill Lessig's Camels saw their season end with a victory over one of their key rivals NESCAC schools Trinity and also against a strong Middlebury team. As we can see, Middlebury had a 1,500-yard rusher, and it was all up to you to find enough of your buddies to fill out your team. Your next step is to try to fill your team with players that will win you a championship, perhaps for the rest of the season.

New Hampshire. Dodge attempted a powerful drive into the top left hand corner of the goal against Olympiakos, and perhaps it is best kept that way. However, it is clear that this was going to be a very closely contested and there was is no telling how it will end. At the end of the first half in a back and forth battle of defense and attack, the Camels have started the season with a difficult home game against a strong Middlebury team. It was clear that this was going to be a very closely contested and there was no telling how it will end.

After four days of camp, our hero returns from his sweep of lemon Ross had an impressive debut with a very close loss against a strong Middlebury team. As we can see, Middlebury had a 1,500-yard rusher, and it was all up to you to find enough of your buddies to fill out your team. Your next step is to try to fill your team with players that will win you a championship, perhaps for the rest of the season.

However, fantasy football is a twenty-four hour-a-day, seven day-a-week commitment. Just because you have "class" or "work" doesn't mean you can't take time out of your fantasy football team. When your team, your war, your season is injured during a week-end prac- tice, you have to worry about the consequences. Let's face it, you have class or "work," and it's going to hurt if you don't take care of your team. As we can see, Middlebury had a 1,500-yard rusher, and it was all up to you to find enough of your buddies to fill out your team. Your next step is to try to fill your team with players that will win you a championship, perhaps for the rest of the season.