Admissions Office Changes
Site of its New Building

by Laura Granet
The College Voice

Due to the deteriorating building conditions of the present Admissions Office, construction of a new building should begin this fall. The office will be located behind Jane Adams Dorm, just north of Woodworth House, the current Admissions building, and should be ready for use by next spring or summer.

Claire Matthews, Dean of Admissions, believes that she and her staff cannot continue to function in the present location. According to Matthews, "Woodworth House is old and its porch is not always functional; and the rented trailer addition has an unhealthy chill in the winter. Moreover, the visitor waiting room does not comfortably hold a crowd.

Matthews believes that the vast number of guests has long outgrown the present facility. She estimated that approximately 30,000 people visit the building throughout the year. Most of these visitors are prospective students and their families who come for tours, interviews, open houses and group information sessions. This past August, the number of prospective student visitors coming through Woodworth House was 150 more than the previous August. In addition to the guests, there are 14 full-time staff members, 10 student admission associates, and several work-study students. Matthews said that the idea for the new building was to save some of the most attractive parts of Woodworth House, the residential feeling, and the smallness, in a space that would accommodate the increasing number of visitors and the increasing amount of work.

According to Matthews, the new Admissions Office building will not only correct the present unhealthy and crowded conditions, but it will also provide better access for the handicapped and create additional office space. She added that a rented trailer will no longer have to serve as a back office.

Matthews believes that the new facility will help to attract students as well as parents. "We want the Admissions building to be functional and provide as much comfort as possible for the visitors."

Matthews added that competing institutions are also putting efforts into the attractiveness of their admissions buildings.

Matthews described the future building as having a "beautiful design that will accommodate our needs." It will have many windows and several towers, yet it will not stand as tall as Knowles House. She reasoned that the building would be built as inexpensively as possible and that new parking areas would not be made.

Last year the Admissions Office was tentatively planned to be moved to the site of the former Admissions building.

Committee Formed to Fight Food Waste

by Lisa Brojn
News Editor

In an effort to save much of the food that is wasted at each meal, a committee was formed in the Facilities Operations Department to investigate the dining halls' "policy of throwing out food that is neither eaten nor touched." The committee of SGA members is chaired by Rob Hale, Class President of '88, and consists of Ed Medici, '88, Sam Cagen, '88, and Lynne Tapper, '88. "I think it is a crime that [the kitchens] throw out good food, when there are hungry people," Hale said.

The amount of returned food from each Senior Class picnic was an active hiring effort" to fill the vacancies but "right now we have a hard time finding people because of the high employment rate in the area." Sheridan added that there are "no vacancies" in the Facilities Operations Department.

The College Voice, September 22, 1987
Letters to the Editor

Pro-Contra Game Article's Premise Unfounded

The article in last week’s Voice condemning the Contra game in Cro was an argument that testifies to the sharp analytical skills of the discriminating college mind. For example, the parallel drawn between the Klu Klux Klan and the contras accurately infers that the contras are a band of close-minded cross-burners motivated by racial prejudice. Racism is a problem in Nicaragua. The Mosquito Indians have been singled out and decimated by the Sandinistas to "re-locate" Mosquito Indians.

Developing the argument further, the author not only supports this claim with factual evidence, he also refutes several competing points of view. For example, if one plays the contra video game, he cannot simply play for entertainment. Far from it, he must examine the moral and political implications of the game. Also, the article maintains that the game "promotes an opinion concerning a current and very controversial political issue" without substantiating that opinion with relevant facts. The article could not have been closer to the truth. In my experience, hordes of college students can be easily swayed to a political issue by playing the wrong video game. Lastly, the article calls for a bi-partisan effort to remove this "instrument of ignorance" from our campus. I hope Democrats and Republicans alike break party lines to fight this common foe.

Sincerely,
Peter R. Brooks

Parent Congratulates Voice

To the Editor:

Enclosed is a check to renew my subscription to The College Voice for 1987-88.

Since I wrote you in a critical vein last year I wanted to say now that I have noticed a remarkable turn-around in both the quality of your newspaper and your distribution system. Congratulations to you and your staff. Best wishes, too, for the equally successful 1987-88.

Sincerely,
Peter Baiter

Opinion

Credibility Gap

The building block of every community, whether it be a family, a town, or a college, is trust. Another key component of a community is honesty. Last week, a group of desperate college employees called together a news conference to ask for help. They told of a deterioration of work conditions, (a deterioration which has resulted in many resignations), and much unhappiness.

The news conference came about because the workers felt victimized by an Administration which admonished them when they complained. They had nowhere to turn. They said that turning to the Administration for help was pointless. Without a contract or a union to safeguard their interests, the workers are helpless in the face of administrative indifference.

The workers claim that the Administration is trying to force them to resign in order to replace them with an outside contractor. The Administration, according to the custodians, refuses to replace those workers who have resigned. The effect is that the custodians are forced to take on an immense work load which is affecting their overall performance.

The Administration denies the employees' claims. The Administration says that it has "absolutely" been trying to fill the vacancies. And they are not trying to get an outside contractor to replace the workers with.

However, in a letter dated September 10, 1987, Tony Sheridan, the College's director of human resources writes to a custodial job candidate that "There are no vacancies in that department at the present time." A few days later he tells The Voice that there has been an ongoing search for new custodians but the high employment rate in the area makes it hard to get any applicants.

This contradiction completely undermines the Ad ministration's stance. Without a forthright accounting, this College's Administration will forever quash the loyalty of its employees. The workers who are, after all, part of the community, should not be treated as objects, with which the College can do as it pleases.

The College's employees deserve the truth -- without which there will be no trust, and no community.

Sincerely,

Fernando Espuelas-Asejo
Publisher

Thorn Pozen
Editor-in-Chief
Brian T. Field
Editor-in-Chief, Management
Alexandra Stockard
Senior & Editorial Page Editor
Marc Lathes
Sports Editor
Margaret Nachtigale
World News Editor
Carlos Garcia
Commentary Editor
Jackie Whittington
Arts & Entertainment Editor
Amanda Hathaway
Features Editor

Associate Editors: Austin Wrubel (Arts & Entertainment); Kieran Xanthos (Sports); Alfred Salvato (Graphics); Liza Rosenthal (Graphics).

Production Staff: Ariel Apee, Jennifer Cook, Alicia Garcia-Abrines, Leah Starr.

Advertising Staff: William F. Walter

Editor-in-Chief Emeritus

The College Voice is a non-profit student-published newspaper. Editorial and business offices are located in room 212 in the Creight-Williams Student Center. Advertising vehicles are available upon request. The College Voice is published on a bi-weekly basis except in December, by the students of the College Voice. The deadline for all articles is Monday at 5 p.m. for the following week's issue. Letters to the Editor are printed according to space availability. We cannot guarantee the publication of any submissions. We reserve the right to make any copy. All submissions must be signed, double spaced, typed, and submitted to the appropriate editor. "Letters to the Editor" may be edited for length, style, and substance. A complete list of editors and staff is available at the College Voice office.

©1987 by The College Voice Publishing Group. All rights reserved.

Letters to the Editor

The building block of every community, whether it be a family, a town, or a college, is trust. Another key component of a community is honesty. Last week, a group of desperate college employees called together a news conference to ask for help. They told of a deterioration of work conditions, (a deterioration which has resulted in many resignations), and much unhappiness.

The news conference came about because the workers felt victimized by an Administration which admonished them when they complained. They had nowhere to turn. They said that turning to the Administration for help was pointless. Without a contract or a union to safeguard their interests, the workers are helpless in the face of administrative indifference.

The workers claim that the Administration is trying to force them to resign in order to replace them with an outside contractor. The Administration, according to the custodians, refuses to replace those workers who have resigned. The effect is that the custodians are forced to take on an immense work load which is affecting their overall performance.

The Administration denies the employees' claims. The Administration says that it has "absolutely" been trying to fill the vacancies. And they are not trying to get an outside contractor to replace the workers with.

However, in a letter dated September 10, 1987, Tony Sheridan, the College's director of human resources writes to a custodial job candidate that "There are no vacancies in that department at the present time." A few days later he tells The Voice that there has been an ongoing search for new custodians but the high employment rate in the area makes it hard to get any applicants.

This contradiction completely undermines the Ad ministration's stance. Without a forthright accounting, this College's Administration will forever quash the loyalty of its employees. The workers who are, after all, part of the community, should not be treated as objects, with which the College can do as it pleases.

The College's employees deserve the truth -- without which there will be no trust, and no community.

Sincerely,

Fernando Espuelas-Asejo
Publisher

Thorn Pozen
Editor-in-Chief
Brian T. Field
Editor-in-Chief, Management
Alexandra Stockard
Senior & Editorial Page Editor
Marc Lathes
Sports Editor
Margaret Nachtigale
World News Editor
Carlos Garcia
Commentary Editor
Jackie Whittington
Arts & Entertainment Editor
Amanda Hathaway
Features Editor

Associate Editors: Austin Wrubel (Arts & Entertainment); Kieran Xanthos (Sports); Alfred Salvato (Graphics); Liza Rosenthal (Graphics).

Production Staff: Ariel Apee, Jennifer Cook, Alicia Garcia-Abrines, Leah Starr.

Advertising Staff: William F. Walter

Editor-in-Chief Emeritus

The College Voice is a non-profit student-published newspaper. Editorial and business offices are located in room 212 in the Creight-Williams Student Center. Advertising vehicles are available upon request. The College Voice is published on a bi-weekly basis except in December, by the students of the College Voice. The deadline for all articles is Monday at 5 p.m. for the following week's issue. Letters to the Editor are printed according to space availability. We cannot guarantee the publication of any submissions. We reserve the right to make any copy. All submissions must be signed, double spaced, typed, and submitted to the appropriate editor. "Letters to the Editor" may be edited for length, style, and substance. A complete list of editors and staff is available at the College Voice office.

©1987 by The College Voice Publishing Group. All rights reserved.
Demonstrating Apathy

by Chris Fallows

A questionnaire was recently distributed to the student body that asked, "What aspects of Connecticut College do you think are the most maintained?" and "What [do you think] needs to be changed?" This questionnaire was distributed as part of the "Opening Convocation", an event that serves as a kind of beginning of the school year at which, besides seniors who entered in a processional, only a few are supposed to participate.

I have written in the past about what I perceive as a lack of political "consciousness" on this campus and the "Opening Convocation" serves as a variation to this rather troubling "void." Not only is this event a time when the senior class is supposed to assemble together for the start of their last year here at Conn., but it also marks President Oakes' last year at the helm of our school, and "What [do you think] needs to be changed?"

"Minority Affairs and a Unity Awareness Week."

Opening Convocation of 1992

Building a Bridge of Compassion

by Chris Fallows

The Ban Wagon Strikes

by Erik Smith

There is a trend slowly settling into the Connecticut College campus that I find unsettling and I hope that the more level-headed and fellow students of the future will take heed of this bad trend and act accordingly. We have evidence of this trend in the act of attempting to ban things from Connecticut College, in the name of protecting us from the cold, harsh realities of our wicked world. The two most prominent examples of this behavior are last year's unsuccessful anti-Crane crusade and this summer's administrative decision to forbid the sale of tobacco products. In both cases, these narrow-minded causes are uproariously laughable; in another they are a threat to our personal freedom of choice that I become indignant and question the very foundation upon which our so-called liberal education.

Last year a vocal group of students agitated with speculations, half-truths, and outdated evidence of the "war on drugs" as the freedom of choice for patrons of Cro Bar. Enough rumorous evidence of the "despicable group in this country (and some in others) were thought to be sufficient." So then, Cro Bar was to be scoped a scandal the likes of which we've not seen since 1970. Instead of coming up with a constructive, positive action, Cathy used similar rhetoric to root out the untold thousands of Connecticut students and isolates our country. Like America in the 1950's, the student body could not only so much of this issue bantering, and the non-issue soon sunk slowly in the west. It left behind itself, though, a bad taste that I hope will last long enough to preclude any repetition.

We demand that the students here take offense at such totalitarian measures was enforced by our elders. We can trust Mr. Seder's articulate and much less partisan leadership in quelling the recent revolution against cigarette sales, we do not smoke, but I am offended that people our age may have been told collectively that we would not have been allowed to pursue this completely legal vice here on campus.

The newly elected government administration did, virtually prove our ability to do our work, without"majority" and "minority" are quickly disappearing.
Minority Affairs and a Unity Awareness Week."

We have endured that recent popularity of the act of attending to ban things from Connecticut College..."

by Ed Kania

This is first and foremost an educational initiative; we are part of a number of church that sends down commandments on the heathen rabble. I urge all of my colleagues to refrain from gospel at the leaders of our administration and their student government. Yes men who try and tell us our business, and don't jump up to any lessening of your inalienable rights.

Eric Smith is a regular columnist for The College Voice.

The Convocation of 1992

by Ed Kania

There have been, at Connecticut College, many misconceptions in the area of race relations. It is important that we consider certain basic campus-related issues carefully, especially as this is our Social Awareness Week.

Many of us have witnessed the great wave of social change that has swept through Connecticut College recently. Students have been fully comfortable and excited by these improvements; they are a great many who, in my opinion, feel untenable with certain aspects of the heightened social environment.

By this day the Fanning Takeover leaves some adenalinically opposed, and others see the argument that has promoted a distance between majority and minority students.

But these changes have worked to separate issues, not people. The Office of Minority Affairs, for example, does not hop around doing minority students' business. Students are part of daily business at Connecticut College."

Eric Smith is a columnist for The College Voice.
Focus:
Accreditation Looks to Conn's Future

by William Nelson
The College Voice

"Not enjoyment, and not sorrow is our destined end or way: but to act. That each tomorrow finds us farther than today," said Poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. It is in this spirit of purpose that the college was recently able to take a close look at where it is and where it is going, after undergoing evaluation for renewing accreditation with the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC). The accreditation team's report, representing the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the NEASC, concluded that the college "meets well its primary mission of preparing men and women for a lifetime of learning and contribution to a changing society, and it has the resources to continue to do so."

The college itself, in the evaluation phase of the accreditation process, deemed three areas of special interest, all of which were discussed in the report. These areas included: faculty development, curriculum development, and technological support.

The college's mission, according to the report, "is well-stated, and identity as a liberal arts college...and are, in general, being met," said the report.

In the area of student affairs, the report stated, "the student leaders, who make their college as a student run and truly value their responsibilities as organizers of campus activities, their service on governance councils, and participation in search committees.

According to the report, among the areas calling for improvement in student life, was the lack of a spacious student activities area (suggesting Crotzer-Williams is "perceived as inadequate by students"), resources for activities, dorm overcrowding, and a major turnover in the Office of Student Affairs that has made some students "dizzled," according to the report.

Said Joseph Tolliver, Dean of Student Affairs, "the turnover has stopped now, and we have a new and strong structure, with good people."

Sam Seder, President of the Student Government Association, commented, "Our student government is a strong system that calls only for maintenance in its currently strong and effective state. Student life here is seriously lacking compared to our peer schools until we have a better student center."

Seder said, "There also has to be a commitment from the administration affirming the value of time we spend out of the classroom. Student life is more important than most think."

While the report cited several problems within the minority issues, including an "excruciatingly low minority representation on campus." It affirmed that "despite all this, the choice to attend Connecticut College was a sound one." Tolliver said, "While it depends on the background of the minority student, overall Conn. offers a first-rate education even for a minority student from a predominantly white background."

In the area of planning and evaluation, the report expressed a concern for a "lack of focus and coherent planning," specifically concerning faculty development, technological (computer) support, and deferred maintenance.

Professor John King, chairman of the Faculty Steering and Conference Committee, said, "The faculty is strongly committed to implementing a plan to correct this planning problem as soon as possible. Certain issues, however, require further discussion - including a plan for professors to have a 3-2 course load, allowing them more time to pursue professional and scholarly endeavors."

King went on to say, "In addition, we have created a Priority Planning and Budget Committee which, in theory, is a very good idea, although it is too early to tell of its impact. It should help planning across campus, which is a good move."

Several recent planning endeavors were cited by Dean R. Francis Johnson, Dean of Faculty, to illustrate the college's successful planning projects. Johnson said, "I am heartened by the rearrangement of offices within student life, with the appointment to a Dean of Student Affairs and a new dean, all of which promise to be a permanent change for the better," said Johnson. "Also, planning in academic computing has reached a certain plateau of success."

Sandra Austin, director of Academic Computing, said the successful planning in technological support, in response to the report's observations, is "a most exciting and new thrust to incorporate the use of computers in the curriculum."

According to Austin, the successful plan to improve technological support involves adding a Microcomputer specialist, who will be solely concerned with finding new ways to incorporate Apple Macintosh computers into the curriculum.

"Many faculty members have ideas in all areas of the curriculum, now we have the resources to address these ideas," said Austin.

The resources specifically involve two new microcomputer labs with Macintosh II's and IBM Personal System/2 microcomputers available for student use, in addition to a new VAX 8350 and a Microvax.

In the area of faculty and instruction, the report called for improvement specifically in faculty development and defining the role of the Dean of Faculty. Commenting on this need for improvement, King said, "We are anxious to see the faculty development plan implemented. The college is committed to being sure we can continue to attract the best faculty available."

King defined faculty development, as an issue that definitely needs to be addressed on campus. It is an area that needs to experience "continuous growth and improvement," he said.

King added, "The role of the Dean of Faculty is still under discussion, yet definitely needs to be defined and made more specific."

The report described faculty members at Connecticut college as "well-qualified...and enthusiastic about their students and the college's program of study...The faculty continues to evidence Connecticut College's fine tradition of excellent teaching," added the report.

In the general area of program offerings, the report commended the college for making the sciences an integral part of the liberal arts setting. Yet, it furth
SGA Brief:

Comm. Elections Continue
The S.G.A. meeting... to attract and maintain high quality in the faculty.

Registration

SGA Brief:

Executive session for

Treasurer of a broad student perspective and had to be experienced in... registered Against Racism. Any students who applied but not chosen, and wished to appeal were given the chance to do so at his meeting. Caroline Oudin, '90, appealed for her application. The S.G.A. adjourned into executive session for 27 minutes, but agreed to remain with its original slate of Posts and Gallagher.

These two students were chosen to work as a unit, to be representative of a broad student perspective and had to be experienced in working with such committees and to be articulate.

The students-at-large elected to the committees were as follows:

Campus Safety

Brad Evans, "89

Campus Health Services

Jill Avery, "89

Carla Capps, "89

Jeri Hewitt, "89

Attis Tior, "89

Campus Parking Appeal

Jared Huennekens, "89

Chuan Hung, "88

Kristen Krueger, "89

Matthew Warren, "88

Karen May, "88

Toni Bartel, "88

Betty Long

Elizabeht Ognev, "88

Tobin Koenig

Lauren Koenig, "88

Betty Long

Housing

Carolee Oudin, "89

Joy Ross, "89

Jeff Parady, "89

Jill Oudin, "89

Joe Holm, "89

Residential Life

Peter Milburn, "88

Tina Steffler, "88

Academic & Administrative

Kathy King, "88

James Culp, "88

James Gellert, "88

Rita Picklesirr, "88

Dawn Maffett, "88

Bookstore & Library

Kathy King, "88

Rene Berkevitz, "89

Kent King, "89

Lectures & Monographs

Melissa Ocho, "90

Mary Ocho, "90

Educational Planning

Dane Madison, "90

Bret Mattim, "90

Minority Affairs

Stephanie Springer, "89

Debbie Oudin, "89

Aircraft Policy & Recommendations

Tom Kiftenberg, "88

Laura Beaudin, "88

Michelle Laine, "88

Shareholder Responsibility

James Gellert, "88

Action Review

I. Melch, "98

Register

Melissa Ocho, "90

President of the College, Outer Affairs.

President: of the College, Outer Affairs.

Features

SGA Brief:

Profile: President Oakes Ames

by Dave Webster

The College Voice

Since 1974, Oakes Ames has occupied the presidency of Connecticut College. The Ames presidency was marked by tremendous growth in the enlargement and large scale renovation. When asked what policies he would like to see his successor carry out, Oakes stated "it would be splendid if we could increase the number of national issues of various kinds. Ames admitted that he would also like to increase support that we give the faculty for its professional development and achieving goals that are not yet clearly defined in the technological support construction.

"A third goal is to have greater minority representation on the campus and in the curriculum," said Ames, "and see Crete Williams improve, so that we have a student center that really meets our needs." Ames continued "I would like to see our endowment built significantly because the income that comes in from that enables us to support what we do choose to do." Ames added "I'd like to see us able to do more in the way of strengthening some of our science programs. This is not a new goal; it really goes back to the early 1980's. We've made some progress, it's just that we're not finished." Ames went on to say "This is a good year for our general faculty advising students and the new members of the staff so that new goals can be set.

When asked what he believes to be the biggest problem on campus, Ames replied "The only challenge that I would add, that I hope we can work effectively on, is the alcohol abuse problem on the campus. We have to keep working on this. Over the last few years the Japanese institutes in the state have taken to address that problem that have been very impressive. SGA last year said no more package store deliveries to the dormitories. The year before hosted a conference with the SAC or their equivalent from a lot of New England colleges saying 'what do we do of the drinking age is twenty-one?'

With regard to the proudest accomplishments he has achieved during his term as president, Ames said "The renovation of the old Palmer library into the Blaustein Humanities center has to be on that list. I think the Dayton arena and athletic center is important. We extremely proudest of and impressed by the quality of our faculty and the fact that the endowment has grown. It was nine million when I arrived and it's at thirty-four million now.

While President Ames was unable to comment about his successor, he stated "I'm sure he must have a strong commitment of the school's basic liberal arts ideals.

Committee of the Week:
Faculty Steering and Conference Comm.

by Patti Wade

The College Voice

"Very little happens on campus which does not affect the faculty. As a result, it is necessary for the faculty to be a part of what is practical to attend to." Professor King, elected Chairman of the Faculty Conference and Steering Committee, as elected representatives, to provide leadership on matters of college policy which concern faculty.

This is the second time Professor King has served on the Committee during his seventeen year career at Connecticut College. However, it is his first term as Chairman. Professor King, as Chairman, is responsible for much of the clerical work, gathering concerns, setting the agenda and attending or calling special meetings. He does not, however, sit himself as autocratic. The committee is responsible to meet with all voting faculty members once each semester. "They instruct us on setting the agenda," said King.

King explained that many of this year's goals are still pending; however, a primary concern has been the setting of the Presidential Search Committee regulations. King feels "no appointment is more important than the faculty than the Presidential appointment and it is extremely important that the faculty be confident with the procedures set for electing faculty members to the Committee.

King expressed that the Faculty Development Plan implemented in the spring of 1986 is also a major concern for the faculty. A lot of work has gone on with Dean Johnson involving further ways to implement the plan. Along with these faculty goals, appears one which affects more general faculty advising on the campus.

When Professor King was asked whether he felt the concerns of the Faculty Conference and Steering Committee concerned the concerns of the student body, he responded by saying, "UltimatelY and ideally all our concerns overlap." King believes, the faculty wants to provide the best academic environment. They want to attract and maintain high quality in the faculty.

DINO'S PIZZA
Family Pizza Restaurant
203 Jefferson Avenue
New London, CT 443-3231

Free Delivery

Free Soda Tuesdays
Grinders, Pasta, Salads
7 Days 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.

DINO'S PIZZA
75c Off Medium Pizza
$1.00 Off Large Pizza

COUPON
NEWS

Rev. David Robb Steps Down

by Liz Michalski
The College Voice

Reverend David Robb, the college’s chaplain, will not be returning to Conn. this fall. After taking a sabbatical last year to continue his studies at Union Theological Seminary, Robb has decided to pursue a degree in pastoral counseling. Father Larry LaPointe, who was the acting chaplain last year in Robb’s absence, will continue his duties as interim chaplain until a replacement can be found. A search committee is being formed and Joan King, Associate Dean of the College and Co-Chairman of Academic Advisers, is the chairperson. While originally aiming to have a new chaplain for the second semester, the committee now hopes to have one by the beginning of the ’88-’89 school year. LaPointe stated that he has not considered applying for the position “Due to the shortage of priests, I really can’t afford to do so,” he said. In addition to his duties here at Conn., LaPointe is also the Chapel Priest at East Connecticut State University, and the Director of Campus Ministry at Norwich. In the summer, LaPointe also fills in for priests on vacation.

“When the new chaplain is found, I will continue here as an associate chaplain, a part time administrator to a religious tradition not represented by the chaplain of the college. Of course, if the new chaplain is Roman Catholic, that leaves me out of the picture altogether,” LaPointe said. He explained that the new chaplain will be chosen from the three major religions of Conn. College namely Judaism, Catholicism, or Protestantism. According to Mona Scrofano, ’88, Eucharistic Minister for the Catholic Mass, LaPointe “adds a lot to this campus. Many non-Catholics go to Saturday mass because he’s so inspiring. He can relate to these students, not just in a spiritual way, but as someone to talk to.’ Scrofano added that he would be disappointed if he left.

For the coming year LaPointe has planned a full range of activities including debates to be held in the chapel. “I hope we get some lively crowds. It could make things interesting,” said LaPointe.

New Admissions Building Planned

continued from page 1.

The Admissions Building.
New Admissions Building Planned
continued from page J.

Letter Details Discrepancy

continued from page 1.

The Voice acquired a copy of the letter sent to Thurston by Sheridan.

Sheridan told The Voice that there were four openings in the custodial staff, forcing the custodians to assume a much greater work load. For example, there is only one custodian for both Smith and Burdick, where there used to be four. The workers pointed to a massive increase in work load which was affecting the state of the dorms.

One custodian at the conference, who declined to be identified on the record for fear of losing her job, said that she wouldn’t “blame the kids for being angry at the state of the dorms.” Her workload, she said, prevented her from getting to all the upkeep which is needed.

Veskov told the Daily that the dorms were in better condition than a year ago. Facilities Operation employees, like the custodians, do not have a contract nor are they represented by a union that of the Administration. The custodians gave reporters at the press conference a list of grievances which they say the Administration has failed to redress. The custodian’s major complaint was that the College has failed to fill the vacancies in the custodial staff, forcing the workers to assume a much greater work load.

For example, there is only one custodian for both Smith and Burdick, where there used to be four. The workers pointed to a massive increase in work load which was affecting the state of the dorms.

Continued from page 1.

The Graduate Faculty

(A through B)

Janet Abu-Lughod Ph.D., 76, Univ. of Mass.
Professor of Sociology

Perry Anderson B.A., ’59, Oxford Univ.
Professor of Political Science & History

Andrew Arazy Ph.D., ’75, Univ. of Chicago
Associate Professor of Sociology

Richard Bensel Ph.D., ’75, Cornell Univ.
Professor of Political Science

Shimono Breitwais Ph.D., ’78, Hebrew Univ.
Professor of Psychology

Jerome Bruner Ph.D., ’41, Harvard Univ.
G. Herbert Mead Univ. Prof.

The Graduate Faculty has grown over five decades from what the University in Exile to what is arguably the leading U.S. center for historically informed social science.

Elizabeth Ware, our Admissions Director, will be at Connecticut College on September 30 to answer your questions about Graduate Faculty major's and electives programs. If you can’t see her then, return the coupon or call us for a free Bulletin— and a listing of everyone in The Graduate Faculty from A through Z.

Graduate Faculty of Political and Social Science
65 Fifth Avenue, Greenwich Village, N.Y., N.Y. 10003

New School for Social Research
Please send me a Graduate Faculty Bulletin.

Name
Address
City State Zip
Area of Interest
Graduate Faculty, Admissions Office
65 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., N.Y. 10003

The College Voice . . . Your Voice
Pulitzer Prize Winner Brooks Inspired by Students

by Jackie Whiting
Arts and Entertainment Editor
Pulitzer Prize winning poet, Gwendolyn Brooks, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Friday, September 25 at 7:30 in Palmer Auditorium.

In addition to being the first black to win a Pulitzer prize for poetry, Brooks is Illinois poet laureate and is the 56th poet to be sworn in as poet consultant to the library of Congress since 1937. Despite these accomplishments, Brooks has never received much recognition for her poetry which is not of extreme importance to Brooks. She often reminds her audiences that a poem which has not won a prize is just as valuable as one that has.

A native of Chicago, Brooks spent nine months each year visiting colleges, kindergartens, elementary schools, and prisons throughout the United States. Although she enjoys her college visits the most, her excursions have taken her to countries such as Ghana and Kenya.

Brooks enjoys meeting the students she visits. She cites the students and their concerns as inspiration for her poetry.

Now more than 70 years old, Brooks began writing at age 11 and today, more than 15 books later, including an autobiography, she continues to write with the same energy and dedication. However, she does not consider herself a poet, rather a journalist. Her poetry reports what she sees in the world, and how she feels about it. Although what she writes is sometimes political, it is not her intention to make it so.

Her future plans are dominated by the activity she most enjoys—talking to students across the country to recite her poetry and encourage aspir-

Church Performs a Cello Recital

by Isabel Thompson
The College Voice

On Friday, September 25 at 8 p.m. in Dana Hall, Frank Church, head of the Department of Music at Connecticut College, will present a recital of cello music. Elizabeth Sawyer, a teacher at the Yale School of Music, will join Church and Sawyer to form a trio.

The concert will open with the Mendelssohn Sonata in B flat, Opus 45. Church said that he selected this because it is a piece that is not often played. "There is very little repertoire for cellists, and after 10 or 15 recitals you have to begin to look around for something different to play," Church said. The piece has three movements, the second of which, according to Church, is especially beautiful.

Church and Sawyer will also play the Shostakovich Sonata in F, Opus 40. Church said this Mitchell Rose and Diane Epstein to Perform at Conn.

Dance Comedy Comes to Conn

by Jackie Whiting
Arts and Entertainment Editor

Mitchell Rose and Diane Epstein will bring the world of dance comedy to Conn. Wednesday September 23 at 8:00. Also known as the Woody Allen of the dance world, the duo will perform an ensemble of comic possibilities. A second piece requiring audience participation, seven people are signed to the group's success comes from' a musical thing that he occasionally misses orchestral playing but that he realizes "why we wear tight pants."
FALL 87 SCHEDULE

non-stop music . . . 24 hours a day

Request Lines: 447-7631, 447-7630

| MONDAY | 6-9 am: | Helen Hadley - A subtle mix of reggae, rock, and new music. |
| 9-noon: | Dan "the dog" Curland - 60s psychedelic folk music. |
| 12:30 pm: | David Nielsen - Get on up! with Dave. Soul. This is the stuff you can't find on any other channel. |
| 3-5:30 pm: | Barry Truskowski - Crosscurrents . . . jazz, new age, and electronic music from around the world. |
| 5:30-6:00 pm: | NEWS |
| 6-9 pm: | Bill Winstead - Hardcore, eclectic, and more. |
| 9-noon: | Ted Cochran - An eclectic folk/psychadelic show which can't compare with anything on commercial radio. |
| 12-3 am: | Blake Ward - Monday Metal Madness: playing the music that will pin you against the wall, then through it. |
| 3-6 am: | Adam Ferranti - New music, English pop, and local music. |

| TUESDAY | 6-9 am: | Tina Hunstein - The best of new music, even come country . . . |
| 9-noon: | Eric Wagner - Roots and rhythm the way it was meant to be. |
| 12:30 pm: | Dave Farn - Horizontal blues radio. |
| 3-5:30 pm: | Tim Heap - Rock 'n roll, yellow bulldozers, bricks and mortar, donkey jackets, etc . . . |
| 5:30-6:00 pm: | NEWS |
| 6-9 pm: | Magoon & Yukon - Wackola radio . . . rock 'n roll from the 50s to now. |
| 9-noon: | DEAD AIR INC. - Rockin' roll with several charming hosts. |
| 12-3 am: | Barkley Hendricks - The best of the last three decades of jazz. |
| 3-6 am: | Bill O'Kane - I am the big shot - 77 punk style. |

| WEDNESDAY | 6-9 am: | Bruce MacLaren - The silly wizard folk show. |
| 9-noon: | Robert Brest - "Flashes from the Archives of Gilion!" - . . . esoteric. |
| 12-3 pm: | Blair Loughrey - Feed your pet - rock types of songs from the 60s, 70s, and 80s. |
| 3-5:30 pm: | Tim McDouough - Focus on the Riddim with Rasta Tim. |
| 5:30-6:00 pm: | NEWS |
| 6:00-6:30: | Feature interview of the week. |
| 6:30-9 pm: | Marco Ranieri - New music with a psychedelic flair. |
| 9-noon: | Chip Miller - Jazz and Cocktails with the hippest, hippest host in town. |
| 12-3 am: | Jennifer and Eric - The "Love Richard Show." |
| 3-6 am: | Sarah Warren - Women's music - folk to blues to jazz. |

| THURSDAY | 6-9 am: | Sue and Betsy - Two rockin' ladies. |
| 9-noon: | Rusty Logan - Classics - 60s style. |
| 12-3 pm: | Mark Steinberg - The Blues man is back. |
| 3-5:30 pm: | Bent Ruth - From the Who to Van Halen, and all the cracks in between. |
| 5:30-6:00 pm: | NEWS |
| 6-9 pm: | Fred Argiolas - The art of jazz. |
| 9-noon: | Tim and Dave - "Beyond the Threshold" with your hosts Tim and Dave: Rockin', new music with esoteric morals. |
| 12-3 am: | The Harold, Paul, and Amy experience -Twisted Radio: Twistsactly equals enlightenment. |
| 3-6 am: | Dorcus Nung - The House at POoh Corner - and be to the beat. |

| FRIDAY | 6-9 am: | Tim Joseph - "Keepin the Faith" - a trip through time when rock still had roll. |
| 9-noon: | Liz Patton - Broad selection of the great classical music of the 18th and 19th centuries. |
| 12:30 pm: | John Miller - Wild Kingdom - Let a thousand flowers bloom, let a thousand schools contend. A cultural revolution. |
| 3-5:30 pm: | Jennifer Halloran - Join the grooviest girl in town for 3 hours of sun, fun, and excitement. |
| 5:30-6:00 pm: | NEWS |
| 6-9 pm: | D.J. Cool Marsh - Listen to the most in progressive music radio on Friday night . . . right here on the hot spot—91.1 FM, with your host D.J. Cool Marsh. |
| 9-noon: | Rob and James - Captain Rob and Col. James go above the law. |
| 12-3 pm: | Jim Miller - The art of jazz. |
| 3-6 am: | Jon Travis - "The Ground Zero Bedside Companion" - 3 hours of new age, space music, electronic, and minimalist music, with occasional forays into the spoken word. |

| SATURDAY | 6-9 am: | Grippo - "Same Difference" - bringing you a wide range of gay music. |
| 9-noon: | Bill Bingham - Political, urban, contemporary, third world and international programming and news. Interviews, community affairs, and music. |
| 12-3 pm: | John Clarke - Jazz spotlight - high spots of jazz from the 20s through the 80s. |
| 3-6 pm: | Sheena - An exploration of rock and pop with heavy emphasis on what's new and American, but not necessarily hot. |
| 6-9 pm: | Malcolm Jules; "The Dance Zone." |
| 9-noon: | Reed Thompson - A trip through the groove. |
| 12-3 am: | Kristin Lohbald - progressive music for slow learners, punk rock for everyone, too. |
| 3-6 am: | Hank Hooper - The legends of rock and roll are featured with their great, but obscure, songs. |

| SUNDAY | 6-9 am: | Christian rock. "The Rock is Rolled" with Dan, Lynn, and Dale . . . listen and learn. |
| 9-noon: | Chris Synodi - New Music, fun for all. |
| 12-3 pm: | Dr. Les - The Red Stripe Revolution - imperialism has gone too far. Now we must declare cultural war. |
| 3-6 pm: | Mike Neglia - "The Old Wave Show" - 3 hours of songs you've probably heard before and songs you probably haven't. |
| 6-9 pm: | P.O.T.R. - From out of the garage . . . into your radios. 3 hours of pure, unadulterated, super-charged pop with your host, Peter on the Radio. |
| 9-noon: | Steve Keefe - "Top Forty Deprogramming" - A blatant habit! This music matters. |
| 12-3 am: | Scott Jefferson - New stuff with a true Casanova. |
| 3-6 am: | Todd Goeddel - Classic blues to rock. |
Intramurals Start Strong

by Kieran N. Xanthos

Intramural flag football is entering its second week of play after an action-packed premier week of passes, runs, interceptions, and touchdowns. Commissioners Greg Long ('88) and Chuck Olsen ('89) are pleased with the turnout for the games and the overall enthusiasm of the players.

"There have been great games this past week," Long said. "Everyone seems very excited to play. We hope the season continues in the same way." Last week saw the Armageddon, Barking Tree Spiders, Blackstone, and the Larry's win their opening games. In the first game of the season, a strong Armageddon team led by the passing of Terrice Powell ('88), bested Smith/Burdick by the passing of Terrice Powell a strong Armageddon team led their opening games.

Blackstone's 14-7 victory over the Spuds was marred by penalties. The victors scored two touchdowns in the final minutes to best the Spuds who were leading 7-0 in the final quarter.

Six-a-side soccer begins this week under the guidance of commissioners Mike Stiller ('89) and Kieran Xanthos ('88). The season opener is this Wednesday at 4:00 at Chapel Field with Windham facing Larabea. JA battles Plant/Park in the 5:00 contest.

The intramural player of the week honor is shared this week between seniors Terrice Powell of Armageddon and John Burns of the Barking Tree Spiders.

The Larry's recorded the season's first shutout, besting JA/Freeman team 23-0. Quarterback Jorge Colon ('89) did a great job with one player short. Next time around, it won't be a walk in the park.

The Larry's recorded the season's first shutout, besting a weaker JA/Freeman team 23-0. Quarterback Jorge Colon ('89) did a great job with one player short. Next time around, it won't be a walk in the park.

Butler looks to senior Geoff Ramsay set for them. and the other goal of being competitive in every meet they run. "I know that I'm having a whole lot of fun and I think the rest of the team is too." Butler looks to senior Geoff Perkins to lead this year's 11-man squad to the team's other goal of being competitive in every meet they run. "We have the talent to accomplish this goal as well," Butler said.

Write for the College Voice
Meetings Tuesday at 6:30
CVO 212

JAMES' Gourmet Deli

Largest Gourmet Deli in S.E. Conn.

- Cheese • Coffees • Preserves
- Chocolates • Ice Cream
Serving Lunches Daily
Will Deliver

181 Bank Street
New London, CT

Orders To Go
442-8577

CAMPUS SPIRIT SHOPPE

We keep your spirits alive
Domestic & Imported Beers
Fine Wines & Liquors • Daily Numbers
CLOSE CONVENIENT LOCATION
469 William Street (Just Down the Hill) 443-6371
SPORTS

Women’s Tennis
A Blend of Experience & Youth

by Julius Ciembroniewicz and Rich Komarow
The College Voice

Connecticut College Women’s Tennis Coach Sheryl Yearly is excited at the prospect of having seniors Elizabeth McCullough, Hilary Harrison, and Lauren Melzer return to this year’s squad after studying through last season.

The senior trio has certainly justified Yearly’s enthusiasm as they led CONN to victories in its first two matches of the year last week, 7-2 over Division I rival University of Rhode Island, and 9-0 over Clark University. Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0. "The teams should foster each other's sports,” Parmenter said.

"Without a football team, which steals the spotlight at most schools, we can help each other,” Parmenter said. "The teams should foster each other's sports."

Though there are 12 women’s and 11 men’s varsity sports at CONN, women’s teams include more than just family and close friends of the players? Who can argue that the most popular fall spectator sport, men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

The senior trio has certainly justified Yearly’s enthusiasm as they led CONN to victories in its first two matches of the year last week, 7-2 over Division I rival University of Rhode Island, and 9-0 over Clark University. Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0.

The college sports scene at Connecticut College is men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

Connecticut College Women’s Volleyball Team Coach Bill Lessig, coach of both the men’s soccer and women’s volleyball team, offers another point of view. "Women’s games include more than just family and close friends of the players. What can fans support women’s athletic teams at CONN?"

Looking to Improve

by Harlan Rust
The College Voice

Volleyball

Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0. "The teams should foster each other's sports."

Though there are 12 women’s and 11 men’s varsity sports at CONN, women’s teams include more than just family and close friends of the players? Who can argue that the most popular fall spectator sport, men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

The senior trio has certainly justified Yearly’s enthusiasm as they led CONN to victories in its first two matches of the year last week, 7-2 over Division I rival University of Rhode Island, and 9-0 over Clark University. Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0.

The college sports scene at Connecticut College is men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

Connecticut College Women’s Volleyball Team Coach Bill Lessig, coach of both the men’s soccer and women’s volleyball team, offers another point of view. "Women’s games include more than just family and close friends of the players. What can fans support women’s athletic teams at CONN?"

Looking to Improve

by Harlan Rust
The College Voice

Volleyball

Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0. "The teams should foster each other's sports."

Though there are 12 women’s and 11 men’s varsity sports at CONN, women’s teams include more than just family and close friends of the players? Who can argue that the most popular fall spectator sport, men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

The senior trio has certainly justified Yearly’s enthusiasm as they led CONN to victories in its first two matches of the year last week, 7-2 over Division I rival University of Rhode Island, and 9-0 over Clark University. Against Clark, number one seed McCullough won in two sets, 6-2, 6-0.

The college sports scene at Connecticut College is men’s soccer? In winter, the two teams compete on the same playing surfaces and with high hopes for success.

Connecticut College Women’s Volleyball Team Coach Bill Lessig, coach of both the men’s soccer and women’s volleyball team, offers another point of view. "Women’s games include more than just family and close friends of the players. What can fans support women’s athletic teams at CONN?"
SPORTS

Women's Soccer

Best Season Ever?

"This is Claudia's fourth year, and she's very strong at the right back position."

Kline will also rely heavily on Ann Carberry ('90) who was the team's leading goal scorer last season.

"Ann is an excellent sweeper back," Kline said. "She is confident and controlled, and makes the right decision almost all the time."

Kline is also looking up to-perclassmen Alicia Cheng ('88), seniors Jen Pulcher and Linda Maddern, and sophomores Lucy McKeough and Katie Bing (who was injured last season) for strong contributions.

The class of '91 will also be well represented on the women's team. Freshmen Evi Czibali will be in the goal for CONN.

"She is one of the best goalkeepers to come to CONN," Kline said. Other freshmans standouts include Marty Davis, Tracy Levinsworth, Maria Mitchell, and Jamie O'Connor.

CONN will have a new look this year, going with an extra midfield player and less forward, due to the wealth of talent in the midfield position.

"Although the system sounds more defensive, it provides as many opportunities as the other system," Kline said. "This will allow us to use our talent more effectively, while making it more difficult for our opponents to contain us."

Kline and his squad will get an opportunity to try out their new system in their home opener against Tufts. Tufts is one of CONN's toughest opponents, as the Jumbos shut out the Camels last season 5-0.

"I don't mind opening with Tufts," Kline said. "It will be a good test."

"Preparation and training by the players since women's soccer began at CONN," Ken Kline, coach of the Camels, said.

Kline and his team enter the 1987 season, having lost only one starter (Renee Kempler) to graduation.

Kline looks to co-captains senior Christa Burgess and Claudia Page for leadership and strong performances on the field.

"Christa is playing very fine soccer at the midfield position," Kline said. "She really knows the game."

Men's Soccer

Sets Sights on Championship

Coach Bill Lessig and his highly decorated men's soccer team embark on a new season this week hoping to pick up where they left off following the squad's most successful year in school history. The 1986 Camels posted a 13-3 record, finishing one goal shy of an OAC Division III Championship.

CONN enters this season full of talent and expectations. The Camels return the nucleus of last year's squad including the team's two All-American players, captains Kevin Wolfe ('88) and Jeff Geddes ('89). Lessig praised the play and leadership of the two standouts, as well as that of the third captain, junior Todd Taplin.

Lessig believes that the team enters the season in excellent standing following an extended preseason. Lessig and second-year Assistant Coach Ed Mighen put the squad through tough two-day practices, as well as three challenging scrambles in hopes of increasing the team's fitness and level of play.

Now the team, according to Wolfe, is "anxious to get into the season and see the hard work pay off." Wolfe explains that the hard practices are necessary because of the team's recent success and their expectations for the season.

"Teens are shooting for us now," Wolfe said. "We are no longer the underdogs."

With a preseason national ranking and a talent laden lineup, the Camels have set high goals for the 1987 season. Both Lessig and Wolfe believe the team has the ingredients for a championship year and needs only to gel as a unit.

The first four games of the season, according to Lessig, will be a good indication of the team's calibre. Wolfe stresses that the team must "take it one game at a time and play within ourselves" at the beginning of the season.

This Saturday marks the home opener for the Camels as they take on fellow NESCAC member Bowdoin College in a 2:00 contest on Harkness Green.

SPORTS Shorts

by Marc LaPlace
Sports Editor

The Connecticut College Men's Crew Coach BOB GILLETTE led a team of talented rowers for the Pan American Games in Indianapolis this past summer, and the squad brought home the gold.

The rowers are all members of the Pioneer Valley Rowing Association, which Gillette founded and coaches. Gillette's lightweight four without cox qualified for the Pan Am Games, after winning both the Northeast Regionals and the New England Olympic Festival events.

KIRK KELLY ('88), who is studying abroad this semester, and RUSTY LANE ('83) were both members of the winning crew in the Northeast and National championships. Lane also competed on the gold medal team at the Pan American Games.

Other CONN rowers who compete for the Pine Valley club include seniors NICK ROOSEVELT and SARAH TUBBS, and sophomore ERIC GRIFFER.

"It's a major accomplishment to represent the United States and win," Gillette said. "Our goal now is to become the best in the world."

Gillette's team is doing intense training to achieve this goal at the World Championships next August.

Since lightweight rowing is not a part of the Olympics, Gillette's rowers will not have a chance to represent the U. S. in 1988, but because of his accomplishments during the past two years, Gillette is a potential coaching candidate for the United States in the '88 games.

The CONN crew team not only benefits from Gillette's coaching expertise, but also has the opportunity to train with some of Gillette's elite athletes from the Pioneer Valley club.

"It's a real advantage for the CONN guys to be exposed to some of these rowers," Gillette said. "It may also help keep their training."

Women's Crew Coach CLAUS WOLTER also had a summer of successful coaching. For the third year in a row, Wolter worked with the Canadian National Team.

Wolter's men's quad-ruple skulls team finished an impressive fourth at the World University Games in Yugoslavia, while his pair team took tenth place in their event.

As the World Championships in Denmark, Wolter's straight pair finished ninth out of 18, while his cox pair placed seventh of 11. The straight pair boat performance qualified Canada to compete in that event at the 1988 Olympic Games.

Wolter is a possible candidate for a coaching position for Canada in the 1988 Olympics.

"There's two of me this year," Head Athletic Trainer CATHY HORNE said, regarding the appointment of an assistant trainer this year. CAROLYN JENNINGS, a graduate of Eastern Connecticut State University, will be added to the training staff this year, and with the aid of student trainers, Horne and Jennings hope to be better able to serve all teams during the year.

"Having another trainer will allow us to travel with the teams a little more," Horne said. "I am always one of us at every home game, as well as assistant trainer."

Horne also commented that the addition of the second trainer will allow the trainers to work with athletes for preseason training, and will also help to relieve the training room "rush hour" between 3:00 and 4:00 in the afternoon.

Soccer co-captain TODD CAPLIN, who Horne calls "the training room's biggest customer," has already begun to see the effects of a second trainer at CONN.

"I'm in the training room a lot because I'm always injured," Caplin said. "The second trainer definitely speeds up the process. It seems to be working well."

Lady Runners

by Karen E. Grey
The College Voice

The Connecticut College Women's Cross Country Team, under the direction of third-year coach Ned Bishop, heads into the 1987 season with optimism and enthusiasm.

Bishop feels that the Lady Camels' 11-race season will be a good one.

"Preparation and training by individual team members over the summer was good, that should lead to a strong season," Bishop said.

Bishop is also pleased with the level of commitment that team members have shown.

"Besides being in shape, the runners are eager and excited for the race season to start," Bishop said.

Last Saturday's three-mile time trial confirmed Bishop's expectations of the team's ability. The first three finishers, Kelly Bernier ('90), Jean Whalen ('88), and Betsy Long ('90) all ran faster times than the team's top runner at last year's time trial.

Juniors Kirsten Kinsell and Jennifer Young and sophomores Melissa Marquis and Marsha Witt rounded out the team's top seven runners.

Bishop expects the team to peak at the New England Championships in November, when the squad's most important race of the season.

"We have been a competitive leader," Bishop said. "She leads the team well by insisting that they work hard and enjoy themselves at the same time."

Late Scores

Saturday, September 19, 1987

Men's Soccer: CONN 3-Tufts 1
Field Hockey: CONN 1-Wesleyan 0
Men's X-Country: C. G. A. 32-Wesleyan 39-CONN 75
Women's X-Country: top 3 of 7-
Smith 19-CONN 73-Wesleyan 73

The College Voice