Daddario Reiterates His Campaign Platform

by Dave Clark

United States Congressman Emilio Q. Daddario, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate toured the New London area Thursday, October 15. During the day he outlined a comprehensive program to guarantee the economic expansion of Eastern Connecticut, while preserving the "beauty and richness of its environment.

At a press conference at Democratic headquarters on State Street, Congressman Daddario emphasized his stand on the following issues:

1. He emphasized his opposition to the establishment of a jetport in the region because, he said, "it still has not been determined what the overall impact of the jetport would be on the environment and other aspects of the Eastern Connecticut region."

2. He stressed he was against the relocation of the New London State Hospital to Old Lyme which, he said, was not acceptable. "I think the hot issue is where to have the mental health institutions," he said.

3. Showing further concern for the environmental crisis, Daddario, who is Chairman of the Subcommittee on Science, Research and Development, underlined his own record on conservation issues. He cited a report by the League of Conservation Voters that gave him the third highest rating on conservation issues in the House. He used the same report to attack his opponent, Republican Thomas Meskill, who received one of the lowest ratings.

4. The candidate for governor proposed an International Anti-Pollution Trade Fair in 1971, to take place somewhere in the region to help advertise the region as a prime area for anti-pollution industry. He mentioned that the fair might take place in New London.

5. At the end of his speech Rep. Daddario took the opportunity to set the record straight on his positions on the issue of gun control legislation. Citing his own enjoyment of hunting and his efforts in World War II and Korea, he said "I could never support legislation which prevented law-abiding citizens from using their arms to hunt or for any other purpose. Nevertheless, I am currently the object of a leukotropin campaign which misrepresents my position and attacks my integrity and patriotism.

6. I have listened to the imposition of reasonable restrictions on the use of handguns. I also have favored keeping firearms out of the hands of criminals, juvenile delinquents, Daddario cited as a reason for his opposition to the easy availability of handguns the fact that more than 400 policemen have been killed in the line of duty in the last decade, the victims of handguns. This figure represents 60 per cent of all men killed in the line of duty.

When pressed on the issue, especially about the current legislation on handguns of which he is a co-sponsor, "Min" stated that the proposed laws, which have yet to be discussed in Congress would underscore his feelings on the issue. They would tighten, by the use of registration, the restrictions on handguns while still permitting the possession to continue to shoot without undue harassment from the federal government.

Daddario asked that the voters "ignore the distortions and lies which have been written about me on this subject."

Campaigning on the first full day of the Congressional campaign season, Daddario went on a walkabout of New London, speaking at the Underwater Soda stand and stopping to talk with (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3) Satyagraha

Summer Study Slowdown

The future of the Summer Study Committee's report is now uncertain. The committee, having reported their findings to the campus, has clear responsibility and is not discharged until an initiative is made by the faculty to vote on the study. The faculty, as evidenced by their meeting last Wednesday, is reluctant to make any decisions at this time for a variety of reasons. The report represents a complete break with many of the traditional views of the liberal arts program. It is the most controversial issue that has confronted Connecticut College. Thus, many are hesitant to hastily adopt a measure without due consideration.

Another salient factor is the lack of vocal student opinion. The responsibility for action on this report now rests with the students. It is essential that students make their opinions known to faculty in order that the Committee's proposals will not die before they have even been given a fair amount of consideration.

We suggest therefore, that student-faculty discussion be initiated, via a one-to-one level or a campus-wide forum. A faculty meeting will be held in one week. If the report is not to be forgotten, we have to start talking now.

We Are Your Sounding Board

We received a letter recently from the editor of the Connecticut College Daily of Goucher College in Maryland. The Goucher Weekly folded. Why? In the words of Cheryl Sweet, editor-in-chief, "Goucher College is presently -by way of its present form of governance, and intra-community communication predominant in this institution. At this time. Yet Goucher has received no recognition from either the faculty, in the form of academic credit, or the student body, in the form of staff. We have been taken for granted too many times.

The situation at Goucher is an extreme case of a campus totally short-sighted, and as a result, has become the communication medium on a campus initiating "community governance." We do not wish to imply that we are in the situation of the Goucher Weekly. However, there are certain parallels between us too. We are too shortsighted at becoming the sounding board for the campus. We are trying to initiate a dialogue through various issues which we present in Satyagraha. Communication cannot be one way. It must be a two-way exchange. In the interest of protest, Satyagraha as the communication medium here, we would like to make clear that we wish to become another medium which will initiate our campus, in order to make our goal of intra-community communication a reality.

Political Policies

A statement on policies and practices for campus political activities was recently released by President Clinton. Some of the ten points covered in the statement are communication a reality. It seems to the Trustees that it might be useful if we could discuss all those actions and actions that took place during the meeting with the various constituencies of the College. Student, faculty, administration, parents and alumni. This letter, then, will attempt to summarize the proceedings of the October meeting and a copy has been sent out by Connecticut College News, which is sent to all parents and alumni.

Satyagraha covered the re-

S atyagraha is proud of the sense of integrity students, faculty, and administra-

Policies of the Connecticut College De-

Summer Study Group's proposals and opposing most of the Summer Study Group's proposals and recommendations. The report represents a complete break with many traditional views of the liberal arts program. It is the most controversial issue that has confronted Connecticut College. Thus, many are hesitant to hastily adopt a measure without due consideration.

The "Report of the Summer Study Group" is a revolutionary document. It is a real chance to rethink and redefine the nature of Connecticut College, to respond to the new day. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education at Connecticut College, to be part of the word in the world of education. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student.

The "Report of the Summer Study Group" is a revolutionary document. It is a real chance to rethink and redefine the nature of Connecticut College, to respond to the new day. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education at Connecticut College, to be part of the world in the world of education. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student.

1911

CONTROVERSY

By Ruby Turner Morris
Member, Academic Policy Committee

"The Report of the Summer Study Group" is a revolutionary document. It is a real chance to rethink and redefine the nature of Connecticut College, to respond to the new day. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education at Connecticut College, to be part of the world in the world of education. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student. It is a chance to think critically about the nature of education and the nature of the Connecticut College student.

5. Under both of the grading programs, if an area is graded at C or D, the student would have to retake the course. This would not be a low grade, but given the nature of the course, the student would have to take it again. Under both of the grading programs, if an area is graded at C or D, the student would have to retake the course. This would not be a low grade, but given the nature of the course, the student would have to take it again. Under both of the grading programs, if an area is graded at C or D, the student would have to retake the course. This would not be a low grade, but given the nature of the course, the student would have to take it again. Under both of the grading programs, if an area is graded at C or D, the student would have to retake the course. This would not be a low grade, but given the nature of the course, the student would have to take it again. Under both of the grading programs, if an area is graded at C or D, the student would have to retake the course. This would not be a low grade, but given the nature of the course, the student would have to take it again.

1. In the interest of protest, Satyagraha as the communication medium here, we would like to make clear that we wish to become another medium which will initiate our campus, in order to make our goal of intra-community communication a reality.
by Katha Frenck

President Nolan orders an investigation by a commission of the events in Kent, Ohio, during the first days of May. In the face of great social upheaval, a leader may be put under examination, and thus, Lyndon Johnson called for a report after the riots in the summer of 1967 which ultimately, would become the Kerner Commission Report.

Still another type of report might be one concerning an investigation of a pornographic report, a report on that issue came out this spring. A President may also appoint a commission to examine a new idea or concept, and then make recommendations as to its possible applications and development. An example here is the Gates Commission, which reported on the problems of the last for an all-volunteer army.

It becomes apparent that these commissions are appointed because the executive branch would like to be informed on a particular topic. The public is often informed about current events, even if it is at the end of the year. The evaluation of a commission's work seems to be the purpose at the time of a commission's appointment.

And yet, by the time the report is officially released, staff, hired experts, consulted investigators, and an audience by the time the report is de-ivered, usually making the front pages of newspapers. The work of the commission is then completed.

The evaluation of a commission report depends more on the issue of what people listened to the report, rather than what the report actually said. The findings and conclusions of the report are not binding upon any agency, and if the people spoke to the report, they heard a message that is not likely to have a lasting impact. A report can be read in 10-15 minutes. But what is the good of it, if it doesn't change policy?

As a sideline, several disagree or feel to utilize a topic of debate on the no time, so to no real and important end.
3. The Warren Commission appointed an all-volunteer army was possible and demanded a larger army. Some of the implications and consequences, if the commission was to talk about and vote upon Congress, the commission's recommendations were voted down in a single vote during the course of the Vietnam War.

The report on por-

by Dave Clark

TOPIC OF CANDOR

by Allen Carroll

The father of all students interested in SURVIVAL is held on Wednesday, October 21st, 7:00 p.m., in the Student Lounge, Cyanne-Williams.
The student organizing group is SURVIVAL, a student organizing group made up of members of the campus community. The group has been given a role in the issue of what is created more controversy rather than the ears. However, his lecture which enters the eyes does not demand knowledge of the past are not so essential to appreciation of art
but hidden in a niche of a sculpture. Flags are easy recognition. The baby's flag. They are not set into mon images, such as the American flag.

as it in the subject matter as it is in the

by Adele Wolff

Pam Brook,'70 dominates the image of the Connecticut College Board of Trustees this semester as the new and maturaer ally as the manner of treatment. His pottery is not "contented-potter" nor "department store" work; the forms, works do not demand knowledge of art and artistic techniques, but ask only for an honest personal interpretation.

"Retrospective" suggests a survey of the past. Mr. Leibert's work itself explores the past through sensitively to aging, near-b-forgotten images. There are ceramic, glazed doll's heads fixed long enough to assume a charred, deteriorated look. There are freedom images, such as the Millstone nuclear power plants, which was eventually known as the Kerner Commission. The report was the only result of this investigation made, and so on; book came out.
The evaluation of a commission report depends
more on the issue of what
people listened to the report,
rather than what the report
actually said. The findings
and conclusions of the report
are not binding upon any
agency, and if the people
spoke to the report, they heard a message that is not likely to have a lasting impact. A report can be read in 10-15 minutes. But
what is the good of it, if it doesn't change policy?

As a sideline, several dis-
agree or feel to utilize a topic of debate on the
no time, so to no real and
important end.
3. The Warren Commission appointed an all-volunteer
army was possible and demanded a larger army. Some
of the implications and
consequences, if the commission was to talk about and
vote upon Congress, the
commission's recommendations
were voted down in a single vote during the course of the Vietnam War.

The report on por-

by Dave Clark

TOPIC OF CANDOR

by Allen Carroll

The father of all students interested in
SURVIVAL is held on Wednesday, October 21st, 7:00 p.m., in the Student Lounge, Cyanne-Williams.
The student organizing group is SURVIVAL, a
student organizing group made up of members of the campus community. The group has been given
a role in the issue of what is created more controversy
rather than the ears. However, his
lecture which enters the eyes
does not demand knowledge
of the past are not so essential to
appreciation of art
but hidden in a niche of a sculpture. Flags are
easy recognition. The baby's flag. They are not set into
mon images, such as the American flag.

as it in the
subject matter as it is in the

by Adele Wolff

Pam Brook,'70 dominates the image of the Connecticut College Board of Trustees this semester as the new and matura-
er ally as the man-
er ally as the man-
er ally as the man-
er ally as the man-
Tuesday, October 20, 1970

TOPIC OF CANDOR
by Steve Bergen alive after World War II, he too, would have been excluded from the new government at any proposed political settlement might have become aware of how the kidney saved (Continued from Page 5)

Guidance Program Focuses On Area Minority Students

by Barbara Lopatto

The initial meeting of the Connecticut College Guidance Counseling Program was held on Thursday, October 8, in the Student Lounge. Mr. Kydd, formerly of the Lyo-Kov's Jr. 447-1365 Affiliates, have united to form an organization to advise area youth. Among the problems cited by Mr. Kydd is the failure of teachers and counselors to respond to the students' needs as individuals. Many guidance counselors, it was noted, too often refer to the set of standard qualifications for college admission and ignore varying personal situations. Thus, emphasis in the past has been placed on college-minded students who already possess the motivation and financial resources necessary in seeking a college education.

"Counseling," he continued, "should be concerned with those who possibly could go to college." Mr. Kydd, formerly of the NAACP Youth Education Committee, stated that the most common problem facing students today is a severe lack of self-confidence. He advised that youths in all situations should be assured of their personal worth and encouraged to seek fulfillment of their goals through higher education.

In order to cope with this problem, a group of Connecticut College students, in conjunction with the Office of Community Affairs, have united to form an organization to advise area youth. The goal of this group is to provide students in the New London High School with information concerning SATs, financial aid, scholarships and various programs beneficial to the underprivileged and members of minority groups. In this way, the prospective college applicant will be aided in selecting college choices, making his applications and seeking financial aid. The program, hopefully, will be conducted on a one-to-one basis, making it possible for the student to identify with his counselor and profit from his college experience.

Interested senior high school students will meet with respective advisors Monday through Thursday at New London High School. Those interested in taking part should contact Sarah Duper or Marilyn Andresko at Burdick House for further information.

Students are desperately needed to canvas for Joe Dufsey in the New London community. Interested persons should contact Chris Howell on Marshall at 442-9158.

---

NAACP Youth Education Committee Guidance Program

---

Student Interns Gain Practical Experience

by Frans Axlund

"It is necessary to have work experience and involvement in a specific area of study. A person may gain more from this field work than he would from just reading about the subject," declared Miss Margaret Snow, director of Community Affairs and co-ordinator of the College-Community Internship Program.

As of yet, the actual internship program has not been recognized as a part of the Connecticut College curriculum. This work-study program forms a sub-division of the Individual Study Program, which permits qualified juniors and seniors to pursue independently of area study pertaining to their majors or individual interests.

Prior to the inauguration of this program, many students became aware of the specific areas of study by independent research, however, the majority of them still lacked the experience necessary for a true understanding of their occupation. Under this program students are offered the chance to gain a better understanding of the work by encouraging them to intern in their desired fields. Internships are still required to turn in final papers or evaluations to their faculty advisors, although they receive the same credit as do non-interning participants.

This semester, only a few students are taking advantage of the internship program; however, Miss Snow is optimistic that more students will become aware of its opportunities in successive semesters. Present trends indicate it will probably be recognized next year as a part of the Internship Program.

Kathy Anderson, a psychology student, who plans to graduate in December, is working at Legacy, the legal services office of New London. Her interdepartmental advisor is Mr. Lorish, professor of government. Weekly, Kathy reviews with the staff attorney a variety of judicial cases in an attempt to become better acquainted with governmental jurisdiction.

As a result of this discussions concerning Consumer, the American Civil Liberties Union and Housing Legislation, Kathy decided to take her law boards in the New London Redevlop-Auxiliary. She is currently working three afternoons a week at the New London Housing Office. She works with Wilbur Klatsky, the agency's co-ordinator and Robert Tark, the executive director. Kathy feels the experience will be more than an evaluation of her activities; she expects to investigate an area that she has significantly touched upon in her experience and to evaluate it in terms of its governmental function. She has considered acquiring the efficiency and weaknesses of the Re-devlop-Auxiliary and suggesting beneficial reforms.

Maurie Brown, who is the Administrative Assistant of the Community Resources Committee, will also graduate in December, with her B.A. in history. She has already been working sixteen hours a week with the administrators of the four day care centers in the New London area, for the area that she will gain a better insight into the problems that she will later encounter as a social worker. Maurie believes that, "It is important to be active in community affairs. That way you don't feel so isolated at Conn. In fact, up to a few weeks ago I didn't even realize that a program such as this existed.

---

FREE HOT NEW LONDON

ties !

JASON lwithaItttle of

---

The Auxiliary Drain presents

JASON (with a little of everything) friday october 23, 1970

7 pm

24, 1970

salurcharge - 50C

LEES

MONT

WALSH

A Real Western

LICONIA OPERE UPS RESUTASIOI.

MANICORN CAMERAS PHOE LEASE

INNOVADO SPRITE CONTROL"+

(GF)·

Compliments of

SEIFERT'S BAKERY

225 Bank St.

443-6808

CAPPUCCIO APPAREL

926 Williams Street

447-0922

Custom Designing and Dressmaking

In chalcolate brown

P.S. OUR LA PRIMA ROOT SELECTIONS are wonderfull getting, too!

the fashionable

BOOT WITH

THE LACE

Kov's Jr.

487 Coleman Street

New London

447-1365

"good eating"

Grimes

CLEANERS

"ON CAMPUS DAILY"

Call 442-4421
Students from Bridgeport, Stratford, Fairfield, Trumbull, Easton, or Monroe planning to attend graduate school may be interested in a loan fund offered by the Bridgeport Library. For information contact Rosemary Palmer at 787-2405.

The French Club will present a lecture on Oct. 24 at 6:30 p.m. given by Mrs. Alex Djokovic, a member of the French Department. The lecture is titled "La Femme Libere la Femmes Liberer dans la Litterature Francaise," and will be in French, following the lecture in Crouse-William. Mar Longone, there will be a mid-week dinner in Knowledge for students and faculty.

Weilman University Press has announced the beginning of the Spring 1970 issue, Alabaht: The Alabaht is an annual award a first prize of $1,000 and a second prize of $500 for the best undergraduate poems published in Alabaht that year. Poems are selected by a committee of undergraduate judges, each distinguished in his school as a poet or preceptive critic. The deadline for submission is November 1st.

A seminar must be original and unpublished. Poems must be typewritten, double-spaced, and no longer than 1,000 words. Poems should be sent to "Alabaht," Mrs. Mary Elise T. Johnson, 413 Water St., New London.

Seasonal Sports Spotlight Soccer, Swimming, So on by Nancy Diesel

As a result of their try-outs, October 8, the C-Synchro have added five new members and six new apprentices to their group. Miss Ruth Ferguson, coach of the water ballet organization, said that their annual Parent's Weekend show in the spring. Nancy Close, a member of the club, is working on arrangements to take the swimmers south sometime during this year.

The women's tennis team is sending six players to the New England Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament which will be held at Yale University on Octo· ber 23, 24, and 25. Cindy Haines and Nancy Diesel have been on the singles competition, doubles teams, Holly Peacock-Martha Sullivan and Emily Bryan-Linda Lee, will represent Connecticut College in the doubles competition.

The women's competitive swim team has three members scheduled so far, according to Mrs. Tony Wag, coach of the team. On November 1st, they will swim against Mountmary and on January 23, the team will travel to the University of Waterloo, in Canada, for their second meet. In the meet, the team will represent Connecticut College in the New England Intercollegiate Swim Meet.

The men's soccer team has played the soccer team from the Coast Guard Academy twice this month. On October 9, the two teams tied with a 3-3 score. Connecticut did not have their usual confidence. Our players, Miss Yeary hastened to explain, would probably be necessitated the redistribution of faculty or personnel so great a deal that they will be in agreement on the report. They will be in agreement the report might not be covering the fair and the equalities necessary for defining the report might not be covering the financial implications of the report might not be covering the financial implications of the report.

Parent's Week- the last faculty-student confrontations the students receive form, the faculty. Miss Yeary hastened to explain, would probably be necessitated the redistribution of faculty or personnel so great a deal that they will be in agreement the report might not be covering the financial implications of the report.

TRUSTEE INTERVIEW (Continued from Page 3, Col. 5)

That students were worthy of the Board's decision or what President Snyder said about the expression of trust and confidence on the part of the Trustees in your generation, and of understanding improvement for what you are trying to achieve. Ask.

We Want You To Join Our Church As an Ordained Minister and Have The Book Of Doctor of Divinity

Our church is a non-denominational church which believes that the Bible is the Word of God. As such we proclaim the message of salvation by faith in Jesus Christ and we believe that the church is the body of Christ on earth. The church is the body of Christ on earth. The church is the body of Christ on earth. The church is the body of Christ on earth.