Conn Community Prepares For Inauguration Weekend

BY DASHA LAVERNIKOV

Staff Writer

I had that pleasure of interviewing, Dr. Michael Apple, renowned author and professor at U. of Wisconsin-Madison.

In Educating the 'Right' Way, his most recent book during his visit to Connecticut College, Apple's goal as a teacher is to bring the inculcation of the liberal arts and the importance of bringing lecturers like himself to the forefront of the discussion. "The best way to translate what I did in the book is...umni and students. "

Dr. Michael Apple, renowned author and professor at U. of Wisconsin-Madison, will give a lecture on Connecticut College, Anjali Ram, Chair of the Philosophy Department at Connecticut College, and Larry Vogel, Director of Yale University's Teacher Preparation Programs, will be among the panelists.

The symposium will feature panelists and audience to engage critically with the issues that Apple addresses in his work. The symposium will begin at 4:30 p.m., and Apple's lecture will follow at 4:00 p.m. Both will take place in Ernst Convenience Room in Blaustein Hall.

UPCOMING SPEAKERS

On October 16:
Elena Vashukhina of Rhodes Island School of Design will speak on "Street, Siege, Secret Sales & Spies: The Heritage Women's Movement in Russia from the 20th and 21st Centuries." Blaustein Room 210, 4:00 p.m.

The symposium will begin at 4:30 p.m., and Apple's lecture will follow at 4:00 p.m. Both will take place in Ernst Convenience Room in Blaustein Hall, and open to the public.

Dr. Michael Apple, renowned author and professor at U. of Wisconsin-Madison, will give a lecture at Connecticut College, Anjali Ram, Chair of the Philosophy Department at Connecticut College, and Larry Vogel, Director of Yale University's Teacher Preparation Programs, will be among the panelists.

The symposium will feature panelists and audience to engage critically with the issues that Apple addresses in his work.

The symposium will begin at 4:30 p.m., and Apple's lecture will follow at 4:00 p.m. Both will take place in Ernst Convenience Room in Blaustein Hall, and open to the public.
Window Into Our World

Fall Weekend is unique. Parents are everywhere, enthusiastic student-athletes take the field against rival teams while their peers cheer them on, and the tent dance provides a perfect ending to the eventful day. While the last remnants of summer warmth are quickly disappearing from the air, the sun will be shining at Harvestfest and the tent dance will be rocking. For many students, the weekend plays out like a roll-reversed “Take your Child to Work Day.” Parents get to see how and where their children eat, sleep, study and socialize. In this way, Fall Weekend provides families a once-a-year up close look at the lives of the Conn Students.

The festivities, though, are about more than families. Alumni, too, are invited here, back to the place they once called home. While Shain, Fanning and Blaustein are still here, alumni will be experiencing a campus with a dramatically different landscape. Conn has a new president, a TV channel and a much-improved Old Plex. Inauguration signals a change at the top. From the bottom, it is clear that much has already changed. Fall Weekend this year will give alumni a window into our new Conn world.

Policies

Advertisements

The College Voice is an open forum. The opinions expressed by individual advertisers are their own. In no way does The College Voice endorse the views expressed by individual advertisers. The College Voice will not accept ads that it deems to be libelous, an incitement to violence, or personally damaging. Ad rates are available on request by calling (860) 439-2812; please refer all ad inquiries to the Business Manager, Allison Glassman. The College Voice reserves the right to accept or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor are due strictly by 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. The College Voice reserves the right to edit letters for clarity and length. No unsigned or anonymous letters will be published. However, names may be withheld upon the author’s request. The College Voice will not publish letters deemed to be a personal attack on an individual. The College Voice reserves the right to edit or reject any ad. The Editors-in-Chief shall have final content approval. The final deadline for advertising is 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication.

Letters to the Editor

A Note:

The College Voice is not to be confused with the Connecticut College or the College Voice. The Connecticut College. The Opinion and Editorial section is comprised of student opinions, which are not to be confused with the Connecticut College or the College Voice. All content and editorial decisions are made by student staff members.
OPINION
THANK YOU, TONY SNOW

FIELD REPORT • TOPIC: ADD

Thank you, Press Secretary Tony Snow. Anyone who can spin certain documents can do so. But...can anyone spin something so effectively that the administration confounds the sexual harassment of 18-year old male office worker within a 12-year old congregation, is worthy of praise. Mr. Secretary, you’re mak- ing my job a lot easier.

As an American who fights against the current administration, ease with every statement.

If you do not know what “shorts” I am referring to, re- fresh your memory. Congressman Foley, a House Representative from Florida, who also serves as a Republican leader; he is the party’s Deputy Speaker. It may be a good idea to take a look at congressional pages come forward for- mally sex explicit content message sent by Foley over CNN.com headline this after- noon ...so remember, next time you go to the wash-room, share their bags with you by- FORD.

More fun with headlines: “Multicolored bird built as new species”, wondrously named, in grave. Jim Hieronimus is saying “we’ll TOLD you what some of them unfor- tunately that one time hugging.”

I have been discussing this, but it’s worth saying again. Fall-sack. Every time I look out the window and put on a revelation and pant, I do it, 30 degrees. It’s just not possible to have you with a head behind your back and a head in front of your face. I’m holding up, and you have that” cheating but there’s nothing you can do about it. Pay me, and you’ll see, and you’re inevitably wrong. Fail is the champion older sibling of the season.

Do people with bad lisp call the Top Gun? Sing the Thing? Taking it a step further, how does all these other Americans who are so dark and scary move in such ways. And speaking of baseball, I hope you all noticed that the starting pitcher match-up for Dodger-Man- eys recently was Love-Maine. (If you’re confused, call Golden Knight and ask them what they think of Love-Maine.)

But one’s. I’d be like to be watching a football game and hear the announcer say “The Texas Halftime Show is brought to you by... FORD.”

CNN.com headline this after- noon “Fake doctor, make sure their bags are open and says “guess how many fingers 2768? Send emails to FRECON • GET YOUR FRECON...”

Mark Foley is a “gay American,” and that the administration did not do enough to paint him as such. And there is a lot of truth in Foley’s personal position. By saying this, the Bush Administration is trying to, and successful in, pushing male and centroidal children because he was not gay. Foley is a degradation. Pedophilic and orientation are not oriented, as concealed, and we see that nearly all heterosexual, homosexual and heterosexual Foley works on all’s actions.

Congressional Foley will now be facing the same worst laws that he played a leading role in drafting. Instead of trying to under- play the obvious severity of this issue, the Republican Party should have to admit, which happens, they say, which is supposed to be for hurting America and endangering all children who work on Capitol. His website, which is a symposium as he was down as Speaker of the House, is a tool he was second to the administration to dis- cussion. Could how something meri- tory? Does this mean...I mean, Foley? The Republican Party has put forth another defense of con- sumption. In the press confer- ence, Press Secretary Snow said that...
The 13th Annual Daniel Klagsbrun Symposium: Big Names and Bigger Ideas

By CLARISSA DOWD

The Joy Luck Club, and Hannah Tinti, a former student, are among the dozens of lively speakers who will grace the auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 13. The event is part of the College’s annual symposium, the Daniel Klagsbrun Symposium, which brings the best in arts and entertainment to the college.

The event, which will be staged in the auditorium, will begin with a special screening of the film “The Last of the Mohicans.” The screening will be followed by a panel discussion with the film’s director, James Cameron, and several of the film’s cast members, including Liev Schreiber, Michelle Pfeiffer, and Daniel Day-Lewis.

The symposium will continue with a series of lectures and workshops, including a talk by novelist and essayist Harper Lee, who will discuss her novel “To Kill a Mockingbird.” Other speakers will include poet and essayist E. L. Doctorow, who will speak on the topic of American literature, and the symposium’s keynote speaker, the artist and writer David Hockney, who will discuss the role of the artist in society.

The symposium will conclude with a concert by the College’s own chamber orchestra, which will perform a selection of works from the 19th and 20th centuries.

For more information on the symposium, please visit the college’s website or call the event coordinator at 314-793-6000.

Get The Information on Beck’s New Album

By STEVEN BLOOM

There is nothing like buying a new album, especially when you have been waiting eagerly for years. The anticipation of unwrapping the freshly sealed plastic and popping it into your car is an exciting experience. As soon as I opened the CD, I purchased it for Beck’s new release for quite some time. I was thrilled, Beck is a musical genius and he has always been one of my favorite artists. The Information, in fact, is the best album Beck has released in years.

The Information is the product of Beck’s unique musical vision and talent. The album’s sound is incredibly cohesive, with each track flowing seamlessly into the next. Beck has a way of blending different genres and creating something truly unique. The first single, “Elevator Music,” in a mix of rock, pop, and hip-hop, perfectly captures Beck’s signature style. The album’s sound is infectious and will have you singing along to every track.

Beck’s talent as a writer and producer is on full display throughout The Information. Each track is masterfully crafted, with Beck’s voice shouting in ways that I have never heard before. His range is astounding, and each song is a testament to his raw talent.

Beck’s new album is a must-listen for fans of any genre, or anyone who appreciates well-crafted music. The Information is a testament to Beck’s musical vision and talent, and it will undoubtedly be a timeless classic.

SUNRHYTHM’S SATURDAY RUGBY DAY!

By ARI BIELISKA

Rugby is deeply rooted in tradition, and the culture around it is steeped in history. It is a sport that is played all around the world, and millions of people have a passion for it. Rugby is a team sport, and it is played by two teams of 15 players on a rectangular field. The objective of the game is to score points by carrying the ball over the opponent’s try line.

Rugby is played on a pitch that is marked with white lines, and the ball is kicked into play by either the full-back or the scrum-half. The game is played in two halves of 40 minutes each, with a 10-minute break at halftime.

Rugby is played by men and women of all ages, and it is a sport that is played by people of all races and cultures. Rugby is a sport that is loved by millions of people around the world, and it is a sport that is truly unique.
THE COLLEGE VOICE • OCTOBER 13, 2006 • 6
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

To Get Hyped for the Film Reel, Donnie Darko is not Your Typical Film Following

BY ANDREW MAGENOW

If you asked, "Who, Donnie Darko the kid, or the movie?" Donnie Darko does, however, you will probably find that you have seen the film before. Directed by Richard Kelly, its debut at the Sundance Film Festival in 2001, it went on to win various film awards, including "Best Picture" at the Cannes International Film Festival. Darko was over the top in its depiction of airplane accident, the first of its kind. The film was also commercially successful, with a record-breaking $10.7 million opening.

Various critics have praised the film for its unique storyline and its depiction of airplane accidents, but others have been critical of its content. The film has been accused of glorifying violence and teen pregnancy.

The film's success has led to several sequels and spin-offs, including a graphic novel and a stage play. It has also been the subject of much debate and discussion, with some praising its boldness and creativity, and others criticizing it for its gratuitous violence and disturbing content.

If you want to learn more about Donnie Darko, its director, and its impact on the film industry, this is the guide for you. Whether you are a fan of the film or simply curious about its creation, this book will provide you with a comprehensive overview of Donnie Darko's legacy.

News

"C4 TV" Kicks Off With A Bang

BY HALEY HOFMANN

Staff Writer

In closets, rooms and shelves across campus there is a veritable treasure trove of Connecticut College media. Dance performances, theater productions, memorable speeches, and various other video documented programs such as dining hall hunts, weather, an events schedule, and student creations. However, there are surely the shorthand grasps. In the long run, C4 TV works to program include non-copyrighted materials (assumedly bad horror and Sci-Fi anyone?), live events, and possibly programming skin grown to clubs or individuals.

C4 TV also stands to remedy various problems such as event exposure. By videotaping events and then broad casting them on channel 82, those who wanted to attend the events but weren't able to will still be exposed, as well those who didn't know about it. Also, it will be an excellent venue for students in film production classes and others to display semester projects and other materials.

Though still in its fledgling stage, C4 TV has the potential to be a highly influential aspect of life at Conn. What could be a better voice and outlet for student opinions, showcase their abilities, and/or voice their concerns? According to Wilson Stiner, a junior in film studies and founding member of C4 TV, "C4 TV stands for Connecticut College Closed Circuit Television and is a student club, not just the assumed name of channel 82. The club has been in the works for two years now and was "created as an easily accessible venue for students to demonstrate their artistic visions, showcase their abilities, active voice their opinions." According to Wilson Stiner, a junior in film studies and founding member of C4 TV.

As of now, all of the programming is broadcast from Stiner's room. The signal from the decks is back-fed through a sub-modulator to Media Services, then throughout the entire campus to channel 82," said Stiner when questioned about how the operation works. The decks themselves are in four hour blocks.

Emmanuel

continued from page 3

Connecticut with his wife, Pinderidge (who will be teaching French in the spring at Conn) and his four year old daughter. He is thoroughly enjoying his teaching experience at Connecticut College, where he loves the environment he is involved with, the responsibilities of his students, and the small class size, which allows for "great discussion." He commented that he would love to continue to teach at Connecticut College after this year if the opportunity arises.

Last but not least, Emmanuel offered two important pieces of advice for college students: First, read as much as you can. Second, use the Internet as a tool to pursue as much as you can. If you cannot afford to buy books, you can often find the readings and class lectures, and apply this information as well as challenge your mind.

You would be crazy not to write for the Voice...

WANTED:

Lonely, stressed-out News Editor seeks numerous writers to make her feel more at ease. She enjoys editing, Quark, long walks on the beach, kittens, and enough staff to cover all the eventful happenings on campus. No specific gender required. Preferably no criminal record. Experience a plus!

Seriously. Join the rest of the talented news staff, improve your writing, and get to know the Conn campus a little better. Contact Sophie Mathewson at ccvoice@conncoll.edu.

News

New London Says “NO” To Violence

BY VALIDY MATOS

Coordinating Editor

Due to the recent events that have taken place in our nation, the New London Public School system and the Women's Center of Southeastern Connecticut co-sponsored a quiet vigil to support young girls and women in this country on Wednesday, October 12. Jennifer Blanco, a senior in New London High School, led the conversation on the steps of Bennett Drive Jackson Middle School.

Ms. Blanco, along with members of the New London community, Senator Andrea Stillman, New London Mayor Beth Salisbury and several Connecticut College students were present to show their support in ending this type of violence. In light of the recent killing of five girls in an Amish schoolhouse in Pennsylvania. After this event, Jennifer Blanco teamed with several co-sponsors to involve the New London Community as a whole. "I am aware of what is going on and pledge to you to do everything possible to prevent violence from occurring in New London," said Senator Stillman during the vigil. "I want to provide a safer environment for young boys and girls in our community."

Mayor Beth Salisbury said a few inspirational words as well. "As a woman, who is a mother, a former member of the board of education, and also a girls' scout leader, I know that girls and boys are valuable assets to this community," she added.

Each person in attendance was given a single rose at the beginning of the vigil and vowed to pledge their time and interest in the center to show their support. Jennifer Blanco added that she wanted to sign up after school program in order to keep young boys and girls safe following regular school hours. She reiterated that violence against girls is unacceptable and will not be tolerated. The last remarks were inspiring, an Connecticut College's chaplain Carolyn Paterno, said a prayer to end the gathering.

Spring Break 2007 Celebration

20th Anniversary w/ Sun Splash Tours

Free trip on every 12 before Nov. 1

Free Meals & Parties, Hottest Deals Ever

Group Discounts on 6+ Hottest Spring Break Destinations

1800-426-7710

www.sunsplashtours.com
Parents:

Subscribe to The College Voice!

The College Voice can help you stay informed. For only $50.00, you will receive 22 issues of the newspaper covering each week of the academic year. Campus news, sports, arts, entertainment, and opinion, will arrive in your mailbox each week.

Imagine calling your son or daughter, and knowing more than he or she about the opening game against Colby. Picture the surprised look on your child's face when you quiz them about convocation.

We urge you to consider subscribing to The Voice. Not only will you be supporting an entirely student-run organization, you will grow intimately involved each week with the workings of the Connecticut College community.

Yes! Please sign me up for a one-year subscription to The College Voice. I have enclosed a $50 check or money order for twenty-two issues of the newspaper.

Mailing Address
Name:
Address:
City: State: Zip:

MAIL AT ONCE TO:
The College Voice
Box 4970 Connecticut College
270 Mohegan Ave
New London, CT 06320

Please make checks payable to The College Voice.
Hint: He filmed his latest movie in Boston over the last few years.

Top 10 Harvestfest Moments!

10. Chili Con Carne.
9. The Club Soccer Calendar.
8. The Club Soccer Calendar.
7. Parents getting subscriptions to The Voice.
6. Ben Sherman lovingly embracing Mr. Strauss.
5. All the leaves are brown...and the sky is gray.
4. Putting everything on your parent's tab for the weekend.
3. Golden Retrievers and other assorted dogs roaming around.
2. That moment right before you get into the tent dance and everything's really loud and you're really excited.
1. Being in the tent dance.
Conn Hosts NESCAC Championships

By Gerald Wells

The Connecticut College women’s cross country team, which traveled to Williamstown this weekend, cools down after a workout on Knowlton Green (Mitchell). The Camels scored 633 points at the Championship this past Saturday. The women’s cross country team finished 10th. The men’s team, however, did not fare as well as they took 255th overall with a time of 28:18.

The women’s team performed well during the competition. The Camels scored 76 points; Boston College came in second with a score of 54 points, while UMass Lowell was third with 914. The winner of the event was UMass Lowell who managed to post a time of 29:12. Although the Camels didn’t win, they did manage to edge out the University of New England Championship this past Saturday.

The Washburn Invitational was held in Lebanon, N.H., was the first main event for the Camels, finishing 7th overall and posting a time of 20:50.

The event will be held at Harkness Memorial Park in Waterford. Connecticut College is the official host institution of the 2006 New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) Cross Country Championship.

Banner and Self Service will be unavailable from 5PM on Thursday October 19 until 8:30 AM on Monday 23 in order for the systems to be upgraded.

The go-live for this month has been scheduled for this month.

Women’s Soccer Looks For NESCAC Win Against Bowdoin

By Matt Fera

The Connecticut College women’s soccer team came home this past weekend to face the NESCAC rival Trinity College. This was a season-long goal for the Camels, consisting of three wins and three losses. With their third straight loss at 2-0, CT was looking for a victory on Saturday.

The game began and immediately took control. There was no doubt that the Camels were going to win, seizing the ball far better than Trinity, and this was shown in the multiple opportunities that the home team had in their offensive zone. Unable to find the finishing touch, however, the game remained scoreless throughout this game of Camels vs. Bantams. As has happened to the Camel rather often this year, this prevented “shocked” and the opponent made for one coming opportunity ended up in Trinity grabbing the goal. Trinity midfielder Devon Nwana，“I felt the Bantams’ first goal in the 19th minute. This quick turn of events continued from page 10

Less than a minute after Trinity took the lead, the Camels came back with a goal in the 20th minute. Elizabeth Claise ’08 posted a time of 19:30 en route to a 128th place showing. Heather Stanish was 142nd place in 20:21.

The Women’s Intersectional at Yale College coed Sailing has to publicly motivate his players. At least, not every other day of the week. I feel that the most poignant would be to forget about the playing fields and statistics for a day. As my dad wrote everyone’s of course. A team wins together and loses after a 49-5 drubbing against one of our arch rivals, the Flame Boys. This attitude will be apparent on game day and is a direct reflection of what goes on during these sessions. If you practice shit, you play shit.” A simple explanation during the practice sessions.

"Well, we practice everyday of the week. Our team practices, managers, coaches, players and even kit boys all show up the same and start stepping up their performance for the next week. A team is a collection of individuals and in order for any team to be successful it has to start with the same attitude of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what. It sure does. Nothing puts real life and what is important across their minds and makes each player realize the importance of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what. It sure does. Nothing puts real life and what is important across their minds and makes each player realize the importance of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what. It sure does. Nothing puts real life and what is important across their minds and makes each player realize the importance of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what. It sure does. Nothing puts real life and what is important across their minds and makes each player realize the importance of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what. It sure does. Nothing puts real life and what is important across their minds and makes each player realize the importance of each individual on that team - Talent is just a tool and it will make a team better, but the will to win. This passion and will is derived from the team that wants the win more and fights for each other, no matter what.

College corral head coaches head teams to the World Trophy at Dartmouth College. The team did not crack the top 10 on Saturday, as featured by CollegeSailing.org, for the week of October 3rd. Yes, they did receive votes.

You’ve made it this far, now have to work on the vote of confidence.
It was another strong showing for the Connecticut sailing crew when they took part in the Hamptons Cup this past weekend. The meet, held at the Island Beach Yacht Club, was on the beautiful Hamptons River. A strong field quite familiar to all competitive Crew sailors who make the daily trek across campus, through the athletic dorms, and down to the river’s edge. The Camel crew used their “home court” advantage to come away with an overall record of 10-0. This final posting reflected a successful day, considering the crowded field on hand at the Thimble Islands which featured competitive programs such as St. Mary’s, Yale, Roger Williams, and Boston College. Some of the Camel sailors who have triumphed at thousands of races over the years.

Successful Weekend For Conn Sailing
By Eric DeBee

Bad Bosses, Successful Weekend For Conn Sailing

Bad Bosses By Eric DeBee

CC vs. Queens, 11:00 a.m.
Mercyhurst vs. Iona, 1:00 p.m.
CC vs. Iona, 3:00 p.m.

In the first half, Lane displayed his excellent ability to steal a goal from Shannon Hayes when he dove to his right on a hard shot. Late in the half with .04 to play, it was Haymes again. This time Lane took a goal from the Brown slider with a fall dive knock down. In the second half Timmy returned to stop a goal, giving their best top shoot

In the end, I will go on, just as I have gone on for many years.

Sixth Perspective

Continued on page nine