Professor Libby at Western
College Describes Travels in Islands of Pacific

At the convocation period on March 28, Professor Libby, Professor of English, told in "L'Anglais tel qu'on le parle" (English as She is Spoke). The scene was laid in modern Paris, where Professor Libby was pleasured by a young Frenchman, until the latter had been taken into partnership in the banking house where he had been made a clerk. The couple eloped and engaged rooms in the Hotel de Cologne, where Professor Libby followed them. Professor Libby had much difficulty in expressing himself to the interpreter who could not understand English and who had been hired for one day only, during the absence of M. Spark, the regular interpreter. The interpreter being obliged to relate Professor Libby's story to the police inspector, and not having understood a word of the tale, evoked a story that the Englishman had been robbed by Cieandel, Cieandel was arrested, but the difficulties were finally overcome by a telephone message from M. Cieandel's banking house in London telling of his promotion to membership in the firm. Professor Libby gave his daughter to the young Frenchman, and all ended happily.

To begin with, to be aroused from the first half, the score was 9 to 8 in favor of the Blacks, just before time was called. However, R. Anderson made a basket from the field, making the score 10 to 8 in favor of the Whites. The teams made a stiff fight during the second half and kept the score so close that it was doubtful which would be the winner. The game closed with a final score of 18 to 16 in favor of the Whites.

The spectators were kept tense with interest throughout the whole game. A minute before the close of the first half, the score was 9 to 8 in favor of the Blacks. Just before time was called, however, R. Anderson made a basket from the field, making the score 10 to 8 in favor of the Whites. The teams made a stiff fight during the second half and kept the score so close that it was doubtful which would be the winner. The game closed with a final score of 18 to 16 in favor of the Whites.

Between the halves of the advanced class game, teams picked from the elementary class played off the first game of their series. The members of the teams were:

Blacks
A. Tutles
D. Grays

Whites
H. Rogers
J. Hatch

Guard
M. Prentis
L. Marsh

Forward
F. Saunders
J. Hatch

The game closed with a score of 22 to 11 in favor of the Whites.

The second game of the basketball series was played Saturday, April 8. The line up was the same as that of the week before, L. Marsh and R. Anderson, forwards for the Blacks and Whites respectively, did noticeably good playing. P. Ford did splendid work as side center.

The final score was 21 to 15 in favor of the Whites.

The game between the elementary teams was also played Sunday morning.

C. C.'s GYMNASIUM

Connecticut College needs a gymnasium. First, there is no class-room in the present College building that will contain with comfort the present student body. The addition of the freshman class of 1916 will more than double the demand for a hall of assembly. The dining hall which, with great inconvenience, is now used as an assembly hall, will be taxed to the utmost by the demand of the larger number of resident students, and must be devoted to its proper use as a refectory. Secondly, physical education, for its educational and hygienic value, has become an integral part of the College curriculum. All freshmen are required to give one hour daily to hygiene and physical training. Physical education is required of students of all years. For class work during the winter months, the present provision is by no means sufficient. Thirdly, the College plans as well to train special teachers of physical education for high schools and elementary schools. This is a developing phase of public education to which the College should contribute. It has planned a four-years course for students majoring in this field as part of their work for the B. S. degree. This work depends for its fulfillment upon the provision of gymnasium facilities and equipment, $1,000,000.

Need of College Songs in Connecticut College

We, as a student body, have been told more than once that we are responsible for the production of college songs. We have been told, also, that the college never seemed to come alive as it did when our own college song was heard by the public. We all know that the very word "college song" is suggestive and perhaps more so) of songs and cheers as it is of studies.

From the class in Music Interpretation we have had instrumental compositions that prove there are musicians among us. Why not have more selections and a few words with them, in order that they may become familiar to us all? Our freshman year is drawing rapidly to its close, and we do not propose for Field House songs and have them next year's class, as we were reminded by one of the faculty some time ago, will certainly go ahead of us in that respect, nor will it have much trouble in doing so.

A Word To The Wise Is Sufficient

The honor system of cutting classes was given to us at the beginning of the year. You would like to have it taken away by the end of the year? You would like to have it taken away by the end of the year? Then do not cut. Try to have a perfect attendance on the day preceding and the day following the Easter vacation. Try!

Suggestion For Beautifying the Court Between Dormitories

We have much low, level court between the dormitories. Now that spring has come, why not cease to use it for a "short cut" and a drive-way and so make it more pleasing to the eye? It will not be difficult to start the project and with a little attention we will soon have a smooth, green lawn. Perhaps a round garden in the middle, not too large, planted with gay colored tulips or the like, would add to its attractiveness.

The Cost of a College Girl’s Education

“The Cost of a College Girl’s Education” as an integral part of the standard of living of an increasing number of American families, has been investigated by F. Stuart Chapin, and the result of his investigations published in a recent issue of “School and Society.” His material has been gathered from systematic accounts kept by four hundred and twenty-one Smith College girls during the academic year, September to June, 1914-15.

Mr. Chapin says:

“The average expenditure of these students for different items was as follows:

- Clothing: $70.07
- Laundry: $6.50
- Traveling expenses: $5.57
- Housekeeping: $11.74
- Extra food, recreation and hospitality: $2.09
- Total charges for books, stamps and stationery: $28.95
- Church and charity: $5.24
- Incidental charges: $42.19

Total: $280.00 and over.

Average Expenditure for:

- Board and room: $60.00
- Traveling: $28.95
- Clothing: $70.07
- Incidental charges: $42.19

The result of a discussion which has arisen following the publication of Mr. Chapin’s article, “The News,” has determined to secure accurate accounts or expenditures of the last year from the students of Smith College. Cooperation is solicited and everyone who is interested is invited to leave an account slip, following the foregoing plan, in the yellow contribution box in the telephone room. Absolute personal privacy is assured, since names need not be attached. The compiled results will be published at a later time.

A Quiet Day

(Class II)

Though still not thoroughly recovered from her attack of ill temper, Everything went on smoothly until that awe-inspiring President, Lurrie, announced that a series of elections was to take place the next week, adding threateningly that every one would better come even if she did dislike elections. But worst of all, when the formidable president didn’t stop there—she added at once that those would befall any miserable offender who dared to cast a vote before or after the long, generous vacation which we are to enjoy at Easter.

By this time, Mary forgot completely her ill temper, recalling now from her own experience, that after all, a rest-cure of even one day at dear C. C. is a miraculous remedy for the grouch.
