PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS HEAR MISS WATSON

Advised To Take P. G. Work
Next Year

The Bureau of Occupations of the Cooperation of Women Teachers has received this year only half of the number of requests for teachers that it did last year—and last year was a very bad year. Miss Mary Watson, a Vassar graduate and director of the Bureau, told a group of Seniors about the discouraging situation, in an informal discussion Monday evening.

Miss Watson advised the Seniors to take post graduate courses rather than to try to find a teaching position next year. It will be much easier later to find a good position if a would-be teacher has an M. A. in her major subject. A year of apprentice training in a school such as Shady Hill School in Cambridge, or training in a Cooperative Training School would be equally valuable. Good private schools in New York City require two years of experience or of graduate work. Even while one is teaching, study should be continued. Travel is also recognized as a valuable part of the background of a teacher.

There is much difference of opinion as to the value of courses in education. Many private schools do not weigh heavily undergraduate educational courses, but many state laws do require them. In answer to questions, Miss Watson said that there is little opportunity for those who want to teach French unless they have studied abroad for at least a year. Latin is a dying subject and there is almost no demand for teachers of Latin. Opportunities for good primary and intermediate school teachers are greater than for secondary school teachers, but there are relatively few good teachers prepared for these fields.

Miss Watson had private conferences with Seniors on Tuesday morning to discuss their interests and questions.

C. C. TO OPEN POLLS

Wednesday, November 2nd, at seven P. M., the final political rally will be held in the Gymnasium for the Socialist, Republican, and Democratic Clubs. All Faculty and students are urged to come out and hear the final arguments for the three parties, and also to join the torch light parade which will follow.

On Thursday voting will be carried on all day in Fanning. Everyone is eligible to vote—not only those twenty-one years of age—but everyone. Faculty are also requested to vote.

The ballot will read as follows:

CLASS: .....

STATE: .....

CANDIDATES:

HOOVER .....

ROOSEVELT .....

THOMAS .....

The class numerals of the students are necessary for a study of the trends of the different classes. Faculty will designate themselves as such in this space also. The name of the home state is necessary for a determination of which states are carried by each party.

Connecticut is urged to have a one hundred per cent representation at the polls next Thursday.

PARTY RALLIES HELD

The different aspects of the campaign were presented at the party rallies held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Lewis, prominent Republican leader in the state, former member of the State legislature, spoke on the Republican platform, and led an interesting discussion on the various problems. She was assisted by Mrs. Crawford, a member of the State legislature.

On Thursday evening Mr. George Soule, editor of the New Republic, gave a most stimulating talk on the Socialist platform, and on Friday evening Mr. Duffy, Democratic leader in the State, presented the Democratic point of view.

With all the political points of view before the voting public on campus, response at the polls next week should be one hundred per cent.

COLLEGE GROUP GIVES REASONS FOR VOTING SOCIALIST TICKET

Socialism is a young movement and should appeal to all youthfully-minded people, but especially to young people. For, like any change that is to have a real effect on a civilization, Socialism will take some time to develop. It may be fifty years in coming, but Socialization of government is inevitable.

The platform of the Socialist party is sound and intelligent. Because they are attempting to establish a new thing, logical attempts have been made to offer the public something. Socialism has broken through the smug complacency of the Democratic and Republican parties and has started people thinking. While the Democratic and Republican parties were angling over their stands on prohibition, Norman Thomas was giving practical aid to the miners of West Virginia.

There is more to Socialism than unemployment repeal, but "when thirteen million men and women are out of work the repeal of unemployment becomes the most urgent necessity and the manner of its accomplishment one of the greatest challenges to Socialism." The general method by which unemployment will find relief is through "planned production for use, not profit." Some of the immediate steps in unemployment repeal which Norman Thomas outlined in a recent address are:

1. To make mandatory the five day week and six hour day.
2. To set up unemployment insurance (not as a substitute for work but as a supplement to it).
3. Complete abolition of child labor.
4. Free public employment exchanges.

Why vote Socialist? is a current question and one that can be readily answered. Socialism is an ideal and as such must be striven for. Certainly a large Socialist vote will compel the existing parties to further modify their programs to include more Socialist concepts and will increase the possibility of a third and liberal party in the United States.

"HEELERS" SURVIVE CUT

ANNUAL C QUIZ GIVEN

On Monday evening the Freshman class, clutching their C's and muttering over the rules, gathered in the gym for the traditional C quiz, conducted by the Sophomore class. Frances Rush, president of the Sophomore class, acted as chairman of the meeting. The Freshmen were given two opportunities to answer questions; if they failed to reply correctly the questioner was obliged to give the rule.

The Seniors, presiding in caps and gowns, were given the first chance to ask questions, and started out by dismaying the Freshmen with the question of "Where are the Birches?" The naming of the campus boundaries seemed to be another perplexing question, and the meaning of Koiné confused some. One Freshman managed to recite the Athenian Oath correctly, however. When the Seniors had finished, the Sophomores quizzed the class.

The most popular questions concerned the duration of quiet hours, chaperone rules, signing out, approved eating places, library hours, and the meaning of probation, with its restrictions. Other questions asked were the rules concerning smoking, taxis, cars, number of nights allowed, honor court, and duties in case of fire. Several interesting and unique conceptions of college rules were learned from the Freshmen as a result of this quiz.

DEAN NYE TO SPEAK

Dean Nye, A. B., Ph. D., L. H. D., professor of Greek and Latin here, will be the Convocation speaker this Tuesday. She will speak on "Archeology". She was an instructor in Latin and history at Washburn college from 1905-1908, professor of Latin 1911-1912 and of classical languages 1912-1915. In 1915 she came to Connecticut College as assistant professor of Greek and Latin. In 1916 she became professor of Greek and Latin. Her interest has largely been in the field of Archeology, so the College is fortunate in having her speak.

MISS KELLY ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT CHAPEL

Cites Experiences of Summer in Geneva

Alice Kelly, who spent the past summer in Geneva attending the Student's International Union, spoke of her experiences and activities while there, at Chapel on Thursday, October 20th.

Miss Kelly said that the Union was started about eight years ago for the purpose of bringing together students from all over the world in order that they might gain in international friendship. They try to facilitate an understanding of types and viewpoint, not only for themselves but to bring back to their colleges and countries the ideas that they have gained and in this way to further world peace and understanding.

Miss Kelly emphasized what the delegates could bring back that would further peace. They tried to see the problems not in an idealistic way but rather realistically. The least that they can do is to arouse an interest among their friends.

This summer they were delegates from England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Spain, Germany, Argentina, Italy, Egypt, India, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, and China who got to know each other not only in the meetings but also in their living quarters where several nationalities roomed together with a Swiss family.

The general program is as follows: The first two weeks there was a round table led by Noel Baker, a young Englishman who is making a great name for himself. He was assisted by such people as Ambassador Yen, Professor Gauche, an authority on the English Foreign Policy, Professor Rappand, Manley Hudson, who spoke here last year, and Mr. Butler, chairman of the International Cooperation.

The third week was spent on disarmament which was one of the most interesting parts of the summer. There were discussions of the Assembly, depression, and disarmament. One got new ideas and a broader realization of the problems that confront the world

Pres. Blunt Speaks In Chapel On "Courage"

"Most of us do not need physical courage so much as we need moral courage, because we are the victims of fear. We are afraid to make new friends; we are afraid to recite in class; we are worried about our work and worry is a kind of fear." So said President Blunt in addressing the Chapel audience Tuesday morning on "Courage" in relation to every day happenings and the importance of overcoming trivial fears.

President Blunt suggested the following points as a remedy for lack of moral courage: (1) analyze fear; (2) look at fear with a sense of humor; (3) face the fear physically; (4) do what you are afraid to do; (5) build a belief in yourself and your work; (6) rely on a Greater Power in ridding yourself of fear.

International Fellowship Group Meets

That Connecticut College has an increasing interest in International Fellowship, and in the International Student's Service was seen by the increased attendance at the meeting Tuesday evening of those people willing to work for the international atmosphere at Connecticut. Under the leadership of Mary Seabury, this group has been trying to obtain publicity for the Student's Inter- national magazine. Connecticut's quota of subscriptions is not yet filled.

It was announced at this meeting that attempts are being made to have a Connecticut student sent to Germany as an exchange student. The German officials are willing to accord this student the same privileges as their student would receive here.

EDITORIAL

POLITICAL POLICY OF THE "NEWS"

One of the weekly magazines of the country has spent the last few weeks berating President Hoover in every possible manner. According to it, he has no mentality, no ability to reconstruct our shattered economic world, and he has failed in everything he has attempted.

Magazines are supposed to carry to the readers an idea of the character and the possibilities of the candidate for office. Does this kind of propaganda show the common person what a man is?

A weekly or a daily paper is usually partisan to one party but that does not prevent it from being fair to the other candidates. Everything should be put before the reader so that he can judge for himself. It is not the part of the editor to decide for the reader.

We, in our mock campaign, should try as far as possible to give the "other fellow" his due, no matter how partisan we may be. It is by our intellectual training that we should be able to choose the right man.

Why should we Republicans say that Roosevelt is all wrong? We may not agree with his policies, considering a high protective tariff a conservative and sound financial plan and a careful foreign policy good; but is that any reason to state that his ideals are wrong? There are too many people who think they are right.

Hoover's popularity has been hit hard by the depression. People do not want to lay the blame at their own doors. Rather they mistakenly feel that the President has done it all. There is a bad under current of feeling all through the country that conditions are so bad now that a change cannot do any harm and may help. Things could be much worse; our money could be like the German mark, hundreds of other banks could go to the wall, and many more millions of people could be left to starve.

Now affairs are somewhat under control. It is merely a question of time until they can be straightened out. A drastic change of policy would turn the entire country upside down. It is this state of affairs that we must prevent and the reason we are voting for Herbert Hoover.

SPOOKS SPORT TONIGHT

President Blunt's Annual Halloween party will be held tonight in the gymnasium. Vague rumors of skeletons, graveyards, spooks, and weird entertainment have been heard. COME! have a jolly evening!

MED. EXAMS GIVEN

Although they have not been posted, medical examinations are being given to the Senior class. The girls are being asked in alphabetical order, and as one girl takes her examination, she is asked to tell the next girl about

NEW ATTITUDE NEEDED

"The Eyes Have It" was the subject chosen by Ralph W. Sockman, Pastor of the Madison Avenue M. E. Church of New York, who spoke to us on Sunday at Vespers. "Having eyes, see ye not?" Jesus asked His disciples, and Rev. Sockman, using this as his text, made us realize how few of the deeper things in life we do see.

Our eyes dominate us, he said, and so, noticing only the practical things in life, we have become "prisoners in this world of wines, motor-horns, and so forth." We thereby miss the deep and wonderful world of the philosopher, scientist, astronomer, and artist.

What we see is evident, but "what is in our minds?" asked Rev. Sockman. We do not look at our world with the mind of Christ; our minds are negative and His was affirmative. We have deteriorated into a kind of tourists attitude—chasing novelties and missing the real life which Jesus saw. "Christianity, if financed by spectators, has lost its thrill."

Let us get this thrill, urged Rev. Sockman; let us acquire the attitude of meditation and then we may help to bring the world to Christ's way of seeing.

SURVEY TO CONTINUE

The Sociology Department is to carry on the Ethnic Survey inaugurated throughout the student body last year, and to include the Freshmen and transfers. By doing this, and by including each Freshman class as it enters, a scientific and comprehensive survey will be obtained. The project becomes more significant as the number of cases increases. Last year's student body yielded a total of 549 cases. It is expected that two hundred more will be added this year.

This decision has come about because of the interest that the project aroused last year, and because of the success with which it was carried through. The results of the project were exhibited at the International Congress of Eugenics in New York in August. It was discovered that this work compared favorably with other population surveys. Because of the limited number of cases available, it was less comprehensive than the others, but by continuing it, this fault will be eradicated.

Last year the eight students who worked on it received no credit for their work. This year it is being carried on as a minor part in the work of some of the members of the Immigration course. Edith Richman '34, is in charge. Those working with her are Frances Greco '33, and Alice Kelly '33. The results will be published later in the year.

her appointment. Please do not forget them.

LIZZIE AND DIZZIE

Dear Dizzie:

Did you, by any chance attend the informal dance this past (passed?) Saturday? Honest, ole dear I felt sorry for that lone man at the beginning of the evening! If we don't recruit some more escorts before the next "informal" the men will be scared to come, and that would be a fine sityashun, eh what? Maybe we could get some of our prominent "men" actors to go over and lend the proper atmosphere. How's that for an idea, if I do say so myself? Yes, that's what I thought.

You know, a funny thing happened the other day, honest, no foolin'. Here was I, or should I say there was I? Anyway I was some place around putting the old brain to work just for exercise and enjoying the intellectual pursuit—boy, oh boy, you have no idea how I was enjoying it!—You know you should try it some time, for it's great, just for a change what I mean, especially if you get anywhere; the only trouble is that when you get there, what do you do, why you turn around and come back, unless you have already met reverses if you get what I mean, and then I suppose you'd shift into high and be on the up-and-up—but where was I anyway? Oh, yes, I was here, or there as it suits you—it didn't suit me as it was a case of clothes quarters (Do you see?)—and what do you know, I heard a very peculiar booming noise in the distance, and thought I it must be Tarzan himself, but on second thought (I should have said at second hand, only it wasn't working, the clock I mean) I decided it was the Socialist's call to arms and they were handing out something or 'tother—maybe the Republicans out the door. Imagine my surprise to discover it was only devotees to Terpsichore trying to imagine it was Spring. As a matter of fact they were sorta springing around but one shouldn't jump at conclusions.

Well, as I said to H. R. H. the P. of W., pip, pip, old dear, I must be popping. Drop me a line sometime—part of yours.
LIZZIE.

APPLES ARE FREE, BUT—

Give a listen, all you girls who seem to be so anxious to keep the doctor away! The apples that are given away so generously in the dining hall are supposed to supply all those who live on campus. A good many people seem to be making a regular fruit store collection of the apples, thus depriving the rest of the girls from having any of them. If each person will take only one after each meal, everybody will have a chance to get one. Also, don't bruise all the other apples in an attempt to get a good one!

FREE SPEECH

(The Editors of the News do not hold themselves responsible for the opinions expressed in this column. In order to insure the validity of this column as an organ for the expression of honest opinion, the editor must know the names of contributors.)

Dear Editors:

I notice you do take the names of the persons who so egotistically or egocentrically break into complaints as early in the college year as this—will you hand this answer to the first in that column signed "1933", issue of Oct. 15th, as my opinion of her. If that condition was general, then her article was well advised and in order. If, however, she aimed to thus publicly but behind your columns send forth insult at one instructor and was not a square shooter enough to go to that instructor and learn her side of the omission or lack of cooperation, then I'd like to say to her that her spirit is wrong and were I the instructor in question, I'd fear her and her backbiting critical attitude throughout the year. There must be a good reason for the condition of which she complains. The instructor may have been neglectful but even this must have an excusable side—IF—the instructor is worth studying under . . .

I am much older than this girl and wish to admonish her that any walk in life can find complainers and those of destructive force who think they are showing themselves up as individualists by voicing complaints, but the real constructionists and worth while folk have no time nor tendency to write such an article when they can talk to the person whom they deem negligent and so constructively clear up the situation without undue publicity to the instructor or to the neglect.

Honestly the wickedly critical attitude of this girl should be brought to her attention and she should start being constructive and not attack to destroy one under whom she studies.

Sincerely,

A Former Graduate.

October 18, 1932.

I spare my name that she may not feel embarrassed IF we meet. I know her.

Editor's note:

The above is an anonymous letter recently received by us, and though not intended for publication, perhaps one that should be set forth as an example to the rest of our readers. To our minds such a letter as the above is an example of the most despicable, underhanded, way of personally expressing oneself. Any one so positive and outright in her statements should be good-sport enough, should be honest enough to make known her identity. We wish to impress it upon the minds of our readers now and forever that we do not countenance such unethical actions. If the above letter was intended as a joke, it was an exceedingly

Faculty Science Club

A regular monthly meeting of the Faculty Science Club was held a week ago Monday evening in the Faculty room in Fanning Hall. The principal speakers were Dr. Blunt, Mrs. Wentzel of the Botany Department and Miss Utley of the Chemistry Department.

Dr. Blunt reviewed Vitamins, a Review of Present Knowledge, written by a group of English scientists. Mrs. Wentzel spoke on her research on the cell division and characteristics of the chromosomes of the foxglove. Miss Utley discussed the effects of various treatment on rats.

Science Club

At the first meeting of the Science Club held in the Botany Laboratory on Wednesday, October 19th, reports were given on the summer's work in the various departments. Moving pictures of the eclipse taken by Miss Burdett were shown. Muriel Schlosberg '33, told about the National Eugenics Conference in New York which she and several other students attended this Fall as representatives from the College. She described their exhibit, showed photographs of it, and explained charts which had been made after their Ethnic survey taken here last year. Dorothy Hamilton '33, gave a description of her summer in Maine, where she spent six weeks at the University of Maine's Marine Biological Laboratory. Moving pictures again illustrated the report, showing the students out on field trips and also some of the forms which they collected.

"What on earth are you up to now?"

"FINDING things out, smarty! I thought I'd examine the tobacco in a cigarette.

"Look here...this is Chesterfield tobacco. Notice its lighter color...you don't see any dark heavy types, do you? I guess that's why Chesterfields are milder.

"I'm told that uniformly lighter color is due to cross-blending. It sort of welds all the tobaccos into one.

"And here's something else. Notice that these long shreds are all cut the same width. It stands to reason they burn smoother and cooler.

"I don't pretend to be an expert but it looks to me as if they make Chesterfields right.

"Here, light one. That's the best test after all. They Satisfy."

FRESHMEN'S STUDY GUIDE

In order to help the Freshmen adjust themselves to the change in teaching and learning methods in college, the English Department is requiring all Freshmen to read Pressey's Students' Guide to Efficient Study. This book is a short, concise essay which has been published this year to help college Freshmen to form good study habits. It is full of helpful suggestions not only for Freshmen but for the student body as a whole. The following is a brief resume:

I. Plan your work. The Freshmen are urged to make a schedule and to stick to it. They are urged to develop a good study environment, and above all not to attempt to take part in too many extra-curricular activities during their first year at school.

II. Learn to concentrate: Freshmen are encouraged to form good study habits by developing attention and interest in their work.

III. Reading and Studying. Students are urged to make a preliminary survey of the work to be read, and then to read with intelligence, after which they are urged to recite the material to themselves.

IV. Note Taking. Freshmen are advised to use the outline form for note taking.

V. Reviews and Examinations. If students would set aside a regular weekly review period, the exam periods would be a much happier time.

These few suggestions will help the Freshmen to see that this little book will give them numerous stimulating ideas on how to develop good study habits. If the student begins in the right way, she would find that the hours which she spends in study will not be so boring. These little habits will help not only the Freshmen to see a brighter sun on the horizon, but they could also help upper-classmen if they would take the trouble to check up now and then on their study habits.

ALUMNAE NEWS

The jobless situation seems not to affect the matrimonially inclined according to our announcements. Summer and autumn marriages include the following: On June 4th Barbara Tracy '27, for five years Editor-in-Chief of the Alumnae News, to Peter Francis Coogan in Cleveland, Ohio; on June 25th, Caroline Bradley '31, to Andrew Brabner Wallace, 3rd, in Cleveland; July 10th, Jean Burroughs '30, to Donald Kohr, and a month later Margaret Burroughs '29 to Robert Kohr. ## MISS KELLY ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT CHAPEL (Concluded from page 1, column 5) and the difficulty that is before those interested in solving them. Miss Mary Wooley, President of Mount Holyoke College, who was attending the Disarmament Conference in Geneva, spoke to them. Being in Geneva at the same time as the Conference, and being able to attend the League of Nations Assembly as well as being in close contact with many interesting and important figures in world affairs of to-day, they felt as though they were on the very inside of things.

After this they attended the Zimmern School of International Relations. Miss Kelly mentioned that she was the only representative from Connecticut there and expressed her desire to see more attend from here.

One week was given over to a trip into Italy where they not only went sight-seeing and had fun, but also met many important officials and thus gained a new idea of the country.

Miss Kelly summed up her summer as the most interesting that she has ever spent and enumerated as her accomplishments; seeing the peace machinery work, seeing the problems and new aspects of International Peace, getting a chance to hear fine and interesting speakers, staying in one place long enough to feel a part of it and to find out how the people live, meeting the foreign students—getting new ideas about them and a broader understanding of their countries and their policies.

Lorna McGuire '31 received the M. A. degree at Radcliffe College in June for work in English Literature and has returned this fall to earn a Ph. D. in the same field.

Margaret Hazelwood '32 is a student at the Yale Drama School. Mary Scott '32 is in the Editorial Department of Heath Co., publishers, New York, and is at the same time doing graduate academic work. Barbara Johnson '32 is teaching at Shady Hill School, Cambridge, Mass. Mary Butler '32 is assisting in the Music Department in Dwight Junior School, Englewood, N. J.

MUSIC and ART

Art

The Art Department appears now in a new capacity. It has become a lending library. If any student thinks that a favorite picture, etching, or colored portrait would be just the thing for a bare and cold-looking wall space, then she will want to take advantage of this magnanimous offer. So far, nine etchings, mostly Rembrandts, and ten pictures, mostly colored portraits, have been taken out framed. If pictures are selected during the first semester, they must be returned between February 6-10. However, they may be changed for others before that time, if so desired. Those pictures which are taken out during the second semester must be returned between May 15-19. If the Art Department is in need of the frames, they will be recalled.

This offer is open to faculty and students. The pictures may be obtained in room 107 in New London Hall, from 10-11 in the morning, and from 2-3 in the afternoons except on Friday.

Music

The first meeting of the Music Club was held in Room 7 Plant on Wednesday evening, October 26. An informal program was presented by members of the Freshman class with a group of Autumn songs by Jean Marshall '33. A paper on current events in music was prepared by Betty Miller '33. The program included a piano solo, Waltz in A flat by Brahms, played by Alice Ann Jones '36; two violin solos, by Dorothy Stewart '36, Adoration by Borowski and an arrangement of the Negro Spiritual, Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen. Muriel Davies '36, played a cello solo, To the Evening Star from Verdi's Tannhauser. The vocal selections included Care Selve by Handel and Iris by Wolf, sung by Elizabeth Gearbail, and the Mock Turtle's Song from Alice In Wonderland, sung by Margaret Waterman.

The recital series of 1932-1933 is now complete and will include the following concerts, all of which will be given in the Gym at 8:15 P. M.:

Thursday, November 10—David Barnett, pianist.

Wednesday, December 7—Haydn Commemoration.

Friday, January 20—Alexander Kisselburgh, baritone.

Thursday, February 16—Paul Shirley, Viole d'amour.

Thursday, April 13—Lamson-Webster-Goldstein Trio.

CONF. AT WESLEYAN

Wesleyan University will be the meeting place for the Annual New England Conference of the International Relations Clubs this week-end. Connecticut is sending two delegates, Jean Pennock '33, and Margaret Mills '33, to represent the International Relations Club.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The weekly meeting of the A. A. Council was held Tuesday evening. It was decided in answer to a motion that students having less than a B- grade in posture will be able to play on the teams providing they take weekly posture tests to improve their grades.

The Hockey Club, sponsored by Charlotte Harburger '35 and Eleanor Jones '33, had its first meeting Tuesday afternoon and proved to be very popular. Honorary teams are the only ones that will be chosen from the club, and only those girls taking Hockey for credit will be allowed to play on the teams. There will be informal hockey for everyone, however, on week days and Saturdays. The suggestion was made that each house make up a hockey team and challenge teams from other houses. A lot of fun and friendship could be gained in this way.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

An inter-class tennis tournament has been in full swing for the past week. The squads, consisting of the most promising players from the various tennis classes, were chosen by Miss Wood and the managers, Jessie Wachenheim '33, Jean Stanley '34, Hazel Depew '35, and Ellen Woodhead '36.

On Monday, October 24, the Seniors opposed the Sophomores in doubles and the Sophomores came out ahead. The Juniors played doubles against the Freshmen, but the match was not completed on account of darkness.

The Seniors vied with both the Freshmen and the Juniors in singles on Thursday and the Sophomores also opposed the Freshmen and the Juniors.

Today, at one o'clock, the Seniors will play doubles with the Freshmen and singles with the Sophomores, while the Juniors will compete with Sophomores in doubles and the Freshmen in singles.

The squads are as follows: 1933, S. Crawford, W. DeForest, V. Donald, R. Ferree, E. Jones, V. Swan, J. Wachenheim, E. White; 1934, E. Archer, C. Baker, D. Bard, J. Berger, M. Bogart, R. Brooks, M. Curnow, R. Jones, H. Laycock, M. L. Mercer, D. Merrill, E. Moon, L. Riley, G. Russell, C. Sams, J. Stanley, V. Warde; 1935, M. Bach, B. Birney, J. Butler, C. Cartwright, G. Coon, H. Depew, Dewey, R. Fairfield, E. Farnum, C. Fitzgerald, D. Gilbert, V. Golden, J. Hadsell, R. Howell, V. King, B. McKay, Parkhurst, A. Rochester, M. Rademan, H. Webster, R. Wor-

INTER-CAMPUS CUTS

The Intercollegiate Hour of the Tomahawk gives us this choice item: "C. R. Ham, assistant professor of business at Washington State, has collected statistics to prove that non-smokers rank higher than those who affect the 'filthy weed'. Professor of what business? Not the advertising business!"

* * *

Here's another from the Tomahawk: A group of males at Washington University have organized a "Society of Female Aid". They rent their frat pins to unadorned and unsought co-eds. Working their way through college?

* * *

The Hunter Bulletin has a new idea of beating this "hyar" depression. An ad topping one of their columns states: "Caps and Gowns, sold at great reductions, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, lunch hour at the Exchange." Must belong to the Union!

The Alabamian quotes Bernadine Freeman in the Journal of National Educational Association on that vital question "Is this education?"

"I can solve a quadratic equation but I cannot keep my bank balance straight. I can explain the principle of hydraulics but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet. I can read the plays of Moliere in the original but I cannot order a meal in French. I can conjugate Latin verbs but I cannot write legibly. I can recognize the leit-motif of a Wagner Opera but I cannot sing in tune. I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener but I cannot control my own temper!"

Teck News reports that the University system of Germany is dominated by one idea, "complete liberty" both in the selection of courses (except in special professions), and in the private life of the student. No entrance exams, no points or credits and no intermediate exams.

INT. FELLOWSHIP GROUP, ETC.

The Connecticut College International Group plans to have a tea in the near future. This tea will be of international character, in order to acquaint the students with the organization, and to spread the international atmosphere.

A paper chase was held Saturday afternoon, October 13. Marjorie Nicholson '35, was the winner. Jumping was one of the main features of the afternoon. More paper chases will probably be held throughout the fall.

FREE SPEECH

feeble one; if it was intended seriously, then it was a grave error on the part of the writer, whoever she may be, and in our opinion an act of cowardice.

In answer to her attack, we assure you that no letters but those expressing the opinion of the many are printed in our column. We require the name of the writer, that we may investigate the truth of her outburst. Beyond that we do not hold ourselves responsible for letters intended as Free Speech. This column is open to anyone who wishes to speak forth a general feeling. We are of course perfectly willing and glad to accept any personal complaints concerning the paper, but we do request that like all other personal and private communications they be signed. Surely if anyone thinks enough about a matter to write about it, she will be willing to identify herself with the letter. Although in the case of Free Speech, the names are not published unless desired, they must be known to the editors beforehand. No anonymous letters will hereafter be seriously considered or read, but will, on the contrary, be consigned to their rightful place—the waste basket.

Dear Editor:

Leadership measures the power of the executive in office. How well does he manage the diversified factions and the enormous variety of personalities involved in an administration? Practical politics requires the ability of the executive to weld these incongruous elements into a coordinating and efficient unit. A candidate may have splendid political ideals and may be truly altruistic in his motives and intentions. Unless he can win others to his point of view he cannot accomplish much. Mr. Hoover has been working against terrific odds. He has been blocked at many points by an unsympathetic Congress. If he had had the quality of leadership which carried people with him, he would not be accused of doing nothing when critical situations called for action. Mr. Hoover may have valuable qualities which Mr. Thomas or Mr. Roosevelt lack. However, I feel that Mr. Roosevelt possesses leadership. It may not be a genius of leadership, but I think it is more powerful and dynamic than that which Mr. Hoover has shown.

The platforms of the Republican and the Democratic parties are not so essentially different. At the present time both parties are split. Perhaps the new alignment of parties is in the process of being formed. The man who is the next President will have the task, in addition to his regular duties, of keeping reconciled factions which are becoming ever more incompatible. Hoover has had adequate opportunity to prove his ability in this line. Certainly he has not made an overwhelming success of it. On the other hand, Governor Roosevelt, during his Governorship, has also had a splendid chance in the same line. In New York on a smaller scale there are as many factions to manage as Hoover had to satisfy in the nation. Governor Roosevelt's enthusiastic re-election to the Governorship attests to his success.

Therefore the nation needs a change from a man who is an excellent engineer to a man who is an excellent executive!

"KOINE" TO START DRIVE

A drive to sell "Koiné" will begin next week, and it is hoped that everyone will cooperate. Those whose pocketbooks have felt considerably flattened in past years, will be pleased to hear that the price of the year book has been reduced. The names of those who will go around to the various houses to collect money are as follows:

COMMUTERS HAVE PARTY

Friday was the night—Fanning was the place—Hallow'een the occasion and hilarious the party. Yes, a real old-fashioned Hallow'een party with lots 'n lots of cider and luscious doughnuts, gobbled and guzzled heartily and happily by the care-free Commuter's. Then to add to the merriment apples were ducked for, marsh-mallows were toasted, and inimitable "Martha and Marge" mimicked their buddies in appropriate "ragging" songs. A prize was awarded to the one who succeeded in identifying the greatest number of burlesqued descriptions of her past. Afterwards dancing and bridge.

WITH CLIVE IN INDIA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin ... inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives, at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire—as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies
... the mildest cigarette
you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

A senior at the Dramatic Club rally the other night was laboring under the delusion that "props" are the supports which hold up the flats.

There seems to be a little competition between the Branford ping pong school and the tea house faction. Tea house will probably win out as all the Branford balls are cracked.

Take hiking and campcraft and learn to pitch a tent. It must be discouraging to have to take it right down again though. It would seem more to the point to have classes out in Bolleswood in the shade of the old khaki tent.

It must be fun to build fires after a week of rain; the depression seems to reduce the number of matches allowed, to two apiece. It's a tough life.

We think there must be a conspiracy between the Child Welfare Society and Homeport. After all, it's much too far to walk all the way down to Holmes Hall for lunch.

Can it be that Seniors are so wary of their dignity that they do not trust themselves on their privileged roller skates?

Two freshmen were heard to inquire whether one attended the dance stag. It would be a sorry world for most of us if a man were an entrance requirement.

Wouldn't it be something to go swimming in the Coast Guard pool? Before you know it we'll all join the navy and see the world.

If the office runs out of sign-out slips it will be because of the special week-end rates to New York. Everyone pray that they hold good for Thanksgiving.

Those who take riding are aware of the fact that the stables have been replenished with two horses and a cat. Jonquil Jodhpur, the feline addition, wins the popularity contest every time.

And then there was the Junior who yelled down the hall, "We don't have any Heredity to-day, do we?" She really should take that course in Drama and then there would be no doubt in her mind.
