CC International Weekend Will Be Held November 18

Max Lerner To Speak; Plans For Discussion

By Jane Rutter '46

On November 15th, at 10:00 p.m., Max Lerner, former professor of political science at Williams college, and now assistant to the publisher of PM, will be the guest speaker at one of the Intercollege Intercollegiate Weekend. A discussion relative to Mr. Lerner's speech, entitled "International Relations," will be held Friday evening in 100 Hill. This is the first in a series of discussions between students and faculty members.

International Weekend will be held this Friday, November 17, and Saturday, November 18.

Amherst Professor To Be Lecturer On Shakespeare

Held November 13

Weekend Will Be Busy For Amherst Students

Preface to a Research

Professor C. F. Tucker Brooks will be guest lecturer on Shakespearean drama in the absence of Dr. Dorothy Bethurum, chairman, of the department of English, during the whole of the second semester. Dr. Bethurum will have a leave of absence in order to work in Washington, D.C., New Haven, and Cambridge on her book.

A Sterling professor of English at Yale university, Professor Brooks will hold his lectures on Monday afternoons from 4:15 to 5:15.

A distinguished Elizabethan scholar, Professor Brooks is particularly noted for writing the history of English drama. This interest is also well known as a Shakespearean and Marlowe scholar, having written the first complete translation of the plays of the latter, issued in 1939.

Professor Brooks was a general editor of the "Byrnes Shakespeare" which contributed Shakespearean Stratford. He is the editor, with Samuel Schooled, of the "Shakespeare's Sonnets." He is likewise the editor of Shakespeare's Sonnets.

Midnight Oil, Campaign Pins, Hail Election

By Jane Rutter '46

On election day and election day ever since the beginning of democracy—and probably for years before—there seems to have been a waste of time in the preparations made. But somehow in this year of our Lord 1944, it seems to have some more signifi-ence than ever.

For the past few months the two major parties of this country have been pressing their campaigns. There has been this year, as is true in any other election year, the usual mud-slinging, and probably the usual yelling of slogans, all of which is credited but electioneering, be they as humble like the election of a house president—"say to meet several of the mid-western states.

The election is a great moment for the students asking for help there. The usual mud-slinging, and probably the usual yelling of slogans, all of which is credited but electioneering, be they as humble like the election of a house president—"say to meet several of the mid-western states.

There Are Three Methods

In all pressure a constructive influence in this college is a student government for it is merely an empty phrase tossed about on the winds of student opinion. Is it not necessary that a student group or device does each student recognize the importance of it? Every student does have a distinct obligation and responsibility, for social pressure is to have a positive result (hence) for the sake of honesty and simplicity, that there are deviations from the rules made uniquely for the good of the student body and that there are deviations from the unwritten laws of social behavior, what, outside of coercion, can be done to correct these variances? The answer to this question is clear.

Suppose a student knows of a deviation, discrimination, violation, any fault peculiarly placed on the person of one of her friends. The easiest thing is to ignore it; to say, "Why, that's perfectly all right; she's only hurting herself, I'm not her keeper." This is not going to get to the one who has done wrong and to the one who ignores her responsibility. If this is repeated, the former developed; democratically the result becomes, she cannot out, the group, she understands, and suffer no consequences. The latter, who neglects her responsibility, is also in danger of developing a perverted sense of values. We cannot overlook these consequences and life can be effective and beneficial without each person recognizing her obligation.

A harder way to correct these deviations from the norm of social behavior is to write a signed note to the culprit. This would be a matter of Student Government standards; accomplishing to report her to her proper authorities. It has the way in that it requires actual inaction, and yet it is easy to have her removed. It is only an indirect means to accomplish the task.

The hardest solution to the problem for the student who is aware of misconduct on the part of another, to go to her may, if you've broken a rule, and I think you should go to Honor...
Correct Attitudes After Election Is Subject of Speech

President Dorothy Schaffter opened her chapel talk on Tuesday morning in the Smith Chapel by outlining the importance and the uniqueness of this year's election. While local elections are still important, the election of Parliament has not been overlooked and was encouraged, except to fill vacancies. However, the only local election that will be held in England after the defeat of Germany, as mentioned by the President, is the Parliamentary election, not the local school board election.

Representative Government

"We are the only country in the world that has the right and the responsibility to legislate in large, unitary form. A decision of the government is one of the democratic institutions which we are fighting to preserve, it seems important to understand this fact."

Miss Schaffter continued her talk of the first one since her college days during the war years, in which she felt she had taken an active part. The present and past were compared:

Lack of Time for Careful Study

"I am merely unable to take the time to analyze things properly. I am finding it impossible to engage in politics unless I really have no other way to go but to plan to what I would so that would be the possible for a person whose profession was the teaching, and the teaching of government."

The president then voiced her很深 concern over the study of the election, a discussion of college presidents, teaching, and the role of the representative in Congress. She said this was a "very important educational problem for the community." The president of the college committee to have a serious obligation to itself.

Planning for the Future

Hiking, Parties, and Skating
Suggested For The Arboretum

by Sally Radovsky '47

Have you been searching for a novel way to celebrate your remaining college days? Are you tired of being yearned to get the going to a song in feet if no one is available here? You can do it yourself in the comfort of your own room. Well, you can do just that and enjoy the sunshine, the fresh air, and the fresh space.

Buck Lodge is an ideal place for any such party and you can easily have it in the evening, provided there are at least five in the group. Mixers are suggested for those who may spend the next few hours and must consist of eight parts, but for four persons, it is recommended that you be a bit of a party bug in your group instead of five or ten.

In order to plan on some hot dogs and marshmallows because sometimes there are a lot of people around, you can have your own set of s'mores and don't forget your cooking utensils, a bottle of water, and some food. You can have a picnic with some sandwiches, some carrots in the lodge; and since the temperature is usually lower, you can light a candle or a lantern for an evening party. You can bring a blanket inside Buck Lodge, but please remember that you're not allowed to bring inside Buck Lodge, but please remember that you'll be able to combine a long hike with a Buck Lodge party for your roommates.

Skiing

Soon the pond will be frozen over and perhaps you'll be able to plan to make some hot coconuts in Buck Lodge after an afternoon of skating. If the weather man is with you, then you can have your own private ice rink, and even then the Arboretum is still a good place for a short or even a long time.

There are several miles of rough trails through the woods near Buck Lodge if you start early on the right side. You might try identifying the different trees and shrubs you'll find on your walk—and you can be a student in the Arboretum of every kind that is native to the state of Connecticut.

If you walk a short distance to Buck Lodge, you'll find the lake on the east by a granite ledge. The granite ledge is a few ancient rock formations, and when Thomas Babes received "Bolleswood" from the Michigan Chief, Owassocom. Running through "Bolleswood" is a road which will take you to the "Bolleswood" cottage, a small, lovely house on a 20-acre site, overlooking the lake, with a pleasant view of the lake and the two-parent families. It is the home of the Connecticut Department of Agriculture.

Exploring Invited

These are just a few of the many lovely spots in the Arboretum. You'll probably find yourself walking along the edge of the lake, if you have the time to stroll the daytime and to go either near the river or near the shore. The lake is an excellent place for swimming in the summer, and if you're very lucky, there are sometimes fishermen in the lake who are willing to share their knowledge with you.

This is exciting. So stop by and get a feeling for the beauty of the Arboretum, because it's one of the five hazard.

State or Ski

Are you thinking about ski clubs and what kind of club you'd like to join? What about going to a ski club in the mountains and getting away from the city for a few days? There are some ski resorts that offer skiing and snowboarding, and you can even have a snowmobile if you're interested. You can even have your own private snowmobile if you're interested. You can even have your own private snowmobile if you're interested. You can even have your own private snowmobile if you're interested. You can even have your own private snowmobile if you're interested. You can even have your own private snowmobile if you're interested. Candidates' Records, Present Plans Are Stressed at Forum

The topic announced by Dr. Harry Mason, who opened the debate Wednesday evening, was "Presidential Campaigns by the Campaigns of 1944." The forum was held in the Smith Chapel and attracted a large audience.

The theme of the forum was the importance and the necessity of voting in the 1944 election. The speakers discussed the candidates' records and their present plans. The forum was attended by a large audience of students and faculty members.

Power of Women is Definitely Proven at Fri. CGA Rally

by Mary Bitt '47

The Friday night rally for the 1944 Community Chest Drive in the campus, already proved conclusively that women can be just as successful as the men. The students, who had been able to put up a good show, were not outdone—although not quite as successful as the men.

Dorothy Nickenig was the last speaker of the night, and her talk concerned the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. She discussed the importance of this organization and the benefits it provides to the armed forces.

The rally was an exciting event for the students, and it proved that the power of women is definitely proven. It was a great success, and the students were pleased with the outcome.

The rally was open to the public, and it was a success. The students were pleased with the outcome, and they were excited to see the power of women in action. It was a great success, and the students were pleased with the outcome.

Bringing quartets, as good as the Hart House Quartet, cannot be brushed aside as being trivial. Although chamber music at present has not the popular appeal that symphony orchestra, it has an extremely important place in the field of music. When one considers especially the wealth of musical literature in that idiom written by the greatest composers at their most mature periods, the composition chamber music acquires its own true and irresistible hold on those who would know and love all music.

Three Works Played

The program of the Hart House Quartet consisted of works by Franz Schubert, Vaughan Williams, and Ludwig van Beethoven. The Quartet in E flat by Schubert was warm and melodious, and it even became quite gay in the Scherzo (Prestissimo). The viola in the Finale ( Allegro) with its plucked bass was deep and rich. Vaughan Williams’ Quartet in G minor flowed quietly and then suddenly with an intensity that was devastatingly effective. The dissonances and range required by the organization. Miss Simonton says she loves New England in the fall but is longing for the slight of a December mountain for a change. An- other of her chief likes is the idea of remodeling construction work. The lines of the pet peevish adias Simonton says her latest scheme is to buy two trunks who like to talk politics when all she wants to do is sit in the sun and see the town she’s vis- iting.

Hockey

The hockey games seem to have taken the flavor out of the last two weeks of sports activity. Last Friday the freshmen and the sophomores tangled in a fray postponed from the previous Friday. This game was nip and tuck most of the way. The sophomores came out on top of a 2-1 score. The preceding Wednesday, the juniors and the seniors played a very tough game. The "old ladies" as the seniors on the hockey field are called, were victorious in the struggle, winning a 3-2 score. It's anybody's guess as to who will be the champs. As "Beat Brown" was spelled out in big lighted letters in Chase hall, "Gee, that's terrific," said one highly impressed CC girl. "Yeah, but just wait till they find out the shades are cut," was the gleeful answer of her CG escort.

Policy Concerning Excusing Campuses Is Altered by War

Marjorie Lawrence, Chief Justice of Honor Court, emphasized three points at Amalgamation meeting on Monday night, November 6. Last week four students failed to sign out when leaving for a week end. The seriousness of this offense was explained, since it is important that every student be accounted for when off campus.

Another point emphasized was that students must not go to New York or Boston without a confirmed hotel reservation or a definite place to stay. A new Honor Court policy has been put into effect this year due to wartime conditions, concerning the excusing of "campuses." There will now be no advance notice as to whether or not the breaking of campus will be excused without further penalty. After notifying either the chief Justice of Honor Court or one of the judges, a person who intends to break campus must report afterwards to state her or his excuse. These six judges, instead of the chief Justice alone, will decide whether or not the breaking of the campus will be excused, the penalty doubled, or a more severe fine prescribed.

ounce her engagement to Lt. (j.g.) John Kendall Bagge, USNR. Lt. Bagge is aboard the Augustana.

Bette Turner '46 received her engagement ring from Army sergeant Reddy last Sunday. Odell Reddy is stationed in San Antonio, Texas at present. Their marriage will take place some time around Christmas.

It has been strongly recom-silently for a few minutes, and finally, not being able to attend the strains and then exclaimed, "Please, kids, what kind of a sport is that?"

There have been stories and talks about women falling on their faces before men, but not many have actually been seen or actually occurred. That is, not up until Friday night at the CG rally. During the snake dance Clara Tracy '45 bit flat, but unfortunately others bit too. According to recent theories these bittuhes have all been for Dewey and the next girl. Thomas Morgan '47

the following evening he was in Tramplcy Tracey's barbershop.

Campaign buttons have been flying out of the pockets of the at-

for the next girl. Before the rally last Friday, Pat Thomas '47 promised a dance to Miss Tracy (who may be) if the CG girls won the next election. The CG girls won for their dances. In return for her promise, Pat Thomas agreed to attend the rally and to give a
