Rabbi Rudin to Speak
At Vespers Sunday Night

Rabbi Jacob Philip Rudin will be the guest speaker at Vespers services Sunday, November 7.

A distinguished Jewish educator, Rabbi Rudin was graduated sum laude from Harvard University in 1924 and was ordained at the Jewish Institute of Religion four years later. He then became assistant to Rabbi Stephen Wise in New York and is currently the rabbi at Temple Beth El of Great Neck.

An active contributor to American Jewish Life, Rabbi Rudin was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1948. Since then, he has been president of the Jewish Institute Alumni Association, president of the Hebrew Union College, president of the Association of Reform Rabbis of New York City, and president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He is presently a member of the Board of New York Board of Rabbis and vice-president of the Synagogue Council of America.

He entered in the U.S. Navy in 1943 and was the first Jewish chaplain on duty in San Francisco. He served for 21 months in the Pacific as Jewish chaplain in the 14th Naval District, covering the islands in that area.

Rabbi Rudin is the author of two publications. "A Hashtag for Children", and "So You Like Poodles!"

"Where does the Ethel Walker of Debbie graduate who never had a good time doing it, go to college? She goes to Brandeis!"

"CENTENNIAL: Girls hail from the lovelier eastern girls' prop (Continued on Page Five)

Tigers Hit Low
By Rae Dawors and Matthew
The first of us to read Princeton's informative Where The Girls Are was impressed to learn that Connecticut College girls are not "out to kick off" and "seven sisters aspires who didn't quite make it." The girls are rather unassuming, rather unassuming, rather unassuming, rather unassuming, rather unassuming.

Friendship is the key to this "beautiful," "good conversationalists, and generally good dates." In fact, the Princeton men had to concede that a trip up here is "well worth the time."

However, our hearts bled for our fortunate sisters. For instance:

"What is the difference between the Off-Beat and the Off-Beat?"

Ask the English major. The topic of his lecture is "The English major."

He has presented a paper on the response of the Southern judges to the civil rights movement in the United States. He will analyze the comparative objectives, resources, and tactics of principal civil rights organizations.

He has also been a Guggenheim Fellow, a Fellow of the National Institute of Health, and has written for two publications. "A Haggadah for Brides" and "A Haggadah for Children," and is "well worth the time."

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The

The topic of his lecture is "The Editorial...

The Oversight in The Overnight

Student Government rules concerning overnight absences from the college dormitories have come a long way in recent years. The trend has been toward more overnight absences and less class discrimination. At present, the upper-classes have unlimited overnights. But freshmen are still limited in the area of overnights.

As it stands now, they are permitted ten overnights each semester. Freshmen on the Dean’s List are given upper-class treatment and so are the few students who are ruled eligible because of their high grades. There are only the occasional, forced departure from classes. The extent of attendance at the overnight dances is determined by the students themselves, J.L.M.

The purpose of the overnight dances is to give students an opportunity to get away from college life and to relax.

Tears...

The Oversight in The Overnight

Student Government rules concerning overnight absences from the college dormitories have come a long way in recent years. The trend has been toward more overnight absences and less class discrimination. At present, the upper-classes have unlimited overnights. But freshmen are still limited in the area of overnights.

As it stands now, they are permitted ten overnights each semester. Freshmen on the Dean’s List are given upper-class treatment and so are the few students who are ruled eligible because of their high grades. There are only the occasional, forced departure from classes. The extent of attendance at the overnight dances is determined by the students themselves, J.L.M.

The purpose of the overnight dances is to give students an opportunity to get away from college life and to relax.

Tears...

The Oversight in The Overnight

Student Government rules concerning overnight absences from the college dormitories have come a long way in recent years. The trend has been toward more overnight absences and less class discrimination. At present, the upper-classes have unlimited overnights. But freshmen are still limited in the area of overnights.

As it stands now, they are permitted ten overnights each semester. Freshmen on the Dean’s List are given upper-class treatment and so are the few students who are ruled eligible because of their high grades. There are only the occasional, forced departure from classes. The extent of attendance at the overnight dances is determined by the students themselves, J.L.M.

The purpose of the overnight dances is to give students an opportunity to get away from college life and to relax.

Tears...
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

It is interesting to note the tendency to select and slightly gloss over certain inaccuracies or inaccurately report certain inaccuracies or inaccuracies. This has been done in the past and it is important that this be done. When I read an article about the history of the world, I am interested in what actually happened. The tendency to gloss over or misrepresent the facts is not helpful.

The facts I have found are that the history of the world is not as simple or as clear as some would have us believe. The tendency to simplify or gloss over the facts is not helpful in understanding the world. It is important to understand the world as it is, not as it is sometimes portrayed.

Yours truly,
[Signature]

[Name]

Dear Editor,

Regarding the recent article on the history of the world, I would like to point out a few inaccuracies. The article glossed over the fact that the world is not as simple or as clear as it is sometimes portrayed. It is important to understand the world as it is, not as it is sometimes portrayed.

Yours truly,
[Signature]

[Name]

College Students Gain Experience Through Varied Summer Jobs

By Call Goldstein

Lumberjacks without socks, olive-drab Levi's, and summer jobs are still in vogue on the Connecticut College campus.

A survey on the summer activities of the senior class, conducted by the Personnel Bureau, showed a 95 per cent response. Here are the results:

Doctors: Seven percent of the doctors worked during the summer. Many of them worked as a form of community service.

Computer scientists and engineers: 23 percent of the computer scientists and engineers worked during the summer. Many of them worked for companies or government agencies.

Civil rights worker: The whole country was in a state of tension during the summer of 1965. Many of the students worked as civil rights workers, as a form of community service.

Volunteer: Eleven percent of the students volunteered during the summer. Many of them worked in non-profit organizations or religious organizations.

Specifically, the students who worked as volunteer teachers and doctors were the most satisfied with their experience. They were able to make a difference in the lives of others.

In addition to working, the students also enjoyed the outdoors and the weather. Many of them spent time camping, hiking, or simply relaxing.

Overall, the students who worked during the summer were satisfied with their experience. They were able to gain valuable work experience, and at the same time, they were able to make a difference in the lives of others.

Yours truly,
[Signature]

[Name]
Junior Honors Program in Second Year:

English and History Major At Work

"I don't think it is a radical change in the educational program that I, or do you think it represents real improvement," said Mr. F. Edward Cranz, history department chairman, commenting on the Junior Honors Program in history.

The department this year has four seniors and four juniors are participating in the honors history program.

All students interested in the junior program consult their major advisor at registration time. The program, which begins under the auspices of the English and History Major at the start of the new semester, is open to any student majoring in history who has not yet been announced.

Mr. Cranz expressed the hope that the honors program might help to build a bridge between the academic world and the more course work and the broader intellectual environment which most students have not yet been announced.

Mr. Cranz expressed the hope that the honors program might help to build a bridge between the academic world and the more course work and the broader intellectual environment which most students have not yet been announced.

A 3.0 average in her major is a prerequisite for the program. In addition to this, her major year and her major topic, the student will receive credit for her major year and her major topic, the student will rece...
Irish History Subject Of Study for Professor Mulvey

By Mary D’Esopo

Serious research in which a pedagogist engaged has a value beyond the discoveries and further growth which it may appear in the field of its own growth. It evidences the teacher’s mind and enriches his course in the study of the subject.

Many of our faculty are involved in organized pursuits in fields of interest, and the ConnCensus plans to report on various faculty research projects and publications in order to bring such activity to the awareness of the college community.

Professor Helen F. Mulvey is currently engaged in research on Irish history. Her particular interest in Ireland stems from the student’s relevance to her special field of British and Irish Commonwealth history.

Miss Mulvey is writing a biography of Thomas Davis, whom she considers to be one of the most significant figures of nineteenth and twentieth-century Irish nationalism, and one of the founders of the most famous of all Irish newspapers, The Nation. It is not possible to say what he has accomplished. In his influence on the later history of Ireland is largely overpraised by nationalists, of whom he is an adulatory work, published in 1922, the centenary year of his death.

Of his nationalism, Miss Mulvey writes: "I cannot honestly consider it worth considering even possible. A unique problem for the Irish historian is the scarcity of records, a tragic result of the destruction of the Irish Public Records Office, which was done in Irish history. Although the great significance and were probably underpraised by nationalists, of whom he is an adulatory work, published in 1922, the centenary year of his death.

Miss Mulvey has written another article, "Ireland’s Commonwealth," which appeared in the journal of the National Library of Ireland, appearing in the journal of the National Library of Ireland.

In this article, Miss Mulvey observes that the Irish have undergone a peculiar but great national renaissance. "What is the present size of the library that is used for classrooms and faculty offices, as a result of an extensive study made last spring?"

John Detmold, director of development, stated that such an increase in size and capacity will not be necessary for perhaps twenty years, but that the space could be used for classrooms and faculty offices until it is required for library use.

He emphasized the importance of making the necessary improvements now since building costs increase significantly each year.

Architects Shreve, Lamb, and Harmon, designers of the two present wings of the library, also spent a great deal of time last summer studying the various possibilities for change.

According to Mr. Detmold, it is not only a matter of adding to the library, but of altering its internal structure. Difficulties arise since the library itself consists of three rooms while there are five levels of stack.

Mr. Detmold also made several immediate recommendations which have already materialized. The lighting system, which he considered inadequate, has been improved.

The reserve reading room layout, also judged inadequate in its view of the stacks, has been altered since the space was opened in 1959.

In addition to the general design, Ms. Faith Gulick, Administrative Assistant to the Director of the American Theatre, accepted the award. She was accompanied by the award trophy, given by the American Shakespeare Festival, which she presented to Miss Ruth Dunbar Elder, Grounds Manager, New York City, who received the award in Miss Elder’s absence.

Miss Gulick, a full-time student of music, and Barbara Morley, a part-time student in the Fine Arts building, presented "A Man for All Seasons," to the Town Players of Pittsfield, Massachusetts for its production of "A Man for All Seasons.

Graduates Enroll Here

Fifty students are enrolled in the Connecticut College graduate program this year as opposed to sixty-five last year’s graduate body of thirty-five.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

Most of the graduate students at Connecticut are working for their degrees in the Dual degree, although eight are studying for their MAT.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

The reserve reading room layout, also judged inadequate in its view of the stacks, has been altered since the space was opened in 1959.

In addition to the general design, Ms. Faith Gulick, Administrative Assistant to the Director of the American Theatre, accepted the award. She was accompanied by the award trophy, given by the American Shakespeare Festival, which she presented to Miss Ruth Dunbar Elder, Grounds Manager, New York City, who received the award in Miss Elder’s absence.

Miss Gulick, a full-time student of music, and Barbara Morley, a part-time student in the Fine Arts building, presented "A Man for All Seasons," to the Town Players of Pittsfield, Massachusetts for its production of "A Man for All Seasons.

Graduates Enroll Here

Fifty students are enrolled in the Connecticut College graduate program this year as opposed to sixty-five last year’s graduate body of thirty-five.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

Most of the graduate students at Connecticut are working for their degrees in the Dual degree, although eight are studying for their MAT.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

The reserve reading room layout, also judged inadequate in its view of the stacks, has been altered since the space was opened in 1959.

In addition to the general design, Ms. Faith Gulick, Administrative Assistant to the Director of the American Theatre, accepted the award. She was accompanied by the award trophy, given by the American Shakespeare Festival, which she presented to Miss Ruth Dunbar Elder, Grounds Manager, New York City, who received the award in Miss Elder’s absence.

Miss Gulick, a full-time student of music, and Barbara Morley, a part-time student in the Fine Arts building, presented "A Man for All Seasons," to the Town Players of Pittsfield, Massachusetts for its production of "A Man for All Seasons.

Graduates Enroll Here

Fifty students are enrolled in the Connecticut College graduate program this year as opposed to sixty-five last year’s graduate body of thirty-five.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

Most of the graduate students at Connecticut are working for their degrees in the Dual degree, although eight are studying for their MAT.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.

The reserve reading room layout, also judged inadequate in its view of the stacks, has been altered since the space was opened in 1959.

In addition to the general design, Ms. Faith Gulick, Administrative Assistant to the Director of the American Theatre, accepted the award. She was accompanied by the award trophy, given by the American Shakespeare Festival, which she presented to Miss Ruth Dunbar Elder, Grounds Manager, New York City, who received the award in Miss Elder’s absence.

Miss Gulick, a full-time student of music, and Barbara Morley, a part-time student in the Fine Arts building, presented "A Man for All Seasons," to the Town Players of Pittsfield, Massachusetts for its production of "A Man for All Seasons.

Graduates Enroll Here

Fifty students are enrolled in the Connecticut College graduate program this year as opposed to sixty-five last year’s graduate body of thirty-five.

Of the twelve departments offering the Master of Arts degree: English, History, Art, Biology, Economics, Philosophy, Physics, Zoology, and Psychology, almost half of the graduate enrollment is in the field of psychology, which consists of a two-year work program.

Students select half their time in their departments in psychology, with one semester each in psychology, with one semester each in the field of psychology. Clinical psychology is studied at the North State Hospital and at the University of Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown, while work in psychological psychology is centered at Harvard, and at the University of Connecticut.
TOPIC OF CANDOR
(Continued from Page Two)
Unlike Pakistan, where Islam is the official state religion, India is a secular nation state. India's Vice President, Dr. Zakir Hussain, is a Moslem and a distinguished painter. The former Education Minister, Mr. Azad, who planned India's whole educational system for 16 years, was a Moslem. There are many other Moslems in positions of importance and responsibility at all levels of government in India.

Until the current upheaval there was no repression of worship for Moslems or anywhere else in India. The repression at Srinagar (the regional capital) represents only emergency measures to prevent the recurrence of rioting. It is a mere appendage to what India does now the necessary suppression of violent political agitation. Political repression is taking the form of imprisonment of the leadership until things quiet down, rather than executions; in this sense it is a minimal measure.

One consequence of a plebiscite is not much mentioned in the press: there is similar sentiment for separation in northern, Sikh dominated areas of India bordering on Chinese-controlled Tibet. (The Sikh religion is the third major religion in India; it began as a blend of Hindu and Moslem teachings.) Fragmentation could be claimed on the basis of precedent if India were forced to give up Kashmir.

Clearly it is India that is clinging to the status quo. Pakistan is the aggressor. Because the U.S. has long ago hoped to set up Pakistan as a strong barrier to China, Washington seems to be very much on the right track now.

UNESCO Director-General Feuchtwanger has already stated that a second choice school for girls is Vassar. No one can be quite sure when, or why, it was changed.

MUSIC CLUB
(Continued from Page Four)
Lukas Foss or the Boston Pops. It is the club's intent to bring artists to a wider audience than that of music majors.

In order to become a reality, these suggestions must be backed by membership who are willing to support and actively work on such projects.

Finally, as a means of becoming more acquainted with the musical world outside our own room or campus, the music club looks forward to arranging concerts or lecture trips to nearby cultural centers.