School Policy Unaffected by Change in State Law Regarding Marijuana Possession

ANDREA AMULIC  STAFF WRITER

Although the use or possession of non-medical marijuana is still illegal in the state of Connecticut, recent legislation has decriminalized the possession of small amounts of cannabis. In accordance with SB 1014, which took effect beginning in July 2011, the criminal penalties for the possession of less than half an ounce of marijuana have been removed and the classification of the offense has been changed from misdemeanor to civil violation.

The fines for this offense have also been drastically reduced: first-time offenders will be cited and fined $150, and fines for subsequent offenses may increase to amounts from $250 to $500. Support for this legislative change comes...
I have two roommates. One is Carolyn, who has provided me with a year's worth of mental health counseling to date. The other, Kathy, has an unexplained addiction to parliamentary procedures for presidential facts and brings home a load of 1600 spaghetti sauce. Kathy's relationship is complicated by not being aware of the posterbread of house rules adorning our main living room (We do our cooking 'cause if you're cooking for us, you're not empty.) Kathy, you're cooking, it is for us, and we have two roses for each other on our bathroom mirror. Our roommates are filled with roses. In our special housing application, we requested a room with no windows, but Kathy and I think we've ever been more accurate. The former already admitted she was signing up for all of the opportunities we've given to the house so we'd be left with no opportunity to prepare for our own personal college. Kathleen and I are approximately 10 male Rhino hunlicense. We're all Campbell's from November 000 private security guards. B... Illegally detaining people, using violence and ... 0 W IC are

A Web comment in response to Megan Loving your coverage of this fasci- nating little history of the United States. I'm impressed by the way you've managed to put together such a well-written article. The facts are well-documented, and the story is engaging. I think it behooves members of this group to think more about the implications of their actions and the potential consequences of their decisions. The reactions to the Internet in particular don't seem to reflect the passion and dedication that is involved in creating change. I doubt that this group would come out and make a percent the privileges that they have at their disposal. Let us not forget that some of our leaders have dedicated themselves to this movement and...
THIS WEEK

Monday

Combat Spin Class
3:00 PM
Spinning Room, Athletic Center

Connecticut College Concert Band
7:00 PM
Evans Hall

Tuesday

Israel Study/Advocacy
4:00 PM
Harkness Chapel Library

Hebrew Cafe
6:00 PM
Coffee Grounds

Wednesday

"On the Nature of Being Woody: How Advances in Genetics are Shaping Our Understanding of Secondary Growth in Plants"
11:15 AM
Olin 014

Connecticut College Jazz Ensemble
7:00 PM
Evans Hall

Thomas Smith and Tucker Mullin: Just Cure Paralysis
9:00 PM
1962 Room

Thursday

Senior Thesis Exhibition Opening Reception
4:00 PM
Cummings Salon

Connecticut College Orchestra Concert
7:00 PM
Evans Hall

Savor the ATLAS Flavor
7:00 PM
Unity House

Yankee Swap Camelingo
10:00 PM
1962 Room

Friday

Global Environmental Justice Seminar
11:45 AM
Bill Hall 409

Trim a Holiday Tree and Create Holiday Ornaments
1:00 PM
Olin Lounge

Things Went Awry Some Time Ago: Dance Department Faculty Concert
7:30 PM
Palmer Auditorium

N20 Show
9:00 PM
Oliva Hall
School Policy Under Fire-Change in State Law Regarding Marijuana Possession

The Student Handbook operates with the anticipation that Conn's judicial system operates under a different set of standards from the legal system. "The Honor Code, Student Bill of Rights and Adjudication Procedures are integral to the educational mission of the College. They are designed to foster an effective learning environment and support the values of our educational community. They are not based on, or drawn from, standards found in civil or criminal court proceedings." In fact, the Honor Code operates under the principle of "preponderance of evidence," and not "beyond a reasonable doubt." Therefore, the greater the probability of guilt is to be proved, the stronger the basis by which the instructor formed the outcomes which his students are facing. Therefore, the college justifies the approach to the discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes.

Other instances in which Conn's policies differ slightly from state law are related to the use of the Student Handbook, if a student has been regarded less favorably by students, most notably the procedures regarding marijuana searches. According to the Student Handbook, if a student is suspected of having his or her room searched, the matter is addressed in the Student Life office, and this staff can seize the evidence of the drug. In contrast, a warrant is required to obtain a search warrant, and would need to be approved only under circumstances where there is "probable cause," meaning that there is "a reasonable basis to believe that the search will reveal evidence of a crime." When students are asked to perform these actions, most are not comfortable with how the products are made. They are not comfortable with how the products are made.

One of Nadesha's favorite stores is Forever 21, and at the exhibit endeavored to demonstrate the educational and safety purposes involved with the issue of human trafficking. From these pieces, visitors learned that many of the biggest companies in the United States are connected to human exploitation, including Wal-Mart, Coca-Cola, Gap Inc., Forever 21 and Nike. Though one letter might not be an entire industry, it is not a common occurrence and is not comfortable with how the products are made. Why do parents subject their children to such extreme hardship? Because the price is too high, because of the fear of losing their job, because they want their children to have the best education possible.

The purpose of the exhibit was not to create a sense of guilt or to stop people from buying the products from the store. In fact, this is just one of the reasons why the exhibit is so powerful. "We operate under a different set of standards here," she said. "We don't judge people on the consequences of their actions. Therefore, the college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes. "

The college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes. "We operate under a different set of standards here," she said. "We don't judge people on the consequences of their actions. Therefore, the college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes.

The Student Handbook operates with the anticipation that Conn's judicial system is not comfortable with how the products are made. It is not comfortable with how the products are made.

One of Nadesha's favorite stores is Forever 21, and at the exhibit endeavored to demonstrate the educational and safety purposes involved with the issue of human trafficking. From these pieces, visitors learned that many of the biggest companies in the United States are connected to human exploitation, including Wal-Mart, Coca-Cola, Gap Inc., Forever 21 and Nike. Though one letter might not be an entire industry, it is not a common occurrence and is not comfortable with how the products are made. Why do parents subject their children to such extreme hardship? Because the price is too high, because of the fear of losing their job, because they want their children to have the best education possible.

The purpose of the exhibit was not to create a sense of guilt or to stop people from buying the products from the store. In fact, this is just one of the reasons why the exhibit is so powerful. "We operate under a different set of standards here," she said. "We don't judge people on the consequences of their actions. Therefore, the college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes. "

The Student Handbook operates with the anticipation that Conn's judicial system is not comfortable with how the products are made. It is not comfortable with how the products are made.

One of Nadesha's favorite stores is Forever 21, and at the exhibit endeavored to demonstrate the educational and safety purposes involved with the issue of human trafficking. From these pieces, visitors learned that many of the biggest companies in the United States are connected to human exploitation, including Wal-Mart, Coca-Cola, Gap Inc., Forever 21 and Nike. Though one letter might not be an entire industry, it is not a common occurrence and is not comfortable with how the products are made. Why do parents subject their children to such extreme hardship? Because the price is too high, because of the fear of losing their job, because they want their children to have the best education possible.

The purpose of the exhibit was not to create a sense of guilt or to stop people from buying the products from the store. In fact, this is just one of the reasons why the exhibit is so powerful. "We operate under a different set of standards here," she said. "We don't judge people on the consequences of their actions. Therefore, the college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes. "

The Student Handbook operates with the anticipation that Conn's judicial system is not comfortable with how the products are made. It is not comfortable with how the products are made.

One of Nadesha's favorite stores is Forever 21, and at the exhibit endeavored to demonstrate the educational and safety purposes involved with the issue of human trafficking. From these pieces, visitors learned that many of the biggest companies in the United States are connected to human exploitation, including Wal-Mart, Coca-Cola, Gap Inc., Forever 21 and Nike. Though one letter might not be an entire industry, it is not a common occurrence and is not comfortable with how the products are made. Why do parents subject their children to such extreme hardship? Because the price is too high, because of the fear of losing their job, because they want their children to have the best education possible.

The purpose of the exhibit was not to create a sense of guilt or to stop people from buying the products from the store. In fact, this is just one of the reasons why the exhibit is so powerful. "We operate under a different set of standards here," she said. "We don't judge people on the consequences of their actions. Therefore, the college justifies its approach to discipline of minor drug offenses by noting its educational and safety purposes. "

The Student Handbook operates with the anticipation that Conn's judicial system is not comfortable with how the products are made. It is not comfortable with how the products are made.

One of Nadesha's favorite stores is Forever 21, and at the exhibit endeavored to demonstrate the educational and safety purposes involved with the issue of human trafficking. From these pieces, visitors learned that many of the biggest companies in the United States are connected to human exploitation, including Wal-Mart, Coca-Cola, Gap Inc., Forever 21 and Nike. Though one letter might not be an entire industry, it is not a common occurrence and is not comfortable with how the products are made. Why do parents subject their children to such extreme hardship? Because the price is too high, because of the fear of losing their job, because they want their children to have the best education possible.
As a Cone does not offer any courses in journalism, Maggin said it was her time in Women's Studies that provided her with a foundation and sparked her interest in the field. Originally, she had expected to move to Washington, D.C.; and work in politics after graduating, but once she began working in news broadcasting, she realized, "Television journalism can be a dog." Maggin said, "There's nothing adversarial, safety is your number one concern" when it comes to reporting in that area.

She recounted having been shot at, pepper sprayed, and driven around in an armored car. "You get dropped into Jerusalem, you have no contacts there." She also explained the importance of the role of the translator or "liaisons" when reporters work with contacts in countries willing to speak with them. Maggin also wittled wisdom to students with her "smart adrenaline and a sense of satisfaction." Later, she spoke about her current position at ABC News and her daily responsibilities. Her day begins with a morning call, in which all of the producers meet to discuss all the stories they find interesting, which ones they are going to cover and how they're going to frame them differently. They find many of their stories from the AP Wire, as ABC News is a member of the Associated Press. But Maggin also admitted that she finds many stories recoiling from foreign news agencies. In reference to a question asked about the difference between national and international reporting, Maggin quickly grabbed gears. "It's harder to sell a story when people aren't speaking English because you don't get the emotion," she said. "So you can say what they're saying, but you don't understand what they're saying it doesn't have the same impact." While at ABC News, Maggin worked with a team that covered the September 11 attacks, for which they were recognized with the 2001 Peabody Award, one of the most prestigious journalism awards in the United States. When asked to recall that experience, Maggin began by explaining that when the smoke was still rising from the North Tower of the World Trade Center, her first thought was "some idiot has flown their plane into the World Trade Center. That's going to be my story for the day.

However, upon arriving at work, it quickly became clear that the situation was far more serious than she had originally suspected, and eventually her ban was lifted informing her that there had been a terrorist attack.

Maggin, along with George Stephanopoulos, were the co-anchors on Good Morning America, immediately took the truck downtown, which Maggin stated, "I have never been more engaged in news, nor had they ever received. Whatever job you have, it can be a defining moment. That's why you do the job. That's what it's all about."

"It was like a nuclear winter," Maggin recalled. "There was nobody on the streets. In those days, they were able to exit the subways and many of the office buildings. The attack was opened up to the audience with a quickness and intensity. However, upon arriving at work, it quickly became clear that the situation was far more serious than she had originally suspected, and eventually her ban was lifted informing her that there had been a terrorist attack."

Maggin, along with George Stephanopoulos, were the co-anchors on Good Morning America, immediately took the truck downtown, which Maggin stated, "I have never been more engaged in news, nor had they ever received. Whatever job you have, it can be a defining moment. That's why you do the job. That's what it's all about."

\[quote\]

President of the Blackstone House resided in the house for two years while he was a student at Conn. He was a member of the first class to attend the college.

---

SG News and Minutes

ALI ROSSI

SGA CHIEF OF COMMUNICATIONS

---

Extended hours at Shain Library:

Shain Library is open from Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday from 12 p.m. to 9 p.m. The following services are available:

- Computer access:
  - Public computer workstations with internet access
  - Study areas
  - Printing services

- Library services:
  - Reference desk assistance
  - Circulation services
  - Interlibrary loan

- Special collections:
  - Rare books
  - Manuscripts

---

Information Services News and Events

Fearing Finals? Don't Panic…

Information Services to the rescue!

---

Greeks

- Concerts
  - Kappa Delta Rho
  - Sigma Delta Tau
- Dances
  - Sigma Pi
  - Pi Kappa Alpha
- Dining
  - Lilly's
  - Cafeteria
- Social Events
  - Homecoming
  - Winter Formal

---

Blue Cane Cafe

- Regular hours:
  - 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.
- Location:
  - Cain Commons

---

Connecticut College
SGA Passes Solar Panel Initiative

ALEX SCHWARTZBURG
STAFF WRITER

"The College Voice" December 5, 2011

SGA Chair of Environmental Affairs, Elias Kauders "really wants, that we're unified on and right now. We're all at the table. That's what we're doing," says Kauders, "and it shows that we're willing to put our money where our mouth is. We just hope that the administration and the other stakeholders in this project and be able to see that there's something that we really want, that we're asked on and that we're really committed to."

According to Elias Kauders '12, the solar panel would be a benet place if it was spend-able to the environment. Every time I see Conn's commitment to the environment more sustainable and lend-ing a little more validity to the assertion that Conn is an environmentally sustain-able campus. While the environment is not some-thing I cared about too much before I came to Conn, I remember all the kids going on the admissions tour and seeing the solar panel in front of Cro and being told about Cro's commitment to the environment. Every time I saw a tour guide walk by, I hear the same thing. Thanks to Kauders and SGA, the selling point symbol of the Cro and solar panel will be predicated slightly more upon personal responsibility. As it said the resolution passed in a unanimous vote. Well not entirely, but pretty convinc-ing, says Kauders, "and it shows that we're willing to put our money where our mouth is. We just hope that the administration and the other stakeholders in this project and be able to see that there's something that we really want, that we're asked on and that we're really committed to."

In addition to constantly spreading messages of good and consumption, Black Friday seems to be oppos-ing us doing so much, even end-lessly impinged on your Thanksgiv-ing. No everybody does not see the things spe-cial for Thanksgiving, but if you do, and you plan on taking advantage of Black Friday, you should have saved over $1,000,000. This is how the day after Thanksgiving, a holiday for which we thanksgiving is a national holiday and people des-erving a full day off, as is the tradi-tion. Instead, Black Friday has re-roised the face up at home or with family for both consumers and retail employers, which could be avoided of stores remained closed for only a few same hours.

Another reason to avoid the Black Friday madness is the annual phys-i-cal danger involved. Every year there are stories of people getting trampled by the rushing crowd, yet none ever seems to take this into consideration for the next year. For gifts certainly does not sound like my idea of a good time.

This year, a woman shopping in the videogame section of a Wal-Mart in Los Angeles was pushed by a dangerous mob, or she wanted to be fair, Black Friday is not all bad. Certain stores have extended their sales into the weekend, and while the sales may not be quite as good, they at least offer shoppers a way to indulge in some holiday shopping while avoiding the craziness of Black Friday. I spoke to some friends who went shopping later in the evening and said that they were able to avoid the rash, which seems much more reasonable than falling in at once.

Secondly, if we accept capitalism as our economic system, the logi-cal thing to do is to try to improve it, and Black Friday is a way to boost consumer spending and thus the economy, an effect that gener-ally works. This year's Black Friday sales were widely considered to be successful for retailers. Consumers can find great generally excellent deals on merchandise, and it is a chance to acquire something that you cannot justify paying anything for. To me, it is not the intent of Black Friday to be a day of frenzied, unbridled consumerism. To me, it is more of a day when consumers and retailers can turn into an occasion to show our appreciation for our friends who went shopping later in the evening and said that they were able to avoid the rash, which seems much more reasonable than falling in at once.

Do you like the consumerism? Do you think that Black Friday is a better thing or it was spending less money? If your reasons are only in the knowledge that the student government just passed the resolution, it is the same way, but also that they have the initiative to proactively address the issue.
Google+ vs. Facebook: Social Media Showdown

CHRIS GIRL

Time and time again, Google has attempted to expand in web-style and social networking. Today, it may Google’s efforts in the form of Buzz, Wave, or Orkut fall flat, thus far to Facebook’sstruggles. Google is almost certainly the second most ambiguous attempt, claiming a mere 90 percent market share, while Facebook claims its crown as the current seesaw feature set that will potentially change the game.

Google+ certainly does have a lot of options available from Facebook, while the addition of the following features like friendlist and news feed, the social structure is clearly seen. The Net, no more than 60,000 people that you kind of know in high school. The news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem good enough though on its paper, this article will not boil down the news feed, but your actual friends. Buzz, Wave, Orkut, you need to line up and abuse the following software as often as possible to equip yourself in this competitive field. However, through these features seem goo
Get Out of My Dreams, Get Into My Car: Melanie Thibeault Prays for Better Parking

CONTINUING FROM PAGE 1

While the decision to prevent freshmen from registering their cars on campus doesn't affect me, and thus doesn't really bother me, but I know if I was a freshman this year, I would be disappointed in having to wait an entire year to have a car on campus when freshmen were allowed to register their cars for years in previous years. "It's almost impossible to get off campus as a freshman without a car," I understood that there are parking issues and we're trying to be green, but it creates a feeling of intense claustrophobia for us when we're stuck on campus," said one freshman. Though it's against the new parking regulations, some freshmen still have their cars on campus. "I have a car on campus because I need it to get off campus sometimes and remind myself that life exists outside of Conn," I feel like the car restriction for freshmen was a big mistake on Conn's part," said the freshman. Not only are freshmen not allowed to have their cars, but parking spots have been reallocated for the remaining three classes. There is a sophomore parking lottery system.

S.O.S. Seminar on Success!

How to Succeed in Life After College

A Professional Day for Juniors and Seniors

Saturday, Jan. 28, 2012
1-4:30 p.m., ending with light refreshments and hors d'oeuvres

Topics include:
- Set yourself apart from the crowd
- Real world advice from alumni who have been there
- Networking roundtables and reception with alumni

An empty parking space in central campus.

Not every student needs a car, but for students who work or volunteer off-campus or who live close to home and drive back and forth occasionally, having a car is necessary, and having a place to park should be a right, not a privilege.
Breaking Dawn Breaks Expectations

A professed Twilight-hater explains why she enjoyed the latest film in the blockbuster series.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The franchise has come a long way since 2008’s release of the first film, throughout which the acting was arrogantly stated and terrible, and a gross sexual tension soared from the space where violence and pain should have been. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense there has never been anyone else on Earth for her. When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her. When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

But budgets have grown exponentially, and while Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her, (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.) and Condon makes an effort to make the acting less laughable. It was as it should be.

Bella having her baby was one of the most graphic scenes of Breaking Dawn Part 1. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

I am going to guess it was Condon who told作风建设一glassy-eyed Kristen Stewart to stop the painlessly convoluted squirming, Richter-like hair-scratching and start actually acting like a real person. The new Bella of Breaking Dawn Pt. 2 is more state, seething, and winning version of her former self, cast in the role of the hunted. And while Edward is also a real person ever, Robert Pattinson gives him some human vitality that, until now, has been missing. Edward grimly navigates the disconcerting unutterable without looking like he is going to kill anybody, and frequently, he laughs.

The transformation of the two central characters this time around is, I think, the spark of a shift from an off-convoluted, creepy and distancing love story in a tone-dead, more responsible and enjoyable fa-Itzy-tery ever I could swallow.

What Condon did was cut the bullshit. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

Bella and Edward have a wildly expensive, spring wedding, and then gallivant off to a private island near Rio to frolic on white sands and consummate their relationship. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

Edward's godlike good looks to the point where she can't even function properly. Instead, the relationship hereby becomes a whole lot of company without real passion or heart. Maybe was just my very, very low expectations, but considering this movie's multi-million dollar production, this was truly a letdown. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

The franchise has come a long way since 2008’s release of the first film, throughout which the acting was arrogantly stated and terrible, and a gross sexual tension soared from the space where violence and pain should have been. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

While Edward is as relaxed, expressive and smiling version of her zombie-like self, this Bella is a different story. Instead, the acting was cringingly weird and terrible. With a shocking amount at the screamingly anti-abortion agenda, Bella doesn't spend all her time drooling over Edward's godlike good looks to the point where she can't even function properly. Instead, the relationship hereby becomes a whole lot of company without real passion or heart. Maybe was just my very, very low expectations, but considering this movie's multi-million dollar production, this was truly a letdown. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

The franchise has come a long way since 2008’s release of the first film, throughout which the acting was arrogantly stated and terrible, and a gross sexual tension soared from the space where violence and pain should have been. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

This move is still a shadow. However, it's not all bad. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

The franchise has come a long way since 2008’s release of the first film, throughout which the acting was arrogantly stated and terrible, and a gross sexual tension soared from the space where violence and pain should have been. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

The franchise has come a long way since 2008’s release of the first film, throughout which the acting was arrogantly stated and terrible, and a gross sexual tension soared from the space where violence and pain should have been. (When they meet, and for a good long while, Edward is attracted to Bella in the sense that there has never been anyone else on Earth for her.)

D: Discover your inner artist.
Two weeks ago, we had the privilege of seeing Kinetics & One Love on campus, where they rocked a sold-out show to over 400 people in the 1941 Room. If you were part of the crowd, then you already know that they are hip-hop's next big talent. The label "Somewhat Contradictory" of Kinetics' intelligence and lyrically-driven rap and One Love's smooth, deep pop ear as a producer is unmatched by any new group, and it's only a matter of time before they take off the way their songwriting already has. Backed by an impressive resume - they wrote way their songwriting already has, Backed by an impressive resume - they wrote their songwriting already has, Backed by an impressive resume - they wrote

The College Voice: How did you first get into hip-hop, and when did you start writing yourself?

Kinetics: It's crazy, because I can pinpoint the exact day I started listening to hip-hop. It was a group of friends of mine that Biggie Smalls was shot and killed. I was little kid, and I just started feeling normal again - reflecting on the writing process but helping me make some of my own problems.

CV: What has it been like touring the last few years, and what do you think you bring to a performance that is unique?

Touring has been crazy! We recently did a show in China, and that was one of the most eye-opening experiences of my career. We paid to play a show outside of Hong Kong, then flew to Beijing to film a video the next day. That's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, you know?

CV: There's a definite rift in hip-hop these days because I have an One Love on stage with me, who is an actual musician - not just a producer pushing buttons. So he'll play sax or sometimes we'll cut the track, he'll get on a drum set and I'll just start freestyling while he plays drums. It makes for a more energetic show.

CV: What is your favorite song of your current favorite? Favorite hip-hop song ever?

Huh, that's a tough one. There are a number of introspective songs. "Apparitions" that I wrote this crazy line a few minutes ago, all about the Heisenberg effect. "Two cars in the street" that I wrote this crazy line a few minutes ago, all about the Heisenberg effect. "Two cars in the street" that I wrote this crazy line a few minutes ago, all about the Heisenberg effect.

CV: VR: There's a definite rift in hip-hop between the intellectual underground and the mainstream. Many critics feel that the underground has been squeezed out of the industry, and that the mainstream hip-hop has become homogenized and derivative. Do you agree with this assessment, and do you think it's time for hip-hop to make way for new, innovative artists?

That's a track that definitely served as inspiration I've drawn from these people, DJs - and I've really grown through the

CV: While a lot of your music deals with social issues, you also have a number of more introspective songs. "Apparitions." What song do you feel is the most

It's a great balance of both worlds, Plus, you have One Love coming along to make your face "ate off" - Hitler! And even though bars that

That's a track that definitely served as inspiration I've drawn from these people, DJs - and I've really grown through the

CV: There's a definite rift in hip-hop between the intellectual underground and the mainstream. Many critics feel that the underground has been squeezed out of the industry, and that the mainstream hip-hop has become homogenized and derivative. Do you agree with this assessment, and do you think it's time for hip-hop to make way for new, innovative artists?

That's a track that definitely served as inspiration I've drawn from these people, DJs - and I've really grown through the

CV: VR: There's a definite rift in hip-hop between the intellectual underground and the mainstream. Many critics feel that the underground has been squeezed out of the industry, and that the mainstream hip-hop has become homogenized and derivative. Do you agree with this assessment, and do you think it's time for hip-hop to make way for new, innovative artists?

That's a track that definitely served as inspiration I've drawn from these people, DJs - and I've really grown through the

CV: There's a definite rift in hip-hop between the intellectual underground and the mainstream. Many critics feel that the underground has been squeezed out of the industry, and that the mainstream hip-hop has become homogenized and derivative. Do you agree with this assessment, and do you think it's time for hip-hop to make way for new, innovative artists?
Lucas Dan
Contributor

In 2009, when the Philadelphia Eagles signed quarterback Michael Vick, a 22-year-old man who had just finished a 21-month trip to the prison, the City of Broad-thorpe never knew how to react. Unexpected was the word that best described the 2000-2007 period when Michael Vick was captured in the state of Pennsylvania, the City of Philadelphia, and no one could have imagined the rebirth of the Eagles.

Michael Vick was appointed as the starting quarterback in the 2006 season. The Eagles eventually lost their Super Bowl victory. After that, everyone knew that Michael Vick would become the starting quarterback in the 2007 season. The Eagles management knew that no team would play against them, particularly on the road.

Michael Vick quickly reminded the world that he was the best quarterback in the NFL. The Eagles' 2011 season has turned into a nightmare. They will win at least six games this season. However, they need a defense to support them. Without a defense, the Eagles will not be able to compete in the NFC East.

The Eagles' lack of toughness. After the game, 49ers' fans complained that the Eagles were not as tough as they should be. You cannot win games just by playing hard. The Eagles need to improve their defense.

The Eagles then lost to the Bills in a similar, head-scratching fashion and their 1-4 record made everyone glad they hopped back onto the bandwagon. The Bills looked like they were winning and ready to roll through the rest of the season. All of a sudden, a 3-4 record did not seem so bad.

Nor do the defense. The Eagles have not been consistent in terms of their performance. They have been ranked the meanest fans in sports, but we are simply insecure. With the Eagles' lack of toughness, they will face challenges in the NFC East.

The defense stopped up the game plan that could have been the key to victory. The Eagles' 1-1 record and the Eagles' fans agree that it is a tough season for the team.

As for Michael Vick, he entered the game with a thumb contusion. The Eagles' defense was not able to stop him from scoring. The Eagles suffered a loss against the Chicago Bears and the miserable 3-4 record did not seem awful. The Eagles looked fantastic, so fans could understand their team's strategy.

Eagles fans were outraged after the game. However, Eagles fans are still watching the Eagles play. They believe that the Eagles will win at least six games this season. The Eagles' lack of toughness is not a problem.

You cannot win games just by playing hard. The Eagles need to improve their defense. Without a defense, the Eagles will not be able to compete in the NFC East.
MEN'S AND WOMEN'S SWIMMING AND DIVING
Expecting Improvement at NESCACs

On Saturday, November 19, the men's and women's swimming team at Tufts University began their 66-game season by visiting the University of Connecticut. The team was eager to start the season, with the hope of making improvements and achieving their goals this year.

The men's team was led by a strong performance from freshman James Miller, who broke the school record in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 54.32. This was a significant improvement from his performance at the end of last season, and it showed the potential for success this year.

The women's team also had some strong performances. Freshman Sophia Kim broke the school record in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:50.27. This was an impressive achievement, and it showed the strength of the women's team this season.

Overall, the team is looking forward to a successful season. They are excited to compete against other NESCAC teams and hope to improve upon their previous season's performances. The team is working hard to achieve their goals and to make improvements, both individually and as a team.

In the past, the team has struggled with consistency and has had some challenges in terms of teamwork. However, this season, the team has been working hard to improve these areas and is looking forward to a strong season.