Wig And Candle Presents "The Late Christopher Bean"

Miss Oakes, As Critic Praises
Presentation of Full Play

Stage Crew Praised
For Cooperation

A story—among others—is relat- ed of George Bernard Shaw who, while making a certain speech to an enthralled London audience, was interrupted by a languid voice: "I say, old chap, your play is bally aw- ful." To this compliment Shaw re sponded gruffly: "I quite agree with you; but who are we against so many?"

Now the point in citing this anec- dote is not quite clear. The Freshmen may imagine. Despite some structural weaknesses, The Late Christopher Bean by Sidney Howard is not bad entertainment. But for the fact that it offers a difficulty, serious in a woman's dramatic organization, of too many male roles, the critic can find only one fault with it. That fault is, it is not good enough.

For some time it has been this reviewer's practice to murmur that the prevail ing tendency of Wig and Candle is too evidently toward an ephemeral Broadway success—rather than to- ward a play of definitely established merit. Once again the critic can only regreat that time and talent (and money for royalties) are being ex- pended upon plays of secondary worth, from both the dramatic and the literary standpointi—while comedies of Goldsmith and Sheri dan, of Wilde and Anouilh France, are unattempted. Can it be that they are unknown? (Continued to Page 3—Col. 1)

Freshmen Questioned
In Ethnic Survey

"Where was my Mother's moth er born?"

"How many children did my mat erial grandmother have?"

Why the sudden interest in our families? Those are the questions that the Freshmen have been asking, ever since the "ethnic sur- vey" was started. After trudging wearily up the hill, accompanied by their classmates, the Freshmen were compelled to attempt to remember all of their ancestors they had ever heard about, and those whom they never knew existed. (Continued to Page 3—Col. 5)

Robert Hillyer Reads From Own Works At Convocation

Dr. Hillyer, winner of the 1933 Pulitzer Prize for Poetry, gave an interesting reading and inter- pretation of several of his poems at Convocation, Nov. 13, presented by the Selden Memorial Lecture Foun- dation. Before presenting an explana- tion of his poetry, Mr. Hillyer briefly summarized the free verse rev- olution in the beginning of the twentieth century.

The second Windham House Re- citation was held Thursday, November 15 with Dr. Paul Fritz Laubenstein presented by M. Alma Skilton.

The following program was pre- sented:

Mozart: Sonata in F for Flute and Piano Allegro

Tempo di Variazioni

Tiempos de Memento

Pastorale in A

Pianoforte

Tempo Lider

(a) Herr Oft

(b) Der heilige Franz

(c) Meeresleuchten

(d) Keitstreif

(e) Der alte Goethe

History Of Arboretum
Is Retold By Reporter

It would be better perhaps if we were to consider the beautiful for est which we call an arboretum as a tradition rather than a project of the college. In the first place it has existed for more than 75 years and it's known history dates back to 1868 when Oarowean, a Mohoggin Indian chief decreed the property to Thomas Bolles. In 1911, it was presented as a gift to the college by Miss Anna Hepstal Branch, a Bolles' descendant.

The entire arboretum consists of about seventy acres of the college estate, part of it, Bolleswood, lying in the town of Waterford and the section nearest the college in the town of New London. Bolleswood consists of about twelve acres bounded by a long rocky ridge, just above the ravine, and includes the temples and the bird sanctuary. This part of the arboretum will always be left as it is.

The remaining fifty-eight acres, containing the lake and outdoor theatre, lie in the town of New Lon don. During the past three or four years, plans have been developed for this part of the arboretum.

Mr. A. F. Brinkerhoff, New York
(Continued to Page 5—Col. 5)

Robert Hillyer, of the new movement, might be made poet, if the poet approached it with intensi ty. At the same time, the new move- ment seemed to give opportunities to many unrecognized poets. Mr. Hillyer pointed out what some of the other poets did not seem to realize that poet technique is as difficult as that of any other art. Because of the lack of conscious rhyme the me- more...
What

Success is so intangible that it cannot be defined in a few words, for everyone's conception varies with his outlook on life and his personal ambitions. Providing that a man is a theorist, his success consists in ascertaining "facts for facts sake." He will shut himself up in his laboratory day in and day out and be satisfied only when he has discovered some new chemical or the like that will "set the world on fire." There is the one who interprets success as being entirely social. He is never happy unless he is surrounded by crooks and always an asset to every social gathering. To the catholic, success is the end and not the means that is of importance. This type of person goes around observing everything that is outwardly beautiful. He values appearances above all things. The one who yearns for religious success seeks the unity of life and tries to bind himself to it. He finds his particular place in life's cycle and tries to fulfill his part of the bargain. The one striving for economic success values all in terms of money. He devotes his entire life to the accumulation of wealth and becomes a miser in watching his pence. There is the practical type of person who seeks personal power over others. The modern politician who wants to rule his country is content only when he has become the supreme power in that group. The true success is that which combines the best in each of these types.

Colleges and Teachers

If it is the function of a college to develop personalities rather than impart information, to lead students to what Sir Josiah Stamp has so aptly described as "that grasp of life's problems by the whole mind as distinct from the apparatus of any particular field of knowledge," rather than teach subjects, then the attitude toward such a thing is that of the crucial factor in the success or failure of the educational procedure. There can be no greater responsibility in the world than that directing the growth and development of a human personality. "In these years in the course of which the developing mind is growing into life. What then are the qualities that the teacher must possess in order to be a fit guide for the college youth?

Do the Coast Guards send flowers, or do they have a bridge?

Ask Julie Saunders what she was doing behind the stove in Vinal, when someone turned on the lights.

We asked some girls who were sitting around a fireplace what they thought of as they watched the dyeing embers. Some of their answers were:

"My mind becomes a blank, and I just stare."

"It's time to go to bed."

"A fire just fascinates me; the dyeing embers thrill me to numbness."

"The last breaths of a dying human."

"I just think nice thoughts."

"My latest love affair is symbolized by the falling glow."

The letter should come tomorrow morning."

I wonder the Labor Problems I haven't yet solved."

"Someone ought to throw another log on the fire just before that News reporter gets some more crazy ideas."

Then there is the C. C. Junior who was convinced that sauerkraut grows on trees, like Spanish moss!

After ten minutes of paint-mixing, an Art student expressed the fear that she would burst if she didn't get a certain color soon, so Brian F. Jones, her roommate, started singing "Pop goes the Easel!"

Home Economics

On Wednesday, Nov. 14, Mrs. Chase, going Woodhouse addressed the Home Economics Club on "Fields in Home Economics", at a meeting in Windham Living Room. The discussion was followed by a wassail party.

Italian Club

Prof. Guido Ferrando of Vassar College was guest speaker at a meeting of the Italian Club on Friday, Nov. 15, in Windham Hall. Italian music was played afterwards.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR WORK ON INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

$50 in cash prizes will be awarded for the most original, constructive and practicable suggestions for possible research, surveys or other projects in the field of international affairs which could be undertaken by students holding part time FERA jobs. The suggested word limit is 500 to 1200 words.

Contest entries must be mailed by midnight December 1st to the National Student Mirror at 240 West 40th Street, New York City. Entries will not be returned.

A committee of the World Peace Foundation will act as judges. Students in good standing will be invited to judge the contest and their opinions will be final.

(Continued from Column 1)

Free Speech

(The Editors of the News do not hold themselves responsible for the opinions expressed in this column. In order to insure the vitality of this column as an organ for the expression of honest opinion, the editor must know the names of contributors.)

Dear Editor

I would like to express the feelings of Knowlton House residents on a subject which is of prime importance to us at this time. Through the medium of the college newspaper, we wish to inform the entire school of a new ruling which we wish to be enforced.

We all realize how convenient it is to put our wraps in student's rooms when attending dance in Knowlton, but I am sure we have never tried to see the occupants' point of view. We members of Knowlton House want our friends to use our rooms, but when a large crowd gathers, we find that our problems are everyday occurrences, the commuter's habit of forcing us to eat a bag of chips and your wraps heaped upon a chair, or still worse, lying on the floor. We are not through until he and we are doing behind the stove in Vinal, when someone turned on the lights.

Do the Coast Guards send flowers, or do they have a bridge?

Ask Julie Saunders what she was doing behind the stove in Vinal, when someone turned on the lights.

We asked some girls who were sitting around a fireplace what they thought of as they watched the dyeing embers. Some of their answers were:

"My mind becomes a blank, and I just stare."

"It's time to go to bed."

"A fire just fascinates me; the dyeing embers thrill me to numbness."

"The last breaths of a dying human."

"I just think nice thoughts."

"My latest love affair is symbolized by the falling glow."

Then there is the C. C. Junior who was convinced that sauerkraut grows on trees, like Spanish moss!

After ten minutes of paint-mixing, an Art student expressed the fear that she would burst if she didn't get a certain color soon, so Brian F. Jones, her roommate, started singing "Pop goes the Easel!"

Home Economics

On Wednesday, Nov. 14, Mrs. Chase, going Woodhouse addressed the Home Economics Club on "Fields in Home Economics", at a meeting in Windham Living Room. The discussion was followed by a wassail party.

Italian Club

Prof. Guido Ferrando of Vassar College was guest speaker at a meeting of the Italian Club on Friday, Nov. 15, in Windham Hall. Italian music was played afterwards.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR WORK ON INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

$50 in cash prizes will be awarded for the most original, constructive and practicable suggestions for possible research, surveys or other projects in the field of international affairs which could be undertaken by students holding part time FERA jobs. The suggested word limit is 500 to 1200 words.

Contest entries must be mailed by midnight December 1st to the National Student Mirror at 240 West 40th Street, New York City. Entries will not be returned.

A committee of the World Peace Foundation will act as judges. Students in good standing will be invited to judge the contest and their opinions will be final.

(Continued from Page 6—Col. 1)
WIG AND CANDLE PRESENTS FALL PLAY
(Continued from Page 1--Col. 1)
Yet undoubtedly the critic can only echo Shaw: "Who
it is not surprising,

"lay down the world."

WIG AND CANDLE
the critic can only echo Shaw: "Who
it is not surprising,

in the college gymnasiu;

some day," or was it half--of the audience, who forgot that during the past two years dramatic performances at C. C. have actually begun on time, and who strolled in rather noisily during the first act, causing quite as much confusion as though they were really in New York and had paid for the privilege of sitting there. No others come. All praise to the actors who kept their poise and their temper during such a trying test.

At any rate, we are here to give you the praise — we trust it is worth the long wait—for both the cast and the production crew.
The latter was the more winsome and usually unsung, should be cited for contributing to swift, smooth performance.
The one setting was the sufficiently appropriate to their wearers, although one must ask whether more should have been done to clothing. Miss Haines did
who, like most of her fellow actors,
was new to the stage. Abby is a different role. It is not surprising,

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

consideration for Berry's "Tree Ancestory, the director of the arboretum,
who, like most of her fellow actors,
was new to the stage. Abby is a dif-

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

"lay down the world."

made the most of the humor in her lines, without caricaturing Abby.

which is the only World Championship

which is the only World Championship

which is the only World Championship

which is the only World Championship

three-quarters of an hour, and ought, and caught much of the craziness of Rosen. Had she been equipped with a smaller derby, herself. Some of the plaiygirls are not undoubtedly the critic can only echo Shaw: "Who
it is not surprising,

"lay down the world."

in the college gymnasiu;
INTER-CAMPUS CUTS
More than 650 persons have been placed in employment by the occupation bureau of Barnard College (New York City) during the past year. They earn an aggregate salary of more than $11,000. Wages ranged from $2.75 to $7.90 in office work.—ACP

With the thought that the America clay and Black fed College have much in common, and that many pictures coming out of Hollywood can illustrate in a few hours what it takes the two book months 7 to accomplish, Paramount pictures are offering awards totaling $1,500 for original essays on a variety of subjects.—ACP

"The difficulty I find in directing an orchestra of feminine musicians is in making the orchestra balance," says Prof. Jone Onate, of Baslev University.—ACP

Students of Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.) have organized a Lyceum which will provide programs for clubs and organi-ezation meetings. All artists on the series are students.—ACP

REPRESENTATIVES FOR NATI. STUDENT MIRROR WANTED

New York, N. Y. (NSA)—An numinous undergraduates in need of funds may be able to supplement their monthly National Student Federation publication, by addressing the Circulation Department at 8 West 40th Street, New York City.

Subscriptions to the magazine are $1.00 the year and representatives are rewarded with generous commisions for obtaining them plus a special bonus for each fifty successfully solicited.—ACP

New York, N. Y. (NSA)—International Student Service, recently moved to 8 West 40th Street, New York City, has published a pamphlet describing its work throughout the world. Its major projects are: aid to enlarge German and working-class Austrian students, raising money to support Monteagle, Tennessee, promoting missions for obtaining them plus a vote because of age limitation and able period of time.

Youth is at a distinct disadvantage in government. A majority of young people are not privileged to vote because of age limitation and be present at such a large percentage is transient. And that the choice of the non-voter is inabilithat Washington is indisputable.

That this voice of a large cross-section of our population may be heard, that its cry be answered, the Federation believes that in the Department of the Interior a Youth Service would be established to meet the actual and entire needs of Youth, to plan for the satisfaction of these needs and bring the necessary preventative industries in the area which will be felt when it is removed. Young people in C. C. C. camps are willing that Cecil Bam continue to support them; those on the road are not encouraged to give up their gypsy life by the hospitality offered through Transient Camps. The result is a demoralized and undesirable group of future citizens. There is power enough in this group for a revolution or for deterioration to the point where America will suffer from dry-rot for at least another generation.

Through a Federal Youth Service
this same power can be organized and directed along a constructive path. Temporary safety valves are not sufficient. There must be an inclusive and continuous outlet. And only at such a central source as our Federal Government can this outlet be devised and provided for.

Through a Federal Youth Service
young people would be advised and guided. Single community efforts to disseminate information on Youth problems, to stimulate employment of young people, to aid in their educational guidance would be fully solicited.

The constitution of the Young Democratic Clubs of America is the official youth organization of the Democratic party in the United States in which he will function. The director will have supervision of the organization of all college clubs in his state and act as the coordinator in this work between the state of ficers, the national officers and the National College Organization Committee of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

College students, both young men
and young women, who are interested in this movement may communicate with the officers of the Young
Democratic Clubs in their state
where the institution they are attending is located or with Mr. Bu-
low, 5805 State St., New London, Connecticut, or with the Young Democratic Clubs in every college and university in the United States this year and to wage an intensive membership drive. In every college on where clubs already have been formed, it was announced by William J. Bulow, Jr., of South Dakota, Currier and Miss Elizabeth Wh очер, of Montana, Vice Chairman of the committee on organization of college clubs.

Within a few weeks announcement will be made of the appointment of College Directors in each state. The duty of each director will be to organize college and university chapters of the Young Democrats in every college and university in the United States this year and to wage an intensive membership drive. In every college on where clubs already have been formed, it was announced by William J. Bulow, Jr., of South Dakota, Currier and Miss Elizabeth Wh очер, of Montana, Vice Chair-
man of the committee on organization of college clubs.

College students, both young men
and young women, who are interested in this movement may communicate with the officers of the Young
Democratic Clubs in their state
where the institution they are attending is located or with Mr. Bu-
low, 5805 State St., New London,
Connecticut, or with the Young Democrats in every college and university in the United States this
year and to wage an intensive membership drive. In every college on where clubs already have been formed, it was announced by William J. Bulow, Jr., of South Dakota, Currier and Miss Elizabeth Wh очер, of Montana, Vice Chair-
man of the committee on organization of college clubs.

College students, both young men
and young women, who are interested in this movement may communicate with the officers of the Young
Democratic Clubs in their state
where the institution they are attending is located or with Mr. Bu-
low, 5805 State St., New London,
Connecticut, or with the Young Democrats in every college and
university in the United States this
year and to wage an intensive membership drive. In every college on where clubs already have been formed, it was announced by William J. Bulow, Jr., of South Dakota, Currier and Miss Elizabeth Wh очер, of Montana, Vice Chair-
man of the committee on organization of college clubs.

College students, both young men
and young women, who are interested in this movement may communicate with the officers of the Young
Democratic Clubs in their state
where the institution they are attending is located or with Mr. Bu-
low, 5805 State St., New London,
Connecticut, or with the Young Democrats in every college and
university in the United States this
year and to wage an intensive membership drive. In every college on where clubs already have been formed, it was announced by William J. Bulow, Jr., of South Dakota, Currier and Miss Elizabeth Wh очер, of Montana, Vice Chair-
man of the committee on organization of college clubs.
The peaceful coordination of their aims and policies. Superficially considered, these objectives may seem cogent and even overwhelming; yet such conclusions are immovable on any moment nowadays. There is a much terror of war spread among the nations today that the popular yearning for a semblance of security is incomparably potent, even in those countries whose leaders talk only of the military virtues. Nor is there an important people in the world that has any genuine confidence in force as a means for solving their problems. The parade of military might is everywhere the stuffed shirt of political despair. World opinion today is bewildered, sequent, and bitterly discontented. It is ready for a sudden reversal of the drift toward calmness. Hitler and Mussolini are merely the phenomena of desperation. The recent lawless adventuring of Japan is no more than an alternative to political helplessness. If peace offered any palpable guarantee of national and tolerable confiscations, its glad acceptance would be compelled by overwhelming majorities. Honest concessions and sincere cooperation from the great possessing nations would revive hope and win support in the desperately needy nations. The resulting security and prosperity would easily reimburse and sustain them all.

How Break the Deadlock? But what can be done about it? How is the most dreadful of all the fraticidal fear and stupid precedent? No ordinary diplomatic procedure will suffice. Something just short of a miracle is demanded. Some dramatic gesture of statesmanship, so evidently sincere and so adequate that it will capture the imagination and reassure the heart-despairing peoples everywhere. This magnificently difficult and effective gesture is not beyond the abilities of statesmen now living. It need not originate in a three-power conference of Great Britain, France, and the United States, called, let us say, by President Roosevelt, after adequate preliminary conversations had been held. The purpose of this conference would be to formulate concessions, more fundamental than any heretofore officially proposed, by which a real approach could be made toward harmonizing the national policies of the possessing and the demanding nations. Such items as the following would be discussed: international tariff commissions, for a radiating wonder toward the spread of world commerce; the migration of surplus populations, as a problem in world cooperation; the offering to Germany of mandates on her former colonies in Japan the withdrawal of competing commercial claims in the far east, and to Italy the relinquishment of certain British and French possessions in the Mediterranean area; the explicit recognition of judicial machinery for modifying treaties in conformity with demonstrated international needs.

The "selling" of these proposals to the peoples of the possessing nations would be less difficult than selling them bonds for financing another world war. The peoples of the demanding nations would, at need, overlook the entangled machinations which refused to accept this peaceful settlement of their pressing problems. Such terms might make a colonial station of Great Britain, France and the United States buy indefinitely postponement of ruinous war. Would the purchase of peace in this fashion be too costly?

Dr. Pearson gives Views on Politics

(Continued from Page 3—Col. 5) calling for 3,000,000,000 francs to strengthen the national armaments. On July 19, 1934 Mr. Baldwin, acting Prime Minister, announced that in the next five years Great Britain will spend $100,000,000 in adding 41 new squadrons with 160 fighting planes to its air fleet. Germany has recently increased her budgetary armament 33 percent. The women, by a recent edict, are relegated to the home, there to raise troops and soldiers. If every real prospect of rational surrender is too costly? Would the purchase of peace in this fashion be too costly? The need of the recovery program in their many colleges and universities, according to word reaching the Office of Education of the Department of the Interior. While full details of the number of college courses on NRA are lacking, a typical example is a class on industrial organization to be offered at the University of California, dealing with NRA. Another is a course in the Business Administration School of Barnard College on the conduct of business under NRA. A phase of the public administration course at Princeton will deal at length with NRA, Executive Orders, and Codes. During the past summer the School of Public Affairs at America (Continued to Page 6—Col. 2)congressional cooperation in the national jungle of force and threats and insecurity.

A Political Miracle But how set up the machinery for a peaceful settlement of national possessions? The world has lost confidence in everything but force, armaments, war, and the threats of war. How that set up of which more or less ill-gotten gains might be pried loose from their ancient possessors without resort to war, the difficulties of the complex, how ever stupendous, of arranging the devil-take-the-hindmost method, and "places in the sun" would be a pow erful inducement to the less fortunate nations to seek their goals by peaceful rather than by specious means. Just what "places in the sun" would be shared, is, after all, a minor point. Once the machinery were actually set up by which more or less ill-gotten gains might be pried loose from their ancient possessors without resort to war, the difficulties of the complex, how ever stupendous, of arranging the devil-take-the-hindmost method, and "places in the sun" would be a powerful inducement to the less fortunate nations to seek their goals by peaceful rather than by specious means.
WE tell you that Chesterfield Cigarettes are made of mild, ripe tobacco. We've told you about the paper—that it's pure and burns right, without taste or odor.

We have said that Chesterfields are made right. The tobaccos are aged, then blended and cross-blended, and cut into shreds the right width and length to smoke right.

These things are done to make what people want—a cigarette that's milder, a cigarette that tastes better—a cigarette that satisfies.

You can prove what we tell you about Chesterfield. May we ask you to try them—that would seem to be fair enough.

Please patronize our Advertisers

DIRECTED TO ETHNIC AFFAIRS

May 15, 1934, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR WORK ON INTER-ETHNIC AFFAIRS

(Continued from Page 2—Col. 2)

$25.00 first prize; $15.00 second prize; five $2.00 prizes.

The following suggestion might be helpful; many enterprises seemingly local have an international significance. For example, local business enterprises may be dependent for certain materials or for a portion of their sales on business connections, direct or indirect, in other countries.

Educational transcends national boundaries. Perhaps the local community is not sufficiently aware of the contributions the natives have made to the work of the present day.

Many colleges have N. R. A. Courses

(Continued from Page 5—Col. 5)

Ohio University (Athens) officials have leased a hotel which is being used as a cooperative rooming house for 65 men students.—ACP

With the opening of its fall term last month, Columbia University (New York City) started its 181st academic year.—ACP

The University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee, in a two weeks "round table", devoted some of its work to a discussion on NRA.

Graduate students at Columbia University Teachers College studied the educational possibilities of local NREA organizations using the Mount Vernon, N. Y., NREA organization as an example.

Glenn Cunningham, famed University of Kansas (Lawrence) miler, entered the University of California this fall, where he will assist Brutus Hamilton, California coach. He will win without pay so that he may preserve his amateur standing.

Please patronize our Advertisers

INTER-CAMPUS CUTS

A course in modern history will be conducted at Smith College this year by Dr. Hans Kohn, professor of the University of Prague.—ACP

The Federal Government is sending approximately 70,000 students through colleges and universities throughout the United States this year at a cost of more than $7,000,000.—ACP

The main subject for debate in senior colleges throughout the United States is: "Resolved, that the federal government shall adopt the policy of equalizing educational opportunities throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states for public elementary and secondary education."—ACP

Exactly $150,000,000 was allocated from the federal emergency funds in 1933-34 for educational purposes. The regular budget appropriations for education during that period were $225,000,000.—ACP

Seven conferences were held at Hood College (Frederick, Md.) during the past summer.—ACP

ETHNIC SURVEY HELD

(Continued from Page 1—Col. 1)

Freshman asked questions, turned their thoughts toward home, and were disgusted generally. There were some, however, who couldn't remember their ancestry, so they were allowed to send home the questions they couldn't answer.

"Let the family at home work a little" is the idea of the freshmen, as they frantically write for information.

With all the mental tests and surveys being conducted, the freshman class feels that one year will certainly make it appreciative of the fact that in the ensuing years it won't be harassed by tests that determine the mental powers found in a freshman's brain.

When the questionnaire sought the "language usually spoken in your home", it was just too much for the underclassmen. We heard that slang played an important role in the homes: therefore, why did some of the freshmen write "French, cultured English, and American?"

Please patronize our Advertisers